ACTS,

PASSED 1757–58.

ACTS

Passed at the Session begun and held at Boston, on the Twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1757.

CHAPTER 1.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE DISTRICT OF DANVERS INTO A TOWNSHIP BY THE NAME OF DANVERS.

Disallowed by the privy council, Aug. 10, 1759.

Preamble. 1751-52, chap. 14.

Whereas, in the twenty-fourth year of his present majesty's reign, the village parish and middle parish, so called, in the town of Salem, were erected into a district; and, by the act for their incorporation they were enjoined to do the duties that are enjoined on other towns and enjoy all the powers, priviledges and immunities that towns in this province by law enjoy, except that of seperately choosing and sending one or more representatives to represent them at the general assembly, which exception has been found burthensome and inconvenient,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Council and House of Representatives,

Danvers a township.

That the said district be and hereby is erected into a township by the name of Danvers, according to the boundaries of said district; and that the inhabitants of said district be and hereby are vested and endowed with all the powers, priviledges and immunities that the inhabitants of the towns within this province are or by law ought to be vested or endowed with. [Passed and published June 16.*

"With respect to the following Act pass'd in June 1757 and entitled
An Act for erecting the District of Danvers into a Township by the name of Danvers,
We beg leave to acquaint Your Lordships that the sole object of it is, as appears by the Preamble, to give the Township of Danvers the privilege of sending a Representative to the General Assembly: That this practice of erecting new Towns and vesting them with this privilege, having formerly by its frequency been found to produce many inconveniences and particularly that of continually increasing the number of Representatives, His Majesty was graciously pleased, in the year 1743, to give an Instruction to his Governor of the Massachusetts Bay forbidding him to give his assent to any Act of that nature, without a Clause therein inserted, suspending the execution of such Act, until it should receive His Majesty's Approbation. That Instruction has been continued to Thomas Pownall Esq^re His Majesty's present Governor, and as this Act has been passed in contradiction to the said Instruction, We are humbly of opinion that it should receive His Maj^ty's disapprobation."—Report of the Board of Trade to the Lords of the Committee of the Privy Council, July 31, 1759: "Mass. Bay, B.T.," vol. 85, p. 11, in Public-Record Office.

* Signed June 9, according to the record.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING THE SUM OF EIGHTY-ONE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED EIGHTY-SIX POUNDS THIRTEEN SHILLINGS AND FOURPENCE; AND ALSO FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING A FURTHER TAX OF THREE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-ONE POUNDS FIFTEEN SHILLINGS, PAID THE REPRESENTATIVES FOR THEIR SERVICE AND ATTENDANCE IN THE GENERAL COURT, AND FOR THEIR TRAVEL, AND FOR FINES LAID UPON TOWNS THAT HAVE SENT NO PERSONS TO REPRESENT THEM AT THE GENERAL COURT THIS YEAR.

1756-57, chap. 3, § 6.
1756-57, chap. 37, § 3.
1757-58, chap. 3, § 6.
1755-56, chap. 32, § 1.

WHEREAS the great and general court or assembly of this province did, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-five, levy a tax of fourteen thousand pounds; and in March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, levy a tax of six thousand and three hundred pounds; and at their session in May following, did levy a further tax of thirty-two thousand pounds; and in April last did pass one other act for levying a tax of thirteen thousand five hundred pounds; and by said acts provision was made that the general court, at this present session, might apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and places within the province, if they thought fit; and whereas, the general court, at this session, have levied a further tax of fifteen thousand and two hundred pounds, and a tax of three hundred eighty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence upon the town of Sherburn on Nantucket for not sending twenty-nine men into the service, making, in the whole, eighty-one thousand three hundred eighty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence; wherefore, for the ordering, directing and effectual drawing in the sum of eighty-one thousand three hundred eighty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence; we, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the representatives in general court assembled, pray that it may be enacted,—

And be it accordingly enacted by the Council and House of Representatives,

[SECT. 1.] That each town, district, parish or place within this province be assessed and pay, as such town, district, parish and place's proportion of the sum of eighty-one thousand three hundred and eighty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, and their representatives' pay and fines, the sum of three thousand five hundred and seventy-one pounds fifteen shillings, the several sums following; that is to say,—

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district or parish, or other place within this province that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district, parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, thirteen shillings and sixpence per poll, and proportionably in assessing the additional sum received out of the treasury for the payment of the representatives (excepting the governour, lieutenant-governour and their families, the president, fellows, professors and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well from being taxed for their polls, as their estates, being in their own hands and under their actual management and improvement; as also all the estate pertaining to Harvard College), and other persons, if such there be, who, through age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards publick charges, they may exempt their polls, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet. Rules for assessment.

[Sect. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county in proportion to their province rate, exclusive of what hath been paid out of the publick treasury to the representatives of each town for his service; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade, faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money or commissions of profit, in their improvement according to their understanding or cunning, one penny per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for such town, district, parish or other place to pay; and, in making their assessment, to estimate houses and land at six years' yearly rent whereat the same may be reasonably set or let for in the place where they lye: saving all contracts between landlord and tenant, and where no contract is, the landlord to reimburse one half of the tax set upon such houses and lands; and to estimate negro, Indian and mollatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment and discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old, at three shillings each: likewise requiring the said assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how much he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty, and if as guardian, or for any estate in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists, so perfected and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collectors, constable or constables of such town, district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector, constable or constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the last day of October next.

[SECT. 4.] And the treasurer for the time being, upon receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector, or constable or constables of such town, district, parish or place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and issue the accompts of the whole, at or before the thirty-first day of March next, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight.

And be it further enacted,

Inhabitants to bring in a true list of their polls, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or place, respectively, in convenient time, before their making the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or place, or notify the inhabitants some other way to give or bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, rateable estate, and income by trade and faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place, where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering town assessments, to be paid in to the town, district or parish treasurer or selectmen for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county for relief as in the case of being overrated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estates as aforesaid to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

[SECT. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he doth or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and, before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, though, in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government,—

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That when any person or persons, shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize and trade to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, tho' the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected, as aforesaid. Transient traders to be rated.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor shall set up a store and traffick, or carry on any trade or business in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town, where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid, be and are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandizes for carrying on such trade and business and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act; provided before any such assessors shall rate such persons as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district. Merchants, &c., to be rated for carrying on trade in any other town, beside where they dwell. Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons, before they are rated.

[Sect. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoyned to levy and collect all such sums committed to them and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are residents in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same. [Passed June 16.

CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF EIGHTY-FIVE THOUSAND POUNDS, TO BE THENCE ISSUED FOR DISCHARGING THE PUBLIC[K] DEBTS, AND DRAWING THE SAME INTO THE TREASURY AGAIN.

Whereas the provision already made for defreying the expences of the late Crown Point expeditions is found insufficient, and no provision made by the general court for discharging the debts of the ensuing year,— Preamble. 1755-56, chap. 4, § 5; chaps. 13, 15, 18, 27, and 46. 1756-57, chaps. 3, 22, 29, and 37.

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That the treasurer of the province be and he [is] hereby [is] impowered and directed to borrow from such person or persons as shall be willing to lend the same, a sum not exceeding eighty-five thousand pounds in mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, or in other silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce; and the sum so borrowed shall be applied in manner as in this act is hereafter directed. Treasurer empowered to borrow £85,000

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of . Form of treasurer's receipt.
Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or order, the first day of June [one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight] [1758], the aforesaid sum of , in silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Witness my hand, H. G., Treasurer.

[SECT. 3.] And for the remaining sum of sixty-nine thousand eight hundred pounds, the treasurer shall give his receipt in the form following:—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of .
Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said , or order, the first day of June [one thousand seven hundred and sixty] [1760], the aforesaid sum of , in silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum.
Witness my hand, H. G., Treasurer.

—and no receipt shall be given for less than six pounds.

And be it further enacted,

£35,000 for the late Crown Point expeditions, &c.

[SECT. 4.] That the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, when received into the treasury, shall be issued out in the manner and for the purposes following; that is to say, thirty-five thousand pounds, part of the sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the services of the late Crown Point expeditions still unpaid, and for defr[a][e]ying the expence that hath or shall arise for the raising and supplying the eighteen hundred men agreed to be raised by this government, employed in his majesty's service under the more immediate command of his excellency the Earl of Loudoun, commander-in-chief of his majesty's forces in North America, and also the wages of the officers and soldiers employed in said service; and the further sum of eighteen thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied for the service of the several forts and garrisons within this province, pursuant to such grants and orders as are or shall be made by this court for these purposes;

£18,000 for forts and garrisons.

£7,000 for provisions, commissary's disbursements, &c.

and the further sum of seven thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied for purchasing provisions and the commissaries disbursements for the service of the several forts and garrisons within this province; and the further sum of five thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of such premiums and grants that now are or may hereafter be made by this court; and the £5,000 for debts where there is no establishment, &c.

£5,000 for premiums, &c.

further sum of five thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied for the discharge of other debts owing from this province to persons that have served or shall serve them, by order of this court, in such matters and things where there is no establishment nor any certain sum assigned for that purpose; and for paper, writing and printing for this court; and the £4,500 for pay of councillors' and representatives' attendance.

further sum of four thousand five hundred pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of his majesty's council and house of representatives serving in the great and general court during the several sessions for the present year; and the further sum of six thousand two hundred and fifty pounds, part of the aforesaid [sum] of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied to the discharge of the debts contracted by the committee of war; and the further sum of four thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, shall be applied to the payment of the charge of maintaining the two vessels of war belonging to this province.

And whereas there are sometimes contingent and unforeseen charges that demand prompt pay,—

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That the sum of two hundred and fifty pounds, being the remaining part of the aforesaid sum of eighty-five thousand pounds, be applied to pay such contingent charges, and for no other purpose whatever. £250 for contingent charges.

And in order to draw the money into the treasury again, and enable the treasurer effectually to discharge the receipts and obligations (with the interest that may be due thereon), by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of eighty-five thousand pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal within this province, in manner following; that is to say, fifteen thousand two hundred pounds, part thereof, according to such rules and in such proportions on the several towns and districts within the province, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court or assembly in their present session, and to be paid into the public[k] treasury on or before the last day of March then next after. Tax of £85,000 granted. Tax of £15,200, in 1757.

[Sect. 7.] And the further sum of sixty-nine thousand eight hundred pounds, according to such rules and in such proportion on the several towns and districts aforesaid, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and to be paid into the treasury on or before the last day of March then next after. Tax of £69,800, in 1759.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That if the general court, in their present session, and in their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and some time before the twentieth day [of] June in each year, shall not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by this act are engaged to be, in each of said years, apportioned, assessed and levied, that then, and in such case, each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal within their limits, the same proportion of the said sums as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding. Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[Sect. 9.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, some time in the month of June in each of the years aforesaid, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportions of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into [the] treasury at the aforementioned time; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be govern[e]'d by and subject to all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the last preceeding tax act.

And as a further fund to enable the treasurer to discharge said receipts and obligations by him given in pursuance of this act,— Further fund.

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 10.] That the duties of excise upon spirituous liquors, for the year seventeen hundred and fifty-eight, shall be applied for the payment and discharge of the principal and interest, that shall become due on said notes, and to no other purpose.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 11.] That the treasurer is hereby directed and ordered to pay the sum of eighty-five thousand pounds out of such appropriations The treasurer to conform to the appropriations.

as shall be directed by warrant, and no other; and the secretary to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and accompts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they direct, such muster-rolls and accompts, after payment thereof: provided, always, that the remainder of the sum which shall be brought into the treasury by the duties of excise before mentioned, and the tax of eighty-five thousand pounds ordered by this act to be assessed and levied, over and above what shall be sufficient to discharge the notes and obligations aforesaid, shall be and remain as a stock in the treasury, to be applied as the general court of this province shall hereafter order, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

Members' pay in government securities.

[SECT. 12.] That the members of his majesty's council and house of representatives, shall receive their pay for their travel and attendance in such of the government securities provided by this act as are payable the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty. [Passed June 13; published June 15.*

CHAPTER 4.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF THREE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS, AND FOR LENDING THE SAME TO THE TOWN OF BOSTON.

Preamble.

FORASMUCH as to the end and use in this act hereafter mentioned, this court have determined to supply the province treasury with the sum of three thousand five hundred pounds,—

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer empowered to borrow £3,500.

[SECT. 1.] That the treasurer of the province be and he hereby is impowered and directed to borrow of such person or persons as shall be willing to lend the same, a sum not exceeding three thousand five hundred pounds in mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, or in other silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce.

[SECT. 2.] And for the sum so borrowed, the treasurer shall give his receipt in the form following; viz.,—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 175 . Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or order, the fifteenth day of June, 1760, the aforesaid sum of , in silver at six shillings and eightpence the ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Witness my hand, H. G., Treasurer.

—and no receipt shall be given for less than fifty pounds.

And in order to draw the money into the treasury again, and enable the treasurer to discharge the receipts and notes (with the interest due thereon), by him given pursuant to this act,—

Be it enacted,

Tax of £4,130, in 1759.

[SECT. 3.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal, according to such rules, and in such proportions, on the several towns and districts within the province, as shall be ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, to be paid into province treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March then next after.

* June 17 in the printed acts.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[Sect. 4.] That if the general court, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, shall not, by the twentieth day of June, agree upon an act for apportioning the sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, which is engaged in said year to be apportioned, assessed and levied, that then, the treasurer of the province for the time being shall issue his warrants, to the selectmen or assessors of the several towns and districts within this province, requiring them, respectively, to assess, levy and pay into the treasury, by the said thirty-first day of March, their respective proportions of said sum, according to the rates and proportions, rules and directions, of the tax act then last preceeding.

Preamble.

And whereas the town of Boston have represented that they are greatly in arrears as to their necessary charges, and have humbly besought this court to lend them thirty-five hundred pounds,—

Be it enacted by His Majesty's Council and House of Representatives, £3,500 lent the town of Boston.

[Sect. 5.] That the aforesaid sum of three thousand five hundred pounds, when the treasury shall be supplyed therewith, as above directed, shall be lent and delivered to the selectmen of the said town of Boston, to be applied to discharge the debts of the said town, as said town shall order.

And for securing the repayment of said sum of thirty-five hundred pounds, with the interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, to the province treasurer for the time being, in case, according to the true intent of this act, said town ought to be held to pay the same,—

It is hereby enacted and ordered,

Provision for the repayment of the sum of £4,130 in whole or part by the town of Boston, after a valuation of estates shall be taken through the province.

[Sect. 6.] That whenever the valuation shall be taken through this province, and each town and district's proportion thereby known and determined by the court, and be thereby ascertained that the town of Boston was not overrated for the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, or any other year after, until the taking of the valuation, and ascertaining as aforesaid: provided, said determination shall be before the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and so not be intitled to any allowance, or no valuation taken or settled before said time, then the said town shall pay the whole sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds; the treasurer, some time in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, shall send forth his warrant, directed to the selectmen or assessors of said town of Boston, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within the said town, for said sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, in their respective proportions, to be paid into the province treasury on or before the thirty-first of March then next after; and the assessors, and persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall be given in the last preceeding tax act; but in case a valuation shall be taken and settled before the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and thereby it shall appear the town of Boston is overrated the whole of said sum between the years one thousand seven hundred and fifty-five and one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and the treasurer of the province be certified thereof by the general court in their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, then, and in such case, the said treasurer is hereby forbid issuing his warrants to the selectmen or assessors of said town of Boston for the sum aforesaid; but if, upon a valuation being taken, and the proportions of the several towns being settled before the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, it shall thereby appear that the said town of Boston have been overrated but only part of the aforesaid sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, then, and in such case, such part shall be remitted to them; and the treasurer shall issue his warrant for such remainder, agreable to the direction of the general court, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, requiring the selectmen or assessors of said town of Boston to assess the same in manner as aforesaid, to be paid into the treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March next after. And the assessors and persons assessed shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall be given in the last preceeding tax act.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 7.] If a valuation shall be taken, and the several towns' proportion of the province tax settled, before the month of June, 1759, whereby it shall appear that the town of Boston is not overrated the whole or any part of the aforesaid sum, that then the said town shall be assessed for the whole or such part of said sum for which they shall so appear not to be overrated; and the treasurer, in such case, shall not issue his warrant to assess said sum upon the province in general, but upon the town of Boston only. CHAPTER 5.

AN ACT TO PREVENT DAMAGE BEING DONE ON THE MEADOWS AND BEACHES LYING IN THE TOWNSHIP OF BARNSTABLE, ON THE SOUTH SIDE OF THE HARBOUR, CONTIGUOUS TO [TO] THE COMMON FIELDS IN SAID TOWN.

Preamble.

1747-48, chap. 5.

WHEREAS many persons frequently drive numbers of neat cattle, horses, sheep and swine, to feed upon the beaches, meadows and shoars adjoining to the late common fields in said Barnstable, between said fields and the harbour, whereby the ground is much broken and damnified and the sand blown on said meadows and uplands adjoining, to the great damage not only of private persons in their properties, but also to said town in general, so far as relates to said town's meadows appropriated to maintain a pound,—

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives,

Persons forbidden to drive cattle on meadows and beaches in Barnstable.

[SECT. 1.] That during the continuance of this act, no person or persons shall presume to turn or drive any neat cattle or horse-kind, or sheep, or swine, to or upon any of the beaches, meadows or shoars that lye between the late common fields in said Barnstable, anywhere from Calves-Pasture Point, to Yarmouth line, round as the shoar goes, upon the penalty of three shillings a head for neat cattle or horse-kind, and one shilling for each sheep and swine, that shall be turned and found on said beaches, meadows or shoars, within the limits aforesaid; which penalty shall be recovered by the selectmen or treasurer of the said town of Barnstable, or any other person that shall inform and sue for the same: the one half of the said forfeiture to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, the other half to be to and for the use of the poor of the said town.

Penalty.

And be it further enacted,

Cattle to be impounded, in case.

[SECT. 2.] That if any neat cattle or horse-kind, or sheep, or swine, shall, at any time hereafter, be found feeding on the said beaches, meadows or shoars, that l[i][y]e between the late common fields and the harbour, in said Barnstable, anywhere from Calves-Pasture Point to Yarmouth line, round as the shoar goes, that it shall and may be lawful for any person to impound the same, immediately giving notice to the owners, if known, otherwise to give public[k] notice thereof in the said town of Barnstable, and the two next adjoining towns; and the impounder shall relieve the said creatures with suitable meat and water while impounded; and if the owner thereof appear, he shall pay the sum of one shilling to the impounder, for each neat beast and horse-kind, and fourpence for each sheep and swine, and the reasonable cost of relieving them, besides the pound-keeper's fees. And if no owner appear within the space of six days to redeem the said cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine so impounded, and to pay the costs and damages occasioned by impounding the same, then and in every such case the person or persons impounding such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, shall cause the same to be sold at public[k] vendue, and pay the cost and charges arising about the same (public[k] notice of the time and place of such sale, to be given in the said town of Barnstable and in the town of Yarmouth, forty-eight hours beforehand), and the overplus, if any there be, arising by such sale, to be returned to the owner of such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, at any time within twelve months next after, upon his demanding the same; but if no owner appear within the said twelve months, then the said overplus shall be one half to the party impounding, and the other half to the use of the poor of the said town of Barnstable.

Cattle to be sold, in case.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That the said town of Barnstable, at their meeting in March, annually, for the choice of town officers, be authorized and impowered to chuse one or more meet person or persons whose duty it shall be to see this act observed, and to prosecute the breakers thereof, and who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their office; and in case any person so chosen shall refuse to be sworn, he shall forfeit and pay five shillings for the use of the poor of the said town of Barnstable; and upon such refusal, said town from time to time to proceed to a new choice of such officer or officers: and the said town of Barnstable, at a town-meeting warned for that purpose, may, at any time before March next, chuse such officers, who shall continue until[l] their annual meeting in March next.

Officers to be chosen to put this act in execution.

[Sect. 4.] This act to commence on the tenth day of June next, and to continue and be in force till the end of the session of the general court next following the twenty-fifth of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-seven, and no longer. [Passed June 4;* published June 17.

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives,

Persons forbidden to drive cattle on Nobscusset lands, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That during the continuance of this act, no person or persons shall presume to turn or drive any neat cattle or horse-kind, or sheep or swine, to or upon any of the beaches or lands lying between the s[ai]d Black Earth, and Judah Howe's Range, in said Yarmouth, from the first day of March to the last day of November, annually, upon the penalty of three shillings a head for neat cattle and horse-kind, and one shilling for each sheep and swine, that shall be turned and found on said beaches or land, within the time and limits afores[ai]d; which penalty shall be recovered by the selectmen or treasurer of the said town of Yarmouth, or any other person that shall inform and sue for the same: the one half of the said forfeiture to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, the other half to be to and for the use of the poor of the said town.

Penalty.

And be it further enacted,

Cattle to be impounded, in case.

[SECT. 2.] That if any neat cattle or horse-kind, or sheep or swine, shall, at any time hereafter, be found feeding on the said beaches or land, within the times aforesaid, that it shall and may be lawful for any person to impound the same, immediately giving notice to the owners, if known, otherwise to give public[k] notice thereof in the said town of Yarmouth, and the two next adjoining towns; and the impounder shall relieve the said creatures with suitable meat and water while impounded; and if the owner thereof appear, he shall pay the sum of one shilling to the impounder, for each neat beast and horse-kind, and fourpence for each sheep and swine, and the reasonable cost of relieving them, besides the pound-keeper's fees. And if no owner appear within the space of six days to redeem the said cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine so impounded, and to pay the costs and damages occasioned by impounding the same, then and in every such case the person or persons impounding such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, shall cause the same to be sold at public[k] vendue, and to pay the cost and charges arising about the same (public[k] notice of the time and place of such sale, to be given in the said town of Yarmouth, forty-eight hours beforehand), and the overplus, if any there be, arising by such sale, to be returned to the owner of such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, at any time within twelve months next after, upon his demanding the same; but if no owner appear within the said twelve months, then the said overplus shall be one half to the party impounding, and the other half to the use of the poor of the said town of Yarmouth.

And be it further enacted,

Officers to be chosen to put this act in execution.

[SECT. 3.] That the said town of Yarmouth, at their meeting in March, annually, for the choice of town officers, be authorized and impowered to chuse one or more meet person or persons whose duty it shall be to see this act observed, and to prosecute the breakers thereof,

Penalty for not serving.

and who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their office; and in case any person so chosen shall refuse to be sworn, he shall forfeit and pay, for the use of the poor of the said town of Yarmouth, the sum of five shillings; and upon such refusal, said town from time to time to proceed to a new choice of such officer or officers.

Provided nevertheless,—

Proviso.

And it is hereby declared,

[SECT. 4.] That this act shall not be construed so as to restrain any person or persons on the whaling or fishing business from turning their horses or oxen on the beach and land aforesaid, while the owners are attending thereon the aforesaid business.

Limitation.

[SECT. 5.] This act to commence on the first day of July next, and to continue and be in force till the end of the session of the general court next following the twenty-fifth of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-seven, and no longer. [Passed June 15; published June 17.

AN ACT FOR CONTINUING AN ACT MADE AND PASSED IN THE TWENTY-NINTH YEAR OF HIS PRESENT MAJESTY'S REIGN, INTITLED "AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE IN THE TWENTY-NINTH YEAR OF HIS MAJESTY'S REIGN, INTITLED 'AN ACT MAKING PROVISION FOR THE INHABITANTS OF NOVA SCOTIA, SENT HITHER FROM THAT GOVERNMENT, AND LATELY ARRIVED IN THIS PROVINCE.'"

Preamble. 1755-56, chap. 35

Whereas an act made and passed in the twenty-ninth year of his present majesty's reign, intitled "An Act in addition to an act made and passed in the twenty-ninth year of his majesty's reign, intitled 'An Act making provision for the inhabitants of Nova Scotia, sent hither from that government, and lately arrived in this province,'" will expire on the twentieth day of June, this present year, and it is necessary some provision be made for the regulation and support of said inhabitants of Nova Scotia,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Council and House of Representatives,

That the said act shall continue and be in force from the said twentieth day of June to the first day of August next, and no longer. [Passed June 16; published June 17.

CHAPTER 9.

AN ACT IN FURTHER ADDITION TO THE ACT FOR LIMITATION OF ACTIONS, AND FOR AVOIDING SUITS IN LAW WHERE THE MATTER IS OF LONG STANDING.

Preamble. 1755-56, chap. 22.

WHEREAS, by a law of this province, intitled "An Act in further addition to the act for the limitation of actions, and for avoiding suits in law where the matter is of long standing," made and pass'd in the twenty-ninth year of his present majesty's reign, the time limit[t]ed for commencing all actions of account, and upon the case, excepting such as are excepted in another act, intitled "An Act in addition to and for the explanation of an act, intitled 'An Act for limitation of actions, and avoiding suits at law where the matter is of long standing,'" made and pass'd in the twenty-second year of his present majesty's reign, will expire the last day of March next; and whereas the continuance of the war, and great numbers of men that are and may hereafter be in his majesty's service, will make it necessary that some further time may be allowed for the bringing some kind of actions,— 1748-49, chap. 17.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Time for bringing actions on the case, &c., to be extended.

[SECT. 1.] That the time for commencing of actions of the case, upon notes of hand, or upon book accounts, limit[t]ed by said act of the twenty-second, or by said act of the twenty-ninth, year of his present majesty's reign, shall be and hereby is extended to the last day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty; and no suit hereafter to be brought in such cases shall be barred if commenced before the expiration of said term.

And that this law may be more generally known,—

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the act, intitled "An Act for the limitation of actions, and for avoiding suits in law where the matter is of long standing," made in the thirteenth year of the present reign, the afores[ai]d act, intitled "An Act in addition to and for the explanation of an act, intitled 'An Act for the limitation of actions, and avoiding suits at law where the matter is of long standing,'" made and pass'd in the twenty-second year of the present reign, and this act shall be read by the clerk of each town and district, at their anniversary meetings in March and May, annually; and the justices of the several courts of common pleas within the respective counties shall cause the same to be publickly read at the opening of their courts, from time to time from the publication of this act, and until[l] the last day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty. [Passed August 31; published September 1.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITLED "AN ACT IN ADDITION TO THE ACT FOR PROVIDING OF POUNDS, &c[a]."

Whereas it has been found inconvenient for the party damnified by any creatures which have been impounded and apprized, to be obliged to keep them to his own use at the apprized value,—

Preamble.

1703-4, chap. 10.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That when any creatures have been impounded and apprized, agreable to the directions of the aforementioned act; if the person impounding don't see fit to take the said creatures at the apprized value, then they shall be sold at publick outcry to the highest bidder by the person who caused the same to be impounded, notice of the time and place of such sale having been posted up in some publick place in the town in which they are impounded, four days at least before the sale; and the overplus of the money ari[z][s]ing by such sale, if any there be [shall be], after necessary charges are paid, shall be returned to the owner.

Creatures impounded and appraised may be sold at public outcry.

AN ACT TO PREVENT NEAT CATTLE, HORSES AND SHEEP RUNNING AT LARGE AND FEEDING ON THE BE[E][A]CHES BETWEEN WELLS AND OGUNQUIT HARBOURS, IN THE TOWN OF WELLS, AND TO PREVENT THE MOWING OF THE SAME.

Whereas there is a large quantity of marish within the township of Wells, in the county of York, on which most of the inhabitants of said town depend for their hay, and the said marish lies adjo[y][i]ning to two long sandy be[e][a]ches between Wells and Ogunquit harbours, which is the only barrier to prevent said marish from being destroyed; and by reason of cattle and horses trampling and feeding there, and by some persons mowing the grass on said be[e][a]ches, which was wont to preserve the be[e][a]ches and prevent the seas breaking over the same and covering said marish with sand, by which some part of said marish is already destroyed, and the whole is in danger of being buried with the sand, if not timely prevented,—

Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives.

Persons forbidden to drive cattle, &c., on the beaches between Wells and Ogunquit harbors, on penalty.

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the first day of September next, no person shall presume to turn or drive any neat cattle, horses or sheep upon the said be[e][a]ches to feed, or leave them at large there, on the penalty of four shillings a head for all neat cattle and horse-kind, and sixpence for every sheep so turned upon any of said beaches to feed, or that shall be found at large there; which penalty may be recovered by any person of the said town of Wells: one moiety thereof to be to the informer that shall sue for the same, and the other moiety to be to and for the use of the poor of said town.

And be it further enacted,

Cattle to be impounded, in case.

[SECT. 2.] That it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons of the said town of Wells finding any cattle, horse-kind or sheep feeding or going at large upon the be[e][a]ches aforesaid or any of them, to impound the same; and the person or persons impounding them shall give publick notice thereof in said town of Wells, and shall rel[ei][ie]ve said creatures whilst impo[w][u]nded, with suitable meat and water; and the owner thereof appearing, shall pay to the impounder two shillings for each head of neat cattle and horse-kind, and fourpence for each sheep so impo[w][u]nded, and cost[s] of impounding them. And if the owner do not appear within the space of six days and pay the damages and cost occasioned by impounding the same, then and in every such case the person or persons impounding such cattle, horse-kind or sheep, shall cause them to be sold at publick vendue for paying such damages and costs, and the charge arising by such sale (publick notice of the time and place of such sale, being given forty-eight hours beforehand), and the overplus, if any be, to be returned to the owner of such cattle, horse-kind or sheep on his demand, at any time within twelve months next after the sale; and if no owner shall appear within the said twelve months, then one moiety of the overplus shall be to the party impounding, and the other moiety thereof to the use of the poor of said town.

Cattle to be sold, in case.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for mowing, &c., said beaches.

[SECT. 3.] That if any person shall presume to mow any grass on said beaches, or carry away any from off said beaches, * shall forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds for every tun, and so in proportion for a greater or less quantity; which penalty may be recovered by any person of the town of Wells: one moiety thereof to be to the informer that shall sue for the same, and the other moiety to be to and for the use of the poor of said town.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for leaving open bars, &c., leading to said beaches.

[SECT. 4.] That no person shall presume to leave open any bars or gates athwart any road that leads to the said beaches, on penalty of six shillings; which penalty may be recovered by any person of the town of Wells: the whole thereof to be to him or them that shall sue for the same.

And be it further enacted,

AN ACT PROVIDING REMEDY FOR BANKRUPTS AND THEIR CREDITORS.

Whereas divers persons in this province, having of late become insolvent, have secreted themselves and their estates, to the great hurt of themselves, their families and creditors, for remedy whereof, and to prevent many inconvenienc[i]es that happen to creditors and debtors in cases of insolvency,— Disallowed by the privy council, July 28, 1758.*

Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That all persons using, or that shall use, the trade of merchandize, by way of bargaining, exchange, bartering or otherwise, in gross or by retail, or seeking his, her or their living by buying and selling, either on his own account or as a factor, who shall, in writing, make a voluntary declaration, upon oath, to the secretary of this province, that he is unable to pay his debts, of which the secretary shall make a record and give notice thereof in all the public[k] Boston newspapers three weeks successively, or have departed, or shall depart, this province, have begun, or shall begin, to keep his or her house, or otherwise absent him- or herself, or suffer him- or herself willingly to be arrested for any debt or other thing not grown due, for money delivered, wares sold or other just or lawful cause or good consideration, or hath or shall willingly or fraudulently procure him- or herself to be arrested, or his or her goods or money to be attached, or depart from his or her dwelling-house, or make, or cause to be made, any fraudulent grant or conveyance of his, her or their lands, tenements, goods or chatt[e]l[e]s to the intent, or whereby his, her or their creditors shall or may be defeated or delayed in the recovery of their just and true debts, or being arrested for debt, shall, after his or her arrest, l[y][i]e in prison six months upon that arrest, or upon any other arrest or detention in prison for debt, or being arrested for a just debt or debts, shall, at any time after such arrest, escape out of prison, shall be accounted and adjudged a bankrupt, to all intents and purposes.

And be it further enacted,

Commander-in-chief, with the advice and consent of the council, under the seal of the province, to appoint and grant commissioners power, &c.

[SECT. 2.] That the commander-in-chief, with the advice and consent of his majesty's council, upon complaint made to him in writing, against such person or persons being bankrupt, shall have full power and authority, by commission under the great seal of this province, to name, assign and appoint such honest and discreet persons as to him with such advice shall seem good, who, or the most part of them, by virtue of this act and such commission, shall have full power and authority, as in their discretion shall seem meet, to take such order and direction, with the body of such person, wheresoever he or she may be had, either in his or her house or houses, or elsewhere, as well by imprisonment of his or her body, as also with all his or her lands, tenements and hereditaments which he or she shall have in his or her own right before he or she became bankrupt, and also with all such lands, tenements and hereditaments as such person shall have purchased and obtained for money or other recompence, jointly, with his wife, children or child to the only use of such bankrupt or bankrupts, or of or for such use, interest, right or title as such bankrupt or bankrupts then shall have in the same, which he or she may lawfully depart withal, or with any person or persons of trust to any secret use of such bankrupt or bankrupts, and also with his or her money, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s and debts, books of account and papers, wheresoever they may be found or known, and cause the said lands, tenements, hereditaments, money, chatt[e]l[e]s, goods and debts, books and papers, to be searched, viewed, rented and appraized, and by deed indented and duly acknowledged and regist[e]red to make sale of such lands, tenements and hereditaments, and of all deeds, writings and evidences touching only the same, belonging to such debtor or debtors, and also of all annuities, goods and chatt[e]l[e]s, or otherwise to order the same for the true satisfaction and payment of the said creditors; that is to say, a portion rate and rate like to the sum of his or their debt.

And for the better distribution of the lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s and other estate of such bankrupt to and amongst his or her creditors,—

Be it enacted,

Commissioners to examine on oath, or otherwise to discover debts due to creditors.

[SECT. 3.] That the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, shall and may examine, upon oath, or by any other ways or means as to them shall seem meet, any person or persons for the finding out and discovery of the truth and certainty of the several debts due and owing to all such creditor and creditors as shall seek relief by such course of commission, to be sued forth as aforesaid; and that all and every creditor and creditors having security for his and their several debts by judgment, statute or recognizance, or that have made, or shall make, attachment of any estate of such bankrupt on supposal of his absconding or absence, whereof there shall be no execution served and executed upon any of the lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods and other estate of such bankrupts, before such time as he or she shall or do become bankrupt, shall not be rel[ei][ie]ved upon any such judgment, statute, recognizance or attachment for any more than a rateable part of their just and due debts with the other creditors of the said bankrupt.

Creditors having security not to be relieved unless.

And be it further enacted,

Direction, order, &c., of the commissioners to be good against the wife or children, &c., of any bankrupt.

[Sect. 4.] That every direction, order, bargain, sale and other things done by the said persons so authorized as aforesaid, in form aforesaid, shall be good and effectual in the law to all intents, constructions and purposes, against the said bankrupt or bankrupts, his or their wife or wives, heir and heirs, child and children, and such person [and] [or] persons as, by such joint purchase with the said bankrupt or bankrupts as is aforesaid, have or shall have any estate or interest in the premis[s]es and against all other person and persons claiming by, from or under such debtor or debtors by any act or acts had, made or done after any such person shall become bankrupt as is aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners to give public notice of persons declared bankrupt, and when and where to surrender.

[Sect. 5.] That the commissioners, or the greater part of them, after having declared such person a bankrupt, shall cause notice thereof to be given in the publick Boston newspapers for three weeks successively, and shall therein appoint time and place for the said bankrupt to surrender him- or herself to them, and to conform to this act, which time they, or the greater part of them, may enlarge, as is hereafter mentioned; and if the said bankrupt shall not at one or other of those times surrender him- or herself to the said commissioners, then the body of all and every such offender or offenders shall be adjudged, taken and deemed, to all intents [and] purposes, out of his majesty's protection; and every person and persons that shall willingly and wit[t]ingly help to hide or shall wittingly and willingly receive, detain or keep secretly any person or persons so demanded, as is aforesaid, shall suffer such imprisonment or pay such fine as to the court of assize upon conviction thereof shall seem meet.

Bankrupts deemed out of his majesty's protection, in case.

Persons not to secrete bankrupts, on penalty.

Commissioners may issue warrants to bring bankrupts before them.

[Sect. 6.] And the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, shall, or may, at any time after the issuing of such commission, as they in their discretion shall think fit, award a warrant to the sheriff of the county, his under sheriff or deputy, to apprehend the body and bodies of the said bankrupt and bankrupts, and to bring him, her or them before the said commissioners wheresoever the said party or parties may be found, to be examined by the commissioners, or the greater part of them.

Commissioners may issue warrants for breaking open the house, &c., of any bankrupt.

[Sect. 7.] And it shall be lawful for the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, or any other person or persons, officer or officers, by them, or the greater part of them, to be deputed and appointed by their warrant or warrants, under their hands and seals, to break open the house or houses, chambers, shops, warehouses, doors, trunks, or chests of the said bankrupt, where any of his or her goods or estate shall be, or be reputed to be, and to seize upon and order the body, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s, ready money, and other estate of such bankrupt, whether it be by imprisonment of his or her body, or otherwise, as to the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, shall be thought meet.

Bankrupts to be examined on oath, or if Quakers, by affirmation.

[Sect. 8.] And it shall be lawful for the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, to examine every person, against whom any commission shall be awarded, by oath, or, if of the people called Quakers, by solemn affirmation, upon such interrogatories touching such persons, lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s, debts, bills, bonds, books of accounts, and all other matters relating to his or her trade and effects, and such other things as may tend to disclose his or her estate, or the secret grants, conveyances and eloyning of his, her or their lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods, money, and debts, as they shall think meet; and likewise so to examine the wife of such bankrupt, for the finding out and discovery of the estate, goods and chatt[e]l[e]s of such bankrupt, concealed, kept or disposed of by her in her own person, or by her own act and means, or by any other person or persons; and likewise so to examine any person supposed or suspected to be indebted to the said bankrupt, or to have any of the goods, chatt[e]l[e]s, debts, estate or securities of such bankrupt in his or her custody, use, occupying, direction or command; or any other person duly summoned or present at the meeting of the commissioners touching the premis[s]es, and any acts of bankruptcy committed by him or her, and also to reduce into writing the answers of such bankrupt[s], his wife or other person, which examination the party examined is required to subscribe.

Wife of any bankrupt may be examined.

Or any person suspected to be indebted to any bankrupt, &c.

Bankrupts' answers to be reduced to writing.

Bankrupts or their wives may be imprisoned for refusing to answer.

[SECT. 9.] And in case such bankrupt, his wife or other person, shall refuse to answer, or shall not fully answer to the satisfaction of the commissioners, all lawful questions put by the commissioners, or shall refuse to subscribe his examination, not having a reasonable objection to the wording thereof, or otherwise, to be allowed by the commissioners, it shall be lawful for the commissioners, by warrant, to commit him or her to such prison as the commissioners shall think fit, there to remain without bail until[l] such person shall submit him- or herself to the commissioners, and full answer make, to the satisfaction of the commissioners, to all such questions as shall be put to him or her, and subscribe such examination as aforesaid.

Warrant for commitment to specify the question.

Persons committed applying by writ of habeas corpus to be discharged, may be recommitted, in case.

[SECT. 10.] And in case any person shall be committed by the commissioners for refusing to answer or not fully answering any question, the commissioners shall, in their warrant of commitment specify such question; and in case any person committed by the commissioners' warrant, shall bring a habeas corpus in order to be discharged, and there shall appear any insufficiency in the form of the warrant, it shall be lawful for the court or judge before whom such party shall be brought by habeas corpus, by rule or warrant, to commit such person to the same prison, there to remain until[l] he or she shall conform as aforesaid, unless it shall be made appear that such person hath fully answered all lawful questions put by the commissioners, or, in case such person was committed for not signing his examination, unless it shall appear that the party had good reason for refusing to sign the same.

Penalty for the jailer's wilfully suffering an escape, &c.

[SECT. 11.] And in case any goaler, to whom such person shall be committed, shall wil[l]fully suffer such person to escape or go without the walls or doors of the prison, such goaler shall for such offence, being convicted thereof by indictment or information, forf[ie][ei]t five hundred pounds for the use of the creditors; and the goaler shall, upon request of any creditor having proved his debt and produced a certificate thereof under the hands of the commissioners, which the commissioners shall give gratis, produce such person so committed: and in case such goaler shall refuse to shew such person so committed and being in his actual custody at the time of such request, to such creditor requesting to see such person, such goaler shall forfeit an hundred pounds for the use of the creditors, to be recovered by action of debt in the name of the creditor requesting such sight.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for perjury committed by the bankrupt.

[SECT. 12.] That if, upon the examination of such bankrupt, it shall appear that he, she or they have committed any wilful or corrupt perjury tending to the hurt or damage of the creditors of the said bankrupt to the value of ten pounds or above, the party so offending shall or may thereof be indicted in his majesty's court of assize, and being lawfully convicted thereof, shall stand in the pillory one hour, and have one of his ears cut off.

[Sect. 13.] And it shall and may be lawful for such commissioners, or the greater part of them, to issue process against the wife of such bankrupt, to bring her before them for examination; and if she or any other person duly summoned shall fail of appearing before the said commissioners at the time and place by them appointed, they shall incur[r] such danger and penalty as is above made and provided against the bankrupt himself; and the lawful costs of all witnesses shall be rateably born by the creditors of such bankrupt, according to the proportion of each of their several debts. Commissioners may bring the wife of any bankrupt for examination, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 14.] That if any bankrupt shall, upon examination before the s[ai]d commissioners executing the said commission, be found fraudulently or deceitfully to have conveyed away his or her goods, chatt[e]l[e]s, lands, tenements, rents, annuities or other estate, or any part thereof, to the value of twenty pounds or above, to the end and purpose to hinder the execution of this act, or thereby to defraud or delay or hinder his or her creditors of the same, and shall not, upon examination, discover to the said commissioners, or the greater part of them and, if it be in his or her power, deliver unto the said commissioners all that estate, goods and chatt[e]l[e]s so fraudulently conveyed away as aforesaid, or by him or her, his or her means kept or detained from the said commissioners, or shall not, as far as lies in his or her power, convey to the said commissioners all his or her estate, being out of this province, to be disposed of by the said commissioners as his or her other estate for the benefit of the creditors, shall or may be indicted for such fraud or abuse, at the assizes or general sessions to be holden before the judges of assize or justices of the peace of the county where he or she shall become bankrupt, and the bankrupt, upon conviction thereof, shall stand in the pillory one hour, and have one of his ears cut off. Frauds to be indicted at the court of assize, &c. Penalty.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 15.] That if any person which is or shall be a bankrupt, by the intent of this act, shall convey or procure, or cause to be conveyed to any person or persons any lands, tenements, hereditaments, annuities, leases, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s, or transfer his debts into other men's names, except the same shall be purchased, conveyed or transferr[e]'d for some good or valuable consideration, it shall be in the power and authority of the commissioners in this behalf to be appointed, or the greater part of them, to bargain, sell, grant, convey, demise or otherwise to dispose thereof, in as ample manner as if the said bankrupt had been actually seized or possessed thereof, or the debts were in his own name, of the like estate or interest, to his or their own use, at such time as he or she became bankrupt, and that every such grant, bargain, sale, conveyance and disposition of the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, shall be good and available to all intents, constructions and purposes in the law against the offender and offenders, his heirs, exe[cut]ors, adm[inistrat]ors and assigns, and such persons as shall be subject to this act, and against all other person or persons claiming by, from or under such offender or offenders, or such said other persons to whom such conveyance shall be made by the bankrupt, or by his means or procurement. Where lands, &c., are fraudulently conveyed without a valuable consideration, the commissioners may dispose of the same for the benefit of the creditors.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 16.] That if any person or persons being known, supposed or suspected to have or detain any part of the lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s or debts of the said bankrupt, or to be indebted to or for his or her benefit, shall not upon examination disclose and plainly declare and shew the whole truth of such things as he or they shall be examined of concerning the premisses to his knowledge, then every such person or persons, upon due proof thereof to be made Persons detaining lands, &c., of any bankrupt, or being indebted, that on examination shall not disclose the whole truth, to pay double the value of lands, &c.

before the said commissioners, or the greater part of them so to be appointed as is aforesaid, by witness, examination or otherwise, as to the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, shall seem sufficient in that behalf, shall lose and forfeit double the value of all such goods, chatt[e]l[e]s, wares, merchandizes and debts by them, or any of them, so concealed, and not wholly and plainly declared and shewed, which forfeiture shall be levied by the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, of the lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods and chatt[e]l[e]s of such person not disclosing the whole truth as is aforesaid, by such ways and means, and in such manner and form, as is before limit[t]ed and appointed for the principal offender or offenders, debtor or debtors, and the same forfeiture or forfeitures to be distributed or employed to and for the satisfaction and payment of the debts of the said creditor or creditors, in such like manner, rate and form as is above declared concerning the ordering of the lands, tenements, goods and chatt[e]l[e]s of such debtor or debtors as is aforesaid.

Forfeitures to be distributed for the payment of creditors.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 17.] That if at any time before or after such voluntary declaration to the secretary, or that any such person or persons depart the province, keep his or their houses, or otherwise absent him- or themselves, or suffer him- or themselves to be arrested or imprisoned, or escape as is aforesaid, any person or persons fraudulently, by coven or collusion, claim, demand or recover any debts, duties, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s, lands or tenements which were or shall be due belonging or appertaining to any such bankrupt or bankrupts, other than such as he or they can or do prove to be due by right and conscience in form aforesaid for money paid, wares delivered, or other just consideration or cause reasonable, to the just value thereof, before the said commissioners so to be appointed, or the greater part of them, as is aforesaid, and the same to proceed bona fide without fraud or coven, that then every such person or persons so craftily demanding and claiming any such debt, duty or other thing as is aforesaid, shall forfeit and lose double as much as he or they shall so claim and demand, which said forfeiture shall be recovered, levied and employed in manner and form as is before rehearsed.

Persons fraudulently claiming or recovering debts, &c., of any person deemed or adjudged a bankrupt, to forfeit double as much as shall be claimed or demanded.

[SECT. 18.] And every person who shall have accepted any trust, and shall wilfully conceal any estate of any bankrupt, and shall not, within forty-two days after such commission shall issue and notice given in the public[k] newspapers, discover such trust and estate in writing to one of the commissioners or assignees hereafter mentioned, and submit to be examined thereupon, if required, shall forfeit one hundred pounds and double the value of the estate concealed to the creditors.

Persons intrusted and wilfully concealing the estate of any bankrupt, to be fined £100.

[SECT. 19.] And if any person or persons other than the bankrupt, either by subornation, unlawful procurement, sinister perswasion, or means of any other, or by his own act, consent or agreement, shall wil[l]fully and corruptly commit any manner of wilful[l] perjury by his deposition to be taken before the s[ai]d commissioners, or the greater part of them as aforesaid, that then the party or parties so offending, and all and every person and persons that shall unlawfully and corruptly procure any such unlawful, wilful[l] and corrupt perjury, shall or may therefor be indicted in his majesty's superiour court, and after his or their conviction thereof, shall incur such forfeiture, and receive and suffer such pains and punishments, as are limited by the statute made concerning perjury in the fifth year of the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

Persons committing wilful perjury, to be indicted, &c.

Penalty.

St. 5 Eliz., ch. 9.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 20.] That all and every sum and sums of money which shall be forfeited by force of this act, shall be sued for and recovered by the said creditors only, or any of them that will sue for the same, by action of debt, bill, plaint or information in any of his majesty's courts of record, and the sum and sums of money so recovered, the charges of suit being deducted, shall be distributed and divided towards the payment of the said creditors.

Sums of money forfeited to be recovered by creditors.

Provided, always,—

And be it enacted,

Proviso relating to forfeitures.

[Sect. 21.] That if it shall happen that the creditors of any such bankrupt as is aforesaid be paid and satisfied their debts and duties of or with the proper lands, tenements, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s and debts of the said bankrupt, or of or with the same and some part of the forfeitures of the said double values to be forfeited as is aforesaid, and that there shall remain an overplus of the said forfeiture of the said double values, that the said overplus shall, by the said commissioners so executing the said commission, be paid to the treasurer of this province for the use thereof.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners to assign or dispose of debts, &c., for the benefit of bankrupts.

[Sect. 22.] That the commissioners of bankrupts or the greater part of them shall have power to grant and assign, or otherwise to order or dispose all or any of the debts due, or to be due, to and for the benefit of the said bankrupt, by what person or persons soever, or in what manner and form soever, to the use of the creditors of the said bankrupt; and that the same grant, assignment or disposition of the said debts, in form hereafter mention[e]'d, by the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, shall so vest the property, right and interest of the said debt and debts, in the person or persons of him, her or them to whom it shall be granted, assigned or ordered by the said commissioners, or the greater part of them, as fully to all intents and purposes as if the bill, bond, bonds, recognizances, judgment or contract whereupon the said debt or debts, deed or deeds shall arise or grow, had been made to or with, or for, the said person or persons to whom the same shall be so granted, assigned or disposed by the said commissioners; and that after such grant, assignment or disposition made of the said debts, that neither the bankrupt, nor any other to whom such debt[s] shall be due, shall have power to recover the same, nor to make any release or discharge thereof; neither shall the same be attached as the debt of the bankrupt, or such said other person or persons, to whom the same shall be due by any other person or persons; but that the party or parties, to whom the same debt shall be assigned, shall have like remedy to recover the same, as fully and lawfully, in the name or names of the person or persons to whom the same shall be so granted, assigned or ordered by the said commissioners, in all respects and purposes, as the party himself might have had.

Proviso respecting debtors.

[Sect. 23.] That no debtor of the bankrupt hereby be endanger[e]'d for any payment truly and bona fide made to any such bankrupt before such time as he shall understand or know that he is become a bankrupt.

Provided, also,—

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners to make declaration to any bankrupt of the employing or bestowing of his or her estate when lawfully requested.

[Sect. 24.] That such of the said commissioners as shall put the said commission in execution shall, upon lawful[l] request to them made by the said bankrupt, not only make a true declaration to the said bankrupt of the employing and bestowing of his, her or their said lands, tenements [and] hereditaments, goods, wares, chatt[e]l[e]s and debts which shall be paid and satisfied to their said creditors, but also make payment of the overplus of the same, if any such there be, to the said bankrupt, their executors, administrators and assigns, and that the said bankrupts, after the full satisfaction of the said creditors, shall have full power and authority to recover and receive the residue and remainder of the debts to them owing, anything in this act contained to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted,

Creditors petitioning for a commission of bankruptcy to prosecute the same at their own cost until assignees shall be chosen.

[SECT. 25.] That the creditors who shall petition for a commission of bankruptcy shall be obliged, at their own costs, to prosecute the same until[l] assignees shall be chosen; and the commissioners shall, at the meeting appointed for the choice of assignees, ascertain such costs, and by writing shall order the assignees to reimburse such petitioning creditors out of the first effects of the bankrupt that shall be got in, and the commissioners shall forthwith, after they have declared the person a bankrupt and caused notice thereof to be given in the public[k] newspapers, appoint time and place for the creditors to meet, in order to choose assignees; at which meeting the commissioners shall admit the proof of any creditor's debt that shall live remote from the place of such meeting by affidavit or solemn affirmation, and permit any person duly authorized by letter of attorney (oath or affirmation being made of the execution thereof, either by an affidavit sworn or affirmation made before a justice of the peace or before the commissioners viva voce, and in case of creditors residing in distant parts, such affidavit[t]s or affirmations shall be made before a magistrate where the party shall be residing, and shall, together with such creditor's letters of attorney, be attested by a notary publick) to vote in the choice of assignees in the place of such creditor, and the commissioners shall assign such bankrupt's estate unto such persons as the major part in value of such creditors, according to the debts then proved shall choose; and the assignees shall be obliged to keep books of account, wherein they shall enter all sums of money or other effects which they shall have received out of said bankrupt's estate, to which books every creditor shall have free resort, and no creditor or other person on behalf of any creditor shall be permitted to vote in such choice of assignees whose debt[s] shall not amount to ten pounds.

Public notice to be given the creditors of any bankrupt of the time and place of meeting for the choice of assignees, &c.

Assignees appointed by commissioners may be removed at the meeting of creditors, &c.

[SECT. 26.] And it shall be lawful for the commissioners immediately to appoint assignees, which assignees shall be removed at the meeting of the creditors for choice of assignees, if the major part in value of them then present and if such persons authorized as aforesaid shall think fit; and such assignees as shall be removed shall deliver up the said bankrupt's effects and estate unto the assignees chosen by the creditors; and if such first assignees shall neglect by the space of ten days, after notice in writing, to make such assignment and delivery, every such first assignee shall forfeit two hundred pounds to be distributed amongst the creditors and to be recovered by such person as the commissioners shall appoint to sue for the same.

Commander-in-chief, with advice of the council, to make order for the choice of new assignees, &c.

[SECT. 27.] And it shall be lawful for the commander-in-chief, with the advice of his majesty's council, upon petition of the creditors, to make such order for the choice of new assignees as he, with such advice, shall think just; and in case a new assignment shall be ordered, then such effects of such bankrupt shall be thereby effectually vested in such new assignees, and it shall be lawful for them to sue for the same in their names, and to give acquittance for debts, as the assignees in the former assignment might have done; and the commissioners shall cause publick notice to be given in the Boston newspapers that shall immediately follow the removal of such assignees and the appointment of others; and before the creditors shall proceed to the choice of assignees, the major part in value of the creditors present shall, if they think fit, direct how and with whom the monies to be received out of the bankrupt's estate shall remain until[l] the same be divided, to which rule such assignees shall conform as often as fifty pounds shall be got in.

Assignees to give notice in the public newspapers of the time and place of commissioners' and assignees' meeting to make dividend, &c.

[Sect. 28.] And the persons chosen assignees shall, after the expiration of four months and within twelve months from the time of issuing such commission, cause twenty-one days' notice to be given in the publick newspapers of the time and place the commissioners and assignees intend to meet and make a dividend, at which time the creditors who have not before proved their debts shall be at liberty to prove the same; and upon every such meeting the assignees shall produce accounts of their receipts and payments, and of what still shall remain outstanding, and shall, if the creditors present require the same, be examined upon oath or solemn affirmation touching the truth of such accounts, and the assignees shall be allowed all just allowances; and the commissioners shall order such part of the neat produce of the said bankrupt's estate in the hands of [the] said assignees, as they shall think fit, to be divided amongst the creditors, and shall make such order for a dividend in writing, and shall cause one part of such order to be filed amongst the proceedings under the commission, and shall deliver unto each of the assignees a duplicate of such order, which order shall contain an account of the time and place of making such order, and the sum total of the debts proved, and the sum total of the money remaining in the hands of the assignees, and how much in the pound is then ordered to be paid; and the assignees, in pursuance of such order, shall forthwith make such dividend and take receipts in a book from each creditor.

Assignees, with the consent of the major part of the creditors, to submit any difference to arbitration.

[Sect. 29.] And it shall be lawful for the assignees, with the consent of the major part in value of the creditors present at any meeting, pursuant to notice in the public[k] newspapers, to submit any difference between such assignees and any person whatsoever, by reason of any matter relating to such bankrupt, to the determination of arbitrators, or otherwise to compound the matter[s] in difference as the assignees, with such consent, can agree. And the assignees are impow[e]red, with consent of creditors, to make composition with any debtors to such bankrupts where the same shall appear necessary.

Times for commissioners' meeting within the time limited for any bankrupt to surrender himself.

[Sect. 30.] And the commissioners shall appoint, within the time limit[t]ed for the bankrupt to surrender and conform as aforesaid, not less than three meetings, the last of which shall be on the day limit[t]ed for such bankrupt's appearance, and three weeks' notice shall be given in the public[k] newspapers of the time and place of such meetings; and it shall be lawful for them to enlarge the time for such person's surrendering himself and discovering his effects, not exceeding fifty days from the end of the time limit[t]ed as aforesaid, so as such order for enlarg[e]ing the time be made six days before the time on which such person was to surrender himself.

Bankrupts to deliver the assignees, on oath, books of account, &c.

[Sect. 31.] And every such bankrupt, after assignees shall be appointed, shall deliver, upon oath or affirmation before a justice of the peace, unto such assignees, all his books of accounts and writings not seized by the messenger of the commission or not before delivered up to the commissioners and then in his power and discover such as are in the power of any other person that anyways concern his estate; and every such bankrupt not in prison shall, after such surrender, be at liberty and shall attend such assignees, upon notice in writing, in order to assist in making out the accounts of the estate.

Any bankrupt having surrendered himself to have liberty to inspect his books, &c.

[Sect. 32.] And every bankrupt having surrendered shall, at all seasonable times before the expiration of the said first limited time aforesaid or such further time as shall be allowed to finish his examination, be at liberty to inspect his books and writings in the presence of some person to be appointed by the assignees, and to bring with him for his assistance such persons as he shall think fit, not exceeding two at one time, and to make extracts and copies to enable him to make a full discovery of his effects; and the said bankrupt shall be free from arrests in com[e]ing to surrender and from actual surrender for such time as shall be allowed for finishing his examination: provided, such bankrupt was not in custody at the time of surrender. And in case such bankrupt shall be arrested for debt or on any escape warrant, coming to surrender or after his surrender, within the time before mentioned, then, on producing such summons or notice, under the hands of the commissioners or assignees, and giving the officer a copy thereof, he shall be discharged; and in case any officer shall detain such bankrupt, such officer shall forfeit to such bankrupt, for his own use, five pounds for every day he shall detain him; and in case any bankrupt be in custody at the time of issuing the commission, and is willing to submit to be examined, and can be brought before the commissioners and creditors, the expence thereof to be paid out of the bankrupt's estate; but in case such bankrupt is in execution, or cannot be brought before the commissioners, then the commissioners shall attend the bankrupt in custody and take his discovery; and the assignees shall appoint persons to attend such bankrupt in prison and produce his books and writings in order to prepare his discovery, a copy whereof the assignees shall apply for and the bankrupt shall deliver to their order ten days before such last examination.

Bankrupts to be free from arrests in coming to surrender, &c.

Penalty, &c.

Any bankrupt that shall be in custody when commission is issued, &c.

Expense of examination, how to be paid.

Bankrupts in execution to be attended in prison.

[SECT. 33.] And all bankrupts who shall surrender and conform, as by this act is directed, shall be allowed five per cent out of the neat produce of the estate that shall be received, in case the neat produce of the estate, after such allowance made, shall be sufficient to pay ten shillings in the pound, and so as the said five per cent shall not amount to above two hundred pounds; and in case the neat produce of the estate shall be sufficient to pay twelve shillings and sixpence in the pound, then all the persons so [per][con]forming shall be allowed seven pounds ten shillings per cent, so as such allowance shall not amount to above two hundred and fifty pounds; and in case the neat produce shall, over and above the allowance, be sufficient to pay fifteen shillings in the pound, then persons so conforming shall be allowed ten per cent, so as such ten per cent shall not amount to above three hundred pounds; and every such bankrupt shall be discharged from all debts owing at the time he did become bankrupt.

Allowance to bankrupts who shall surrender and conform to this act.

Bankrupts to be discharged from all debts owing, &c.

[SECT. 34.] And in case such bankrupt shall afterwards be impleaded, for any debt due before he became bankrupt, such bankrupt shall be discharged upon common bail and may plead in general that the cause of action did accrue before such time as he became bankrupt; and the certificate of such bankrupt's conforming and the allowance thereof shall be sufficient evidence of the trading bankruptcy commission and other proceedings precedent to the obtaining such certificate: unless the plaintiff can prove the said certificate was obtained unfairly, or make appear any concealment by such bankrupt to the value of ten pounds.

Bankrupts impleaded, &c., to be discharged on common bail.

Bankrupt may plead in general, &c.

[SECT. 35.] And if the neat proceeds of such bankrupt's estate shall not amount to ten shillings in the pound, such bankrupt shall not be allowed the five per cent, but shall be allowed so much as the assignees and commissioners shall think fit, not exceeding three per cent.

Allowance to bankrupts where their estate will not pay 10*s.* in the pound.

[SECT. 36.] And in case any commission of bankruptcy shall issue against any person who shall have been discharged by virtue of this act, or shall have compounded with his creditors, or delivered to them his effects and been released by them, or been discharged by any act for the relief of insolvent debtors, then the body only of such person conforming shall be free from arrest and imprisonment, but the future estate of such person shall remain liable to his creditors, the tools of trade, necessary hous[e]hold goods and necessary wearing apparel[1] of such bankrupt and his wife and children excepted: unless the estate of such person shall produce, clear, fifteen shillings in the pound. Exception.

Bankrupts' bodies to be free from arrests, &c.

Future estate liable to creditors.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 37.] That no discovery shall intitle such bankrupt to the benefits allowed by this act, unless the commissioners or the major part of them shall, under their hands and seals, certify to the commander-in-chief, that such bankrupt hath made a full discovery of his estate, and in all things conformed himself according to the directions of this act and that there doth not appear to them any reason to doubt of the truth of such discovery; and unless the greater part in number and in value of the creditors, who shall be creditors for not less than ten pounds, respectively, or some other person by them duly authorized, shall sign such certificate; and the commissioners shall not certify 'till they shall have proof by affidavit or affirmation, in 'writing, of such creditors or of the persons by them authorized signing the certificate, and of the power by which any person shall be authorized to sign for any creditor (which affidavit or affirmation together with such authority to sign shall be laid before two of the justices of the superiour court with the said certificate), and unless such bankrupt make oath or solemn affirmation, in writing, that such certificate was obtained without fraud, and unless such certificate shall, after such oath or affirmation, be allowed by two of the s[ai]d justices; and any of the creditors of such bankrupt[s] may be heard, if they think fit, against the making such certificate and against the confirmation thereof; and every security to be given to the use of any creditor as a consideration to persuade him to sign such certificate shall be void, and the party sued on such contract may plead the general issue and under it give this special matter in evidence.

Bankrupt not to be allowed the benefit of this act, unless.

Certificate to be signed by the greatest part of creditors, &c.

Commissioners not to certify till they have proof by affidavit, &c.

Bankrupt to make oath, &c., certificate was obtained without fraud.

Security given any creditor to sign the certificate, to be void.

[Sect. 38.] And nothing in this act shall give any advantage to any bankrupt who shall have lost, in one day the value of forty shillings, or in the whole the value of ten pounds within twelve months next preceeding his becom[e]ing bankrupt, at cards, dice or other game, or hath born a share in the stakes or betting.

Nothing in this act shall give advantage to bankrupts, &c.

[Sect. 39.] And if any bankrupt who shall obtain his certificate shall be taken in execution and detained in prison, on account of any debts contracted before he became a bankrupt, by reason that judgment was obtained before such certificate was allowed, it shall be lawful for any one of the judges of the court wherein judgment hath been so obtained, on such bankrupt producing his certificate allowed, to order any sheriff or goaler, who shall have such bankrupt in his custody, to discharge such bankrupt without fee; and upon certificate, under the hands and seals of the commissioners that such commission is issued and such person proved before them to become bankrupt, it shall be lawful for any of his majesty's justices of the superiour court, or of the courts of common pleas, and they are hereby required, upon application made, to grant their warrants for apprehending such person, and him to commit to the common goal of the county where he shall be apprehended, and there to remain until[1] he be removed by the order of the commissioners; and the goaler, to whose custody such person shall be committed, is required to give notice to one of the commissioners of such person being in his custody; and if any person so apprehended shall, within the time allowed, submit to be examined and conform as if he had surrendered, such person shall have the benefit of this act, as if he had voluntarily come in.

Any bankrupt being imprisoned after obtaining a certificate, to be discharged, &c.

On certificate of commissioners that commission is issued, &c., justices of the superior court, &c., to grant warrant.

Any bankrupt apprehended, on submitting, &c., to have the benefit of this act.

[Sect. 40.] And every person, who shall, after the time allowed to such bankrupt, voluntarily make discovery of any part of such bankrupt's estate, not before come to the knowledge of the assignees, shall be allowed five per cent, and such further reward as the assignees and the major part of the creditors in value present at any meeting of the creditors, shall think fit.

Persons making discovery, to be allowed.

Persons taking bills, &c., may petition for a commission or bankruptcy.

[SECT. 41.] And it shall be lawful for persons taking bills, notes or other security, for money payable at a future day, to petition for a commission, or join in petitioning.

No commission of bankruptcy to be awarded on a single debt less than £50.

[SECT. 42.] And no commission of bankruptcy shall be awarded unless the single debt of the creditor, or of more persons being partners petitioning for the same, amount to fifty pounds, or unless the debt of two creditors petitioning amount to seventy-five pounds, or unless the debt of more creditors petitioning amount to an hundred pounds; and the creditors petitioning shall, before the same be granted,

Persons petitioning to make oath and give bond.

make affidavit or solemn affirmation before a justice of the peace of the truth of their debts, and give bond to the secretary of the province in the penalty of a hundred pounds, to be conditioned for proving their debts, as well before the commissioners as upon a trial at law, in case the due issuing forth of the same shall be contested, and also for proving the party a bankrupt, and to proceed on such commission as herein is mentioned; and if such debts shall not be really due, or if, after such commission taken out, it cannot be proved that the party was a bankrupt, then the secretary shall, upon request of the party grieved, assign

Secretary, in certain cases, to assign bond.

Any bankrupt giving security to such person as shall sue out a commission for payment of more in the pound than the other creditors, new commission to issue.

[SECT. 43.] And if any bankrupt shall, after issuing of any commission against him, pay the person who sued out the same, or deliver to such person goods or security for his debt, whereby such person suing out such commission shall privately have more in the pound than the other creditors, such payment, delivery of the goods or giving security shall be deemed an act of bankruptcy, whereby such commission shall be super[e][s]eded; and it shall be lawful for the commander-in-chief, with advice as aforesaid, to award to any creditors petition-[ing][ed] another commission, and such person receiving such goods or other satisfaction shall forfeit as well his whole debt as the whole he shall have received, and shall pay back and deliver up the same, or the full thereof to be divided amongst the other creditors; and where it shall appear that there hath been mutual credit given, or mutual debts between the bankrupt or any other person, the commissioners or assignees shall state the account, and one debt may set against another, and [the] only [the] bal[l]ance of such account shall be claimed or paid.

Penalty for any bankrupt swearing or affirming that any money is due which is not.

[SECT. 44.] And if any person shall, before the commissioners, or by affidavit or affirmation exhibited to them, swear or affirm that any sum of money is due to him from any bankrupt, which is not really due, knowing the same to be not due, and being convicted by indictment or information, such person shall suffer as in case of wilful[l] perjury, and shall be liable to pay double the sum so sworn or affirmed to be due.

Bankrupts to attend assignees to settle accounts, &c.

[SECT. 45.] And after such bankrupt shall have obtained his certificate and the same shall be confirmed, such bankrupt shall be obliged, upon notice in writing, to attend the assignees in order to settle any account of such bankrupt's estate, or to attend any court of record to be examined touching the same, or for such other business which such assignees shall judge necessary for getting in the bankrupt's estate, for which attendance the bankrupt shall be allowed two shillings per diem;

Upon neglect to be committed, &c.

and in case such bankrupt shall neglect to attend, or refuse to assist in such discovery, without good cause to be shewn to the commissioners, to be by them allowed, such assignees making proof thereof, upon oath or solemn affirmation before the commissioners, the commissioners are hereby required to issue a warrant to such person[s] as they shall think proper, for apprehending such bankrupt, and him to commit to the county goal, there to remain in close custody until[l] he shall conform to the satisfaction of the commissioners and be by the commissioners, or by due course of law, discharged; and such goaler is required to keep such person in close custody within the walls of the prison, under the penalties before mentioned for suffering such prisoner[s] to escape.

Time for making a second dividend.

[Sect. 46.] And within eighteen months after the issuing of any such commission, the assignees shall make a second dividend, in case the estate was not wholly divided upon the first, and shall cause notice to be inserted in all the publick Boston newspapers, for three weeks successively, of the time and place the commissioners intend to meet, to make a second dividend, and for the creditors who shall not before have proved their debts to come and prove the same; and at such meeting every assignee shall produce, upon oath or affirmation, his accounts, and what upon the bal[l]ance shall appear to be in his hands shall, by like orders of the commissioners, be forthwith divided, which second dividend shall be final, unless any suit shall be depending, or any part of the estate standing out, or unless some future estate of the bankrupt shall afterwards come to the assignees, in which case the assignees shall, as soon as may be, convert such future estate into money, and shall within two months after, by the like order of the commissioners, divide the same.

And notice of the meeting to be given in Boston newspapers, &c.

Assignees on oath to produce accounts.

Second dividend to be final, unless.

No lessee of lands, &c., to be deemed bankrupt.

[Sect. 47.] And no lessee of lands, grazier or drover, or receiver of taxes, shal[l] be intitled, as such, to the benefits given by this act, or be deemed a bankrupt. And upon the petition of any person, the commander-in-chief may order such commissions, depositions, proceedings and certificates to be ent[e]red of record; and in case of the death of the witnesses proving such bankruptcy, or in case the said commissions or other things shall be lost, a copy of the record[s] of such commissions or things, signed and attested as herein is mentioned, may be given in evidence to prove such commissions and bankruptcy, or other things; and all certificates to be allowed and ent[e]red of record, or a true copy of every certificate, signed and attested as herein is mentioned, shall and may be given in evidence in any [of the] courts of record, and without further proof, taken to be a bar and discharge against any action for any debt contracted before the issuing of such commission, unless any creditor of the person that hath such certificate shall prove that such certificate was fraudulently obtained; and the several clerks of the inferiour courts of common pleas where said bankrupt last dwelt, shall, in their several offices, enter of record such commissions and other things and have the custody of the entries thereof, and all persons shall be at liberty to search and have copies of them; and there shall not be paid out of the estate of the bankrupt any monies for expences in eating or drinking of the commissioners or of any other persons, at the times of the meetings of the commissioners or creditors; and no schedule shall be annexed to any deed of assignment of the personal estate of such bankrupt; and if any commissioner shall order such expence to be made, or eat or drink at the charge of the creditors or out of the estate of such bankrupt, or receive above five shillings each commissioner for each day on which they shall meet, every such commissioner shall be disabled to act in any commission of bankrupts.

Commander-in-chief, on petition, to order commissions, &c., to be put on record, &c.

Certificates recorded, &c., may be given in evidence, unless fraudulently obtained.

Clerks of the inferior courts to record commissions, &c.

Expenses for eating and drinking not to be paid out of the bankrupt's estate, &c.

[Sect. 48.] And the commissioners shall not be capable of acting until[l] they have respectively taken an oath to the effect following; viz[t].,— Commissioner's oath.

I, A. B., do swear that I will faithfully, impartially and honestly, according to the best of my skill and knowledge, execute the several powers and trusts reposed in me as a commissioner in a commission of bankruptcy against , and that without favour or affection, prejudice or malice. So help me God.

Commissioners to administer oath to each other.

—which oath any two of the commissioners are impow[e]red to administer to each other, and they are required to keep a memorial thereof, signed by them, amongst the proceedings on each commission.

Commissions of bankruptcy not to abate by the demise of his majesty, &c.

[SECT. 49.] And no commission of bankruptcy shall abate by the demise of his majesty, his heirs or successors, but shall continue in force, and if it shall be necessary to renew any commission by reason of the death of the commissioners or any other cause, such commission shall be renewed, and only the fees usually paid shall be paid for such renewed commission.

And be it further enacted,

Action, &c., brought against any commissioner, &c.

[SECT. 50.] That if any action of trespass or other suit shall happen hereafter to be brought against any commissioner, or any other person or persons having authority by virtue or under the commission authorizing the said commissioner for the doing or executing any matter by force of this act, that the defendant or defendants in any such action or suit may plead not guilty or otherwise justify that the act or thing, whereof the plaintiff or plaintiffs complained, was done by the authority of this act, without expressing or rehearsal of any other matter of circumstance contained in this act, and without inforc[e]ing him or them to shew forth their commission authorizing the said act or thing, whereunto the plaintiff shall be admitted to reply, that the defendant did the fact supposed in the declaration of his own wrong, without any such cause alledged by the defendant, whereupon the issue in such action shall be joined, to be tried by verdict of twelve men, and upon the trial of that issue the whole matter may be given by both parties in evidence according to the very truth of the same; and if [the] verdict upon such issue shall pass for the defendant, the defendant shall have costs.

Defendant may plead not guilty, &c.

Plaintiff admitted to reply, &c.

Trial to be by verdict of twelve men.

And be it further enacted,

Proviso in case of any bankrupt's death, &c.

[SECT. 51.] That if, after any commission of bankruptcy hereafter sued forth and dealt in by the commissioners, the bankrupt happen to die before the commissioners shall distribute the goods, lands and debts of the bankrupts or any of them, by force of this act, that then, nevertheless, the said commissioners shall and may in that case proceed in execution, in and upon the said commission, for and concerning the bankrupt's goods, lands, tenements, hered[e][i]taments and debts in such sort as they might have done if the bankrupt were living.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners, or the major part of them, have power by deed indented, &c., to grant and sell lands, &c.

[SECT. 52.] That the said commissioners or the major part of them shall have power, by virtue of this act, by deed indented and duly registred within two months after the making thereof in the county where such lands lie, to grant, bargain, sell and convey any lands, tenements or hereditaments, whereof any bankrupt is or shall be in any ways seized of any estate intail, in possession, reversion or remainder, and whereof no reversion or remainder is or shall be in the king's majesty, his heirs or successors, to any person or persons for the relief and benefit of the creditors of all such bankrupts; and that all and every such grants, bargains, sales and conveyances shall be good and available in the law to such person or persons and their heirs, against the said bankrupt, and against all and every the issues of the body of such bankrupts, and against all and every person or persons claiming any estate, right, title or interest by, from or under the said bankrupts, after such time as such person shall become bankrupt, and against all and every other person or persons whatsoever, whom the said bankrupt, by common recovery or other ways or means might cut[t] off or debar from any remainder, reversion, rent, profit, title or possibility into or out of any the said lands, tenements or hereditaments.

And be it further enacted,

Bankrupts conveying lands, &c., in consideration of redemption.

[Sect. 53.] That if any person, that now is or shall hereafter become a bankrupt, have heretofore granted, conveyed or assured, or shall at any time hereafter grant, convey or assure, any lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chatt[e]l[e]s or other estate unto any person or persons, upon condition or power of redemption at a day to come, by payment of money or otherwise, or have by law a right of redemption therein, or where bonds shall be given for reconveyance of any real estate, upon payment of money or other thing at a certain day, that it shall and may be lawful to and for the said commissioners or the greater part of them, before the time of the performance of such condition or agreement or right of redemption be expired, to assign and appoint, under their hands and seals, such person or persons as they shall think fit, to make tender or payment of money or other performance according to the nature of such condition, agreement or right of redemption, as fully as the bankrupt might have done; and that the said commissioners or the greater part of them, shall, after such tender, payment or performance, have power to sell and dispose of such lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods and chattels and other estates so granted, conveyed or assured upon condition, to and for the benefit of the creditors, as fully as they may sell or dispose of any the estate of the bankrupt.

Commissioners may appoint persons to make tender, &c.

After tender, commissioners' power to dispose of lands, &c.

Provided, further,—

Proviso.

[Sect. 54.] That no purchaser for good and valuable consideration shall be impeached by virtue of this act, unless the commission to prove him or her a bankrupt be sued forth against such bankrupt within five years after he or she shall become a bankrupt.

And be it further enacted,

Discharge of any bankrupt by this act not to extend to his partner.

[Sect. 55.] That the discharge of any bankrupt, by force of this act, from the debts by him owing, at the time that he did become a bankrupt, shall not be construed to discharge any other person who was partner with the bankrupt in trade, or stood jointly bound, or had made any joint contract, together with such bankrupt.

Persons giving credit on securities, &c., payable at a future day, to have a dividend, &c.

[Sect. 56.] And every person, who shall give credit, on securities payable at future days to persons who are or shall become bankrupts, upon good consideration, bonâ fide, for money or other thing not due before the time of such person's becoming bankrupt, shall be admitted to prove their securities or agreements, as if they were payable presently, and shall have a dividend in proportion to the other creditors, discounting six per cent from the actual payment to the time such money would have become due, and the bankrupt shall be discharged from such securities as if such money had been due before the time of his becoming bankrupt.

And be it further enacted,

When persons shall fraudulently swear or affirm, and sign consent for the discharge of any bankrupt, &c.

[Sect. 57.] That when any persons shall fraudulently swear or depose, or being of the people called Quakers affirm, before the major part of the commissioners named in any commission of bankrup[t]cy or by affidavit or affirmation exhibited to them, that a sum of money is due to him or her from any bankrupt or bankrupts, which shall in fact not be really and truly so due or owing, and shall, in respect of such fictitious and pretended debt, sign his or her consent to the certificate for such bankrupt's discharge from his debts, that in every such case, unless such bankrupt shall, before such time as the major part of the said commissioners shall have signed such certificate, by writing by him to be signed and delivered to one or more of the said commissioners, or to one or more of the assignees of his estate and effects under such commission, disclose the said fraud and object to the reality of such debt, such certificate shall be null and void to all intents and purposes, and such bankrupt shall not in that case be [e][i]ntitled to be discharged from his debts, or to have or receive any of the benefits or allowances given or allowed to bankrupts by this act, anything herein contained to the contrary thereof in anywise notwithstanding.

[SECT. 58.] This act to be and continue in force for five years from the publication of it, and no longer. [Passed August 31; published September 1.

"To the Right Hon^ble the Lords of the Committee of his Maj^ty's most Hon^ble Privy Council for Plantation Affairs.

My Lords,

Your Lordships having been pleased by your Order dated the 9th of May last to refer to our consideration fifty-seven acts pass'd in the Province of the Massachusets Bay in the years 1756 and 1757, amongst which there is one entitled,

An Act for providing Remedy for Bankrupts and their Creditors: and several of the principal Merchants trading to the said Province, apprehensive that their interests would be greatly affected by this Act, having made application to be heard against it, We thought it our duty to take it into our immediate consideration And having accordingly been attended by the said Merchants as well as by the Agent for the Massachusets Bay and heard what each party had to offer for and against the said Act, We beg leave to report to Your Lordships thereupon;

That it appears to us, upon consideration of the whole matter, that a Bankrupt Law, though it be just and equitable in it's Abstract principle, has always been found in it's execution to afford such opportunities for fraudulent practices that even in this Country, where, in most causes, the whole number of Creditors are resident on the spot, it may well be doubted, whether the fair Trader does not receive more detriment than benefit from such Law. But if a like Law should take place in a Colony, where (as we are inform'd) not above a tenth part of its Creditors are resident, and where that small proportion of the whole, both in number & value, might (as under the present Act they might) upon a Commission being issued, get possession of the Bankrupts Effects, and proceed to make a dividend, before the Merchants in England who make the other nine tenths of the Bankrupts Creditors could ever be informed of such Bankruptcy, it is easy to foresee that such a Law can be beneficial to the very small part of the Creditors resident in the Colony only and that the nine tenths of them who reside here would be exposed to frauds and difficulties of every sort and might be greatly injured in their properties.

For these reasons We beg leave to lay the said Act before your Lordships, with our humble opinion, that it should forthwith receive His Majesty's Disallowance.

We are, My Lords, Your Lordships most obed^t & most humble Servants.

Passed at the Session begun and held at Boston, on the Twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1757.

CHAPTER 13.

AN ACT IN ADDITION [TO] AN ACT, INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT FOR REGULATING THE HOSPITAL ON RAINSFORD'S ISLAND, AND FURTHER PROVIDING IN CASE OF SICKNESS."

Preamble. 1756-57, chap. 33, § 4.

Whereas, in and by an act, intit[u]led "An Act for regulating the hospital on Rainsford's Island, and further providing in case of sickness," it is provided, "that when and so often as any ship or other vessel, wherein any infection or infectious sickness hath lately been, shall come to any port or harbour within this province; or when and so often as any person or persons belonging to, or that may either by sea or land come into, any town or place near the publick hospital within this province, shall be visited, or who lately before may have been visited with any infectious sickness, two of the justices of the peace or selectmen of such place be and hereby are impowered immediately to order the said vessel and sick persons to the province hospital or house aforesaid, there to be taken care of." But no penalty is annexed to the breach of the afore-recited paragraph of said act; wherefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, That when any ship or other vessel, wherein any infectious sickness is or hath lately been, shall come to any port or harbour in this province, and either two justices or the selectmen of the place shall order the said vessel to the province hospital, and the master or mariners of such vessel shall refuse or delay, by the space of six hours after said order given to said master or either of the owners of said vessel or of the factors of either of said owners, to come to sail, if wind and weather permit, in order to proceed to said hospital, the master of said vessel shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds and suffer six months' imprisonment; one half of said fine to be to the informer or prosecutor, and the other half to the poor of the town or district to which such port or harbour belongs, the offender to be prosecuted in any court of justice proper to try the same. [Passed January 25; published January 26, 1758.

Justices of the peace, &c., to order infectious vessels or persons to the hospital.

Penalty for disobedience to the act.

CHAPTER 14.

AN ACT FOR RAISING THE SUM OF ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED POUNDS BY LOTTERY, FOR BUILDING AND MAINTAINING A BRIDGE OVER SACO AND PESUMPSCOT RIVERS, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the eastern part of said county of York has been formerly broke up by the enemy, and the getting troops to their relief is extreamly difficult, if not impracticable, in some seasons of the year, there being no passing in boats or any other way over the rivers of Saco and Pesumpscot[t], and the building a bridge over said rivers will be of public service,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Lottery allowed to be set up for building and maintaining a bridge over Saco and Presumpscot rivers, in the county of York.

[SECT. 1.] That Sir William Pepperrell, Baronet, Daniel Moulton, Edward Milliken, Joseph Sayer and Rushworth Jordan, Esq[rs]., Mess[ieu]rs Benjamin Chadburn and Stephen Longfellow or any three of them be and hereby are allowed and impowered to set[t] up and carry on a lottery or lotteries, which shall amount to such a sum as, by deducting ten per cent out of each prize, will raise the sum of one thousand two hundred pounds, to be appl[y][i]ed by them or any three of them, towards building and maintaining a good and sufficient bridge over each of said rivers of Saco and Pesumpscot[t], at or near the lower falls of said rivers, and for defreying the necessary charges of the lottery aforesaid.

And the said Sir William Pepperrell, Daniel Moulton, Edward Milliken, Joseph Sayer, Rushworth Jordan, Esq[re]., Benjamin Chadburn and Stephen Longfellow or any three of them may and hereby are impowered to make all necessary rules for the regular proceeding therein, and shall be sworn to the faithful[l] discharge of their trust aforesaid, and be answerable to the owners of the ticket[t]s and for any deficiency or misconduct; and that the monies so raised shall be appl[y][i]ed for the uses and purposes aforesaid and no other.

[SECT. 2.] And if the sum raised shall be more than sufficient, after paying of the charges of the lottery, to build the said bridges, the surplusage shall be lodged in the hands of the treasurer of the county of York, to be drawn out and appl[y][i]ed towards repairs of the said bridges. [Passed January 11, 1758.

CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING A NECK OF LAND CALLED MER[R]ICONEAG NECK, AND CERTAIN ISLANDS ADJACENT IN THE COUNTY OF YORK, INTO A SEPERATE DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF [HARPSWELL].

Preamble.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of Mer[r]iconeag Neck and the islands adjacent have humbly represented to this court the difficulties and great inconvenienc[i]es they labour under in their present situation, and have earnestly requested that they may be invested with the powers, privileges and immunities of a district; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Lands in the county of York

[SECT. 1.] That the said neck of land, beginning where Brunswick line intersects the upper end of said neck, which is four rods above the narrows of said neck, commonly called the carrying place, from thence, including the whole of said neck, down to the sea, together with the islands adjacent hereafter mentioned; viz[t]., Great Sebascodegin Island alias Shapleigh's Island, Little Sebascodegin Island and Will's Island lying to the southeast side of said neck, Birch Island, White's Island and the two Goose Islands lying on the northwest side of said neck, and Damariscove Islands lying at the lower end of said neck, be and hereby are incorporated into a seperate district by the name of Harpswell. erected into a district. Bounds thereof.

[Sect. 2.] And the inhabitants of said neck of land and islands shall be and hereby are invested with all the powers, privileges and immunities that the several towns in [the] [this] province by law do or may enjoy, that of sending a representative only excepted. Their powers, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That John Minot, Esq[uire], be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant to some principal inhabitant of the said district, requiring him, in his majesty's name, to warn and notify the said inhabitants qualified to vote in town affairs, to meet together at such time and place in said district, as by said warrant shall be appointed, to chuse such officers as the law directs and may be necessary to manage the affairs of said district; and the said inhabitants being so met shall be and hereby are impowered to chuse officers accordingly. [Passed January 25; published January 26, 1758. Inhabitants, how to be notified.

CHAPTER 16.

AN ACT MAKING PROVISION FOR THE QUARTERING AND BILLETING RECRUITING OFFICERS AND RECRUITS IN HIS MAJESTY'S REGULAR FORCES EMPLOYED FOR THE PROTECTION AND DEFENCE OF HIS MAJESTY'S DOMINIONS IN NORTH AMERICA.

Whereas the provision made by this government for quartering his majesty's troops in barracks at Castle William is found inconvenient for the purposes of such recruiting parties as are or may be employed in his majesty's service within this province,— Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That when, and so often as, during the continuance of this act, application shall be made, by any recruiting officer or officers in any of the troops that are or may be employed in his majesty's service for the protection and defence of his majesty's colonies upon the continent of North America, to any of the selectmen of any town or district within this province, or in the default or absence from the respective towns and districts of any selectmen, to any one justice of the peace for the county inhabiting in or near such town or district, such selectmen and such justice are hereby required to quarter and billet such recruiting officers and such recruits in his majesty's service in any of the public houses within such town or district licenced for the selling within doors wine, rum or other strong liquors by retail; and the officers and soldiers so quartered and billeted as aforesaid shall be received and furnished with diet and small beer or cyder by the occupiers of such licenced houses in which they may be quartered and billeted, payment and allowance to be made therefor, by such recruiting officers as shall demand quarters, at such rates and within such time as is established and regulated by act of parliament for quartering and billeting officers Recruiting officers, on application, to have quarters provided by the selectmen, or, in default or absence of the selectmen, by a justice of the peace, on public houses who are to furnish them with diet, &c. Payment of quarters to be made by officers within such time and at such rates as is established by act of parliament.

and soldiers in England, Wales and the town of Berwick upon Tweed; viz., for one commission officer of foot, under the degree of a captain, for his diet and small beer, per diem, one shilling sterling; and if such officer shall have an horse or horses, for each such horse or horses, for their hay and straw, per diem, sixpence sterling; for one foot soldier of the recruiting party or recruits, diet and small beer, per diem, fourpence sterling.

Provided, also.—

And be it further enacted,

Persons aggrieved, to whom to apply, and in what way and manner they shall be received, &c.

[SECT. 2.] That in case any person shall find himself aggrieved, in that any selectman has quartered or billeted in his house a greater number of soldiers than he ought to bear, in proportion to his neighbours, and shall complain thereof to one or more justice or justices for the county where such soldiers are quartered, or in case such soldiers shall have been quartered by a justice of the peace, then, on complaint made to two or more justices of the peace for the county, such justices respectively shall have and have hereby power to relieve such person by ordering such and so many of the soldiers to be removed or quartered upon such other person or persons as they shall see cause, and such other person or persons so licenced shall be obliged to receive such soldiers accordingly.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for any selectman or justice of the peace refusing or neglecting to quarter officers and soldiers, or that shall receive a reward, &c.

[SECT. 3.] That if any selectman or justice of the peace shall neglect or refuse, for the space of two hours, to quarter or billet such officers or soldiers when thereunto required, in such manner as is by this act directed, provided sufficient notice be given before the arrival of any recruiting parties, or shall receive, demand, contract or agree for any sum or sums of money, or any reward whatsoever, for or on account of excusing, or in order to excuse any person or persons whatsoever, from quartering or receiving into his, her or their house or houses any such officer or soldier, or in case any occupier of any public licenced house liable by this act to have any officer or soldier billeted and quartered on him or her, shall refuse to receive and victual any such officer or soldier so quartered and billeted upon him or her as aforesaid, according to the directions of this act, and shall be thereof convicted before two justices of the peace for the county where such offence shall be committed, one of which justices to be of the quorum, either by his or her own confession, or by the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, every person so offending shall forfeit to his majesty for every such offence the sum of five pounds sterling, or any sum of money not exceeding five pounds sterling nor less than forty shillings sterling, as the said justices before whom the matter shall be heard shall in their discretion think fit, to be levied by distress and sale of the goods of the person offending, by warrant under the hands and seals of the justices before whom such offender shall be convicted, to be directed to the sheriff of the county, his deputies or any constable of the town where the offender shall dwell, such fine or forfeiture to be paid into the province treasury and to be applied to the public charges of this government.

Or occupier of any public house who shall refuse or neglect to quarter officers and soldiers.

To be levied by distress.

Applied to the charges of the government.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to continue and be in force from the first day of December, this present year, unto the first day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, and no longer. [Passed and published December 1.

CHAPTER 17.

AN ACT TO EXEMPT THE PEOPLE CALLED QUAKERS FROM THE PENALTY OF THE LAW FOR NON-ATTENDANCE ON MILITARY MUSTERS.

Preamble.

Whereas, since the commencement of the present war, it has been judg'd necessary, for the more speedy levying of soldiers for his majesty's service and the defence of the province, that general musters of the several companies of horse and foot should be had on certain days appointed for that purpose, and such days have by law been appointed accordingly; and every person liable to train who should neglect to attend such musters was subjected to a penalty of twenty pounds: unless his attendance was necessarily and unavoidably prevented; and whereas, by reason that no express exemption of the people called Quakers was made in those laws, divers suits for the recovery of the aforesaid penalty have been commenced against them, altho' they profess to be conscientiously scrupulous of attending in arms at military musters, and thereupon divers petitions from persons of that perswasion have been prefer[r]'d to this court for relief in that behalf; wherefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Quakers exempted from the penalty for not attending military musters.

[Sect. 1.] That such of the inhabitants of this province, as are called Quakers, be henceforth exempted from every penalty heretofore by law imposed, for not attending military musters and that every such penalty or forfeiture already incurred by persons of that denomination, for the recovery whereof judgment has not been rendered, be wholly remitted, save where suit has already been brought, in which case judgment may be rendered for the plaintif[f] to recover his reasonable costs, and that no judgment for the recovery of such penalty heretofore rendered, or execution thereon issued or to be issued, shall be accounted of any force or validity for the levying or recovering more of the said forfeiture than what by law is appropriated to the use of the military clerk who commenced the suit whereon such judgment was recovered, together with costs of suit; and the estate only, and not the body, of any person of that denomination shall be liable to be taken by any such execution.

Penalty to be remitted, save where the suit has already been brought, in which case judgment, &c.

Estate only liable to execution.

And be it further enacted,

Quakers imprisoned, to be set at liberty.

Execution levied on goods, &c.

[Sect. 2.] That every such person, whose body has been taken and imprisoned for such penalty, shall be forthwith discharged and set at liberty; and where any execution has been levyed on goods or other estate, and more thereof has been taken than is sufficient to satisfy one third part of such forfeiture and costs, in such case the overplus shall, without delay, be returned to the owner: provided, nevertheless, that the military clerk, at whose suit any Quaker has been imprisoned, shall have liberty, after such Quaker shall have been discharged from his imprisonment, to take out an alias execution against his estate only for one third part of the penalty aforesaid, together with his reasonable costs.

Proviso respecting military clerks taking out an alias execution.

Provided,

Proviso respecting money paid into the hands of the chief officers of any company.

[Sect. 3.] That nothing in this act shall extend, or be construed to extend, to the reimbursement of any money actually paid into the hands of the chief officer of any company, and by him bona fide applyed to the raising his quota of the eighteen hundred men, for the service of the present year, by order of this government.

And be it further enacted, the hands of three or more of the principal members of any society of that denomination, that such person had, before the publication of the act upon which such suit was founded, professed himself to be of that perswasion, and that they verily believe him to be conscientiously so, shall be [i][e]ntitled to the benefit in this act before mentioned.

And to the intent it may be the better known what persons are of that perswasion, and to be deemed such within the intention of this act,—

Be it further enacted and declared,

Lists of quakers liable by law to impresses to be taken in writing, and by whom to be certified, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That upon lists being taken in writing under the hands of three or more of the principal members of each society of Quakers within this province, setting forth in each list the names of the several members of such society liable by law to impresses, the towns or places to which they belong and the military companies within the districts whereof they severally dwell therein, also certifying that they verily believe that the several persons in such list named are sincerely of that perswasion, and that they usually attend their meetings for the worship of God on the Lord's days; in such case the several persons in such list named shall be adjudged to come within the intention of this act and shall be exempted from future impresses and all military exercises whatever: provided, that effectual care be taken that, some time in the month of March, annually, such lists be lodged, one with the clerk of each town or district and chief officer of each military company, and one with the colonel or chief officer of the regiment to which the persons in such list named do severally belong, or in the limits whereof they dwell; also that a certificate in writing be procured from such colonel or chief officer of the regiment, which he is hereby required to deliver when thereto desired, setting forth the whole number of persons liable to impresses belonging to his regiment, including and particularly setting forth the number and names of the Quakers living within the districts thereof, according to the list of Quakers to be lodged with him as aforesaid, and that such certificate be, some time before the fifteenth day of April, annually, during the continuance of this act, transmitted to and lodged in the secretary's office of this province.

The persons with whom said lists shall be lodged.

Certificate to be procured from the colonel or chief officer, who is required to give the same.

Which are to be filed in the secretary's office before the fifteenth of April, annually.

And to the intent that persons of that denomination may bear their just proportion of the charge that may be incur[r]'d for the necessary defence of the province,—

Be it further enacted,

When necessary, to impress men for his majesty's service.

[SECT. 6.] That when and so often as it shall be found necessary that a number of men should be raised within the several towns and districts in this province by impress for his majesty's service, then and in that case there shall be a computation made of the number of Quakers in every regiment wherein any such there be, and no more men shall be impressed in either of those regiments than their respective quota, compared with other regiments, exclusive of Quakers.

A computation to be made of Quakers, &c.

And be it further enacted,

Captain or chief officer to certify the number of Quakers in his company.

[SECT. 7.] That the captain or chief officer of every military company in which there are any persons of that denomination, shall, within one month after recieving orders to make any impress, certify to the clerk of the town or district to which such company belongs, what number of Quakers in proportion to the rest of the company would have been liable to have been impressed, if they had not been exempted as being of that perswasion; and for each Quaker who would have been so liable, the sum of thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence shall be added to that town or district's proportion of the next province tax; and the assessors, in making their assessment, shall apportion and assess such sum or sums upon and among such and only such persons belonging to such town or district as are of that perswasion, and in such manner and proportion as they are liable to pay to other taxes.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That every military officer, who shall neglect his duty by this act enjo[y][i]ned, shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds; one moiety thereof to be for the use of the province, and the other moiety to him or them who shall inform and sue for the same in any court proper to try the same. Penalty on military officers for neglect, &c.

Provided,—

[Sect. 9.] That nothing herein contained shall be construed to extend to the inhabitants of Nantucket[t], who are to attend and observe the rules and directions in the law of this province relating to the inhabitants of that island, made in the twenty-ninth year of his present majesty's reign. [Sect. 10.] This act to continue and be in force for the term of three years from and after the thirtieth day of December instant, and until the end of the then next session of the general court, and no longer. [Passed and published December 31. Continuance of this act.

CHAPTER 18.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL ACTS OF THIS PROVINCE FOR REGULATING THE MILITIA.

Whereas it is found necessary that further provision be made for arming and disciplining the militia,— Preamble. 1693-4, chap. 3. 1738-39, chap 5. 1742-43, chap. 16

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That the captain or chief officer of each military foot company shall instruct and employ his company in military exercises six days in a year for two years from the first day of March next; viz., on the second and third Mondays in April, the first Monday in May, the first Tuesday in June, the last Monday in October, and the Tuesday following the same Monday; and on each of said days he shall make a strict enquiry into the state of the arms and ammunition of his company, on penalty of five pounds for each day he shall be negligent in his duty; that every person from the age of sixteen to sixty, not exempted by law, shall appear with arms and ammunition according to law, and attend his duty each of the aforesaid days, on penalty of nine shillings for not appearing and attending his duty; and for not appearing with arms and ammunition, shall be subject to the same penalties as, by law, already provided for not being furnished with arms and ammunition: and that the captain or chief officer of each troop or military company of horse, shall exercise his company four days in each year; viz., the second and third Mondays in April, the last Monday in October, and the Tuesday next following the same Monday; and on each of said days shall make strict inquiry into the state of his company, how each man is armed, equipped and provided with ammunition, on penalty of five pounds for each day such captain or chief officer shall be guilty of neglect in his duty in this respect: and every trooper or person belonging to the troop of guards, or to any troop or company of horse, shall, upon each of the same days, appear compleat in arms and ammunition, and equipped according to law, and attend his duty, on penalty of ten shillings each day for not appearing and attending his duty; and for not appearing armed, equipped and furnished according to law, shall be subject to the same penalties as, by law, is already provided for not being duly armed, equipped and furnished as the law directs: that the clerk of each military company, on oath, on each training-day, unless unavoidably prevented, shall take a list of the troop and company, and against each man's name note his appearance or non-appearance, and how he is provided with arms and ammunition, and shall in two days deliver the same to the chief officer of the troop or company, on penalty of five pounds: that the captain or chief officer, before he excuses any person for any neglect of duty, shall be under oath not to excuse any not excused by law, either through favour, affection, reward received, or hope of reward: that the captain or chief officer shall enter on the said list the persons' names by him excused, and the reasons for which they are excused, and in six days return the same list to the clerk, on penalty of five pounds: that the clerk, on oath, in thirty days, shall prosecute each delinquent, non-commission officer and soldier, who shall not have been so excused by the captain or chief officer, on the penalty of twenty shillings for each neglect.

Clerks to take a list, &c.

Time to deliver list to the captain or chief officer, on penalty.

Captain to be under oath for excusing persons.

The clerk, on oath, to prosecute delinquents. Penalty for neglect.

Be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That all offences committed against any clause of this act by any officer or officers, where a forfeiture is given, shall be enquired into, tryed and determined by the chief officers of the regiment, and levied by warrant, under the hand of the chief officer, in the way and manner as is provided by the act of King William and Queen Mary for regulating the militia; and the colonel or chief officer of any regiment shall, as soon as may be after the knowledge of such offences, call a meeting of the chief officers of the regiment, and issue his process against any such offender, which shall be served fourteen days before the meeting of the officers for the trial. And the clerk of each troop or military foot company, or prosecutor, is required and enjoined to give information of all such offences committed by any officers, to the colonel or chief officer of his regiment.

Offences committed by officers to be determined as provided by the act of King William and Queen Mary, &c.

1693-4, chap. 3.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That every person, except troopers, who is by law obliged to be furnished with arms and ammunition, shall be provided with a powder-horn or horns, with one pound of powder in the same, on penalty of two shillings, and with forty bullets fit for his gun, on the like penalty for each neglect; that any soldier, born on the training-lists in the several regiments, shall be excused from any penalty for not being furnished with swords, in case they provide themselves and appear with good hatchets.

Persons, except troopers, how to be furnished with arms, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That every person borne on the alarm list, and not on the train band, shall, on the first Monday in May, and the last training day in the year, annually, between three and five of the clock in the afternoon, and while the trained bands shall be under arms, carry or send his arms and ammunition into the field to be viewed; and in case any person shall neglect or refuse to carry or send his arms and ammunition into the field as aforesaid, unless unavoidably prevented, he shall be liable to the same penalty for each day's neglect, as if he had not such arms and ammunition.

Persons on the alarm list to have their arms, &c., viewed.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 5.] That every person, that shall neglect or refuse to attend a review, or regimental muster, shall pay the sum of fifteen shillings; and that every person in the frontiers of this province, liable to bear arms, when ordered by the chief officer of the regiment, shall carry his arms and ammunition with him to the place of publick worship, and to his labour in the field, on pain of forfeiting six shillings for each neglect.

Penalty for neglect, or refusing regimental musters.

Persons in the frontiers to carry arms, &c.

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That one half of the non-commission officers and private soldiers, liable to train, shall be furnished with a good bayonet, with a steel blade, not less than fifteen inches long, fitted to his gun, with a scabbard for the same, for which bayonet and scabbard there shall be paid out of the publick treasury not exceeding seven shillings, and that the captain or chief officer of each foot company shall take effectual care that they be so provided; and an account thereof shall be presented by said officer to the governour and council for allowance and payment, for which bayonet and scabbard each non-commission officer and soldier so provided shall be accountable to this government, unless under the age of twenty-one years, and for such as are minors, their parents, guardians or masters, respectively, shall be so accountable; and each non-commission officer and soldier, drummers excepted, shall, upon every training-day muster, review or alarm, after they are provided with bayonets as aforesaid, appear with the same, on penalty of two shillings for each neglect.

Non-commission officers and soldiers to be provided with bayonets, and in what manner, &c.

Penalty for not appearing with bayonets, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That the captain or chief officer of each foot company, as soon as may be after the commencement of this act, and before the tenth day of March next, is hereby enjoined to call his company together under arms, and, after enquiring into the state of them, is hereby impowered and directed to choose from among said arms such as he shall judge most suitable to be provided with bayonets, to the amount of one half the whole number; and the respective soldier or soldiers to whom such selected arms belong, shall observe and obey such directions and orders respecting their being provided with bayonets, as he or they shall receive from the captain or chief officer of the company, on penalty of twenty shillings for non-observance of, or disobedience to, such directions and orders as he or they shall receive for the purposes aforesaid.

Every foot company to be under arms, &c., before the tenth day of March, &c.

Penalty for non-observance of the orders of the captain, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That the penalty for any person not appearing and attending orders upon an alarm, unless unavoidably prevented, shall be the sum of ten pounds, or six months' imprisonment; and if any person shall be guilty of mutiny or desertion, and be thereof convicted, he shall either be punished with death, without benefit of clergy, or suffer some other grievous punishment, as shall be adjudged necessary by the court before whom he shall be tried, according to the nature and aggravation of his offence.

Penalty for non-appearance on alarm.

Penalty for mutiny or desertion.

And whereas, by an act of this province, made in the twelfth year of the reign of his late majesty King William the Third, intitled "An Act for putting the militia of this province into a readiness for a defence of the same", it is enacted, "That all persons commissioned by the captain-general or commander-in-chief of this province for the time being, to bear office in any military company or troop within the same, be and hereby are impowered and authorized, by virtue of such commission, when and as occasion shall require in the cases, and to the intents and purposes abovesaid, to arm, array and weapon the company or troop respectively under their command, or part of them, and by force of arms to encounter, repel, pursue, kill and destroy any that shall appear in hostile manner to attempt or enterprize the destruction, invasion, detriment or annoyance of any of his majesty's subjects, forts, garrisons, towns or plantations within this province; and that such officer or officers so taking to arms, shall forthwith dispatch notice to his or their superiour officer of his or their motion, and the occasion thereof, and observe such commands and orders as he or they shall from time to time receive from him;" and also, "That the colonel or chief officer of each regiment be and hereby is impowered and authorized, as occasion shall require, in any of the cases, and to the intents before mentioned, from time to time to assemble in martial array, and put into warlike posture the whole militia of the regiment under his command, or such part of them as he shall think needful, upon any alarm, invasion or notice of the appearance of an enemy by sea or land; and the regiment, companies or troops so armed, arrayed and put into warlike posture, or part of them, to lead, conduct and employ, or to appoint some other fit person, by writing under his hand, to lead, conduct and employ them, as well within the regiment and county whereto they belong, as into any other adjacent county or place within this province, for the assisting, succouring and relieving any of his majesty's subjects, forts, garrisons, towns or places that shall be assaulted by an enemy, or in danger thereof, and with such party, companies or troops, by force of arms, to encounter, repel, pursue, kill and destroy such enemy, or any of them, by all fitting ways, enterprizes and means whatsoever; and the colonel or chief officer of such regiment so taking to arms, or sending forth any party of men, shall forthwith post away the intelligence and occasion thereof unto the captain-general or the commander-in-chief for the time being, and shall attend and observe such directions and orders as he shall receive from him; and in case it happen the colonel or chief officer of any regiment be out of the limits or precincts of the regiment for which he is or shall be commissionated at the time of any invasion, attack or appearance of an enemy, or alarm given from any of the neighbouring towns or regiments, the next commission officer then within the regiment shall have, use and exercise the same powers and authorities hereinbefore granted until the return of the colonel or other superiour officer; and such officer so acting shall post away the intelligence thereof, with the occasion for the same, as aforesaid, unto the captain-general, or the commander-in-chief for the time being, and shall attend and observe such directions and orders as he shall receive from the captain-general or commander-in-chief therein." But no penalty is therein provided to oblige officers and private men to obey such orders as shall be given pursuant to the true intent of the same act,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Penalty for any officer or private man refusing or neglecting to obey the orders of his superior officer.

[SECT. 9.] That if any officer or private man in the militia shall refuse or wilfully neglect to obey such order of his superiour officer as shall be given pursuant to the true intent of the same act, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds, or, in default thereof, suffer six months' imprisonment.

And be it further enacted,

Forfeitures arising by this act to be recovered agreeable to the acts for regulating the militia, fourth and fifth of King William and Queen Mary, unless specially provided for, &c. 1693-94, chap. 3, § 27.

[SECT. 10.] That all forfeitures, arising by virtue of this act or any breach thereof, shall be recovered in the way and manner as is provided by the act for regulating the militia of this province, made and passed in the fourth and fifth year of King William and Queen Mary, where in this act it is not otherwise specially provided, and shall be disposed of, one quarter part thereof to the prosecutor, and the remainder by him to be paid into the town, district, precinct or parish treasury where the said company or the major part thereof or captain of the troop belongs, to be drawn out again by the captain or chief officer of the troop or company whence such forfeiture arose, so far as shall be necessary for procuring or repairing drums, trumpets, colours and halberts, paying drummers, trumpeters, and for procuring soldiers for his majesty's service, and improved for the benefit of such troop or company respectively, when and so often as any man or men shall be demanded of said troop or company for said service, and for no other uses or purposes whatsoever. And the clerks of the military companies are hereby required to pay over all such forfeitures as they shall receive to the treasurers as before mentioned respectively, at or before the first day of March, annually, and such treasurers are hereby impowered and required to demand, sue for, recover and receive the same. forfeitures to town treasurers, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 11.] That this act shall be read at the anniversary meeting of the inhabitants of each town and district through the province, in the month of March, annually; and also, that the chief officer of each company cause the same to be read before his company on the second Monday in April, each year, during the continuance thereof. This act to be read at the anniversary meeting of each town, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 12.] That the captain of the troop of guards, and of every independant company, shall, upon their oath, on or before the first Monday of April next, and annually, transmit into the secretary's office a list of every person borne on their respective rolls, and who by them are excused from mustering on days of muster, and the reasons of their excuse, on penalty of forfeiting and paying for each neglect five pounds. Captains of the troop of guards, &c., to transmit lists of their companies to secretary's office.

[Sect. 13.] And every captain or chief officer in this act mentioned, on or before the first Monday of April next, is hereby enjoined to make solemn oath that he will faithfully discharge the trust by this act reposed in him and the duties hereby enjoined him, according to the best of his skill and understanding, on penalty of forfeiting and paying five pounds. Each captain, &c., to make oath.

CHAPTER 19.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY AN EXCISE UPON SPIRITS DISTILLED AND WINE, AND UPON LIMES, LEMMONS AND ORANGES.

We, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in general court assembled, being desirous to lessen the present debt of the province, have chearfully and unanimously granted, and do hereby give and grant unto his most excellent majesty, for the end and use above mentioned, and for no other use, an excise upon all rum and other spirits distilled, and upon all wines whatsoever, and upon lemmons, limes and oranges, to be raised, levied, collected and paid in manner and form following:— Preamble.

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, every person already licenced, or that shall be hereafter licenced, to retail rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall pay the duties following:— Time of this act's continuance.

For every gallon of rum and spirits distilled, eightpence.
For every gallon of wine of every sort, twelvepence.
For every hundred of lemmons or oranges, eight shillings.
For every hundred of limes, three shillings.

—And so proportionable for any other quantity or number.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That every retailer of rum, wine or spirits distilled, taverner, innholder and common victualler, shall, on the twenty- Accounts to be taken.

sixth day of March next, take a just and true account, in writing, of all wine, rum and spirits distilled, and of all limes, lemmons and oranges then by him or her, or in his or her possession; and that every person who shall be hereafter licenced to be taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer of wine, rum or spirits distilled, shall take a like account of all wine, rum and other spirits distilled, and of limes, lemmons and oranges by him or her, or in his or her possession, at the time of such licence granted; and that every taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer of rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall make a fair entry, in a book by them respectively to be kept for that purpose, of all such rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, as he or she, or any person or persons for him or her, shall buy, distill, take in or receive after such first account taken, and when and of whom the same was bought and taken in; and at the expiration of every half year shall take a just and true account how much thereof then remains by them; and shall, in writing, under their hands, render to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid the whole of those several accounts, and shall also make oath, in the form following, before such collector or collectors, who are hereby impowered to administer the same:—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the account by you now rendered is, to the best of your knowledge, a just and true account of all the wines, rum and distilled spirits, limes, lemmons and oranges you had by you, or in your possession, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, and also of all the wine, rum and other distilled spirits bought, distilled, taken in or received by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by or with your knowledge, allowance, consent or connivance, and that there still remains thereof in your possession unsold, so much as is in this account said to remain by you unsold; and that you do not know or believe that there hath been by you, or by any other person or persons for or under you, or by your or their order, allowance, consent or connivance, either directly or indirectly, sold, used or consumed any wine, or any liquor for, or as, wine; any rum or distilled spirits, or liquor for, or as, rum or distilled spirits; or that there hath been any limes, lemmons or oranges by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by your order, consent, allowance or connivance, used or consumed in making punch, or otherwise, since the said twenty-fifth day of March, besides what is contained in the account by you now rendered. So help you God.

Penalty for collectors receiving accounts without oath.

—and every collector of the excise who shall receive any account from any person in consequence of this act, without their making oath to the same as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for the use of this government the sum of twenty pounds.

Oath to be varied.

[SECT. 3.] And for every person that was not licenced on the same twenty-sixth day of March, the form of the oath shall be so varied, as that instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last account shall be inserted and used; and for every person rendering an account after the first, the oath shall be so varied, as that instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last accounts shall be inserted and used.

Duties to be paid to the collector.

[SECT. 4.] And every such taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer shall pay the duties aforesaid to him or them that shall collect the same, or the whole of the several articles mentioned in such account rendered, save only for such part thereof as remains in their hands unsold: provided, nevertheless, that for leakage, &c., ten per cent shall be allowed them on all liquors in such account mentioned, besides what remains in their hands unsold.

Ten per cent allowed for leakage.

And be it further enacted,

Taverner, &c., to give bond.

[SECT. 5.] That every person hereafter licenced to be a taverner, innholder common victualler or retailer of any wine, rum or spirits distilled shall, within thirty days after such licence granted, and before he or she sell by virtue of the same, not only become bound to keep good rule, &c., as by law is already required, but shall also become bound, with sufficient sureties, by way of recognizance, to his majesty, for the use of this government, in a sufficient sum, to be ordered by the court that grants the licence, which sum shall not exceed three hundred pounds nor be less than fifty pounds, conditioned that they shall keep and render the accounts aforesaid, and pay the duties aforesaid, as in and by this act is required.

And be it further enacted,

Forfeiture for neglect in keeping and rendering account.

[Sect. 6.] That every such taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer, who shall neglect or refuse to take, keep and render such accounts as by this act are required, or that shall neglect or refuse to take the oath aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay, to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid, double the sum which the court of general sessions of the peace in that county shall adjudge that the duties of excise upon the liquors, limes, lemmons and oranges by such taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer, or by any for or under him or them, sold, used or consumed would have amounted to; and no persons shall be licenced by the justices of the general sessions of the peace who have not accounted with the collector, and paid him the excise aforesaid, due from such person at the time of his or her taking or renewing such licence.

Preamble.

And whereas, notwithstanding the laws made against selling strong drink without licence, many persons not regarding the penalties of said acts, do receive and entertain persons in their houses, and sell great quantities of spirits and other strong drink, without licence; by reason whereof great debaucheries are committed and kept secret, and such as take licences and pay the duties of excise therefor are greatly wronged, and the government thereby defrauded,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Forfeiture for selling without license.

[Sect. 7.] That if any distiller, importer or any other person whatsoever, after the said twenty-fifth day of March, shall presume, directly or indirectly, to sell any rum or other distilled spirits, or wine, in less quantity than twenty-five gallons, or any beer, ale, cyder, perry or other strong drink, in any quantity less than ten gallons, without licence first had and obtained from the court of general sessions of the peace in that county, recognize in manner as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for each offence, the sum of four pounds, lawful money, and costs of prosecution, two thirds for the use of the government and the other third for the prosecutor; and all such as shall neglect or refuse to pay the fine aforesaid, shall stand closely committed in the common goal of the county, and not have the liberty of the goaler's house or yard, until said sum of four pounds is paid, with costs; and any goaler giving liberty contrary to this act, shall forfeit and pay the said sum of four pounds, to be disposed of in manner aforesaid, and costs of prosecution.

And whereas, in order to elude the design of this act, some persons may join together and buy wine, rum, brandy and other spirits distilled in quantities above twenty-five gallons, and afterwards divide the same among themselves in lesser quantities,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Persons not licensed joining together in purchasing liquors and dividing the same, liable to a forfeiture.

[Sect. 8.] That where two or more persons, not licenced as aforesaid, shall join together, and purchase rum, brandy or other spirits distilled, or wine, or shall employ any other person not licenced as aforesaid to do it, and shall afterwards divide the same, or cause it to be divided among themselves, or otherwise, in lesser quantities than twenty-five gallons, they shall be deemed and taken to be sellers of such rum, brandy and other distilled spirits and wine, and each and every of them shall be subject to the same pains, penalties and forfeitures as any person by this act is who shall sell rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, without licence first had and obtained.

And whereas some doubts have arisen whether the lending or delivering rum, brandy or other spirits distilled, or wine to others for their use, upon agreement or in confidence of having the like liquors returned again, be a sale thereof; wherefore, for removing all such doubts,—

Be it enacted,

Liquors lent or delivered on the above consideration, to be deemed a sale.

[SECT. 9.] That all rum, brandy and other spirituous liquors and wine, lent or delivered to others for their use, upon such like consideration, is, and shall be deemed and taken to be, an absolute sale thereof. And that every person not licenced as aforesaid, that shall order, allow, permit or connive at the selling any rum, brandy or other distilled spirits, or wine, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, by his or their child or children, servant or servants, or any other person or persons in or belonging to his or her house or family, shall be deemed and taken to be the seller of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against such offenders, and shall be recovered in like manner: provided, that if it shall be made appear that the liquors lent or delivered as aforesaid, shall have had the duties paid upon them, or were purchased of any person or persons having licence or permit, the person lending or delivering the same, as aforesaid, shall not be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties.

Preamble.

And whereas divers other persons than those licenced to sell rum and other distilled spirits by retail, have heretofore supplied persons employed by them in the fishery, building vessels, and in other business, with rum and other liquors, without paying any excise thereon, and thereby have defrauded the government of the duty of excise, and have not been subject to the penalty provided by law against selling drink without licence, and the same practice will probably be continued, unless effectual care be taken to prevent the same,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Persons not licensed supplying those employed by them in the fishery, &c., with spirituous liquors, to be deemed sellers.

[SECT. 10.] That all persons not licenced, as aforesaid, who hereafter shall, by themselves, or by any other person or persons under them, or by their order, allowance or connivance, supply any person or persons employed by them in the fishery, building of vessels, or in any other business or employ, with rum or other distilled spirits, or wine, shall be deemed and taken to be sellers of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against persons selling any of the liquors aforesaid without licence, which shall be recovered in like manner, unless they make it appear that such wine, rum or other distilled spirits, was purchased of a taverner, innholder or retailer, or other person or persons that had licence or permit to sell the same.

And be it further enacted,

One witness sufficient for conviction.

[SECT. 11.] That when any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence, one witness produced to the satisfaction of the court or justice before whom the trial is, shall be deemed sufficient for conviction. And when and so often as it shall be observed that there is a resort of persons to houses suspected of selling strong drink without licence, any justice of the peace in the same county, shall have full power to convene such persons before him, to examine them upon oath concerning the persons suspected of selling or retailing strong drink in such houses, out-houses or other dependencies thereof; and if upon examining such witnesses, and hearing the defence of such suspected persons, it shall appear to the justice there is sufficient proof of the violation of this act by selling strong drink without licence, judgment may thereupon be made up against such person, and he shall forfeit and * in like manner as if process had been commenced by bill, plaint or information before the said justice; or otherwise such justice may bind over the person suspected, and the witnesses, to the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where such person shall dwell.

And be † further enacted,

Penalty for selling strong drink to negroes, mulattoes, &c.

[Sect. 12.] That when and so often as any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence to any negro, Indian or mollato slave, or to any child or other person under the age of discretion, and other circumstances concurring, it shall appear to be highly probable in the judgment of the court or justice before whom the trial shall be, that the person complained of is guilty, then, and in every such case, unless the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath (to be administred to him or her by the court or justice that shall try the cause), such defendant shall forfeit and pay four pounds, one third to the informer, the other two thirds to the collector of excise for the use of the government, and costs of prosecution; but if the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath as aforesaid, the court or justice may and shall enter up judgment for the defendant to recover costs.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty on persons refusing to give evidence.

[Sect. 13.] That if any person or persons shall be summoned to appear before a justice of the peace, or the grand jury, to give evidence relating to any person's selling strong drink without licence, or to appear before the court of general sessions of the peace, or other court proper to try the same, to give evidence on the trial of any person informed against, presented or indicted for selling strong drink without licence, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence in that behalf, every person so offending shall forfeit the sum of twenty pounds and cost of prosecution; the one half of the penalty aforesaid to be to his majesty for the use of the province, and the other half to and for the use of him or them who shall sue for the same as aforesaid. And when it shall so happen that witnesses are bound to sea before the sitting of the court where any person or persons informed against, for selling strong drink without licence, is or are to be prosecuted for the same, in every such case, the deposition of any witness or witnesses, in writing, taken before any two of his majesty's justices of the peace, quorum unus, and sealed up and delivered into court, the adverse party having first had a notification, in writing, sent to him or her of the time and place of caption, shall be esteemed as sufficient evidence, in the law, to convict any person or persons offending against this act, as if such witness or witnesses had been present at the time of trial, and given his, her or their deposition viva voce; and every person or persons who shall be summoned to give evidence before two justices of the peace, in manner as aforesaid, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence relating to the facts he or she shall be enquired of, shall be liable and subject to the same penalty as he or she would have been by virtue of this act, for not appearing, or neglecting or refusing to give his or her evidence before the grand jury or court as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

How fines are to be recovered.

[Sect. 14.] That all fines, forfeitures and penalties arising by this act shall and may be recovered by bill, plaint or information, before any court of record proper to try the same; and, where the sum forfeited doth not exceed four pounds, by bill, plaint or information before any one of his majesty's justices of the peace in the respective counties where such offence shall be committed: which said justice is hereby impowered to try and determine the same. And said justice shall make a fair entry or record of all such proceedings: saving always to any person or persons who shall think him-, her- or themselves aggrieved by the determination of the said justice, liberty of appeal therefrom to the next court of general sessions of the peace to be holden within and for said county, at which court such offence shall be finally determined: provided, that in the same appeal the same rules be observed as are already required, by law, in appeals from justices, to the court of general sessions of the peace: saving, only, that the recognizance for prosecuting the appeal shall be eight pounds.

* The word "pay," evidently omitted. † The word "it," evidently omitted. [Both these words are in the bill, and the latter is in the recorded act.]

Be it further enacted,

Collector to settle accounts.

[SECT. 15.] That every collector shall settle all accounts relating to said excise in the several towns of the county where he is collector, first giving seasonable and publick notice of the time and place or places where said business shall be transacted.

And be it further enacted,

Collectors of the excise to be appointed by the general court.

[SECT. 16.] That there be one or more collectors in each county appointed by the general court, or by the court of general sessions of the peace, where it shall happen that such collector refuse to accept said office, or be removed by death or for mismanagement, to take charge of this duty of excise, who shall have power to inspect the houses of all such as are licenced, and of such as are suspected to sell without licence, which collectors shall be upon oath to take care of the execution of this law, and to prosecute the breakers of it.

[SECT. 17.] And every collector of the excise in any county may substitute and appoint one or more deputy or deputies under him, upon oath, to collect and receive the excise aforesaid which shall become due in said county, and pay in the same to such collector, which deputy and deputies shall have, use and exercise all such powers and authorities as, in and by this act, are given or committed to the collector for the better collecting the duties aforesaid, or prosecuting offenders against this act; for the doings of which deputies, the collectors, respectively, shall be accountable.

[SECT. 18.] And the said collectors shall carefully examine the accounts of every licenced person in their respective counties, and demand, sue for, and receive the several sums due from them by this act, and shall give in an account under their hands, of the particular sums they receive, together with the names of the persons of whom received, unto the treasurer upon oath; which oath the treasurer is hereby impowered and directed to administer in the words following; viz.,—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that this is a just and true account of the excise upon all wines, rum and distilled spirits, limes, lemmons and oranges by you received or secured to be paid you in the county of ; and that the person by whom such excise was paid or secured to be paid to you, were sworn in manner and form as by law is prescribed. So help you God.

Collectors to give two receipts for every sum received.

[SECT. 19.] And at the time of receiving any money, the said collector shall give two receipts of the same tenor and date, mentioning what sum or sums they have received from any taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer; one of which receipts to be by the said taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer returned to the court of general sessions of the peace within their respective counties, at the next session of such court, and the clerks of the said court shall, within twenty days after receipt thereof, transmit the same to the treasurer or receiver-general.

[SECT. 20.] And such collectors shall pay into the public treasury of this province all such sums as they shall receive within six months from the date of their commission, and so from time to time within the space of six months, as long as they shall continue in such office, on pain of forfeiting the reward given such collectors by this act, who shall be allowed, in the county of Suffolk, one and a half per cent; in the county of Essex and Middlesex, and Plymouth, two per cent, and in the other counties, three per cent on all money by them collected and paid into the treasury, as aforesaid: each collector, before he enter into the said office to give bond, for treble the sum that it was farm'd for, in the respective county, the last year, to the treasurer of this province, for the time being, and his successors in said office, with sufficient sureties, for the faithful discharge of his duty, and that he will duly pay in the money that he shall collect, to the treasurer of the province, for the time being; which bond shall be executed before the next court of general sessions of the peace in the respective counties after such appointment, where the said collectors live, and be transmitted to the treasurer of the province by the clerk of the peace within such county, within three months after the bond is executed; and the said treasurer shall put in suit the bonds of all such collectors, who shall neglect to make due payment within thirty days after either of the times of payment.

Collectors' fees.

Bond to be given to the treasurer for treble the sum that the excise was farmed for.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 21.] That in case any collector of the excise as aforesaid, or his deputy, shall, at any time during their continuance in said office, wittingly and willingly connive at, or allow, any person or persons within their respective divisions, not licenced by the court of general sessions of the peace, their selling any wine, rum or other liquors by this act forbidden, such collector or deputy, for every such offence, shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds and costs of prosecution; one half of the penalty aforesaid to be to his majesty for the use of this province, the other half to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, and shall be thenceforward forever disabled for serving in said office: saving, that said collector may give a permit to any person to sell rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, in quantity from twenty-five gallons and upwards, agreeable to this act.

Penalty for collectors or deputies offending.

Provided, always, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act,—

[Sect. 22.] That if any taverner or retailer shall sell to any other taverner or retailer any quantity of whatsoever distilled liquors and wine, such taverner or retailer, selling as aforesaid, shall not be held to pay such duty, but the taverner or retailer who is the purchaser shall pay the same; and the seller as aforesaid, shall and hereby is required to deliver to the collector of this duty, a true account of such liquors sold as aforesaid, and to whom sold.

Proviso.

And to the end that the revenue arising from the excise upon spirituous liquors may be increased and raised with more equality,—

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 23.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, to the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, upon all rum and other distilled spirits, and all wine, imported and manufactured, and sold for consumption within this province, there be laid and hereby is laid the duty of excise following; viz.,— deputy; which permit shall be had and procured before the landing of such liquors. And every person distilling or manufacturing any of the said liquors, and every person owning or possessing any of them, excepting such as are or may be licenced by the court of general sessions of the peace, as aforesaid, shall be and hereby are prohibited from selling the same, or any part thereof, without having a permit so * do from the collector of excise, or his deputy, on forfeiture of two hundred pounds, and of the value of the liquors so sold; and the said permit shall express the particular shop, warehouse, or distil-house where the said liquors shall be permitted to be sold, and if any person who shall have such permit shall sell and deliver, or cause to be sold and delivered, any of the liquors aforesaid from any place or places not mentioned in such permit, he shall forfeit four pounds, to be paid, one third to the prosecutor, and the other two thirds to the collector, for the use of this government.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 25.] That the impost officer, and his deputy, shall be and hereby are respectively impowered to grant a permit for selling the liquors aforesaid, or any of them, to any person applying for the same, until a collector be appointed in each county, respectively, to whom the duty or excise shall be paid as aforesaid, and until the collector shall give public notice of his appointment as aforesaid. And the said impost officer, and deputy, shall transmit to the collector of each county an account of the permits by each of them respectively granted to persons living in such county.

And be it further enacted,

Collector applying to a justice for a warrant, may search for liquors supposed to be concealed.

[SECT. 26.] That if the said collector or his deputy, shall have information of any place where any of the liquors aforesaid shall have been sold by any person not having permit, as aforesaid, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place, and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said collector or deputy's making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid, and that he hath just cause to suspect that the liquors aforesaid, or some of them, have been sold at such place informed of as aforesaid, and having such warrant, and being attended by such officer, the said collector, or his deputy, may, in the day-time, between sunrising and sun-setting, demand admittance of the person owning or occupying such place, and upon refusal, shall have right to break open said place, and finding such liquors, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is impowered to command assistance and impress carriages necessary to secure the liquors seized as aforesaid; and any persons refusing assistance or preventing said officers from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to his majesty, for the use of the province; and the said collector, or his deputy, shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance afforded, and carriages made use of, to secure the liquors seized as aforesaid; and the collector, or his deputy, shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferiour court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made: which court shall summon the owner of such liquors, or the occupier of the shop, house, warehouse or distil-house where the same were seized, to appear and shew cause, if any he hath, why the said liquors so seized should not be adjudged forfeited; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause as aforesaid, or make default, the said liquors shall be adjudged forfeited, and the said court shall order them to be sold at public vendue, and the neat produce of such sale shall be paid, one third to the prosecutor, the other two thirds to the collector, for the use of this government.

* The word "to," omitted; it appears in the recorded act.

Provided,—

[Sect. 27.] That if the liquors seized as aforesaid be less in quantity than one hundred gallons, the collector, or his deputy, shall file an information thereof with one of the justices of the peace within the county where the seizure shall be made, who shall summon the owner or occupier aforesaid in manner as aforesaid, and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause, or shall make default as aforesaid, he shall adjudge such liquors forfeited, and shall order them to be sold as aforesaid, and the neat produce of such sale to be disposed of as aforesaid: saving to the person convicted the liberty of an appeal, he entring into recognizance to the king, for the use of the province, in the sum of fifty pounds. Proviso.

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 28.] That every person having permit as aforesaid, shall, at the end of each half year, respectively, from the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, be ready to render to the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, an account, on oath, of all the liquors aforesaid by him or her, and by any person or persons on his or her behalf, sold; and also of all the aforesaid liquors by him or her imported, distilled or manufactured, or which have come into his or her possession since the twenty-fifth day of March aforesaid, except the same were bought of a licenced person in a quantity less than twenty-five gallons, which in his or her family have been consumed or expended within each half year, respectively: which account shall express the number of gallons of each kind of the liquors so sold and consumed, and shall pay therefor to the said collector or his deputy the duty aforesaid, excepting for so much as shall have been sold to taverners, innholders or retailers having licence from the sessions as aforesaid, or to any other persons having permit as aforesaid; and so much as shall have been exported out of this province; and if any of said liquors shall have been sold to persons licenced by the sessions, or to persons having permit, said account shall exhibit the names of such licenced persons who purchased, and persons having permit, and the time when they purchased the same; and the person accounting shall exhibit a certificate under the hand of the licenced or permitted person purchasing, which shall express the number of gallons, and the kind of the liquors purchased, and the time when the same was purchased, and the name of the town and county wherein such licenced or permitted person lives, and shall lodge the said certificate with the said collector or his deputy; and for the quantity of said liquors mentioned in such certificate, the said collector or his deputy shall not demand any duty, but shall deliver said certificate to the collector of the county wherein such licenced or permitted persons, signing the same, lives: which last-mentioned collector or his deputy shall settle with such licenced or permitted person for the duty aforesaid which may be due from him or her. Persons having permit as aforesaid, to render an account to the collector at the end of every half year, saving, &c.

[Sect. 29.] And if any person, having a permit as aforesaid, shall ship or export any of the liquors aforesaid out of this province in a quantity not less than sixty gallons, and shall make a fair entry thereof with the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, and shall produce to such collector or his deputy, when he comes to settle his account of excise, one of the receipts or bills of lading given therefor by the master of the vessel on board which such liquors shall be shipped, or if it shall be carried out of the province by land or in small boats, then of the person who is master of the land-carriage or boat, expressing the quantity thereof and the time of their being shipped, and shall lodge such receipt or bill of lading with the collector or his deputy aforesaid, and at the same time shall swear that such liquors are bonâ fide sent, or intended Persons having permit as aforesaid, to give an account of liquors by them sent out of the province.

to be sent, out of this province, he or she shall not be held to pay thereon the duty aforesaid.

Persons not having permit, to render an account, &c.

[SECT. 30.] And if any person not having permit shall purchase for exportation out of this province any of said liquors in a quantity not less than sixty gallons of a person having permit, the purchaser shall make entry thereof with the collector or his deputy, and at the same time swear that such liquors are bonâ fide sent, or intended to be sent, out of this province, and shall within ten days after the purchase deliver one of the receipts or bills of lading given for such liquors, as aforesaid, to the person of whom he purchased the same, or be subject to pay the amount of the duty thereon to the person of whom he purchased as aforesaid, who shall pay such duty to the collector or his deputy; but if the purchaser aforesaid shall deliver such receipt or bill of lading as aforesaid, and it be lodged with the collector or his deputy, then, for the quantity of said liquors mentioned therein, the collector or his deputy shall not demand any duty.

Penalty for masters or others giving certificate without receiving the liquors.

[SECT. 31.] And if the master of any vessel, or any other person, shall give such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, without receiving the liquors mentioned therein; or if any person shall procure such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, with design to defraud the government, and shall be thereof convicted, they and each of them shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds; two thirds for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor. And if any such certificate, receipt or bill of lading shall be forged, counterfeited or altered, the person forging, counterfeiting or altering shall incur the penalty of one hundred pounds.

Proviso.

Provided, nevertheless,—

[SECT. 32.] That the person having permit as aforesaid, shall not sell any of the liquors aforesaid in a quantity less than twenty-five gallons (to be sold and delivered to one person at one time), unless he or she hath licence from the court of general sessions of the peace, as aforesaid, on pain of incurring the several fines and penalties in the former part of this act laid upon those persons who sell the liquors aforesaid without licence.

Collectors to give certificate, on penalty.

Be it further enacted,

[SECT. 33.] That the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, when the exporter shall make an entry with him as aforesaid, or shall make an entry with him and swear as aforesaid, shall give to said exporter a certificate of such entry, or a certificate of such entry and oath, on penalty of one hundred pounds for the use of the exporter.

Persons applying for a permit, to give bond.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 34.] That every person applying to the collector or his deputy, or to the impost officer or his deputy, for a permit, shall give bond, for the use of this province, with two sufficient sureties, in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds, nor less than twenty pounds, at the discretion of the two next justices of the peace, conditioned for the payment of the excise that shall become due according to the account to be exhibited by such person taking such permit; and no person shall have such permit of the impost officer until he hath given such bond.

Preamble.

And whereas the importer of any of the liquors aforesaid, or the person to whom they shall be consigned, may intend the same for his or her own private consumption, in which case such importer or consignee is not held by any preceeding part of this act to pay the duty or excise aforesaid; wherefore, in order to lay said duty or excise in as equal manner as may be,—

Persons importing liquors for private con-

Be it enacted,

[SECT. 35.] That every person that shall bring or import into this province, either by land, or water, carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid for his own private consumption, shall, at the end of each half year, respectively, make out an account expressing the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid, imported or consigned as aforesaid; which account such importer or consignee shall render to the collector or his deputy, on oath, and shall pay to the said collector or his deputy, on the liquor or liquors mentioned in said account, the duty or excise aforesaid, deducting ten per cent for leakage, or pay treble duty or excise on the quantity so imported or consigned, to and for the use of the province. sumption, &c., to render account thereof to the collector.

[Sect. 36.] And if said collector or his deputy shall have reason to suspect any person of bringing or importing into this province, either by land, or water, carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid, without having rendered account and paid the duties or excise as aforesaid, the said collector may apply to any justice of the peace within the county where the suspected person lives, for a warrant or citation; and such justice is hereby impowered and required to cite or apprehend such suspected person to appear before him within twenty-four hours on a complaint made against him or her by the collector or his deputy touching the duty or excise aforesaid; which warrant or citation shall be served on or delivered to the suspected person himself or herself; and when the parties shall be before him, the said justice shall examine into the cause of complaint; and if it shall appear, either by confession of the party, or by the evidence of one credible witness, that such suspected person has, by him- or herself, or by any one on his or her behalf, imported, or has had any of the liquors aforesaid consigned to him or her, without having rendered an account thereof, or paid the duty or excise as aforesaid, such suspected person shall then render a full account, on oath, of the kinds and quality of the liquors imported or consigned as aforesaid, and shall pay on such liquors treble duty or excise as aforesaid, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, and costs. Collector may apply to a justice for a citation where he may suspect persons giving a false account, &c.

[Sect. 37.] And said justice is hereby impowered to make up judgment and award execution accordingly: provided the said treble duty exceed not four pounds; but if such duty exceed four pounds, then such justice shall bind the offender to answer his offence at the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where the offence was committed, and such offender shall enter into recognizance, with two sufficient sureties, to answer for his offence, in the sum of fifty pounds; and any person or persons upon refusing to render such account and paying as aforesaid, shall forfeit fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, in lieu of such treble duty, to be recovered as is hereafter provided in this act.

You, A. B., do swear that you have not, directly or indirectly, either by yourself, or any person on your behalf, imported into this province any rum or spirits distilled, or wine, and that you have not had any of said liquors directly or indirectly consigned to you, but what you have paid the duty or excise upon, according to an act of said province, made in the thirty-first year of his majesty's reign, intitled "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." So help you God. Form of the oath.

—which oath the said justice is hereby impowered and required to administer.

Penalty for refusing to take the oath.

[SECT. 39.] And if such suspected person shall refuse to take said oath, and shall neglect to appear upon the citation aforesaid, he or she shall pay the cost of citation, and shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, and costs of prosecution; but if such suspected person shall take the said oath, the costs of citation or warrant shall be paid by the collector or his deputy, respectively, who applyed for such citation or warrant; who shall also pay to the person cited or apprehended, and taking said oath, the sum of twenty shillings.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to grant a permit, on penalty.

[SECT. 40.] That the collector, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is obliged to grant a permit, under his hand, to every person applying for the same, on penalty of two hundred pounds, to and for the use of the person making application; which permit shall be in the form following; viz.,—

Form of the permit.

You, A. B. of C., in the county of D., are hereby permitted to sell rum and other distilled spirits, and wine, or any of said liquors, at , in C. aforesaid, until the day of , one thousand seven hundred and fifty- , pursuant to an act of this province, made in the thirty-first year of his majesty's reign, intitled "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." Dated at C., this day of , 175 .

A. B., collector (or deputy collector) of excise for the county aforesaid.

And for such permit the said collector or deputy shall be entitled to receive twopence, and no more; and the like sum for an entry made with him, and the like sum for a certificate given by him.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to keep an office in each seaport town, &c.

[SECT. 41.] That the collector of excise, either by himself or his deputy, shall keep an office in each seaport town within his county, where he or his deputy shall give his attendance on every Thursday, from nine of the clock in the morning to twelve at noon, to grant permits, receive entries, give certificates, &c.

Provided,—

[SECT. 42.] That in the town of Boston such an office shall be kept, and attendance given on every Monday and Thursdays, within the hours aforesaid, of each of said days, respectively.

Provided, also,—

[SECT. 43.] That the said collector or his deputy, on application made, shall at any other time grant permits, receive entries, and give certificates as aforesaid.

Preamble.

And whereas persons not belonging to this province may import the liquors aforesaid, and take permit to dispose of the same, and may go out of the province before the time comes about when persons selling said liquors are held to account with the collector, and by that means may avoid paying the duty upon what has been so disposed of; for preventing whereof,—

Be it enacted,

Persons importing liquors as aforesaid, to give bond.

[SECT. 44.] That every person importing the liquors aforesaid, and applying to the collector or his deputy for a permit to sell the same, shall give bond to said collector in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds, nor less than twenty pounds, at the discretion of the two next justices of the peace, with sufficient surety or sureties, that he will render to said collector or his deputy an account, on oath, of the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid sold by him, or by any person or persons on his behalf, and that he will pay thereon the duty or excise aforesaid before he leaves the province; and if such person shall refuse to give such bond, the said collector or his deputy shall not be obliged to grant him a permit, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding; and if such person shall sell any of the liquors aforesaid without permit, he shall be subject to all the penalties that other persons selling without permit are subject to; or if such person shall give bond as aforesaid, and shall leave the province before such bond be discharged, the collector may bring his action on said bond against the surety or sureties, for the recovery of the sum in such bond mentioned, which shall be, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government.

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 45.] That all fines, penalties and forfeitures, arising or accruing by any breach of this act, and not otherwise appropriated, shall be, two thirds to his majesty for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor; to be recovered by action, bill, plaint or information in any of his majesty's courts of record. CHAPTER 20.

AN ACT FURTHER TO EXEMPT PERSONS COMMONLY CALLED QUAKERS AND ANNABAPTISTS FROM PAYING MINISTERIAL TAXES.

Whereas the several acts for exempting persons commonly called Quakers and Annabaptists within this province from being taxed for and towards the support of ministers, are expired,— Preamble. 1747-48, chap. 6. 1752-53, chap. 15 3 Gray, 34.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That from and after the first day of February next, none of the persons commonly called Quakers or Annabaptists, who alledge a scruple of conscience as the reason of their refusal to pay any part or proportion of such taxes as are from time to time assessed for the support of the minister or ministers of any church, set[t]led by the laws of this province, in the town, district, precinct or parish where they dwell, shall have their poll, or estate real or personal in their own hands and under their actual improvement, taxed towards the settlement or support of such minister or ministers, nor for building or repairing any meeting-house or place of publick worship.

Quakers and Anabaptists exempted from taxes for ministers and meeting-houses.

And to the intent that it may be the better known what persons are of the perswasion of the people called Quakers, who are exempted by this act,—

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That no person in any town, district, precinct or parish within the limits of this government, shall, for the future, be esteemed or accounted to be a Quaker, and have his poll or polls, or any estate to him or her belonging, exempted from paying a proportionable part of the ministerial taxes that shall be raised therein, but such whose name[s] shall be contained in a list or lists to be taken and exhibited on or before the first day of February next, and afterwards, during the continuance of this act, on or before the twentieth day of July, annually, to the assessors of such town, district, precinct or parish, and signed by three or more of the principal members of that meeting to which he or they belong, who shall therein certify that they verily bel[ei][ie]ve the persons whose names are inserted in said list or lists are really belonging thereto, and are conscien[t][c]iously of their perswasion, and that they do frequently and usually attend their meetings for the worship of God on the Lord's day.

And to the intent that the Annabaptists, who are truly such, and therefore exempted by this act, may be the better known and distinguished from those who pretend to be, but really are not of that perswasion,—

Be it further enacted,

Rule for denominating persons Anabaptists, in the sense of the law.

[SECT. 3.] That no person in any town, district, precinct or parish as aforesaid, shall be so esteemed or accounted to be an Annabaptist, as to have his or her poll or polls, or any estate to him or her belonging, exempted from paying a proportionable part of the ministerial taxes that shall be raised therein, but such whose names shall be contained in a list or lists to be taken and exhibited on or before the first day of February next, and afterwards, during the continuance of this act, on or before the twentieth day of July, annually, to the assessors of such town, district, precinct or parish, and signed by three principal members of the Annabaptist church to which he or they belong, and the minister thereof, if any there be, who shall therein certif[ie][y] that the persons whose names are inserted in said list or lists are really belonging thereto, that they verily believe them to be conscien[t][c]iously of their perswasion, and that they do frequently and usually attend the publick worship in such church on the Lord's day.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to be in force for the space of three years from and after the first day of February, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, and no longer. [Passed January 25; published January 26, 1758.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That upon complaint made to any justice of the peace for any of the counties in this province, respectively, that any taverner or innholder doth refuse to rec[ie][ei]ve and entertain any of his majesty's forces as aforesaid, such justice shall forthwith make enquiry into the grounds of such complaint, and shall thereupon, within two hours, determine and order how many of such forces shall be rec[ie][ei]ved into the house or outhouses of such taverner or innholder, and how many shall be furnished with diet and small beer, and how many horses shall be furnished with hay; and every taverner or innholder refusing or neglecting to rec[ie][ei]ve and entertain such and Complaint made against any taverner, innholder, &c. Penalty.

so many of the forces, and to provide hay for such and so many horses as shall be thus ordered, shall for each offence forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds sterling.

And be it further enacted,

Governor, with the advice of the council, to authorize persons to provide quarters for his majesty's forces, in the town of Boston.

[SECT. 3.] That when and so often as, during the continuance of this act, any of his majesty's regular forces shall, for the defence of his dominions or for prosecuting measures against his majesty's enemies, be ordered to the town of Boston, it shall and may be lawful for the governo[u]r, with the advice of the council, to appoint, authorize or impower any person or persons to agree for, take up or impress such and so many houses and buildings in or near said town of Boston as shall be judged sufficient and necessary, together with the barracks already provided at Castle William, to rec[ie][ei]ve and accom[m]odate the whole number of forces that may be so ordered, and also to provide such barrack utensils and necessaries as shall be judged reasonable; the charge thereof to be advanced and paid out of the public[k] treasury, and an account thereof to be transmitted to the general of his majesty's forces for a reimbursement, or to the agent of this province in England in order to his solliciting the repayment of the same.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to be and continue in force for three months from the last day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, and no longer. [Passed March 25; published March 27, 1758.

CHAPTER 26.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED THIS PRESENT YEAR, INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT IN ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL ACTS OF THIS PROVINCE FOR REGULATING THE MILITIA."

Preamble.

1757-58, chap. 18, § 1.

WHEREAS, in and by an act made and passed this present year, intit[u]led "An Act in addition to the several acts of this province for regulating the militia," it is, among other things, provided and declared as follows; viz[t]., "that the captain or chief officer of each military foot company shall instruct and employ his company in military exercises six days in a year for two years, from the first day of March next; viz[t]., on the second and third Mondays in April, the first Monday in May, the first Tuesday in June, and the last Monday in October, and the Tuesday following such Monday"; "and that the captain or chief officer of each troop or military company of horse, shall exercise his company four days in each year; viz[t]., the second and third Mondays in April, the last Monday in October, and the Tuesday next following the same Monday;" — and whereas the great scarcity of labourers, which will be the natural consequence of raising within this government so large a body of forces as are proposed to be raised this present year, will make it necessary that those which are left be not called off from their labour,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Captains or chief officers exempted from calling their companies and troops, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That no captain or chief officer of any foot company shall be held and obliged to call together, instruct or employ, his company as aforesaid, on the second or third Mondays in April, the first Monday in May, or the first Tuesday in June, this present year; and no captain or chief officer of any troop or military company of horse shall be held and obliged to exercise his company on the second or third Mondays in April, this present year; and no foot soldier nor trooper shall be liable to any penalty for not appearing in arms on either of those days respectively, anything in the act aforesaid to the contrary notwithstanding.

Provided, always, and it is hereby declared, —

[Sect. 2.] That nothing in this act shall be construed or understood to exempt any officer or soldier in horse or foot from the duties and penalties in the aforesaid act, in case of an alarm on either of the days aforesaid. [Passed March 25; published March 27, 1758. Proviso.

CHAPTER 27.

AN ACT TO PREVENT SOLDIERS AND SEAMEN IN HIS MAJESTY'S SERVICE FROM BEING ARRESTED FOR DEBT.

For the more speedy and effectual levying of soldiers, and to prevent their being arrested for debt,— Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That no person, who is or shall be engaged in his majesty's service, either as a non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman, shall, during his continuance therein, be liable to be taken out of his majesty's service by any process or execution, unless for some criminal matter, for any sum under the value of twenty pounds; nor for any greater sum until oath shall be made by the plaintiff or plaintiffs, before one of the justices of the court out of which the execution or process shall issue, or before two justices of the peace, quorum unus, in the county where the plaintif[f] may happen to be, that to his or their knowledge there is, bonâ fide, due from such person as the process or execution is desired to issue against, twenty pounds at least, and was due on the first day of March, instant; and every non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman, whose body, contrary to the intent of this act, shall be arrested by mean process or execution after his engaging in said service, may and shall be set at liberty by two justices of the peace, quorum unus, in the county where such non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman, is taken, upon application made by him or his superior officer, and proof of his being ent[e]red into the service aforesaid. Soldiers and seamen in his majesty's service, not liable to be arrested. Oath for any debt, to be made before two justices, &c. Body of soldier or seaman, how to be discharged.

Provided, nevertheless, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act,—

[Sect. 2.] That no such non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman as aforesaid, shall have his person exempted from arrests for any sum or sums due for the public[k] taxes for the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding. Proviso.

[Sect. 3.] This act to be and continue in force from the twenty-seventh day of March, instant, to the first day of December next, and no longer. [Passed March 25; published March 27, 1758. Limitation.

CHAPTER 28.

AN ACT FOR THE SPEEDY DISCOVERING AND ASCERTAINING THE SUM OR QUANTITY OF THE MANUFACTORY BILLS, SO CALLED, THAT ARE STILL OUTSTANDING.

Preamble. 1754-55, chap. 24.

WHEREAS some of the bills or notes issued by the company concerned in the late Land-Bank or Manufactory Scheme, are yet outstanding, and it being judged necessary, in order to an equitable apportionment of the charge of redeeming them among the persons who were concerned therein, that the quantity or sum of the outstanding bills should first be known and ascertained,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Possessors of the land-bank, or manufactory bills (so called), to bring or send the same to the commissioners, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That the several possessors of the notes or bills aforesaid shall, some time before the fifteenth day of June next, bring or send such of those bills as are in their possession to the commissioners by law appointed to adjust and settle the affairs of that scheme; and the said commissioners, or one or more of them, upon receipt thereof, shall take an account of the sum or amount of the bills so produced, and shall put on each bill some distinguishing mark, whereby they may be thereafter known, and thereupon shall forthwith deliver up such bills to the person or persons so producing them.

Penalty.

[SECT. 2.] And every person who, after the expiration of said term, shall tender or offer in exchange any of the bills or notes issued by that company, that shall not have been produced as aforesaid to the said commissioners within the time therefor limited as aforesaid, shall for-f[ie][ei]t and pay such sum of money as shall, in value, be equal to the interest grown on the bills that shall be so tendered or offered in exchange at the time when such tender shall be made, one moiety whereof shall be put in the hands of the said commissioners, and by them be applied towards the redemption of that company's bills, and the other moiety to be to him or them who shall inform or sue therefor, and to be recovered in any court proper to try the same, and that notice be given in some of the public prints, of the substance of this act, for three weeks successively next after the publication thereof. [Passed March 25; published March 27, 1758.

CHAPTER 29.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO THE ACT, INTITLED "AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY AN EXCISE UPON SPIRITS DISTILLED, AND WINE, AND UPON LIMES, LEMMONS AND ORANGES."

Preamble. 1757-58, chap. 19.

WHEREAS the persons who are or may be appointed collectors of the duties granted by the act made and passed in the last session of the great and general court, intitled "An act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges," may import into this province wine, rum and spirits distilled, limes, lemmons and oranges, or may have the same by consignment or otherwise, and may keep the same for their own private consumption, or sell and dispose of the same with licence or permit, in which cases no sufficient provision is made in said act for securing the payment of the duties arising thereon,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Collectors of the duties of excise, to account for all wine, &c., sold or consumed by them.

[SECT. 1.] That every person that has been or may be appointed collector of the duties aforesaid, who shall import into this province, or shall have by consignment or otherwise, or shall sell or dispose of any wine, rum or spirits distilled, limes, lemmons or oranges, or shall use or consume the same, such collector shall take, keep and render a like account thereof upon oath to the province treasurer, who is hereby impowered to administer the same in the form by said act prescribed, and pay to him the like duties thereon as such person so appointed collector would otherwise have been held and obliged to have taken, kept, rendered and paid to the collector of the duties aforesaid, and that the same be done in like manner and time, and under the like pains and penalties as by said act in such cases is provided.

Preamble. 1756-57, chap. 21.

And whereas, by the act granting to his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and upon wine, limes, lemmons and oranges, made and passed in the thirtieth year of his present majesty's reign, there is not sufficient provision made for securing the payment of the duties of excise upon the liquors that may remain in the hands of such persons as had permits by virtue of said act granted them by the farmer of excise, or licenced persons that did not renew the same at the time appointed by law for granting the same in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, and may be consumed or expended by such persons in his, her or their family during the continuance of the excise act for the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight,—

Be it therefore enacted,

All persons who had permits or license to sell liquors, and shall not renew the same, to account for the duties thereof.

[SECT. 2.] That all such persons shall, at the end of each half year from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, instant, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, render to the collector or his deputy that shall or may be appointed in the respective counties by virtue of the excise act made and pass[e]'d in the thirty-first year of his present majesty's reign, an account on oath, of all such liquors remaining in their hands as aforesaid, and consumed in his, her or their families during the continuance of the last-mentioned act, and pay the duties of excise therein imposed, deducting ten per cent for leakage, upon penalty of fifteen pounds; one half to the informer, the other half to and for the use of this province.

Penalty.

Preamble. 1757-58, chap. 19.

And whereas, in and by the excise act made in the thirty-first year of his present majesty's reign, the several innholders and retailers are directed to lodge one of the rec[ie][ei]pts the collectors are required by said act to give them with the clerk of the sessions in the respective count[y][ie]s, within thirty days after the rec[ie][ei]pt thereof, but no penalty is therein provided in case of neglect,—

Be it further enacted,

Penalty for not lodging receipts with the clerk of the sessions.

[SECT. 3.] That in case any innholder, common victual[l]er or retailer shall neglect to lodge one of the rec[ie][ei]pts given him by the collector with the clerk of the sessions within thirty days, as by said act is required, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of forty shillings; one half for the use of the poor of the town or district where such delinquent dwells, and the other half to him or them that shall complain and sue for the same, and be rendered incapable of renewing his or her licence for the future.

Be it further enacted,

Collectors to give two receipts to persons who shall have permit, &c.

[SECT. 4.] That the collectors in each county, when any person having permit shall account with them, shall give two rec[ie][ei]pts to such person[s], mentioning the sum or sums they have rec[ie][ei]ved of him or her, one of which the person having permit shall lodge with the clerk of the sessions within thirty days, upon pain of incurring the sum of forty shillings; one half to the use of the poor of the town or district where such person dwells, the other half to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, and of being rendered incapable of renewing his or her permit for the future.

Preamble. 1757-58, chap. 19, § 20.

And whereas the collectors by the act last before mentioned, before they enter upon the execution of their trust, are to give bond to the province treasurer, which bond may, according to said act, be entered into before the court of sessions only; and whereas such restraint may prove inconvenient, inasmuch as those courts may not be held in some counties until the expiration of some months from the time of the appointment of such collectors,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Collector to have liberty to give bond to the province treasurer.

[SECT. 5.] That the said collector[s] shall have liberty to give such bonds to the province treasurer, before any two of his majesty's justices of the peace in the respective counties, quorum unus, and thereon to proceed in the execution of such their office, agreeable to the directions of the last-mentioned act.

And be it further enacted,

Deputy collectors liable to military duties.

[SECT. 6.] That no person shall be exempted from any military duties by means or on account of his being appointed a deputy collector of the duties of excise of spirituous liquors, but shall to all intents and purposes be as liable to, train, be impressed, and perform every other military duty as if such person had not been appointed a deputy collector as aforesaid.

Limitation.

[SECT. 7.] This act to commence from the twenty-fifth day of March, curr[a][e]nt, and to continue in force until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine. [Passed March 25; published March 27, 1758.

CHAPTER 30.

AN ACT IMPOWERING THE PROVINCE TREASURER TO BORROW TWENTY-EIGHT THOUSAND POUNDS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS this court have agreed to raise seven thousand men to cooperate with his majesty's forces for the reduction of Canada, and it is necessary that there be a speedy supply of money for the levying and cloathing the same,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Represent-[ati]ves,

Treasurer empowered to borrow £28,000.

[SECT. 1.] That the treasurer of this province be and hereby is directed and impowered to borrow the sum of twenty-eight thousand pounds in Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in coined silver sterling alloy at six shillings and eightpence per ounce; and the said sum of twenty-eight thousand pounds, when borrowed, shall be issued by the governor or commander-in-chief, by and with the advice of the council, for the levying and cloathing the said seven thousand men, pursuant to the order of this court, and for no other use whatsoever; and if there shall be a surplus it shall remain in the treasury for the further order of this court; and for the sum so borrowed the treasurer shall give a rec[ie][ei]pt and obligation in the form following:—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 1758. Rec[ie][ei]ved of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or order, the tenth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver of sterling alloy at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or in Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest annually at the rate of six per cent per annum. Witness my hand, H. G.

—and no rec[ie][ei]pt or obligation shall be given for less than six pounds.

And to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him [in] given pursuan[t][ce] [to] [of] this act, —

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That there be and hereby is granted to his [most] excellent majesty a tax of thirty thousand pounds, to be levied on polls and estates within this province, according to such rules, and in such proportions, as shall be agreed upon and ordered by the general court of this province at their sessions in May, and before the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine; and if there shall be a surplus, it shall remain in the treasury for the order of this court. Tax of £30,000 granted in 1759.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That in case the general court shall not by the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, agree and conclude upon a tax act to draw into the treasury the aforesaid sum of thirty thousand pounds by the thirty-first day of March then next after, that then the treasurer of the province shall issue his warrants, directed to the assessors of the several towns and districts within this province, requiring them, respectively, to assess, levy and pay their respective proportions of said sum, according to the proportions, rules and directions of the then last preceeding tax act. Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

Whereas this province have a humble trust and dependance on his majesty for a reimburs[e]ment of the charge that shall arise in consequence of the aforesaid expedition,—

Be it therefore enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That the treasurer be and he is hereby directed and impowered to apply so much of the first money that shall arrive here from Great Britain before the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, as shall be sufficient to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act; and in case so much money shall arrive from Great Britain, and be rec[ie][ei]ved into the province treasury before the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, as shall be sufficient to discharge the obligations given by the treasurer, as aforesaid, then, [and] in such case, the several clauses in this act providing for the issuing a tax of thirty thousand pounds shall be and hereby is declared null and void. [Passed March 25; published March 27, 1758. Treasurer to apply moneys received from Great Britain.

CHAPTER 32.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL RATES AND DUTIES OF IMPOST AND TUNNAGE OF SHIPPING.

We, his majesty's most dutiful and loyall * subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, being desirous of lessening the public † debts, have chearfully and unanimously given and granted, and do give and grant, to his most excellent majesty, for the service of this province, as they shall hereafter apply it, the several duties of impost upon all liquors, wares, goods and merchandize that shall be imported into this province, and tonnage ‡ of shipping, hereafter mentioned; and pray that it may be enacted §, —

Be it accordingly enacted by the Governor , Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, to the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, there shall be paid [to] †† the importers of all wines, rum and other liquors, goods, wares and merchandize that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants thereof (except what is by this act hereafter exempted), the several rates and duties of impost following; ‡‡ [&c.], —

For every pipe of wine of every sort, ten shillings.

For every hogshead of rum, containing one hundred gallons, eight shill[s] §§.

For every hogshead of sugar, fourpence.

For every hogshead of molasses, fourpence.

For every hogshead of tobacco, ten shillings.

For every pound of tea that shall be imported from any of his majesty's plantations in America, one shilling.

— And so, proportionably, for greater or less quantities.

And for all other commodities, goods or merchandize not mentioned or not excepted, fourpence for every twenty shillings value: excepting such goods as are the product or manufacture of Great Britain.

[Sect. 2.] And for any of the above-mentioned liquors, goods, wares and merchandize (excepting tea, which shall pay only one shilling), that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants of the other provinces or colonies on this continent, or of the English West-India Islands, in any ship or vessell ¶ to them belonging, on the proper account of any of the said inhabitants of the said provinces, colonies or islands, there shall be paid by the importers double the impost laid by this act: provided always, that everything which is the growth or produce of the provinces or colonies aforesaid (tobacco and bar-iron excepted), and all provisions, salt, cotton-wool, pig-iron, mohogony ¶¶, brazilleto ‖, black-walnut, lignum-vitæ, red-cedar, log-wood, hemp, raw skins and hides, and also all prize goods brought into and condemned in this province, are and shall be exempted from every the rates and duties aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That all goods, wares and merchandize, the property of any of the inhabitants of any of the neighbouring provinces or colonies

Note. — Neither the engrossment nor the printed act having been found, this chapter has been compared with the original bill, and a MS. record in the Secretary's office. The words in Roman letters enclosed in brackets appear in the latter but not in the former, and the words given in the foot-notes are from the former. In some instances, the bill bears evidence of being more nearly in accordance with the probable language of the act.

on this continent, that shall be imported into this province, and shall have paid, or for which there shall have been secured to be paid, the duty of impost, by this act provided to be paid, and afterwards shall be exported and landed in any of the said provinces or colonies on this continent, then, and in such case, the exporter, producing a certificate from some officer of his majesty's customs, that the same have been landed in some [other] of the provinces or colonies aforesaid, shall be allowed a drawback of the whole duty of impost by him paid, or secured to be paid, as by this act provided.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That the master of every ship or vessell * coming into this province from any other place, shall, within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port or harbour, and before bulk is broken, make report and deliver a manifest, in writing, under his hand, to the commissioners † aforesaid, of the contents of the loading of such ship or vessell,* therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantities of all wines, [and] liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessell *, with the marks and numbers thereof, and to whom the same are consigned; and make oath before the commissioner that the same manifest contains a just and true account of all the lading taken on board and imported in such ship or vessell *, so far as he knows or beleives ‡; and that if he knows of any more wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize laden on board such ship or vessell *, and imported therein, he will forthwith make report thereof to the commissioner aforesaid, and cause the same to be added to his manifest.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 5.] That if the master of any ship or vessell * shall break bulk, or suffer any of the wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessell * to be unladen before report and entry thereof be made as aforesaid, he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 6.] That all merchants and other persons, being owners of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported into this province, for which any of the rates or duties aforesaid are payable, or having the same consigned to them, shall make an entry thereof with the commissioner aforesaid, and produce an invoice of all such goods as pay ad valorem, and make oath before him in form following; viz^{t}., —

You, A. B., do swear that the entry of the goods and merchandize by you now made, exhibits the sterling value of said goods, and that, bonâ fide, according to your best skill and judgment, it is not less than that value. So help you God.

— which oath the commissioner or receiver, appointed in consequence of this act, is hereby impowered and directed to administer; and the owners aforesaid shall pay to [the] said commissioner, or give security to pay, the duty of impost by this act required, before such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize be landed or taken out of the vessell * in which the same shall be imported.

[SECT. 7.] And no wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize that by this act are liable to pay impost or duty, shall be landed on any wharf §, or in any warehouse or other place, but in the daytime only, and that after sunrise and before sunset, unless in the presence or with the consent of the commissioner or receiver, on pain of forfeiting all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, and the lighter, boat or vessell * out of which the same shall be landed or put into any warehouse or other place.

[SECT. 8.] And if any person or persons shall not have and produce [an produce] an invoice of the quantities of rum or liquors to him or them consigned, then the cask wherein the same are, shall be gauged at the charge of the importer, that the contents thereof may be known.

Provided, nevertheless, —

[Sect. 9.] That the said commissioner shall be and he hereby is allowed to give credit to such person or persons whose duty of impost in one vessell * shall not exceed six pounds; which credit shall be so limited as that he shall settle and ballance his accounts with every person, on or before the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, that the said accounts may be produced to this court as soon as may be after; and for all entries where the impost to be paid doth not exceed three shillings the said commissioner shall not demand anything, and not more than sixpence for any other single entry to what value soever.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 10.] That the importer of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, from and after the twenty-fifth day of March instant, and untill † the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, by land-carriage, or in small vessells ‡ or boats, shall make report and deliver a manifest thereof to the commissioner aforesaid or his deputy, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantity of all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize so imported, with the marks and numbers thereof, when [and] how and by whom brought; and shall make oath, before the said commissioner or his deputy, to the truth of such report and manifest, and shall also pay or secure to be paid the several duties aforesaid by this act charged and chargeable upon such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, before the same are landed § [and] put into any store or place whatsoever.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 11.] That every merchant or other person importing any wines in this province, shall be allowed twelve per cent for leakage: provided, such wines shall not have been filled up on board; and that every hogshead, butt or pipe of wine that hath two-thirds thereof leaked out, shall be accounted for outs, and the merchant or importer to pay no duty for the same. And no master of any ship or vessell * shall suffer any wines to be filled up on board without giving a certificate of the quantity so filled up, under his hand, before the landing thereof, to the commissioner or receiver of impost for such port, on pain of forfeiting the sum of one hundred pounds.

[Sect. 12.] And if it may be made to appear that any wine ¶ imported in any ship or vessell * be decayed at the time of unloading thereof, or in twenty days afterwards, oath being made before the commissioner or receiver that the same hath not been landed above that time, the duties and impost paid for such wines shall be repayed unto the importer thereof.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 13.] That the master of every ship or vessell * importing any liquors, wines, goods, wares or merchandize, shall be liable to pay the impost for such and so much thereof, contained in his manifest, as shall not be duly entered, and the duty paid for the same by the person or persons to whom such wines, liquors, goods, wares [and]  merchandize are or shall be consigned. And it shall and may be lawful, to and for the master of every ship or other vessell *, to secure and detain in his hands, at the owner's risque, all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in any ship or vessell *, untill † he receives a certificate, from the commissioner or receiver of impost, that the duty for the same is paid, and until he be repaid †† his necessary charges in securing the same; or [or] such master may deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize as are not entered, unto the commissioner or receiver of the impost in such port, or his order, who is hereby impowered and directed to receive and keep the same, at the owner's risque, until the impost thereof, with the charges, be paid or secured to be paid; and then to deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize as such master shall direct.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 14.] That the commissioner or receiver of the impost in each port, shall be and hereby is impowered to sue the master of any ship or vessell *, for the impost or duty of so much of the lading of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported therein, according to the manifest to be by him given upon oath, as aforesaid, as shall remain not entered and the duty of impost thereof † not paid or secured to be paid. And where any goods, wares or merchandize are such that the value thereof is not known, whereby the impost to be recovered of the master, for the same, cannot be ascertained, the owner or person to whom such goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned, shall be summoned to appear as an evidence at the court where such suit for the impost and the duty thereof shall be brought, and be their ‡ required to make oath to the value of such goods, wares or merchandize.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 15.] That the ship or vessell *, with her tackle, apparel and furniture, the master of which shall make default in anything by this act required to be performed by him, shall be liable to answer and make good the sum or sums forfeited by such master, according to this act, for any such default, as also to make good the impost or duty for all wines, liquors, goods, ware § or  merchandize not entered as aforesaid, or for which the duty of impost has †† not been paid; and, upon judgment recovered against such master, the said ship or vessell *, with so much of the tackle or appurtenances thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy said judgment, may be taken by execution for the same; and the commissioner or receiver of the impost is hereby impowered to make seizure of the said ship or vessell *, and detain the same under seizure until judgment be given in any suit to be commenced and prose- ‡‡ for any of the said forfeitures or for the duty aforesaid; to the intent, that if judgment be rendered for the prosecutors or informers §§, such ship or vessell * and appurtenances may be exposed to sale, for satisfaction thereof, as is before provided: unless the owners, or some on their behalf, for the releasing of such ship or vessell * from under seizure or restraint, shall give sufficient security unto the commissioner or receiver of impost that seized the same, to respond or satisfy the sum or value of the forfeitures and duties, with charges, that shall be recovered against the master thereof, upon such suit to be brought for the same, as aforesaid; and the master occasioning such loss or damage unto his owners, through his default or neglect, shall be liable unto their action for the same.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 16.] That the naval officer within any of the ports of this province shall not clear or give passes to any master of any ship or vessell *, outward bound, until he shall be certified, by the commissioner or receiver of the impost, that the duty and impost for the goods last imported in such ship or vessell * are paid or secured to be paid.

[SECT. 17.] And the commissioner or receiver of the impost is hereby impowered to allow bills of store to the master of any ship or vessell * importing any wines or liquors, for such private adventures as shall belong to the master or seamen of such ship or vessell *, at the discretion of the commissioner or receiver, not exceeding three per cent of the lading; and the duties payable by this act for such wines or liquors, in such bills of stores mentioned and expressed, shall be abated.

And for the more effectual preventing any wines, rum or other distilled spirits being brought into the province from the neighbouring governments, by land, or in small boats or vessells *, or any other way, and also to prevent wines, rum or other distilled spirits being first sent out of this province, and afterwards brought into the government again, to defraud the government of the duties of impost, —

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 18.] That the commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost shall, and he is hereby impowered and enjoyned to, appoint one suitable person or persons as his deputy or deputies, in all such places of this province where it is likely that wine, rum or other distilled spirits will be brought out of other governments into this; which officers shall have power to seize the same, unless the owner shall make it appear that the duty of impost has † been paid therefor since their being brought into or relanded into ‡ this government; and such officer or officers are also impowered to search, in all suspected places, for such wines, rum and distilled spirits, or tea, brought or relanded in this government, where the duty is not paid as aforesaid, and to seize [or] § secure the same for the ends and uses as in this act is hereafter provided.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 19.] That the commissioner or his deputies shall have full power to administer the several oaths aforesaid, and search in all suspected places for all such wines, rum, liquors, tea, goods, wares and merchandize as are brought into this province, and landed contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, and to seize the same for the uses hereinafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 20.] That if the said commissioner, or his deputy, shall have information of any wines, rum or other distilled spirits, or tea, being brought into and landed in any [other] place in this province, for which the dutys  aforesaid shall not have been paid after their being brought into or relanded in this government, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place; and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said commissioner or his deputy's making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid; and having such warrant, and being attended by such officer, the said commissioner or his deputy may, in the daytime, between sun-rising and sun-setting, demand admittance, of the person owning or occupying such place, and, upon refusal, shall have right to break open such place; and, finding such liquors or tea, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is impowered to command assistance, and to impress carriages necessary to secure the [said] liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and any persons refusing assistance, or preventing any of the said officers from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to the said commissioner; and he or his deputy shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance afforded, and carriages made use of, to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and the commissioner or his deputy shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferior †† court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made, which court shall [then] summon the owner of such liquors or tea, or the occupier of such shop, house or warehouse, or distil-house‡‡, where the same were seized, to appear and shew

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 21.] That there § be paid, by the master of every ship or other vessell , coming into any port or ports of this province, to trade or traffick, whereof all the owners are not belonging to this province (except such vessells †† as belong to Great Britain, the provinces [of] ‡‡ colonies of Pennsylvania, West and East Jersey, Connecticut, New York, New Hampshire and Rhode Island), every voyage such ship or vessell  doth make, one pound of good pistol-powder for every ton such ship or vessell  is in burthen: saving for that part which is owned in Great Britain, this province, or any of the aforesaid government §§, which is hereby exempted; to be paid unto the commissioner or receiver of the duties of impost, and to be employed for the uses and ends aforesaid.

[SECT. 22.] And the said commissioner is hereby impowered to appoint a meet and suitable person, to repair unto and on board any ship or vessell , to take the exact measure and tunnage thereof, in case he shall suspect the register of such ship or vessell  doth not express and set forth the full burthen of the same; the charge thereof to be paid by the [owner or master] ¶ of such ship or vessell , before she shall be cleared, in case she shall appear to be of a greater burthen: otherwise, to be paid by the commissioner out of the money received by him for impost, and shall be allowed him, accordingly, by the treasurer, in his accompts. And the naval officer shall not clear any vessell , until he be certified, also, by the commissioner, that the duty of tunnage for the same is paid, or that it is such a vessell  for which none is payable according to this act.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 23.] That when and so often as any wine, rum or tea imported into this province, the aforesaid duty of impost upon which shall have been payed ¶¶ agre[e]able to this act, shall be re-shiped  and exported from this government to any other part of the world, that then, and in every such case, the exporter of such wine, or rum or tea shall make oath, at the time of shipping, before the receiver of impost, or his deputy, that the whole of the rum, or wine ††† or tea so shiped ‡‡‡ has, bonâ fide, had the [duty of impost aforesaid] §§§ paid on the same, and shall afterwards produce a certificate, from some officer of the customs, that the same has been landed out of this government, — or otherwise, in case such rum, or wines or tea shall be exported to any place where there is no officer of the customs, or to any foreign port, the master of the vessell  in which the same shall be exported shall make oath that the same has been landed out of the government, and the exporter shall, upon producing such certificate, or upon such oath of the master, make oath that he verily beleives ‖ no part of said wines, rum or tea has been re-landed in this province, — such exporter shall be allowed a drawback from the receiver of impost as follows; viz[t]., —

For every pipe of wine, nine shillings.

For every hogshead of rum, seven shillings and sixpence.

And for every pound of tea, one shilling.

to be exported as aforesaid, and giving security as aforesaid, in order to obtain the drawback aforesaid, the wine, or rum or tea so shipped to be exported, or any part thereof, shall be re-landed in this province, or brought into the same from any other province or colony, that then all such wine, rum and tea so re-landed and brought again into this province, shall be forfeited and may be seized by the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 25.] That there be one fit person, and no more, nominated and appointed by this court, as a commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost and tunnage of shipping, and for the inspection, care and management of the said office, and whatsoever relates thereto, to receive commission for the same from the governor * or commander-in-cheif † for the time being, with authority to substitute and appoint a deputy receiver in each port, or other places besides that in which he resides, and to grant warrants to such deputy receivers for the said place, and to collect and receive the impost and tunnage of shipping as aforesaid that shall become due within such port, and to render the account thereof, and to pay in the same, to the said commissioner and receiver: which said commissioner and receiver shall keep fair books of all entries and duties arising by virtue of this act; also, a particular account of every vessell ‡, so that the duties of impost and tunnage arising on the said vessell ‡ may appear; and the same to lye open, at all seasonable times, to the view and perusal of the treasurer or receiver-general of this province (or any other person or persons whom this court shall appoint), with whom he shall account for all collections and payments, and pay all such monies as shall be in his hands, as the treasurer or receiver-general shall demand it. And the said commissioner or receiver and his deputy or deputies, before their entering upon the execution of their said office, shall be sworn to deal truly and faithfully therein, and shall attend in the said office from ten of the clock in the forenoon, until one in the afternoon.

[Sect. 26.] And the said commissioner or receiver, for his labour, care and expences in the said office, shall have and receive, out of the province treasury, at the rate of sixty pounds per annum; and his deputy or deputies shall receive for their service such sums as the § commissioner of impost, together with the province treasurer, shall judge necessary, for whatever sums they shall receive and pay; and the treasurer is hereby ordered, in passing and receiving the said commissioner's accounts, accordingly, to allow the payment of such salary or salaries, as aforesaid, to himself and his deputies.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 27.] That all penalties, fines and forfeitures accruing and arising in consequence of any breach of this act, shall be one half to his majesty ¶ for the use of this province, and the other half to him or them that shall seize, inform and sue for the same, by action, bill, plaint or information, in any of his majesty's courts of record, wherein no essoign, protection or wager of law shall be allowed: the whole charge of the prosecution to be taken out of the half belonging to the informer.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 28.] That from and after the commencement of this act, in all [clauses]  where[in] any claimer shall appear, and shall not make good the claim, the charges of prosecution shall be borne and paid by the said claimer, and not by the informer. [Passed March 25, 1758.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE EIGHTEENTH DAY OF APRIL, A. D. 1758.

CHAPTER 33.

AN ACT FOR PREVENTING LOSS OR DAMAGE BY MEANS OF A NON-OBSERVANCE OF A LATE ACT OF THIS PROVINCE, INTITLED "AN ACT FOR GRANTING TO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL DUTIES UPON VELLUM, PARCHMENT AND PAPER, FOR TWO YEARS, TOWARDS DEFREYING THE CHARGES OF THIS GOVERNMENT."

Preamble. 1754-55, chap. 18.

WHEREAS, during the continuance of a late act of this province, intitled "An Act for granting to his majesty several duties upon vellum, parchment and paper, for two years, towards defreying the charges of this government," made in the twenty-eighth year of his present majesty's reign, there were divers deeds and mortgages of real estates, and bonds, wrote on vellum, parchment and paper, with a stamp thereon different from what was required by said act, and divers others wrote on unstamped vellum, parchment and paper, whereby many innocent persons are likely to be great sufferers; for remedy whereof,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Deeds, mortgages, &c., unstamped, &c., made valid.

That all such deeds, mortgages and bonds be and are hereby declared as valid and effectual, to all intents and purposes, as if they had been wrote on vellum, parchment and paper marked and stamped in manner as by said law required. [Passed April 24, 1758.

CHAPTER 34.

AN ACT FOR THE SPEEDY LEVYING OF SOLDIERS FOR AN INTENDED EXPEDITION.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is determined by this government that, if the seven thousand men, inclusive of officers, which were to be raised by this province for the intended expedition, shall not be compleated by inlistments, the deficiency shall be raised by an impress.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Manner of notifying the several companies of militia, in order to raise volunteers, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That on the second day of May next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, there shall be a muster of all the companies of horse and foot of the militia of this province, and of the batteries in the towns of Boston, Charlestown, Marblehead, Salem and Glocester, and the captain or chief officer of each of said companies shall immediately give notice thereof, by one of the serjeants or corporals of his troop or company, to each person belonging to the same, and liable to train therein, either in person, or in case of his absence or not being to be found, by leaving a notification in writing, at the place of his abode; and every person notified in either of the ways aforesaid shall punctually and duly attend at the time and place of muster as required, and there attend until dismissed, unless unavoidably prevented, on penalty of sixteen pounds, to be sued for and recovered with cost of suit, by the clerk of the troop or company to which such delinquent belongs; and if such delinquent be a minor or servant, the action to be brought against and penalty recovered of his parent or master; one third of said penalty to be for the use of said clerk, and the other two thirds shall by him be paid into the hands of the treasurer of the town, district or parish, to be employed in hiring men into his majesty's service, as there shall be occasion, and drawn out for that purpose by the captain or chief officer of the troop or company.

Fine in case of non-appearance

[SECT. 2.] And in case any troop or company, after warning a muster of the same as aforesaid, shall not, on or before the said second day of May next, at four of the clock in the afternoon, have made up the deficiency of their inlistments, and compleated their quota aforesaid, then the captain or chief officer of such troop or company shall immediately proceed to impress or cause to be impressed so many able-bodied men as shall be necessary in order to compleat his quota; and every person so impressed shall attend the service and do the duty for which he shall be so impressed, unless he shall obtain a discharge in writing under the hand of the captain of the company or colonel of the regiment to which he belongs, or from the governour of the province, or unless he immediately on his being impressed shall produce a man to the satisfaction of the captain or chief officer of such troop or company, or otherwise shall pay to the captain or chief officer of the troop or company to which he belongs the sum of eight pounds, to be disposed of in hiring another man in his stead, and the overplus, if any there be, to be paid to the treasurer of the town, district or parish, to be employed in hiring men into his majesty's service as there shall be occasion, and drawn out for that purpose by the captain or chief officer of the troop or company; and in case the fine or fines paid by impressed men as aforesaid shall not be sufficient to hire able-bodied men enough to make up the quota immediately, such captain or officer shall proceed to impress more men; and in case of their paying the fine aforesaid, or being discharged as aforesaid, shall go on without delay to impress in manner aforesaid, until the quota be compleated either by hiring with the fines, or with the impressed men as aforesaid.

Fine for not serving when impressed.

And whereas many persons liable to train and do military duty may have come from other governments into this province to avoid doing their duty at home, and others who are inhabitants within this province may strole from town to town or place to place to avoid impresses, and others do not belong to any particular company,—

Be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That the colonels of each regiment, captain or chief officer of any troop or company who shall be in want of men to compleat the quota, after four of the clock in the afternoon, the second day of May next, may impress any residents or strolers within his district, being persons suitable to be impressed, though the same persons do not belong to his regiment or company; and such persons so impressed shall be held to serve unless such persons do really belong to some company of the militia within this province that shall have compleated its quota before the said second day of May next, or unless such persons so impressed shall pay the fine aforesaid, or shall be discharged by the governour, or such person as the governour shall appoint for such purposes.

Residents of other towns, or strollers, liable to be impressed

Provided, nevertheless,—

Any captain or chief officer that has completed his quota, to give notice, &c.

[SECT. 4.] If the captain or chief officer of any troop or company shall have inlisted the full number of effective men he is or shall be required to furnish for the service aforesaid, such company shall not be obliged to muster as aforesaid; and if at any time hereafter, and before the said second day of May next, the captain or chief officer of any such troop or foot company shall have compleated his quota of said seven thousand men, then and in such case such captain or chief officer of such troop or company shall give notice thereof to his troop or company; and upon his notifying his troop or company thereof, the persons belonging to such troop or company shall not be obliged to appear at the time and place appointed for muster, nor liable to any penalty or forfeiture for non-appearance; anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding. CHAPTER 35.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH A SUM OF MONEY BY LOTTERY.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary for his majesty's service in the intended expedition against Canada, that the treasury be supplyed with a large sum of money as soon as may be, and a lottery, among other means, being judged condusive thereto,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Managers appointed.

[SECT. 1.] That John Jeffries, Samuel Watts, Thomas Flucker and James Russell, Esqrs., and Mr. John Tyng, or any three of them, be and hereby are appointed managers in behalf of this government, to set up, carry on and compleat, agreeable to such scheme, as the said managers, or any three of them shall agree upon, a lottery or lotteries for the raising and borrowing the sum of thirty thousand pounds, to be employed for his majesty's service, in the intended expedition against Canada, in such manner as this court shall order.

And be it further enacted,

Managers, &c., to be under oath.

[SECT. 2.] That the managers aforesaid, and all persons employed under them, shall, before they act, be under oath for the faithful discharge of the trust reposed in them.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to publish list.

[SECT. 3.] That the managers aforesaid shall, within twenty days after the drawing the lottery or lotteries aforesaid, cause a list to be printed in one of the Boston weekly newspapers, expressing the number and value of each benefit-ticket, and shall, at the same time, notify the proprietors of the tickets to repair to one of the managers, in order that the value of each may be certified thereon, that so such proprietors may be respectively intitled to receive a government note or security, which shall be in the form following, and signed by the province treasurer; viz.,—

Form of the treasurer's note.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , Anno Domini . Received of ticket (drawn in the Massachusetts lottery, No.), of the value of , which has been applyed to the use and service of said province, and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to pay the said or order, the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, the aforesaid sum of , in silver, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with lawful interest annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum; or to pay the same, with interest as aforesaid, out of the money that may be received into the treasury from Great Britain for the reimbursement of the charge of the intended expedition against Canada.

Witness my hand, H. G., Treasurer.

And be it further enacted,

Proprietors entitled to a treasurer's note on interest, &c.

[SECT. 4.] That the proprietor or proprietors of each benefit-ticket shall be intitled to a government note or security, to be given by the treasurer, for a sum equal to the value of such benefit-ticket payable by the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum, from the time the drawing each lottery, respectively, shall be finished: provided such proprietor or proprietors shall produce such tickets to the treasurer, certified by one of the managers as aforesaid, within the space of two months after public notice given as aforesaid of the drawing of the lottery, and shall lodge it or them with the treasurer as aforesaid, who, in that case, is hereby fully authorized and required without receiving any fee or reward for the same to give such note or security accordingly; and every such note or security shall bear date from the time the drawing the lottery is finished; and no note shall be given for a less sum than six pounds. And the managers aforesaid are hereby required, respectively, to give certificates on the tickets brought to them without receiving any fee or reward therefor.

Managers to certify on the back of the tickets.

And be it further enacted,

Money to be paid by the managers into the treasury.

[SECT. 5.] That the managers aforesaid shall pay into the treasury the whole of the money that shall arise from the sale of the tickets aforesaid, and shall be intitled to six shillings each for every whole day they shall be respectively employed about the lottery aforesaid, and shall exhibit their account of the charges attending said lotteries, to the governour and council, for allowance.

Preamble.

And whereas his majesty has been graciously pleased to signify, by a letter from the right honourable William Pitt, Esq., one of his majesty's principal secretaries of state, that strong recommendations will be made to parliament in their session next year, to grant a proper compensation for the expences of the intended expedition, in humble confidence of which compensation this government engaged in said expedition,—

Be it enacted,

Notes or securities given by the treasurer, to be paid out of such money as may be granted by parliament.

[SECT. 6.] That the notes or securities given by the treasurer as aforesaid shall be paid off out of the money which may be granted by parliament for the reimbursement of the expence of the expedition aforesaid, as soon as it shall arrive from Great Britain, and be lodged with the treasurer of this province; in which case said treasurer is hereby directed to give public notice that he has such money in his hands for the redemption of the said notes; and on their being brought to him shall redeem them accordingly; and if any person shall neglect to apply for the payment of such of the aforesaid notes as he or she may be possest of, the interest thereon shall cease at the end of three months after such notification; but if it should happen that no money should arrive from Great Britain by the last day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, then, as a further security for the payment of said notes,—

Be it enacted,

Tax of £34,000 granted to his majesty in 1760.

[SECT. 7.] That there be and hereby is granted unto his most excellent majesty a tax of thirty-four thousand pounds, to levied on the polls, and estates real and personal within this province, according to such rules and in such proportions on the several towns and districts within the same, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court of this province, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty; and the said tax shall be paid into the treasury on or before the last day of March next after.

And be it further enacted,

Treasurer empowered to issue his warrants, in failure of a tax being laid by the general court.

[SECT. 8.] That in case the general court shall not, at their session in May, and before the last day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the tax which by said act is engaged to be apportioned, assessed and levied, that then and in such case, each town and district within this province shall pay a share of said tax, to be levied on the polls and estates within their respective limits, according to such rules and in such proportions as are laid down in the tax act then last preceeding; and the province treasurer is hereby directed and fully impowered, some time in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of the several towns and districts within this province, requiring them, respectively, to assess the polls, and estates real and personal within their respective towns and districts, for their respective part and proportion of the tax before directed and engaged to be assessed. And the assessors, and persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as have been given in the said last preceeding tax act. And if, after the payment of the notes aforesaid, there shall be any remainder in the treasury of the tax aforesaid, it shall remain as a stock in the treasury, to be applyed as the general court shall hereafter order. [Passed and published April 29, 1758.

CHAPTER 36.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED THIS PRESENT YEAR, INTITLED "AN ACT FOR THE SPEEDY LEVYING OF SOLDIERS FOR AN INTENDED EXPEDITION."

Preamble.

1757-58, chap. 34.

WHEREAS, in and by an act made and passed this present year of his majesty's reign, intitled "An[d] Act for the speedy levying of soldiers for an intended expedition," all persons belonging to any troop or company and liable to train therein are held and obliged by said act to certain attendance on military musters and subjected to impresses, on penalty of the respective fines and forfeitures by said act provided and determined; and whereas the people called Quakers alledge a scruple of conscience against any military service, and persist in their neglect or refusal to attend on military musters,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Quakers exempt from fines for not attending military musters.

[SECT. 1.] That such of the inhabitants of this province as profess themselves to be of the people called Quakers, shall be and hereby are declared to be exempt from the fines and forfeitures for not attending on military musters and for not attending the service upon an impress, anything in the aforesaid act to the contrary notwithstanding.

And in order to prevent any unequal burthen upon any regiment in which there are any of the people called Quakers liable to be impressed, and to prevent any def[f]iciency in the whole number of men required to be raised by the aforesaid act,—

Be it further enacted,

Colonel or chief officer to employ a sum not exceeding £13 6*s.* 8*d.* per man, for each Quaker

[SECT. 2.] That in every regiment in which there are any of the people called Quakers liable to be impressed, the colonel or chief officer of such regiment is hereby impower[e]'d and required to engage and employ a sum not exceeding thirteen pounds six shillings and eight-pence per man, in order to hire into the service so many men as by the act aforesaid would have been liable to be impressed from such people called Quakers, in a due proportion to the other part of the regiment, the sums so engaged to be paid out of the public treasury upon an account thereof exhibited to and allowed by the governour, with the advice and consent of the council, and to be levied in the next tax act upon the people called Quakers, in such manner and proportion as shall be therein ordered. Liable to be impressed.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That if the general assembly who shall pass the next tax act shall omit therein to levy the aforesaid sums on the people called Quakers, that then the province treasurer shall be and he hereby is impower[e]'d and directed to add the said sums to the town or district's proportion wherein such Quakers live, respectively, over and above such town or district's ordinary proportion of the province tax; distinguishing it, however, from said proportion, that so the respective assessors of said towns and districts may assess such Quakers for the same accordingly as afores[ai]d. Province treasurer empowered to tax Quakers.

And whereas the people called Quakers have neglected to prepare and deliver in, in the month of March, lists of the names of the members of their respective societies liable by law to impresses, as directed by an act made and pass[e]'d this present year, intitled an act to exempt the people called Quakers from the penalty of the law for non-attendance on military musters, by means of which neglect the number of such Quakers cannot be ascertained in manner as was intended by said act,— Preamble.

Be it therefore further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That the captain or chief officer of every company in each regiment within this province, the colonel or chief officer of which regiment shall have employed any sum or sums to hire persons into the service in the room and stead of the people called Quakers, in consequence of this act, shall some time before the twenty-fifth of May in this present year, prepare and deliver to such colonel a list of all the people called Quakers, or who, under pretence of a scruple of conscience, absent themselves from military musters within the respective districts of their respective companies, specifying in such list the towns of which each and every such persons are inhabitants, and every such colonel or chief officer of such regiment shall some time before the first of June return such lists into the secretary's office. Colonel or chief officer to return a list of Quakers.

[SECT. 5.] And every military officer who shall fail of preparing and delivering such lists shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds; one moiety thereof to his majesty for the use of the province, the other moiety to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same. [Passed April 28;* published April 29, 1758. Penalty.

CHAPTER 37.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT, INTITLED "AN ACT FOR PREVENTING THE UNNECESSARY DESTRUCTION OF ALEWIVES AND OTHER FISH, WITHIN THIS PROVINCE."

WHEREAS in and by an act, intitled "An Act for preventing the unnecessary destruction of alewives and other fish, within this province," it is, among other things, enacted, "that no person or persons whatsoever, Preamble. 1754-55, chap. 31, § 1.

* Signed April 29, according to the record.

shall, on any pretence, presume to stretch, set or draw any siene or drag-net, or set up any wares or other fishing engines, in any parts of the rivers within this province, or ponds adjacent thereto, Merrimack and Connecticut rivers only excepted, where the fish usually spawn, or use any other instruments for catching alewives but by dip-nets or scoop-nets, on penalty of a fine of five pounds for each offence"; and whereas it is found unnecessary wholly to restrain the catching of shadd or alewives by sienes or drag-nets in Charles River, Medford River and Concord River, in the county of Middlesex, and Neponsett River in the county of Suffolk,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Alewives and other fish to be taken by seines, &c., in Charles River, &c.

That it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons to catch alewives or other fish by sienes or drag-nets in Charles River and Concord River, in the county of Middlesex, and Neponsett River in the county of Suffolk, three days in a week, the days to be Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and in Medford River, in the county of Middlesex, two days in a week; viz., Monday and Thursday, by drawing two sienes once in each day at said Medford River; and for the taking of fish in such part of Concord River where sienes cannot conveniently be used, it shall be lawful to erect a wear, and to employ the same for that purpose on the Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, the place where the same shall be erected to be determined by the selectmen of said town, during the continuance of the afore-recited act, anything therein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed and published April 29, 1758.

NOTES.—There were five sessions of the General Court this year, at all of which acts were passed.

All the acts of this year were printed (chapters 2 and 32 separately) except the last two of the private acts, the titles of which are as follows:—

"An Act impowering Margarett Pollard of Boston in the County of Suffolk, Widow, Executrix of the last Will and Testament of Benjamin Pollard, Esqr., deceased, to make Sale of certain Lands that were conveyed to the said Benjamin Pollard, in Trust."—[Passed June 16; published June 17.

"An Act for dissolving the Marriage of Daniel McCarthy with Mary McCarthy."—[Passed June 14; published June 17.

"An Act for the more easy and equitable Division of the Estates of James Townsend, deceased, and Elizabeth Chauncy, deceased, yet remaining undivided, among the Interested."—[Passed April 24, 1758.

The first and last of these private acts,—the last bearing no memorandum of publication and being not under seal,—were disallowed by the Privy Council, Aug. 10, 1759.

The engrossments of all the acts of this year are preserved except of chapters 2, 4, 7, 16, 18, 19, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 37.

Governor Pownall not having arrived until August 3, the acts of the first session and of the previous year, do not appear to have been formally transmitted until Jan. 12, 1758, when these, together with the acts of the second session, were certified for that purpose under the seal of the Province. Copies of the acts of the second session, however, were forwarded to the Board of Trade by the Governor, with his observations thereon, Oct. 11, 1757; and in like manner, the following acts of the third and fourth sessions were forwarded on the dates hereafter given; viz., chapter 16, Dec. 1, 1757; chapter 18, Jan. 15, 1758; chapter 24, Mar. 15, 1758; and chapter 30, Mar. [26?] 6, 1758. The acts of the last three sessions were formally certified for transmission Sept. 22, 1758.

The acts of the first and second sessions were received by the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, May 3, 1758, and, five days later, were referred to the Lords of the committee of the Privy Council, for plantation affairs who, on the next day, took them into consideration and referred them to the Board of Trade "to examine into the same and report their opinion thereupon to this Committee." The Board of Trade took them up June 6, 1758, and appointed a special time for considering chapter 12, in the note to which chapter, post, will be found the minutes of their proceedings thereupon. On the 13th of June the Board ordered these acts to be sent to Sir Matthew Lamb "for his Opinion thereupon in point of law and that he be desired to take the Act respecting Bankrupts and their Creditors into his immediate consideration and report his opinion thereupon in point of law with all possible dispatch." The acts of the last three sessions were received by the clerk of the Privy Council, Nov. 25, 1758, and on the 13th of December were referred to the committee, of the Privy Council, on plantations, &c., who nine days later took them into consideration, and referred them to the Board of Trade to examine &c.

In the Board of Trade they came up for consideration Jan. 16, 1759 and were immediately sent to Sir Matthew Lamb "for his Opinion thereupon in point of Law."

On the 25th of July 1759 the Board of Trade ordered the draught of a report to the committee of the Council on all the acts of this year to be prepared, and, six days later, the draught was prepared, agreed to, transcribed and signed. In this report chapters 2, 7, 8, 16, 19, 24, 25, 26, 27, 29, 32, 34 and 36, it is declared, "appear to have been pass'd for temporary Services and are either expired by their own Limitations or the purposes for which they were enacted have been completed;" chapters 3, 4, 30 and 35 "passed for temporary services and at different times for raising or borrowing sums of Mony for defraying the Expences of Military and other Services, have in great measure taken effect but as the Execution of some of the Provisions therein contain'd, in which the publick faith of the Province is interested will not be compleated till the Years 1760, 1761 & 1762, and as Sir Matthew Lamb, whose Opinion has been taken upon these Acts, has no objection to any of them in point of law, We conceive it expedient that they should receive His Majesty's Royal Allowance." Chapters 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18, 20, 21 22, 23, 28, 31, 33 and 37, "relate to the internal Œconomy of the Province and appear to have been enacted for it's private convenience, and We see no reason why His Majesty may not be graciously pleased to Confirm them." Chapters 1 and 12, were specially reported upon as shown in the notes to those chapters, respectively, and so, also, were two of the private acts of this year. No record of further action by the Privy Council on these acts has been discovered; but as an order in Council was passed Aug. 10, 1759, disallowing chapter 1, and the two private acts above referred to, in accordance with the report of the Board of Trade, it is probable that an order allowing the acts favorably reported on was passed, but has been overlooked, or inadvertently omitted from the packages of copies received from the Public-Record Office.

Chap. 1. "June 10, 1757. A Bill having passed the two Houses to be enacted intituled an Act for erecting the District of Danvers into a Township by the name of And Thomas Hutchinson Esq^r. a Member of his Majesty's Council having moved in Council for liberty to enter his dissent; the same was admitted and is as follows.

The Question being put whether the Bill intituled an Act for erecting the District of Danvers into a Township by the name of shall be enacted, and the same having passed in the Affirmative; I desire the liberty of entring my dissent for the following Reasons viz^t

1^st Because the professed design of the Bill is to give the Inhabitants, who now join with the Town of Salem in the choice of a Representative a power of chusing by themselves, and the number of which the House of Representatives may at present consist, being full large; the increasing the number must have a tendency to retard the proceedings of the General Court, and to increase the burden which now lyes upon the People by their long Sessions every Year, and must likewise give that House an undue proportion to the Board in the Legislature where many affairs are determined by a joint Ballot of the two Houses.

2^d Because there being no Governor nor Lieutenant Governor in the Province, it is most agreeable to his Majesty's Commission to the late Governor: to the message of this Board to the House of Representatives at the opening the Session; and is in itself a thing most reasonable that all matters of any importance, and not necessary to be acted upon immediately, which is the case with the present Bill, should be deferred until there be a Governor or Lieutenant Governor in the Chair.

3^d Because the Board by passing this Bill as the second Branch of the Legislature necessarily bring it immediately after, before themselves for their Assent, or Refusal, as the first Branch, and such Members as Vote for this Bill in one capacity, must give their Assent in the other directly against the Royal Instruction to the Governor, in a case in no degree necessary for the public Interest, or else their Actions will be inconsistent and Absurd.

At first view it would appear inexplicable that Hutchinson, who had so zealously opposed the passage of this act, and who, for several years afterwards, was governor or acting governor of the province, should have declared that, as "the Council kept no correspondence by letters with the King's ministers * * this bill, with others, received the royal allowance probably without being observed to be contrary to the instructions," except upon the theory that, in this case, as in some others, his prejudices were stronger than his memory. On referring, however, to the Journals of the House of Representatives it will be found that the town of Danvers was annually represented in the General Court from and after the year 1758; and it is, therefore, probable that notice of the disallowance of this act never reached the provincial authorities, and that Hutchinson did not take the pains to correct his impression, grounded on these facts, by an examination of the public records.—See Hutchinson's Hist. Mass., vol. 3, p. 55.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives.—The Administration of Government still remaining with his Majesty's Council, We think it incumbent upon Us at the opening the present Session of the General Assembly to recommend to their consideration such business as appears to be of immediate importance to the Interest of the Province, & to his Majesty's service.—

Our principal Attention the last Session of the late Assembly was upon the dispatch of the Forces raised by this Government under the Command of his Majesty's General in North America. They have all marched since the dissolution of the Court, in consequence of the Orders received. But it was with great difficulty that money was obtained for their Subsistence, & other necessary Charges; & you will find that the Provision made for the purpose was insufficient. We apprehend that there will be need of a further Supply of the Treasury, not only for this deficiency, but for the other Charges of Government, which now come heavy upon Us, & which it will require great Prudence to raise in such manner as that the People may be able to bear the burthen, and at the same time the Public Credit fully maintained." —*Council Records, vol. Seeing You are resolved to run matters to that Extreme, that You will leave the Frontiers without any provision of Defence, unless I will sign my Consent to a Vote of your House wherein You assume a Right to determine the Stations and Destination of a Scouting Body of Troops; which Vote the Council after divers Proposals of Amendment in order to remove the difficulty I was under have at length agreed to: I will to prevent the distressed State that the Inhabitants must be reduced to by this your Conduct, sign my Consent to the Establishment of Pay and Subsistence that You have provided by that Vote; at the same time declaring to You, that I protest against the Breach you have made upon the Constitution of your Charter, and the Infringment on the Rights of the Crown.

In the Plan I laid before You, I have told you, and given You my reasons for it, that I should employ the Forces in the same manner that you determine by your Vote that they shall be employed, so that there is no difference about the Service, the only question is, who shall direct and limit this Service; the House of Representatives or the King's Governor. "Since our letter to you dated the 8th of December 1757, We have received several from you (a Minute of the Dates of which is hereunto annexed) containing a detail of your proceedings in the administration of the Government entrusted to your care.

The Facts resulting from an examination into the Acts and Proceedings of the Council and House of Representatives, which we were induced to enter into from your representation of their conduct in your letter of the 27th of Janry last, are such, as convince us that the Dependence which by the Constitution the Colony ought to have upon the executive part of the Government of the Mother Country and the Sovereignty of the Crown stands upon a very precarious foot and that unless some effectual remedy is at a proper time applyed, it will be in great danger of being totally set aside.

From these facts it appears that almost every act of executive and legislative power, whether it be political, judicial or military is ordered and directed by Votes and Resolves of the General Court, in most cases originating in the House of Representatives to which all Applications, Petitions and Representations are addressed and where the Resolves are drawn up and prepared, and tho' We apprehend that such Resolves are insufficient and invalid, without the concurrence of the Council in the first instance and ultimately that of the Governor, yet such concurrence seems to be rather matter of form in proceeding than essential and that the measure whatever it be derives its effect and operation from the Judgment and sense of the House of Representatives.

But whether that be so or not, We cannot but be of opinion that by the true principle and frame of the Constitution, as founded upon the Charter and upon His Majᵗʸ'ˢ Commission, the concurrence of the Council and House of Representatives or at least of the latter is not only unnecessary but improper in most acts of executive power, more especially in what concerns military services and judicial proceedings in Equity and Chancery, the exercise of which powers are particularly provided for by the Charter.

Upon the whole, however dangerous and prejudicial as these proceedings appear to us, We are doubtfull whether it would be adviseable in the present situation of things to attempt an effectual remedy to practices concerning which long usage and indulgence have impressed strong prejudices upon the minds of some and doubts upon those of others, which whenever the times will admit of these points being clearly and impartially debated and explained will easily be removed, and We are perswaded all but ill designing men will concur in their endeavours to restore the Constitution to its true principles, by which alone the rights and liberties of His Majesties subjects and the welfare and interest of the Mother Country and of its Colonys can be effectually secured."—Lords of Trade to Gov. Pownall, Nov. 22, 1758: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 85, p. 5., in Public-Record Office.

"The governor, observing that his predecessor had suffered the house to take to themselves some share of that military authority, which the charter gives to the office of governor, endeavoured to make a reform. In the grants of money for the defence of the province, the house, with whom all grants must originate, in several late instances, had appropriated the money granted, to the payment of such a number of men as should be posted in such places, or employed in such service, as the votes of the house expressed, and restrained the governor and council from drawing it out of the treasury for any other purpose. Mr. Shirley, to keep the house in good humour, and thereby to promote his general design, had submitted to this invasion. Mr. Pownall for some days suffered a grant, made in this form, to lie before him; and endeavoured to prevail on the house to depart from this irregularity; but they were tenacious of it, and he gave his assent, protesting against the vote as a breach of the constitution. No notice was taken of this in England, where there was no disposition to contend with the colonies, nor any apprehension of serious consequences from the advances made by the people upon the prerogative."—*Hutchinson's Hist. "June 1, 1758. His Excellency Governor Lawrence has remitted to the Government Three hundred and Ninety-four Pounds sixteen shillings and eight pence half penny as a Sum due from the Government of Nova Scotia on account of the French Exiles, Subjects of that Government transported hither.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives.

At this time when the Province is under so many unavoidable and necessary Burthens, I cannot but recommend to You to consider how far the Charge which the Government incurs on Account of the French Exiles in this Province may be avoided. Let the helpless Infant, the Aged, the Infirm, and those whose Duty it is to attend upon them be supported in the same manner, and under the same Laws as our own People are. This Price of Labour will well support the Industrious in this Country, let that price be faithfully secured to them; then let those who are able to work support themselves and their Families, they will soon cease to be a burthen, they will become happy and profitable Subjects.

T. Pownall."

"June 15, 1758. Such of the late Inhabitants of Nova Scotia as have been sent to this Province have been very chargeable to Us. They were transported here without our Consent or knowledge; Many of them were in danger of perishing aboard the Vessells in which they came. No persons here were authorized by the Government of Nova Scotia to support them after they were landed. Humanity therefore Obliged this Government to do it. Endeavours have been used ever since to enable and compel them to support themselves, but a constant charge has been incurred notwithstanding. We will continue our Endeavours to lessen this Charge, and We humbly hope that when the burdens which the Province lies under; and the Services performed by it are considered, regard will be had to this as well as the other Expences which have arisen from his Majesty's General Service."—Extract from an address by the Council and House of Representatives, to the Governor, ibid., p. 400.

"April 18, 1759. The Committee appointed to consider the Circumstances of the French people sent hither from Nova Scotia made the following Report viz^{t}

That no Accounts be allowed for any Charges contracted or arising after the first day of May next upon the French late Inhabitants of Nova Scotia, saving only for the necessary Support of such aged and infirm persons as are not capable of Labour themselves, and have Relations not able to maintain them, saving also the Rent of a house for each Family not exceeding Three pounds ℔ annum.

That the Selectmen of the several Towns where any French Families are placed, notify the head of each Family that unless they will undertake to support the Children in it, and shall actually provide for their Support, all such Children must be bound out to Service. And the Committee are of opinion that upon Neglect of such Support all such Children without further delay be bound out accordingly.

The Committee are further of Opinion That any of the French Families who shall desire to remove from the Towns where they are placed to any other Towns in the Province in order to procure Labour or Employment for their better Support, be at liberty so to do, first obtaining a Certificate from the Selectmen where they now are of the number of Persons, their Names and ages in such Family, to be produced to the Selectmen of the Town to which they remove, that in case any of them shall fall sick in such Town, and shall be unable to bear the charge of it, they be sent back to the Town from whence they came; the expence attending the same to be advanced by the Selectmen of such Town, and that they be Also at liberty to return to such Town, when they desire it, but that no accounts of charge be allowed except only from the Selectmen of those Towns where they are placed by order of the General Court—Which is submitted in the name of the Committee

"January 25, 1760. The Secretary by Order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the two Houses respectively viz^{t}

Gentlemen of the Council & House of Representatives Sensible of the very heavy and ill regulated Expence which the Province is at in maintaining the French Inhabitants exiled from Nova Scotia and sent as such into this Province, and of which Expence there seems no end—I have taken the the pains to make a particular Examen of the state and circumstances of this matter, which I lay before you and recommend to your serious consideration.

You will see that the total number	is 1017
Of which there is able to Labour	394
Incapable of Labour by reason of old Age 60, years old & upwards	61
Incapable of Labour by Sickness &c^{a}	107
Children under 7 years old	240
Children capable of being put out from 7 to 14 years old	187
Employed in attending and nursing the Sick and Infants	28 is 1017

Upon this Vein I cannot recommend to you any thing better than what I did in my Speech to the Great and General Court on the first day of June 1758. 'Let the 'helpless Infant the Aged the Infirm and those whose duty it is to attend upon them 'be supported in the same manner and under the same Laws as our own People 'are, The Price of Labour will well support the Industrious in this Country, let 'that price be faithfully secured to them, then let those who are able to work 'support themselves and their Families, they will soon cease to be a burthen; they 'will become happy and profitable Subjects'

Advised That his Excellency permit the said French Neutrals to go on Shore at Point Shirley, with the approbation of the Selectmen of Chelsea or one of them, there to remain until further order.

The Governor laid before the Council an extract of General Amhersts letter concerning the Acadians lately arrived from Nova Scotia and desired their Advice on the Subject thereof.

The Council was Unanimously of opinion that as the Assembly is to meet next Wednesday It would be proper to refer the consideration of this Business to the General Court, And that as this Province has already been at great expence in providing for Acadians heretofore sent to it to the amount of £6000. Sterl^g which has never been repaid, and the Memory of this Expence is fresh, It would greatly facilitate the Assembly's coming into proper measures for the taking care of these People, until they can be returned, if the Governor could lay before them an assurance from General Amherst, that a Commissary will be appointed to pay all charges, or if the Province is desired to undertake it, that it will be reimbursed, And it is apprehended that without some such assurance this Business will meet with great difficulties."—Executive Records of the Council, vol. 5, p. 173.

"Jan. 18, 1764. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor viz^{t}

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives.

I hereby lay before you a translation of a Petition delivered to me by the Acadians, called French Neutrals, now residing at Boston. The Case of these people is truly deplorable: They have none of them had the Small Pox, and they depend upon their daily labour for their Bread. If they don't go about the Town to work, they must starve if they do go about they must contract the distemper, and as they are crouded in small Apartments. and wanting the necessaries of Life they wont have a common Chance to escape perishing. I have in Council advised with the Selectmen, who have consulted the Overseers of the Poor, and they are of Opinion that they have not a power to relieve them. I am therefore obliged to apply to you to help to save these People. If you will furnish them with Provisions, I will order them into the Barracks of the Castle: and as soon as they have been there long enough to appear to be free from the Distemper, they will get admision into other Towns and find Work which at present, as is apprehended would be impracticable.

His Excellency having acquainted the Board that he had received fresh Application from some of the French Acadians now in Boston for relief under their present distressed Circumstances which his Excellency intended to lay before the House to-morrow, but that their Circumstances require immediate Relief.

Advised That the Overseers of the Poor of the Town of Boston be desired to continue their Care and provide things necessary for their Support until the House of Representatives shall take some Order in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 351.

"Jan. 24, 1765. The Secretary delivered the following Message from his Excellency the Governor to the two Houses respectively viz^{t}—

Gentlemen of the Council, and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives. About three Months ago, I was first informed that the Acadians belonging to this Province were going hence in large Numbers to form a Settlement in French Hispaniola. As I have all along considered these people to be British subjects, and have some time ago submitted their case to his Majesty's Ministers of State, and prayed their directions concerning them I could not suffer these Emigrations to be carried on under my Eye, until I had received Orders therefor from home. I therefore with the Advice of the Council issued a proclamation to prevent these transportations. Since which I have received several Petitions from them complaining of the want of subsistence here. With the Advice of the Council, I procured them some relief for the present until the General Court met: I now lay before you their petitions, with other Papers relating thereto, and desire your advice and assistance concerning these People. Their case is truly pitiable: if they go to Hispaniola, they run into certain destruction very few escaping with life, the Effects of the bad Climate there and yet they have no Encouragement to continue in this Country. Humanity more than policy makes me desirous to prevent the remainder of them taking this fatal Voyage: I want not so much to make them British subjects as I do to keep them from perishing. The first consideration must be to provide them present subsistence: after which I should be very glad, if means could be concerted to procure them somewhere some comfortable settlement that they may not be obliged to pursue the desperate Resolution of removing to Hispaniola with little probability of surviving the Experiment.

"To John Pownall Esqr Secretary to the Rt Honble Lords Commissrs for Trade & Plants

Sir,

In obedience to his Majesty's Instructs I have herein sent the Laws which pass'd the Legislature of this Province last Sessions with such my Observations thereon as thereby directed.

I am, Sir,

Your very humble Servt

T. POWNALL.

Boston 11th Octr 1757.

An Act providing Remedy for Bankrupts and their Creditors.

Observations. T. Pownall

Description of a Bankrupt agreeable to the Statute 13. Eliz. c. 7–1 James I. c. 15–21 James I. c. 19. —An overt and avow'd Act of Bankruptcy to be upon Record and Publish'd suited to the circumstances of Trade and Buisness in these Colonies. T. P.

Comand[r] in chief with advice & consent of Council under the seal of the Province to appoint & grant comiss[rs] power &c.

[Sect. 2.] In England the Lord Chancellor issues out the Commission. In this Province there is no Court of Chancery, if there were the Governor is Chancellor — This Clause conformable to the Statutes above quoted. T. P.

This Act was made on occasion of a considerable number of Debtors confining themselves within their own houses for fear of their Creditors and there spending the money that should have gone to the payment of their debts. A great inconvenience complained of before the passing of this Act was, that some of the Creditors attach'd such of the Debtors Estate as could not be secreted and satisfyed themselves whilst others more Remote or Abroad did not gett a farthing. This Act is compos'd of the Several Acts of Bankruptcy in England, their several parts are transposed, and brought together, as it is conceiv'd they would have been had they all been but one Act. Some parts particular to the Realm are omitted, some other proper for the Government and State of this Province are inserted. When this Bill had pass'd both Houses I took pains by my own study of it to make myself master of it I also sent for the Chief Justice and Judges of the Superior Court and propos'd the following Questions to them for the better information of my Judgment.

1st Whether the Description of a Bankrupt in this Bill be such as that none but who are truely and actually Bankrupts can have benefit thereby?

2nd Whether there be no Benefitts arising by this Bill to the Debtors, so as to be an encouragement to those bold pushes in Trade where the Trader by having no substance runs no risq where all the risq is run by the Creditors and yet in case of failure, the Debtor has a way to escape by this Bill?

3d Whether the Provisions & Penalties in this Bill are such as effectually to prevent all fraudulent practice in the Debtor, whereby thro' means of this Act he may avoid the just payment of his debts?

4th Whether sufficient provision is herein made for the securing the just due and rights of the Creditor?

5th Whether sufficient provision herein made for the effectual securing to the Creditors in England their just dues and rights?

6th Whether there be anything in this Bill tending to alter or repeal any Law of Great Britain now in force in the Plantations?

7th Whether there be anything in this Bill contrary or repugnant to the Laws of Great Britain?

Their Answer was. — That the five first Questions were not matters of Law but expediency and effect in the consequence: That in Bills of this nature even the Parliament of Great Britain have from time to time been oblig'd to amend and provide for by further Acts, such former Acts as have been found impracticable and ineffectual in their execution: That it is impossible to answer peremptorily to the effects inquired after in the above questions but that as far as they can see and judge at present they may answer the three former in the negative and the two latter in the affirmative, And that as to the sixth & seventh questions they directly answer in the negative. T. P.

Penalty for perjury committed by the Bankrupt.

[Sect. 12.] By the 5 of Geo. II. c. 30 § 1. 2. 3 the Criminal is made guilty of felony without benefit of Clergy. It was originally so in the early times of England. The people here both Judges as well as Juries are so scrupulously tender in cases of life that they will not in any case find a verdict wherein death is the punishment should the Law prescribe it and no necessity will induce them to make a Law wherein the penalty is death; The Penalty prescribed by this Act is equally deterring and is such as will where it is incurr'd be carried into execution. T. P.

Commiss[rs] to assign or dispose of Debts &c for the benefit of Bankrupts.

[Sect. 22.] An unavoidable defect here arising from the limited jurisdiction of the Govern[t] within the bounds of each respective Province while some of the debts due to the Bankrupt thus propos'd to be assign'd may lye in other Provinces where the jurisdiction of this Act does not extend. T. P.

Public Notice to be given the Creditors of any Bankrupt of the time & place of meeting for the choice of Assignees &c.

[Sect. 25.] Here began my doubts how the Creditors in England should receive such public notice — I was answer'd by the Gentleman of the Law concern'd in this Bill for the Creditors — That no Merchant traded to this Country or had money concerns in it, who had not appointed an Agent or Attorney. T. P.

Assignees to give notice in the public newspapers of the time and place of Comiss[rs] & Assignees Meeting to make Dividend &c.

[Sect. 28.] The time here prescribed supposed sufficient even in case Merchant in England having money concerns here, had not made an Attorney, For Creditors in England to send over proof of their Debts being four months and 21 days at least. T. P.

See also page 315, directing a second Dividend after 18 months. T. P.

Certificate to be signed by the greatest part of creditors &c.

[Sect. 37.] In England two thirds of the Creditors in number and value being Creditors for a sum above £10. must sign the Certificate.

Twas thought by the Assembly that a Majority of the Creditors in number and value (being Creditors for a sum above £10.—) would be sufficient and as secure here as a majority for any other matter in the Act.

Persons petitioning to make Oath & give Bond.

[Sect. 42.] The form of the Petition Bond and Commission according to my direction I send herewith. T. P.

Grants &c. to

[Sect. 53.] As there are Cases where a Person may cutt off an Entail for the benefit of their own Family. This Provision supposes that they ought by this Act to be obliged to stand in the same case for the benefit of their Creditors. Tho' this may be Equity and is Equitizing as we say in the Colonies of New England where there is no Chancery, Yet how far common Law will admitt of it I submitt. T. P. be good against Bankrupts and their Heirs &c.

N. B. This Bill was printed six months before it was enacted and was sent to all the Trading Towns in the Province for their remarks and was afterwards putt into the hands of two gentlemen of the Law here to be consider'd by one of them on the part of the Creditors by the other on the part of the absconding Debtor Who upon advising with their Principals return'd it as a salutary provision both for Creditors and Debtors. "August 25, 1757. The Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the two Houses viz^{t}

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives.

I shall order to be laid before You a Letter which I have received from his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun by which it appears that a Regiment of Highlanders in his Majesty's Service may soon be expected here, where his Lordship proposes they be quartered; and an Officer of the Regiment is sent hither in order to prepare and adjust the Quarters &^{c} that so the Transports may be discharged and at liberty to depart immediately after their Arrival. I have also ordered a Copy of his Orders to be laid before You; that You may see what is required and expected, and also the Numbers to be provided for.

Any Votes or Grants to defrey the Expence that may attend the quartering Troops in the Province I am sensible must originate with the House of Representatives and to their consideration, I recommend the providing for such Expence. The Troops are sent hither for the preservation and security of this and the other Colonies. Nobody can think it reasonable they should be destitute of Quarters, and if they do not find such provided they will Plead necessity and provide for themselves. I have it much at heart Gentlemen, to remove all grounds or pretence for such Necessity. This is a point that lies beyond the Limits of any Power I have to enter into the discussion of: all that remains with me is, that I cannot but think it my duty from a sincere regard and tenderness for the People whom You represent to wish that You would so provide, that the Civil Magistrate may be the Person who* adjust these Quarters, and that a Law of the Province may be a rule of the manner in which it should be done.

I would therefore propose and recommend to You an Act impowering and requiring the Civil Magistrate to take up and assign such Quarters under such Regulations as that the Troops may be well accomodated, and yet the Province as little burthen'd as is possible. In England the Troops are confin'd to publick houses extraordinary cases excepted; In such cases as in the last year the People have voluntarily acquiesced in receiving Troops in their private houses. In Scotland and Ireland it has been found necessary to quarter Troops on private Houses. Whether Provision can be best made here by Barracks or by Quartering partly on private houses and Partly on publick you are the best Judges.

When You consider the vast national charge in subsisting and transporting these Troops, the expence of quartering them must appear to You comparatively a very small Burden. I am well assured that his Majesty expects that his Subjects in this and the neighbouring Colonies will cheerfully provide for it. I should think myself extreemly unhappy if under my Administration this Proposal should be rejected, when one of the same nature was complied with the last Year, during the Administration of the late Leiutenant Governor. And if any difficulties should hereafter arise from defect of such Provision, You Gentlemen and the People whom You represent will do me the Justice to acknowledge that I Recommend Such to You.

Council Chamber, T. Pownall.
August 25, 1757.

The Secretary laid before the two Houses a copy of his Lordships Letter dated Hallifax August 9, 1757, together with the Deputy Quarter Master General's orders to Leiutenant John Murray for providing Quarters, referred to in the foregoing Message. In Council. Read and Ordered That the Report be accepted and that Sir William Pepperrell with Such as the honourable House shall appoint be a Committee to wait on his Excellency with said Message accordingly.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Concurred and M^{r} Turner and M^{r} Tyng are joined in the Affair.

The said Message accompanying the Report is as follows. viz^{t}

May it please your Excellency. The Council and House of Representatives in consequence of your Excellency's Message of the 25th Instant have agreed that this Government shall be at the charge of Additional Barracks on Castle Island or Governors Island, so as with those already built to accomodate a Regiment of One thousand Men with their Officers, and have appointed a Committee to effect the Works, and to provide Utensills, Firing and Light for the use of the Barracks.

They are far from apprehending that the expence of quartering the Kings Troops, that are or may be sent here, may of right be insisted upon or demanded from the Inhabitants of this Province. They are sensible that they ought to contribute as far as is in their Power to their own defence against their Enemies. For this Purpose the Government is already under such Engagements, that there is no prospect of being able to comply with them without relief from his Majesty; and it was in humble confidence of this relief that these Engagements were made, The General Court is every day going on further to involve the Province.

Your Excellency has been pleased to recommend this Additional Expence: If it be agreeable to Your Excellency that the Government should advance towards the charge of the War in this way, rather than another, the two Houses are willing to conform: but at the same time they cant help observing to your Excellency, that there are certain Limits which the People will not be able to exceed, and that the more they contribute in one shape, the less they will be able to do in another. They earnestly desire your Excellency's favour in representing to his Majesty the present involved State of the Government notwithstanding the extraordinary Taxes which are annually paid vastly out of proportion to any other Colony; That the Inhabitants of the Province daily leave it, and go into other Governments; and that unless his Majesty will be graciously pleased to cause a part of the great Sums which have been advanced, and which the Province is now in debt for to be reimbursed; it will not be possible for this Government to contribute to the War in the proportion it has already done."—Ibid., p. 111.

"November 26, 1757. The Secretary by Order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to both Houses respectively viz^{t}

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives

About three weeks agoe severall of the Officers of his Majesty's Troops arrived at Boston from Nova Scotia in order to recruit the Regiments to which they belong and made their application to Me to provide them Quarters. I was very sensible that the Service which these Gentlemen were ordered upon could not be carried on if they were to be lodged in the Barracks which you had provided at Castle William, and therefore I directed them to make their application to the Magistrates in the Town of Boston to quarter and billet them in that Town. I explained to those Magistrates the Nature, and represented the necessity of furnishing Quarters; Notwithstanding which they declined complying with this application, in consequence whereof his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun has been pleased to send me a Letter, which I received last night by express, and which I shall direct the Secretary to lay before You.

You will perceive, Gentlemen, that his Lordship insists upon the Right of the Demand. His Majesty's Service, the protection and defence of his Colonies very much depend upon a Compliance with it. It is an Affair of such Importance that I must recommend it to your most serious and immediate Attention.

A M. Novr 26, 1757. T. POWNALL.

Then the Secretary having read to the Board the Earl of Loudoun's Letter referred to in his Excellency's Message carried the Same down to the House of Representatives.

In the House of Representatives. Ordered That Mr Speaker Mr Pratt, Colo Williams, Colo Choate, Mr Tyng, Mr Flucker and Mr Gridley together with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to take his Excellency's Message of this Forenoon to both Houses, together with the Letter from his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun accompanying the Same under consideration and report what they judge proper for this Court to do thereon. In Council. Read and Concurred and John Osborne Andrew Oliver, Joseph Pynchon, Thomas Hutchinson, Stephen Sewall and John Erving Esqrs are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 121.

"Novemr 28, 1757. John Osborne Esq from the Committee appointed to take under consideration his Excellency's Message of the 26th Instant to both Houses Reported the Draft of an Answer thereto. In Council. Read and Sent down, as also a Bill intituled An Act making Provision for the quartering and billeting Recruiting Officers and Recruits in his Majesty's Regular Forces employed for the Protection and defence of his Majesty's Dominions in North America."—Ibid., p. 123.

This bill was passed to be engrossed, in concurrence, Nov. 30, and the next day was passed to be enacted, and signed by the Governor.

"New York Decembr 6th, 1757.

Sir, Yesterday morning I was favoured with yours of Novbr 28th which had come by Albany; by it I was in hopes that on the fair State I had made of the Right the King and the Mother Country had to Quarters for their Troops, sent at the sole Expence of the Mother Country, for the Defence of his Majesty's Dominions, and the Protection of the Lives and Properties of his Subjects in North America that every Thing would have gone as it has, and ought in the other Provinces.

But in the Evening I had the Favour of yours of Decbr 1st with a Copy of the Act pass'd by the Legislature of the Massachusetts, by which they have laid me under the disagreable, but the absolute Necessity of settling this Point at once, as the Consequence of my acquiescing under it, would at once throw the whole Continent into Confusion, from South-Carolina to Boston, and turn three fourths of the Troops at once into the Streets to perish at this Season of the Year.

I observed to you in my Letter from Albany, that the Assembly had no Concern in the King's Right to Quarters for his Troops, as in Time of Peace it is settled and regulated by an Act of the British Parliament, which no Act of theirs can infringe, or diminish. I likewise observed that in Time of war, the Troops must be posted in such Numbers as the Necessities of that War make requisite, and that the Rules laid down for the Time of Peace, give Place to the Rules and the Customs, and necessities of War as practised in the Mother Country, and as practised in the Countries of not only allied, but even of neutral Princes all over the Globe.

Surely the Gentlemen have not considered this Act before they passed it, for by it, if it could have any Force, they have barred the King from marching his Troops thro' his own Dominions, to oppose the most cruel of all Enemies, now actually in his Country, and threatning further Invasions every Day.

I shall not go on to make any further Observations on the Act, as I cannot help seeing from this step of the Assembly, after the last Letter I writ from Albany, and from finding that after all the prudent measures you have taken, to prevent them from infringing the Rights of the Crown, and from taking measures, that from endeavouring to set aside an Act of the British Parliament, must at once throw the whole Continent of North America into such Confusion as must be its instant Ruin, 'tis unnecessary to make any of the many Observations I could on the Act, as I see this has put all further Negotiation out of Doors, and put me under the disagreable necessity of settling it myself, to prevent the fatal Consequences of the Measures they have entred into, and in which they are entirely Voluntiers, by refusing Quarters to a few recruiting Parties only.

Nothing can be more disagreable to me than having Disputes with the People of Boston, for whom I have always had the greatest Regard, from the Zeal and Loyalty they have always professed for their King and Country.

And as at Present from some Fatality, Things have taken a different Turn, they must pardon me if I do my Duty in preserving the Constitution by supporting the Rights of the King and the Mother Country, and in preventing the ruinous Mischiefs flowing from such Measures."—*Loudoun to Gov. "December 14, 1757. The Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to both Houses respectively, and at the same time laid before them a Letter from his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun refer'd to therein viz^{t}

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives

Last Night by Express I received from his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun a Letter from New York of the 6th Instant, which I shall direct the Secretary to lay before you. You will perceive by this Letter, that the late Act of this Province providing for the quartering and billetting recruiting Parties, is very far from answering his Lordship's Expectations.

As the Case is now circumstanced, I must earnestly recommend to You proper measures to terminate this Affair in such a manner, as to avoid all prejudice to his Majesty's Service in General, and to the Interest of this Province in particular at so critical a Juncture.

The foregoing Message was immediately taken into Consideration. And.

In the House of Representatives Ordered That M^{r} Speaker, Col^{o} Hale, Col^{o} Choate, M^{r} Prat, and M^{r} Tyng with such as the honourable Board shall join be a Committee to take his Excellency's Message of this Forenoon, together with the Letter from his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun to the Governor, accompanying the same under consideration, and report what they judge proper for this Court to do thereon. In Council Read and Concurred and John Cushing Thomas Hutchinson, Stephen Sewall, John Erving and William Brattle Esq^{rs} are joined in the Affair."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 152.

"December 16, 1757. The Committee appointed the 14 Inst on his Excellency's Message to both Houses—reported that the following Message be sent to his Excellency the Governor in answer thereunto viz^{t}—

May it Please your Excellency.

Your Excellency's Message of the 14 Inst together with the Letter which You had received the Evening before from his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun have been considered by Us with very great attention; and we hope that notwithstanding his Lordship's present Sentiments, when the whole of our Conduct and the reasons of it are considered by him we shall recover his Lordships favourable opinion, and the Harmony which now seems to be in some measure interrupted will be fully restored.

Our Apprehensions of the Extent of the Act of Parliament so far as it relates to Quarters & Billeting, differ from those of his Lordship, It is his Lordship's Opinion that those parts of the Act extend to his Majesty's Colonies and Plantations, We are sensible that the Act in some parts of it expressly extends to the Plantations, and in others to all his Majesty's Dominions beyond Seas, and such parts have been observed accordingly in this Province. but we are as fully satisfied, that so far as it relates to quartering and billetting it was intended to be local, and this appears not only from the words of the Act, but from the nature and reason of the thing, seeing one General Rule can never serve the several parts of Great Britain only, much less the several Colonies and Plantations in America also. But notwithstanding this we have never denied or doubted that wheresoever his Majesty's Troops shall be sent for the Protection and defence of his Dominions, Quarters and Billetting must be provided as often as they are necessary. Considering the great charges to which this Province has been exposed we could not think it reasonable that any part of the Expence should be borne by Us, but being strongly urged to it, and being desirous of freeing the Inhabitants from the burden of quartering Soldiers in their Houses, we have enlarged the Barracks on Castle Island and furnished them with necessary Utensils; and they are capable of containing a Regiment of One thousand men with their Officers. This was the number which your Excellency recommended to us to provide for, upon your first coming to the Chair. Divers recruiting Parties have since applied for Quarters and Billetting to the Civil Magistrates who did not think themselves warranted by any Laws then in being to assign them. Upon Your Excellency's Message of the 26th November last an Act has passed providing for quartering and billetting such Parties: and this Provision is as similar to the Act of Parliament as can consist with the differing State of the Towns and Districts in this Province from that of the Cities, Boroughs &^{c} in England and Wales, and of Berwick upon Tweed.

We had no intimation that any further Troops were expected in the Province. We freely own that We hoped his Majesty's Service would not require an additional number to march or be posted here, but we never intended by this partial Provision to signify that we would not make further provision when the Service should require it. We are really at a loss what step to take to terminate this Affair, for his Lordship dos not seem dissatisfied so much from the insufficiency of what we have done as from the manner of its being done, by a Law of this Province. The main point in difference seems to be this His Lordship insists that sufficient Laws, Rules, and Customs are already in force for quartering and billetting his Majesty's Forces and that Nothing further is requisite except that the Civil Magistrate carry them into execution; We conceive that when in ordinary Cases his Majesty's Forces are to be quartered and billetted in the Province, an Act of the Legislature is requisite to impower the Civil Magistrate to do it. We are ready to pass An Act making Provision in such cases for quartering and billetting such Forces as shall be necessary for our protection and defence as similar as may be to the Provision made in England. We have never supposed that upon extraordinary occasions when our preservation or defence made it requisite to march or Quarter a greater number of Troops than could be quartered agreeable to the regulations made by Law, we must not submit to the Rules and Customs which in like cases are allowed and practised in our Mother Country, We rely upon it that a greater number of Forces will not be ordered into the Province than what his Majesty's Service and the Purposes aforesaid render necessary.

We beg leave further to observe, and we doubt not your Excellency will think it a proper occasion. That the Inhabitants of this Province are intitled to the Natural rights of English born Subjects; that by the Royall Charter the Powers and Priviledges of Civil Government are granted to them; that the enjoyment of these rights, these Powers and Priviledges is their Support under all burdens and Pressures; this will animate and encourage them to resist to the last breath a cruel invading Enemy; the loss or hazard of these Enjoyments from any other cause naturally tends to deject and dispirit them. If our adherence to these Rights and Privileges shall in any measure lessen the Esteem which his Lordship had conceived for Us, and make a Breach upon that Harmony which has hitherto subsisted, it will be our great Misfortune, but we shall have the satisfaction of reflecting that both in our Words and Actions we have been governed by a sense of duty to his Majesty, and Faithfulness to the Trust committed to Us.

The Foregoing Message being reported and read, In Council was sent down to the House of Representatives.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Accepted and Ordered That Col° Hale, Col° Choate, Col° Fowle, Judge Russell and Col° Williams with Such as the honourable Board shall join be a Committee to wait upon his Excellency with the foregoing Message. In Council Read and Concurred, and John Osborne Benjamin Lynde, John Chandler and Isaac Royall Esq^rs^ are joined in the affair."—Ibid., p. 156.

"New York December 26, 1757.

Sir, I had the favour of Your's of the 16^th^, with a Copy of the Address from the Assembly to you, from which, and from your Assurances I can depend on their making the Point of Quarters easy in all Time coming, and on Your Application, for which I shall always have the greatest Regard, I have Countermanded the March of the Troops, which I was lay'd under the necessity of Giving, as the Footing things had been put on was big with so many Mischiefs to this Part of his Majesty's Dominions.

As to the Dispute the Gentlemen seem willing to enter into of the necessity of a Provincial Law to Enforce a British Act of Parliament, I shall not enter into it at all; as the Administration is wise and Powerfull and will take their own Methods in setling Affairs of that Nature.

As to the Gentlemen's imagining that this Affair has made a difference between them and me, I shou'd be very sorry to see things in that Light. They and I have seen things in a different Light, and that Affair is now Accomodated, and I imagine setled, so that there is a Total end of it.

And it cannot enter into my Mind to imagine that the Province of the Massachusetts will not continue to be at least among the Foremost on the Continent to shew that Zeal for his Majesty's Service, and to cooperate with his Servants to the Utmost for the good of those Province's in North America; as those are Things for which they have justly claimed so much Merit.

As to my Part I will assure You, that I have the greatest Regard for the Province of the Massachusetts bay; and that not only now but on all Occasions, no Man in the Province will be more Zealous in supporting them in their just Rights and Privileges.

Before I close this letter tis necessary that I should remind you that it has not yet come to my knowledge that any Provision has been made for the Ranging Companies I asked of the Province by my Circular Letter of September, when I formed a Plan of Reducing the Expence of the Provinces by dismissing the Surplus of the Provincials above the numbers of the Rangers, which I found necessary for the service during the Winter.

Altho your Assembly had not met when I dismissed the other part of the Provincials, I kept no more of yours than an Adequate number to what the other Province's had ordered that your Province might reap the same Ease that the other Provinces did But as those Companies remaining with me are not compleated in Officers, I must again desire that you will fill up those Vacancies; and I can have no doubt that your Assembly will enable You to put those Companies either on the Footing of those kept up by the other Provinces, or in some other manner enable them to perform the Services thro' the Winter, for which they are kept up.

I can have no doubt of this, as from their Wisdom they must see the necessity there is at all Times, and more particularly at this, in the time of War of keeping up that mutual Confidence and unanimity among the Provinces so very essential for their Defence, for shou'd it come out in the last days of December, that the Province of the Massachusetts was the only one that had refused to come into my Plan laid before them in September after all the others had come into it owning the great Saving it was to them, it must have the Effect of taking off that mutual Confidence so essential to the whole, as tis to be apprehended it would create for the future a Delay every where, and none would come into any measures proposed till they had consulted their neighbours to know what they were to do, the consequence of which would be that the King by his Servants must take such a long time in every negotiation that no Business con'd be done, a Thing I am sure that the Province of the Massachusetts would not chuse to be the Authors of; and as You are so well acquainted with the Business of this country, this, and many more arguments must occur to you, which you I am sure will lay in a strong Light before the proper People, and cannot fail of Success.

Wishing You the Compliments of the Season, I am with sincere Regard,

Sir,

Your most Obedient

Humble Servant

His Excellency Governour Pownall LOUDOUN.

"January 2, 1758. In Council His Excellency having been pleased to communicate to the two Houses a Letter from the Right honourable the Earl of Loudoun dated New York December 26, 1757. "January 6, 1758. The Committee appointed the 2d Instant to take under consideration the Earl of Loudoun's Letter of 26 Decr which his Excellency the Governor was pleased to communicate to the two Houses reported the following Message to his Excellency.

May it please your Excellency.

We are very glad to perceive by the Letter from his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun, which you have been pleased to direct the Secretary to lay before Us, That the Conduct of the General Court is so well approved of, and that his Lordship has thereupon countermanded the Orders which he had given for marching the Troops to be quartered and billeted within this Province. We thank your Excellency for your good Offices in our behalf and for the care and pains which we are sensible you have taken to avert the troubles which seemed to be coming upon Us. We doubt not that future Assemblies will act upon the same Principles with this Assembly, and that the Massachusetts Province will always deserve the favourable Opinion of the General of his Majesty's Forces.

We wish to stand perfectly right with his Lordship, and it will be a great Satisfaction to Us if we may be able to remove his Misapprehension of the Spring and Motive of our Proceedings. His Lordship is pleased to say that we seem willing to enter into a dispute upon the Necessity of a Provincial Law to enforce a British Act of Parliament. We are utterly at a Loss what part of our Conduct could give occasion for this Expression.

The Point in which we were obliged to differ from his Lordship was the Extent of Provision made by Act of Parliament for regulating Quarters. We thought that it did not reach the Colonies. Had we thought that it did reach us, And yet made an Act of our own to enforce it, there would have been good Grounds for his Lordships Exception; but being fully persuaded that this Provision was never intended for Us, what better step could we take, then agreeable to the twentieth Section in the Articles of War to regulate Quarters according as the Circumstances of the Province requires, but still as similar to the Provision made in England as possible. And how can it be inferred from hence that we suppose a Provincial Act necessary to enforce an Act of Parliament?

We are willing by a due exercise of the Powers of Civil Government (and we have the pleasure of seeing your Excellency concurr with Us) to remove as much as may be all pretence of necessity of military Government. Such measures we are sure will never be disapproved by the Parliament of Great Britain: our dependance upon which we never had a desire or thought of lessening. From the Knowledge your Excellency has acquired of Us, You will be able to do us Justice in this Regard. In our Message to your Excellency which you had transmitted to his Lordship we declared, that the Act of Parliament, the Extent of which was then in dispute, so far as relates to the Plantations had always been observed by us. The Authority of all Acts of Parliament which Concern the Colonies and extend to them are ever acknowledged in all the Courts of Law and made the Rule of all Judicial Proceedings in the Province. There is not a member of the General Court, and we know no Inhabitant within the Bounds of the Government that ever questioned this Authority.

To prevent any ill Consequences that may arise from an Opinion of our holding such Principles, we now utterly disavow them, as we should readily have done at any time past, if there had been occasion for it; and we pray that his Lordship may be acquainted therewith, that we may appear in a true Light, and that no Impressions may remain to our disadvantage. In Council. Read and Accepted and Ordered That Sir William Pepperrell, Stephen Sewall, and James Bowdoin Esqrs with Such as the honourable House shall appoint be a Committee to present the same accordingly. In the House of Representatives Read and Concurred and Mr Tyng, Colo Choate, Colo Hale, and Mr Bacon are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 198.

A printed copy of this act was enclosed with the following letter to the Lords of Trade:—

"Boston Decr 1st, 1757.

My Lords,

I had the honour to acquaint your Lordships that upon an application from the Earl of Loudoun in August last for Quarters for one of the Highland Battalions, the Legislature enabled me to prepare Barracks for them, but these upon the Island whereon Castle William stands prove intirely insufficient for the purposes of the Recruiting parties sent since into this Province: the Recruiting Officers therefore by my direction applyed to the Magistrates for Quarters; the Magistrates apprehending that the Act of Parliament in this point did not extend to America and that there was no Law of this Province impowring them to billet soldiers, told the Officers that they could not be justified in doing it but by Law and refused to do it.

I immediately acquainted Lord Loudoun then at Albany with the state of the case, his Lordship wrote me a letter insisting on the right of quartering: The Legislature being now sitting I immediately next Morning sent a Message to them layed Lord Loudoun's letter before them & required them to make provision for quarters in immediate compliance to his Lordships demand.

The two Houses went immediately into a Bill making provision for quartering these, or any Recruiting parties that should be sent into the Province, of which by their desire I by express acquainted his Lordship and with all possible dispatch (sitting on Sunday) pass'd it thro' both Houses and sent it up to me, to which I gave my assent, enacting it into a Law.

I think myself extreamly happy in having obtained, tho' not perhaps just in the way that might have been more agreeable the end his Lordship seem'd to aim at, as it may prevent any difference arising betwixt his Lordship & the people on the point of the right, his Lordship apprehending as one point, that the Act of Parliament in the Article of Quarters doth extend to North America & as another from the nature & necessity of the thing he has a right to quarter: the people on the other hand tho' they unanimously allow that from the nature & necessity of the thing his Lordship ought to have a right to quarter his Soldiers, yet the Act of Parliament not extending to America, and there being no Act of the Province for quartering that it lyes with them to make provision by law.

And I have this day had the honour to acquaint his Lordship they have done so (for all Recruiting Parties) on the same terms & at the same rates as are prescribed by Act of Parliament in England &c. with a Penalty on the Magistrates refusing to do it. I am with all duty & respect, My Lords, Your Lop^s^ most obed^t^ faithfull & most humble servant,

My Lords,

In my last letter of Dec^r^ 1^st^ 1757 I had the honor to write your Lordships that I thought myself extreamly happy in having obtain'd an Act providing for such quarters as were then wanted tho' not perhaps in the way that might have been more agreeable to Lord Loudoun yet so as to remove all occasion of difference between his Lordship and the people of this Province upon the point of the right. His Lordship has been of opinion that it was of the utmost importance to settle the right and in consequence of his Lordship's letters thereupon and my messages I have received from both Houses of Legislature the two Messages which I enclose.

However much both sides seem'd dissatisfyed with me during the negociation of this affair which I had the difficulty to transact between his Lordship and the People while there was any difference, I am very happy to see, that now it is agreed, both sides approve my conduct, as it argues at least an uniformity in such. His Lordship is pleas'd in his letter of Dec^r^ 6^th^ to approve as he kindly expresses it, the prudent measures I had taken to prevent their infringing the rights of the Crown, and the Legislature here do now in their Message sufficiently express their sense of the regard I have to the people." — *Gov. "January 31, 1764. A Petition of Joseph Wing of Falmouth in the County of Barnstable and Melatiah Gifford of the Town and County aforesaid, both of the People called Quakers—Setting forth, That at an Inferior Court of Common Pleas held at Barnstable in May 1757, Moses Swift Clerk of the Military Foot Company of said Falmouth recovered Judgments upon a Law of this Province for Twenty pounds with Cost of Suit, for not appearing at a Military Muster of said Company; and that Executions were issued upon said Judgments, and they thereupon committed to Barnstable Goal, and there detained for some months, until they were dismissed on the 1st January 1758 by order of the General Court. And the Spring following the Sheriff of the said County did seize and secure so much of the Real Estate of the petitioners as to satisfy the Demands of the said Clerk. And inasmuch as their Non appearance aforesaid was the mere Result of Scruples of Conscience, and this Court has in time past relieved such as had suffered on account of their Consciences or religious Persuasions, which favours are gratefully acknowledged: They likewise pray for the like Favour, and that their Inheritances may be restored.

At the last Sessions of the General Court of Massachusetts, I recommended the forming by Law an Effectual Militia. They were not able to go thro' with the consideration of it last Session. They appointed a Committee to form, in the Recess of the Court a Bill for that purpose and from a Confidence in my intentions and measures, gave them leave to consult and advise with me. I have settled what I hope will get thro' the House and be effectual.

I have recommended the same to the Gov^{r} of Connecticut who approves it and will try the same in his Colony. I have not now my Papers by me—I can only say that my scheme proceeds upon the idea of a Province Piquet Guard from the whole Militia of about 6,000 effective men, well armed and disciplined, and ready to turn out upon all occasions. Which, in my opinion is better than the whole 41,000 that will never turn out to any one good purpose. Nevertheless the whole Militia, except this Piquet, is to stand as it now does, by the old Law.

—"Observations by Gov. Pownall in his letter to Secretary Pownall, Oct. 11, 1757: ibid., I. i., 24.

"Boston 15th Jan^{ry}, 1758.

My Lords,

It being my duty to report to Your Lordships from time to time the measures of my Administration, I humbly beg leave to lay before Your Lordships the several matters I have recommended this last Sessions to the Legislature of the Province I have the honor to command and what has been done thereon

Apprehending that the first step towards annoying the Enemy abroad was to be first secur'd at home, I thought it my duty upon my coming to the chair of this Government to enquire how the Country was prepared for such Defence. I had occasion at my very first entrance to know and to find the Militia totally ruin'd, ineffectual and useless, and I have since upon enquiry found that the Defence of the Inland Frontiers was not more to be depended on in case of any Incursions of the Indians. I have propos'd a Militia Law that may be effectual, and tho' this be a point that could never yet since the existence of the present Charter be carried, I have the happiness to acquaint Your Lordships, that I have after one or two unsuccessfull attempts had the fortune this last Sessions to succeed in obtaining an Act providing for the duely mustering arming & disciplining every able bodied man within the Province and further for the regular ordering and governing of such when upon an Alarm or Invasion call'd out to service.

I have in this Province thirty two Regiments containing in all upon the Alarm List Forty five thousand seven hundred and sixty four men of which 37,446 are by law oblig'd to train and turn out into the field upon any Alarm or Invasion under this Law—that now makes Mutiny and Desertion death—I now therefore hope after having modell'd and fram'd this body of men into more and smaller Regiments and other Divisions better adapted for training & disciplining them to see the Antient and Military spirit of New England revive in proportion as their Discipline reforms.

I also laid before them as referr'd to in my speech a Method (No. 2.) of defending their Inland Frontiers in which I have the pleasure to see them intirely acquiesce and they will make provision accordingly."—Extract from letter of Gov. Pownall to Lords of Trade: ibid., I. i., 25.

"Feb. 14, 1758. Advised that Five hundred more of the Acts lately passed the General Court for regulating the Militia within this Province be Printed, and dispersed to the Captains of the several Military Companys within the Province."—Executive Records of the Council, vol. 3, p. 339.

"March 23. 1758. In the House of Representatives. Whereas the great Scarcity of Labourers which will be the natural consequence of so large a Body of Forces as are raised and to be raised for his Majesty's Service within this Government the present Year makes it necessary that such as are left be not called off from their Labour.

Voted That all Persons borne on the Alarm List be and are hereby exempted from all Military Musters, and other Military Duty, excepting in case of Alarm on the second and third Mondays in April, the first Monday in May, and the first Tuesday in June next, as enjoined them by an Act passed in the last Sessions of this Court intituled An Act in addition to the several Acts of this Province for regulating the Militia, and all Persons are hereby excused from every Fine that might have been incurred by force of said Act had this Exemption not been made, as also from taking the Oath in said Act required untill the last Monday in October next. In Council—Read and Concurred."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 292.

§ 6. "June 8, 1758. To James Otis Esq^{r} the sum of Sixteen Pounds thirteen shillings to discharge the Acco^{t} of Bayonets supplied Capt Richard Baxters Company in the Regiment of Militia under his Command.

To Samuel White Esq^{r} the sum of Forty nine Pounds to be by him paid to whom due for Bayonets supplied part of the Regiment of Militia under the Command of Col^{o} Ephraim Leonard."—Executive Records of the Council, vol. 3, p. 409.

"June 14, 1758. To John Ashley and others the sum of One hundred eighty two Pounds two shillings and eight pence for Bayonets supplied the Militia (pursuant to an Act for further regulating the Militia) agreeable to the Schedule to the Warrant annexed."—Ibid., p. 411.

"June 15, 1758. Voted that no Warrant be Advised for the Providing of Bayonets for the Companies of Militia in this Province unless the Captain or Chief Officer of the respective Companies to whom by Law it belonged to provide the same and to exhibit the Acco^{ts} thereof shall in their several Acco^{ts} so to be exhibited particularly mention the Names of the Persons unto whom the same were delivered."—Ibid., p. 413.

"July 7, 1758. Ordered in Council by Advice that the several Officers of Militia who have furnished any of the Men in their respective Companies with Bayonets, do make Oath before some Justice of the Peace to their respective Acco^{ts}, and to the List of the Persons who received the same before their Acco^{ts} be allowed and passed."—Ibid., p. 418.

"Oct. 9, 1758. To Capt. Peter Coolidge and others the sum of Two hundred seventy nine Pounds thirteen shillings to discharge their Acco^{ts} of Bayonets supplied the respective Military Companys under their Command agreeable to an Act of this Province entitled An Act in Addition to the several Acts of this Province for Regulating the Militia."—Ibid., p. 432.

"Oct. 14, 1758. To Nathaniel Coolidge and others the sum of Fifty eight Pounds ten shillings to discharge their respective Acco^{ts} for Bayonets supplied the Military Companys under their Command agreeable to Law."—Ibid., 434.

"Nov. 4, 1758. To Capt. Thomas Chute and others the sum of Sixty seven Pounds eighteen shillings to discharge their Acco^{ts} of Bayonets supplied the respective Companies of Militia under their Command agreeable to Law."—Ibid., p. 439.

Chap. 19. "March 16, 1758. M^{r} Flucker from the House of Representatives came up to the Board with a Message proposing to proceed to the choice of Collectors of Excise on Spirituous Liquors by joint Ballot of the two Houses, to morrow 3 o'clock Afternoon. Samuel Danforth Esq. from the Board informed the House by Message the Board agreed to the Proposal of the House saving that they would further propose to come to the choice at 11 o'clock in the Forenoon — To which the House agreed."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 272.

"March 17, 1758. The two Houses agreeable to their Resolutions of Yesterday proceeded to the Choice of Collectors of the Excise on Spirituous Liquors by joint Ballot of both Houses, and after counting & sorting the Votes by a Committee it appeared that the following Persons were chosen by a Major Vote. viz[t]

For the County of Suffolk	M[r] Thomas Fletcher.
For the County of Essex	Daniel Epes Esq.
For the County of Middlesex	M[r] John Remington
For the County of Hampshire	M[r] Gad Lyman
For the County of Worcester	Gardner Chandler Esq
For the County of Plymouth	M[r] Israel Turner
For the County of Barnstable	M[r] Daniel Davis
For the County of Bristol	M[r] Seth Williams Jun[r]
For the County of York	M[r] Daniel Clarke
For the County of Dukes County	M[r] Ichabod Wiswall
For the County of Nantucket	John Bunker Esq."

"February 1, 1760. In the House of Representatives. The Petitions of John Erving jun[r] Mess[rs] Gilbert Deblois, William Whitwell and William Hunt were read again and the following Resolve passed viz[t]

Whereas the Petitioners have confessed Judgment at the last Inferior Court of Common Pleas for the County of Suffolk for breach of the Act of Excise Anno 1757 and incurred the penalty of £200—each two thirds whereof is due to this Government and one third to the Collector of Excise. And Whereas it appears that there was no intentional Fraud in the Petitioners and that the Collector has received his Dues for Excise, and so no injury has incurred to the Government—Therefore Resolved That the Governments part of the Fine be remitted to the Petitioners respectively. In Council. Read and Concurred Consented to by the Governor." —Ibid., vol. XXIII., p. 239.

Chap. 20. The act of 1752-53, chap. 15, was extremely obnoxious to the Baptists, whose efforts to secure its modification or repeal are detailed in the following petitions. Although these petitions were summarily dismissed, it would seem that they, eventually, procured the desired relief; for the act of the present year was revived and continued until Jan. 1771, before which time a still more favorable act was passed (1770–71, chap. 10.) in which the Legislature showed such deference to the feelings of the Baptists as to designate them, in the title and body of the act, "Antipedobaptists" instead of "Anabaptists" as formerly. This last act was succeeded by the act of 1774-75, chap. 6, which was continued in force after the adoption of the Constitution. See, also, the action of the Privy Council on chapter 5, of 1768, note, post.

"To His Excellency William Shirley Esq[r] Captain General and Governour in Chief in and over His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, and to the Hon[ble] His Majesty's Council and the Hon[ble] House of Representatives in General Court Assembled at Boston the 29[th] Day of May Anno Domini, 1754.

The Memorial and Remonstrance of Thomas Green, Thomas Boucher, Ebenezer Moulton, Ephraim Bosworth, Joseph Collins, Phillip Freeman, Joseph Gould, Thomas Chency and John Procter a Committee appointed in behalf of several Society's of the People called Baptists Inhabitants within the said Province,—Humbly set forth,

That in the Royal Charter granted by their Majesty's King William and Queen Mary to the Inhabitants of this Province, wherein Your Memorialists, and all their Brethren of the said Baptist Persuasion are included, Their said Majesty's were graciously pleased to Ordain, That We and every of Us, and Our Children, that should be born here, or on the Seas in coming here or returning from hence shall have and enjoy all Libertys and Immunities of free and Natural Subjects, to all Intents Constructions and Purposes whatsoever, as if We, and every of them were born within the Realm of England, and for Our further Ease & Encouragement, Their said Majesty's of their Princely Wisdom, Royal Grace and Meer Motion did further Grant Establish and Ordain to Us, under the mildest Appellations of Loving Subjects, Our being denominated Anabaptists in any wise Notwithstanding, That there shall be Liberty of Conscience allowed in the Worship of GOD to all Christians, except Papists, inhabiting or which shall inhabit or be resident within this Province or Territory—From these summary Abstracts, May it please Your Excellency and Honours, We Apprehend it plainly Appeareth that Your Memorialists, in their said Capacity, and all other His Majesty's good Subjects of the Baptist persuasion whether they be denominated by the Terms of General or Particular Baptists, Learned or Illeterate, it matters not, in point of the Royal Indulgence to them so graciously and freely granted, but that they and every of them, his Majesty's Loyal and loving Subjects of the said Baptist Persuasion, have as good Ample and Extensive a Right to Think and Act for themselves in matters of a Religious nature, and have indeed as Absolute and Unlimited an Indulgence to perform the Worship of Almighty GOD, consonant to their Conciences, and that with Impunity, as any, or all and every of the other respective Dissenting Churches and Societys within this his Majesty's Province or Territory Whomsoever, be they Congregationalists, Independents, Presbyterians or however otherwise denominated, These points being thus briefly Premised, In which We pray that this Hon[ble] Court will not look with a Severe Eye on your Remonstrants in that they Insist upon and claim their Priviledges by birth right, more especially when it is considered, that so long since, as from the Year 1692, to the Year 1728, Our said Brethren of the Baptist Persuasion, Inhabitants of this Province, have been more or less harrassed and Oppressed with Ministerial Rates so called, And notwithstanding the express Royal Indulgence to them granted, by the Charter as before mentioned, have with a high hand and by Compulsion, contrary thereunto, been enforced to pay Ministerial Taxes for the Maintenance of such Ministers as are in Fact Dissenters themselves, and upon whose Ecclesiastical Administrations, Our said Brethren, could not in point of Conscience Attend, and for their refusal to pay such Ministers Rates, have oftentimes, had their Bodies Seized upon and thrown into the common Goal as Malefactors, and their Cattle Swine Horses Household furniture and Implements of Husbandry forceably distrained from them & shamefully Sold, many times, at not One quarter part of the just Value by reason that People of real Virtue and Goodness were generally disinclined to buy or even bid at such sort of Coercive Outerys, whereby the Estates of Our said Brethren became a Prey to Griping Officers & their Attendants, forasmuch as generally speaking the Bill of Charges brought by the distraining Officer for himself and his Assistants, would be so Swelled, inclusive of the Ministerial Rate as nearly to counterballance the several Articles distrained from Our brethren aforesaid—It is with Regret, that We find Ourselves Compelled to look back so many years past, on the repeated Usurpations over the Bodies & Estates of Our said brethren, & however disagreeable the Retrospect may be, it is, indeed, We think at this juncture become quite necessary (as perhaps may appear in the Sequel) in order the more clearly to convey a just conception of Our Grievances to Your Excellency and Honours, to unfold things as they then really Existed. Inasmuch as from the like Injurious Fountain of Ministerial Assessments, Our present Oppressions derive their Origin, With all due difference, therefore Your Memorialists proceed further to Observe, That the heavy Pressures & Afflictions occasioned by the aforerecited distraints Imprisonments and the Losses consequent thereupon for Ministerial Taxes, made many of the said Baptists bend, almost ruined some of Our People, and disheartned others to such a degree, that they Moved with the remaining Effects they had left out of this Province, We have herein, in the abovementioned state of Our Case, been briefly, and in One general View pointing from the Year 1692 down to the Year 1728, at which last mentioned time affairs seemed to be drawing to a Crisis, Ministerial Taxes were drove with Vehemence, through the Province (Excepting the Town of Boston, and some few other Towns) even Episcopalians, as well as Baptists and Quakers, were indiscriminately laid hold on, and some Imprisoned for Ministers Rates, Four of Our Friends & Brethren about this time were brought down out of the Countrey, & thrown into Boston Goal, which when Lieut Governour Dummer who was then at the Head of the Government, had information of, he expressed a singular displeasure at such harsh proceedings, & forthwith Ordered them out of Prison with free liberty to return home to their respective Families—Our Friends and Neighbours the said People called Quakers, and Our said brethren, the Baptists, being no longer able to endure these continued Impositions & Severitys, by their respective Memorials made Application Once & again to the General Court for relief, which at length after considerable Cost & Charge to the Memorialists, produced the first Act of Exemption so called, Intitled An Act to Exempt Persons commonly called Anabaptists, and those called Quakers within this Province from being Taxed for and towards the Support of Ministers, This was in the first & second Years of his present Majesty's Reign, but as this Act only Exempted their Polls and not their Estates, & being remarkably limited to such Persons only as lived within Five Miles of the place of Meeting, it was bantered and laughed at even by some of the principal Gentlemen of the then General Assembly & called in Derision the five Mile Act, in Allusion to the famous Act made in England against the Dissenters in the Angry persecuting times of King Charles the Second, [17 Car. II.] —Both Baptists and Quakers hereupon renewed their Applications to the General Court determining if they could not Obtain further relief here to carry home their several Complaints to the King where they were well assured of full redress—This produced a second Act in the Year, 1729, wherein the Baptists & Quakers were Exempted both as to Polls & Estates but clogged however with a limitation for less than five years, at the Expiration of this second Act which brings Us to the Years 1733 & 1734, Our said Brethren were again Obliged to apply to the General Assembly, Governour Belcher being then in the Chair, And an Excellent Friend he really was to the Baptists & Quakers through the whole of his Administration, nor can We Omit in point of gratitude further to declare in this Our Memorial that the late mentioned & truly Honble Lieut Governour Dummer was indeed Our good Friend & quite Averse to every thing tending to Oppress the Quakers & Baptists —In the Year 1734, upon Application again made as aforesaid A Third Act passed to Exempt Persons commonly called Anabaptists from Ministerial Taxes this third Act was more clear accurate & better drawn than either of the former & therein it is expressly set forth That to the intent it may be better known what Persons are of that Persuasion & who are Exempted by this Act, That the Assessors of each Town where any of the said Anabaptists live or their Lands in their own Actual Improvement lye, shall take a List of all such Persons & forthwith transmit the same to the Clerk of the Town, which list shall be entred on the Record of such Town by the Clerk, that so any of the People called Anabaptists or any Members of their Society thereto appointed may View such List, have a Copy thereof if they desire the same paying only Six pence therefor, And if any Person of that denomination shall be Omitted in such List by the Assessors taken and the Assessors shall be Certified thereof in Writing under the hands of Two Principal Members of that Persuasion appointed thereto by the respective Societys, that such Persons not inserted in their List they believe to be Conscientiously of their Persuasion & they do frequently & Usually Attend their Meeting for the Worship of GOD on the LORDS Day, the Assessors shall also Exempt the said Persons so Omitted & their Estates in their Actual Management & Improvement as well as all others inserted in the said Lists from all Rates & Taxes by the said Assessors to be made for the Support of the Minister or Ministers in their Towns or for Erecting places of Publick Worship, this Act to continue for Five years &c^r—Our Oppressions on Account of Ministerial Taxes as aforesaid seemed now to appear upon the decline, yet nevertheless in reallity have in a considerable measure been continued throughout every of the said Acts by reason that as in the former, so also in the last recited Act there was no Sanction, no Penalty annexed on the said Assessors for their default of not doing their Duty in taking such Lists of the People called Anabaptists in their respective Towns as the Act directed—And when Our said Brethren have at sometimes reminded the Assessors of their Omissions herein, They were generally Snubbed & in a Contemptuous manner Answered That the Assessors knew nothing of any such Act, nor would they concern themselves therein, Other Assessors more knowing & Intelligent insisted upon it that as there was no Penalty affixed on the Nonperformance of taking such Lists of the Anabaptists in their respective Towns They would not trouble their heads about it, So that in most if not every Town of this Province where Our said Brethren dwell, no such Lists as the said Act points out were ever taken, or at least that We could ever come to the knowledge of. Which Omissions of Consequence exposed several of Our brethren to Journeyings some of Forty Miles, others to a more & less distance in Order to procure Certificates from their respective Societys that they were Baptists, The loss of Time Travel & Expences from hence Occasioned, has sometimes Amounted to more than the Ministerial Tax—Upon the Expiration of this third Act the Baptists were again for the Fourth time exposed to the further Trouble Cost & Charge to apply to the General Court for a renewed Exemption which at length produced a Fourth Act of the like Tenor & Import with the Act last before recited (which brings Us to the Year 1740) & this fourth Act was Enacted to be in force for the term of Seven Years, during all which time last expressed the said Assessors persisted to the great detriment of Our said Brethren in their Omissions as aforesaid this said last Act being as utterly void of any Penalty on them for their Neglect as the former, We are now coming to a more happy Epocha—namely, to the Year 1747, under the Mild & good Government of Your Excellency,—At the Expiration of this fourth & last Act which was to end in the said Year 1747, Our said brethren, many of them, being near worn out with so many Applications & repeated Struglings to Obtain a just redress of their Grievances as aforesaid, were determined to make Application to His Majesty but so it remarkably came to pass that in this very Year of 1747, the General Assembly of this Province made an Act for reviving & continuing sundry Laws expired or near expiring wherein the Act to Exempt Persons commonly called Quakers & also the Act further to Exempt Persons commonly called Anabaptists & every Clause Article & thing therein contained were Revived Continued & to remain in full force Ten Years from the Publication of this Act, Your Excellency, His Majesty's Council & the House of Representatives therein publickly, like Wise & good Legislators, declaring in so many Words that the aforesaid Laws (to Exempt the said Quakers & Baptists) have by Experience been found beneficial & necessary—This was the most Generous just & kind Treatment that the Baptists & Quakers ever experienced from the General Assembly of the Massachusetts Bay & inasmuch as it was purely the effect of their own good Will & meer motion, not being Sollicited therefor, & the Exemption extended to a longer term of Years than any of the former Acts it was still the more beneficient & failed not to penetrate the hearts of all Our People with proportionate Sentiments of Real thankfulness to the whole General Court, & in a singular manner to Your Excellency under whose Serene Administration it had its first Operation, The Baptists now & with good reason as might be supposed justly Expected after all their former Tossings Conflicts & Afflictions to have enjoyed Peace & Rest in the Land, for at least the term of Ten Years commencing as aforesaid, but these their Expectations were it seems soon cut down & Withered For so indeed it was that sometime about the beginning of the last Year 1753, Your Excellency, unhappily for Us, being then in Europe, That the Lieu^t Governour, Council & House of Representatives passed An Act which is Surprisingly Intitled 'An 'Act in Addition to an Act passed the 13^th Year of His present Majesty's Reign, 'Intitled "An Act further to Exempt Persons commonly called Anabaptists within '" this Province from being Taxed for and towards the Support of Ministers."' which runs thus—

"Whereas notwithstanding the Provision already made by An Act made & passed "in the 13^th Year of His present Majesty's Reign Intitled 'An Act further to Ex-"'empt Persons commonly called Anabaptists within this Province from being Taxed "'for & towards the Support of Ministers in Order to Ascertain & make known "'what Persons are of that Persuasion which denominates them Anabaptists, & who "'shall enjoy the Priviledges & be esteemed as Intitled to the Exemption from "'Taxes &c. in said Act mentioned, many doubts have already arisen thereon & in "'many Cases the said Exemption has been extended to many Persons to whom the "'same was never designed to Extend, For preventing thereof for the future & in "'Order to Ascertain more effectually what Persons shall be Esteemed & Accounted "'as Anabaptists & to whom the said Exemptions shall be hereafter extended Be it "'Enacted by the Lieu^t Governour, Council & House of Representatives, That no "'Person for the future shall be so Esteemed to be an Anabaptist as to have his Poll "'or Polls & Estate Exempted from paying a proportionate part of the Taxes that "'shall be raised in the Town or Place where he or they belong, but such whose "'names shall be contained in the Lists taken by the Assessors as in said Act pro-"'vided, or such as shall produce a Certificate under the hands of the Minister & of "'Two principal Members of such Church setting forth, that they Conscientiously

"'believe such Person or Persons to be of their Persuasion & that he or they Usually "' & frequently Attend the Publick Worship in such Church on LORDS Days.
"' And be it further Enacted, That no Minister nor the Members of any Anabaptist
"' Church as aforesaid shall be Esteemed qualified to give such Certificate as aforesaid,
"' other than such as shall have Obtained from three other Churches commonly called "' Annabaptists in this or the Neighbouring Provinces, a Certificate from each respect- "' ively That they esteem such Church to be One of their denomination & that they "' Conscientiously believe them to be Anabaptists, The several Certificates aforesaid
"' to be Lodged with the Town Clerk where the Anabaptists (desiring such Exemp"' tion) dwells, sometime betwixt the Raising or Granting of the Tax & the Assess"' ment of the same on the Inhabitants. This Act to continue & be in force for Five "' Years from the Publication thereof and no longer."'——This truly strange sort of
Ar. Act Your Remonstrants have herein as above transcribed at large as it stands and present the same in Open View to Your Excellency & this Hon^ble Court, with all respectful Modesty and defference craving leave to Observe That as there is no Legislative Power or Authority whatsoever Existing in this His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay but what stands Subjected & Answerable to a much higher Tribunal at Home, And Whereas there seems to be a great Probability from the continued ill Treatment which Our Ancestors & We of the Baptist Persuasion now Surviving have undergone in this Province and the same ill Spirit being at this Day in many Towns too Predominant, That Our just Complaints thereupon (unless fully redressed here) must of course be sent home; For these reasons therefore We humbly pray of Your Excellency & this Hon^ble Court that Your Memorialists may not be looked upon in a Culpable Light, When We Complain and Remonstrate with all just freedom & Openess of mind becoming Free Men, good Protestants & Loyal Subjects of His Majesty against the said Act passed by the said Lieu^t Governour Council and House of Representatives, as being contrary to the Liberty of Conscience to Us granted by the Royal Charter as aforesaid, and Repugnant to the Laws of England, and which hath as far as therein Lay Disfranchised Unchurched & Usurped an Illegal Power over all the Religious Societys of the People in the said Act called Anabaptists throughout this His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay & moreover Subjected each & every Anabaptist Church in the Province in a very unreasonable & unheard of manner to a New Sort of a Spiritual Court consisting at least of Three other Anabaptist Churches, as the Act calls them, to give each of them a Certificate respectively, & for what, why truly that an Anabaptist Church is truly an Anabaptist Church so that indeed it is necessary by this Act that Four Anabaptist Churches must be Co-operating together in this jumbled decision, for not less than three in number can be sufficient in the Eye of this Act to Certify for One other which makes the Fourth, But may it please Your Excellency & Honours where is it possible for the poor Anabaptists to find in this or the Neighbouring Provinces, or indeed in all the World the First three Authenticated Anabaptist Ministers & Churches to Certify & Authenticate the first Three—Over & above the obvious Absurdities in this Unreasonable Act the Severity thereof is remarkable in Exposing of Our said brethren to the Loss of so much time & the considerable Charge & Expence which necessarily must arise in Journeyings to and fro in this Province & the Neighbouring Provinces in pursuit of such Chimerical Certificates utterly impossible to be Obtained—Always heretofore, until such time that this Famous Act was made the People commonly called Anabaptists in all places where they reside, as well in this Province as every where else, were looked upon to be such by Professing themselves to be of that Persuasion & by their Usually & frequently Attending the Worship of GOD with the People of that denomination when Opportunity so presented, As also by their distinguishing Charracteristick of Immersing or Dipping the Person Baptised in Water—And the Assessors in every Town where such Anabaptist or Anabaptists dwells were expressly Ordered as aforesaid to take a List of all such Persons that they might be Exempted accordingly (without their being drove about, either in the Province, or Out of it, to hunt for Certificates) and of the repeated Omissions of the Assessors in doing their duty herein as the Acts directed We have as herein before Observed, often Complained, but to no Effect—For which reasons (& many others which might be Offered) the said People called Anabaptists ought not to be exposed as abovesaid to such Unreasonable Difficulties, Costs, Loss of Time & Damages which this violent Act subjects them to, And what still adds an Aggrevation hereto is the further Contemplation That His Honour the Lieu^t Governour, the Council & the House of Representatives that made this Act, Were almost all if not every One of them Dissenters themselves from the Church of England as well as the poor Anabaptists against whom this Act so sorely Militates, & which hath Effectually, tho' Covertly, Revoked Repealed & made void the Ten Years revival Of the Act made for Our relief and Exemption as aforesaid, And in Lieu thereof set up an Inquisition in this Province among His Majesty's Protestant Subjects called Anabaptists, which Our said Constituents & Your Memorialists are fully determined at all events never to Submit to, It is well known that His Majesty justly expecteth, As the Charter plainly points out & expressly declareth, That all his loving Subjects of every denomination of Protestants in this Province shall have Liberty of Conscience & be Religiously Peaceably & Civilly Governed Protected and Defended that so the Indian Natives may be won to the Christian Faith, But is this indeed Liberty of Conscience for One great Party of Protestant Dissenters of this Province commonly called Congregationalists, Violently to lay hold of a much less & more feeble Party of their fellow Dissenters in this Province commonly called Anabaptists standing upon an equal level in the Royal Act of Indulgence with the other Protestant Dissenters And forceably to Compel the said Anabaptists to pay Ministerial Rates & Taxes against their Consciences to Dissenting Ministers of quite another Denomination & on whose Ecclesiastical Administrations Our said brethren do not Attend & for such their just & reasonable refusal to pay such Ministerial Rates to be harrassed Impoverished Imprisoned & their Estates Crumbled & distrained away from them as very lately & notoriously has been the distressed Case of several of Our brethren in the County of Worcester (more especially in the Towns of Upton & Sturbridge to a surprizing degree) and are such proceedings as these the blessed Effects of being Religiously Peaceably & Civilly Governed Protected & Defended, and can a sight of such Avaritious transactions be the likely means to Win over the Indian Natives to the Christian Religion—Even Boston Goal it seems unhappily begins anew to be the Receptacle for such of the Countrey Baptists in the County of Suffolk that refuse to pay Ministerial Rates, An Ancient Man named Eleazer Adams a Substantial Freeholder of Medway & a Constant Attender for several Years past on the Baptist Meeting at Bellingham was brought away from his own House Twenty Seven Miles distance & Committed Close Prisoner in said Goal the 10th of April last, And not long before another Man named Jesse Holbrook of Bellingham a Constant Worshipper with the said Baptists was Committed to Boston Goal for the Ministers Rate of Wrentham, all Bail being refused.—Your Memorialists, May it please Your Excellency & this Honble Court, are Ordered by their said Brethren & Constituents in a serious manner to Remonstrate against this last mentioned Act of the Lieut Governour Council & House of Representatives as a Manifest Infringment upon the Natural & Religious Rights of the said People therein called Anabaptists and further to Remonstrate & Complain against all and every other Act and Acts whatsoever heretofore made in this His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay Wherein the said People called Anabaptists were Enforced or in any other shape Compelled to pay such Ministerial Rates as aforesaid Inasmuch as all such Payments are contrary to their Consciences & that all such Acts Laws & Ordinances to Force & Compel them thereto are contrary to the Liberty of Conscience to them so freely held forth in the Royal Charter & unto them Given & Granted as extensively & upon as good a footing without reserve as to any other all or either of His Majesty's Protestant Subjects of this Province whomsoever, And that therefore the said People commonly called Anabaptists in this Province are & ought to be by the said Royal Charter in all points of a Religious Nature equally as Independent & free from all Spiritual Subordination & Ghostly Subjection to any other Denomination or Denominations of Protestant Dissenters of this Province, As They or either of the said Denominations are & ought to be free & Independent in Religious matters from the People called Anabaptists, From hence your Remonstrants, with all just deference, apprehend it of course followeth, That however large or more Numerous One Denomination of Protestant Dissenters in this Province may increase in People & thereby become above another Denomination, even to be so Numerous as to gain such an Ascendant as to make up the whole Legislative Power in all its parts, Yet nevertheless such Denomination as last mentioned, derive not therefrom any Authority whereby to make any Act or Acts whatsoever to Oppress Afflict or unjustly Subordinate the less or more feeble Denominations of His Majesty's Protestant Subjects of this Province in matters of Religion & Conscience, And were it indeed the Case that such an Act or Acts as last mentioned may have heretofore been made in this Province, & Sent Home for the Royal Approbation & not Disapprobated in Three Years it Avails not the least in this Case nor is any strength force or Efficacy whatsoever thereby added to such an Act or Acts, They being contrary to the Charter as aforesaid & Repugnant to the Laws of England. And in point of Law (as Your Memorialists are informed) Such Repugnant Act or Acts never had nor can have any Existence unless the Charter were Vacated—We humbly crave Your Excellency's Clemency & this Honble Courts favourable goodness, for extending this Our Memorial & Remonstrance to such an Unusual Length made so by the long continued Oppressions productive thereof, further humbly praying that the said Act passed by the Lieut Governour Council & House of Representatives may be Repealed, And that an Act may be made & passed Totally & forever to Exempt the said People commonly called Anabaptists & every of them within this His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay from paying any Ministerial Rates Taxes or Assessments whatsoever, And that such Person or Persons professing himself or themselves to be of that Persuasion commonly called Anabaptists may be so deemed accordingly without further Harrasment or Vexation, And that all such Persons within this Province commonly called Anabaptists that have at any time within the Space of Five Years last past had their Bodies Imprisoned for Ministerial Rates, or their Estates, Goods & Chattels distrained therefor, may be honestly refunded their just Damages Such an Act as this will Manifestly display the Disposition of the Government of this Province to be Honourable Upright & Impartial, will Silence the Crys of the Oppressed, will put a stop to such Grievances as in default thereof will necessarily be laid before His Majesty, Will be a further means of increasing the Strength of this Province by bringing in Inhabitants from Abroad and keeping others already here from Moving out, and will with all becoming thankfulness be received by the said People commonly called Anabaptists, among which Number are included Your Memorialists & Remonstrants as aforesaid Who as in Duty bound will ever pray &cr.—

"To His Excellency William Shirley, Esqr, Captn General & Governr in Chief, in & over His Majestys Province of the Massachusts Bay in N Engld & to ye Honble his Majestys Council And the Honourable house of representatives in General Court Assembled at Boston the 23d day of Octobr A.D. 1754—

The Memorial & Petition of John Procter, Agent, in behalf of several Societys of the People called Baptists, Inhabitants within the said Province—

Humbly Sheweth

That on the 29th day of May Last A Memorial & remonstrance, drawn by Order of the said People, & Signed by a Committee appointed for that Purpose, was humbly presented, in order to be laid before Your Excellency, the Council & house of Representatives, but, so indeed it eventually Occurred, that the sd Memorial was not sent down to the Honble House of Representatives, but was read & Passed upon in Council, as followeth—

Vizt, 'Province of the Massachusetts Bay, On the Petition of Thomas Green Thomas Boucher, Ebenezer Moulton, Ephraim Bosworth, Joseph Collins, Philip Freeman, Joseph Gould, Thomas Cheney, & John Procter.—

In Council June 5th 1754 Read and Forasmuch as this Petition contains several indecent reflections on the Laws & Legislature of this Province therefore Ordered that it be dismissed'—

The sentiments of the Honble Council & their result consequent thereupon, have given rise to this present Exposition of the true Intentions of the said People called Baptists, as contained in their Memorial and remonstrance abovesd—And Your Petitir, in his said Capacity, is directed by his Constituents, with the greatest deference, humbly to Suggest and Assure Your Excellency & Honours, that nothing in the World could be more Averse & forreign, to the Real Intention of the said People, & their Committee, than to Offer the least Indignity or indecent reflections on the just Laws & Legislature of this Province, And that in truth, there was no perversness of Heart, nor malevolence of Will, operating in any wise whatsoever against the Government, Your Memorialist therefore humbly Supplicates that the Former sentiments of the Honble Council, to dismiss the said Petition may Subside, And that Your Excellency & this Honourable Court would be pleased, that the Memorial & remonstrance aforesaid may be revived, and the Subject matter therein complained of, committed to the Mature Consideration of the whole Court, for the reasons therein mentioned—

And Your Petitioner as in duty bound will ever pray &cr

Chap. 22. "March 23. 1758. The Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the two Houses vizt

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives.

I perceive that an Opinion prevails abroad, and perhaps it is too well grounded; that in some former Expeditions Sums of money have been given to some of the Colonels for their Recommendations to Commissions in their Regiments. I have an Abhorrence of such practices, & unless some care is taken to prevent them for the future I am afraid of very bad consequences. The only Rule of my Conduct in appointing Officers is the Fitness of Men for the Service and for their Characters I must depend on other People, as I have not a personal Knowledge of a sufficient number. But if these Characters can be purchased with money what a Situation are we in, I recommend this Affair to your speedy & serious Consideration.

"Mar. 28, 1758. His Excellency the Governour having laid before the Council a Letter from General Abercrombie of the 22d instant, desiring 'that the Governour would take the proper measures that all such Provisions as the Army under his Command may want should be impressed,secured and delivered to the Contractors or their Agents, they paying a reasonable price for the same—And that the Governour would appoint proper Persons to settle and fix an equal price between the Owners & Contractors'—Upon which his Excellency desired the Advice of Council.

The Council having maturely Considered the Proposal beg leave briefly to represent the plain state of the Case, that the reasons may appear upon which they found their Advice—

It is notorious that this Province doth not raise Provisions enough of some kinds for the Consumption of its Inhabitants, and for the Victualling their Merchant Vessels and Fishermen. The Pork raised within the Government is insufficient for both these purposes; and the Grain by no means sufficient for the Use of the Inhabitants only; As for Wheat there is none at all raised for a Market, even the most Substantial Farmers themselves buy more of it for their own Consumption in the trading Towns where it is imported, than they raise on their Farms. It is true We raise more Beef than We consume, and quantities have been Salted up for the West Indies before the Settlement of Nova Scotia, since that Settlement, and more especially since the Commencement of the War, the greater part of the Surplusage of Our Beef, together with the Surplusage of Our Mutton &c. is sent thither alive, or fresh killed, for the Supply of the Kings Ships & Troops, and for the Use of the Inhabitants of that infant Settlement; At this time We import more Salt Beef from the Southern Colonies than We export to the West Indies. Under these Circumstances an Embargo on the Shipping of this Province is all that appears to be requisite. An Embargo is laid and no Provisions can be exported without permission from the Governour with Advice of Council No permissions are granted to export Provisions except it be to Nova Scotia; By this means if there be any Surplus of Provisions, after Our wants, and the wants of Nova Scotia are supplied, the Owners will be glad to let the Contractors have it; But it must be not only very distressing to the Inhabitants of this Province but of great prejudice to his Majesty's service at Nova Scotia to impress the Provisions that may be in the Province, and can be of no service but to the Contractor. The Distress will be heightned if an Embargo and Impress should take place in the Southern Governments so as to prevent our receiving the usual Supplies of Provisions from thence; An Embargo and Impress of Provisions in a Countrey that raises them will keep them within that Countrey; And an Embargo and Impress of Provisions in a Countrey that is supported by importing them, must keep them out of it—and in such a concurrence of Circumstances it would be impossible to say what would be a reasonable price here; for such a Scarcity would probably ensue as would make any Price how high soever, not unreasonable. No extravagant Price has as yet been demanded that we know of, and it does not appear that the Contractor is apprehensive of wanting Provisions, as his Agent has declared to the Governour in Council that he has received no Orders from him to purchase any extraordinary Quantity since the Accounts have Arrived of an Additional Number of Troops coming to America and that his Principal has large Magazines of Provisions at the Southward out of which he saith he expects he will Supply him—Under these Circumstances such a distressing measure as an Impress would be, appears needless. But it rather appears that the Generals Letter is a circular Letter, primarily Calculated for the Governments Southward of New York & for Connecticut, which are Provision Colonies, for He adds in the close of his Letter 'That the Embargo on all Vessels within the Ports of your Government may possibly prevent them from coming to New York with Provisions for the Army'—Now it is well known that no Provisions are ever exported from this Government to New York, Fish only excepted—which is a Species of Provisions not commonly made Use of for Victualling the Kings Troops.—

The Council cannot therefore Advise his Excellency to issue Warrants to impress any kinds of Provisions within this Province; but are of Opinion and accordingly Advise that his Excellency do represent to the Kings General that if the Embargo in the Southern Governments should extend to Vessels bound hither with Provisions it must bring great distress upon the Inhabitants of this Province and must be very prejudicial to his Majesty's Service, by putting a stop to the supply of the Market at Halifax."—Ibid.

"Mar. 29, 1758. Advised & Consented that his Excellency give a Permit to the Snow Musketo Matthew Pennel Master, to proceed to the West Indies, She being Laden before the Embargo took place."—Ibid., p. 367.

"Apr. 1, 1758. Advised that his Excellency grant Permissions to all Vessells coming hither with Provisions from the Southern Colonies, to return to their respective Ports, the general Embargo notwithstanding."—Ibid., p. 369.

"Apr. 1, 1758. Advised & Consented that his Excellency give a Permit to the Sloop Speedwell, Nicholas Hussey Master to proceed to Halifax with Provisions for his Majesty's Navy—

Advised & Consented that his Excellency give a Permit to the Sloop Success, Jonathan Hall Master, to proceed to Connecticut having landed a Cargo of Provisions here—

Advised & Consented that his Excellency give a Permit to the Schooner Mayflower, Mark Haskell Master, to proceed to Halifax with Provisions for his Majesty's Forces."—Ibid., p. 370.

"Apr. 1, 1758. His Excellency having been pleased to Communicate to the Board the Petition of Epes Sargent, William Stevens and Thomas Sanders for themselves & the other Inhabitants of Glocester concerned in the Fishery, Praying that the Fishing Vessels may be Allowed to proceed on their Voyage the Embargo notwithstanding, and his Excellency having desired the Opinion & Advice of the Board upon the Subject matter of said Petition and that they would give the reasons upon which such Advice shall be founded. The Board accordingly proceeded to take said Petition into Consideration and they beg leave to Observe to your Excellency, That one great End which the Court had in view from an Embargo was the restraining in Port a sufficient Number of Vessels to serve as Transports for such part of the Forces as it should be judged proper to send to the Eastward, That it now appears that the Contractor for the Transports does not think proper to take into the service any Vessels of so small burthen as those employed in the Fishery and that therefore there is no Necessity of retaining such Vessels for that purpose.

That two other principal Ends proposed by the Embargo were the preventing any Supplies of Provisions falling into the Enemies hands and the preventing Intelligence of the Measures proposed.

That inasmuch as the other Governments have not restrained their Vessels in general from Sailing it will be of no great Importance to either of the two last mentioned purposes for this Government alone to continue this restraint, especially as it is to be hoped his Majesty's Ships are now Cruizing off Louisbourg and will be able to prevent any Supplies or Intelligence being carried thither

That the only Advantage that can be proposed by any further restraint is the keeping a Number of Men within the Province for the proposed Expedition.

That inasmuch as Money as well as Men is necessary for carrying on the War the disadvantage which will Arise from the entire loss of the Fishing Voyages may probably be more than equal to the Advantage of restraining the Men who must otherwise be employed in those Voyages and must moreover make the burden of Publick Charges fall very unequally upon this particular part of the Government.

Upon these Considerations the Board are humbly of Opinion and do accordingly Advise that your Excellency grant Permission to such Fishing Vessels to proceed on their Voyages as are now in Port and shall depart before the Sixth day of this Month of April, provided that no Vessel under Forty five Tuns carry more than four hands that are above Sixteen years of Age, and no Vessel above Fifty Tuns more than five hands above Sixteen years of Age, and all Persons to be deemed exempt from the Penalties of the Act, by force of this Permission no further than they Comply with the Conditions aforesaid."—Ibid.

"Apr. 8, 1758. Advised that his Excellency permit all such Vessels employed in the Cod Fishery as are now in Port to pursue their Voyages, provided they depart with the first fair Wind; provided also that no Vessel under Forty five Tuns carry more than four hands that are above Sixteen years of Age and that no Vessel of Fifty Tuns carry more than five hands above the Age aforesaid, But that no Person be deemed exempt from the Penalties of the Act laying an Embargo on the Shipping of this Province any further than they Comply with the Conditions aforesaid.

Inasmuch as the Inhabitants of Nantucket most of whom are Quakers are by Law exempted from Impresses for Military Services & their livelihood intirely depends upon the Whale Fishery Advised that his Excellency give Permission for all Whaling Vessels belonging to said Island to pursue their Voyages taking only the Inhabitants of said Island in said Vessels & that upon their taking any other Persons whatsoever with them, they be Subject to all the Penalties of the Law in like manner as if they had proceeded without leave."—Ibid., p. 373.

"Apr. 10, 1758. Advised that his Excellency give Permission for all Sloops and Schooners going to Nova Scotia with Provisions to pursue their Voyages provided that no Vessel under Sixty Tuns carry more than five Men; and no other Sloops or Schooners more than Six Men provided also that Bond be given that such Vessels shall return directly back to the Province, and upon their return to produce a Certificate of having landed their Cargos in Nova Scotia, said Bond to be in all other respects conformable to the Provision made by the late Act of Parliament, to prevent the Enemies being supplied with Provisions."—Ibid., p. 376.

Advised & Consented that his Excellency give a Permit to the Schooner Three Friends, John Stacey Master to proceed to Gibraltar."—Ibid., p. 397.

"May 9, 1758. Advised & Consented that his Excellency grant Permits to the following Vessels to proceed on their Voyages, upon the Owners making Oath that two thirds of their Cargoes were of a Perishable Nature, & Ship't before the Embargo took place—Viz^{t}

"March 24, 1758. The Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the two Houses. viz[t]

Gentlemen of the Council & House of Representatives.

I have this day received an Account from his Majesty's General, that the Service requires, He should march a Body of his Majesty's Troops thro' this Province, and that they may soon be expected herein.

It will be necessary that they be admitted to such Quarters as the nature and circumstances of the Country will admit of. On the one hand it being necessary that the Troops be quartered; on the other the Act of quartering them being a Suspension of the Bill of Rights; I am sensible of the difficulties that must attend your deliberations. Under these difficulties, I recommend to You the Rule which the Mother Country observes on such occasions; and that while You follow her Example in a most consciencious Attachment to the Civil Rights; You also follow her Example in making such Provision in this Case, as becomes necessary for the Service, considering the different form and circumstances under which this Country lies.

T. POWNALL.

In the House of Representatives Ordered That M[r] Foster Col[o] White and Judge Russell with such as the honourable Board shall join be a Committee to take his Excellency's Message to both Houses of this Afternoon into consideration & report what they judge proper to be done thereon. In Council Read and Concurred, and M[r] Hutchinson & Col[o] Brattle are joined in the Affair."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 299.

"Sept. 8, 1758. His Excellency laid before the Council a Petition of the Selectmen of the Town of Boston setting forth that a number of his Majesty's Regular Forces were daily expected to arrive in the Town of Boston from Louisbourg, that they apprehend on their Arrival they will apply for suitable Quarters; That the Law providing for the Reception and Accommodation of his Majesty's Forces within this Province being expired they have no Authority to provide Quarters for them; Therefore praying Directions herein: His Excellency desired the Advice of the Board on this matter who taking the same into Consideration; Thereupon—

Advised his Excellency to issue his Proclamation recommending it to all Persons to Submit and conform to the several regulations in the said mentioned Act, until the next Sitting of the General Court, the draft of which Proclamation being prepared was read—

And further Advised that his Excellency issue the same accordingly."—Executive Records of the Council, vol. 3, p. 425.

A Proclamation.

Whereas the Standing Law of the Province relative to the Quartering and Billeting Souldiers within this Province does not extend to the Cases that may arise and have arisen of Marching the Kings Regular Troops into and through the Province and Whereas Laws have been enacted to provide for those Cases, 'Namely An Act making provision for the Quartering and Billeting recruiting Officers & Recruits in his Majesty's Regular Forces employed for the Protection and Defence of his Majesty's Dominions in North America.' And 'An Act providing for the Reception and Accomodation of his Majesty's Forces within this Province' And Whereas the later Act Which was extended only to the Term of three months which Act by reason of their being no Expectation at the last Sessions of Troops coming into the Province before the General Court mett again was not continued; But as now it is expected that some Regiments of his Majestys Regular Forces will be marched into and through this Province in their way to Albany. And Whereas Application has been made to me in behalf of the Inhabitants of the Town of Boston for directions herein.

I do therefore by and with Advice of his Majesty's Council Issue this Proclamation Recommending it to the Inhabitants of said Town of Boston, and to all other his Majestys good Subjects within the Province to submit and conform to the several Regulations in said last mentioned Act, when and so often as it shall be found necessary for Troops to be marched through and to be Quartered in any Towns within this Province until the next sitting of the General Court.

Chap. 30. The unsuccessful movements of Abercrombie and Loudoun, in command of forces greatly superior in numbers to those previously employed by the provincial authorities, awakened the home government to a more just conception of the magnitude of the efforts which the colonies had been making to prevent the encroachments of the French upon a line of territory extending from Cape Breton to the Ohio; and the activity of the French government in supporting its forces in America impressed the ministry with the importance of holding and enlarging the British possessions on this continent.

From May 17, 1756, when war was declared against France, hostilities began to be conducted on a larger scale; but it was not until after a change of ministry that the plan of operations was fully adopted which led to a successful issue under Gen. Amherst. In the mean time, the colonists were disheartened by the injudicious and vacillating management of the British officers who were entrusted with the direction of military affairs before Amherst took command, as well as by their arrogant assumption of authority in the decision of all disputable matters.

Notwithstanding these discouragements and the discomfiture of the army consequent upon a departure from the plan of operations which the provincial authorities had advised, the Legislature of Massachusetts had responded to every call made upon the province for men, money and accommodations of various kinds, with only such delay and objection as were necessary to prevent the establishment of precedents believed to be inimical to the liberties and privileges which they claimed under their charter and the common law.

The forts at Oswego had surrendered to the French in August 1756, and, a year later, Loudoun, having withdrawn his forces from New York to join Admiral Holbourn in an abortive demonstration against Louisbourg, left Fort William Henry comparatively defenceless against the French forces that could be concentrated against it before his return, since the charge of supporting its brave but insufficient garrison was entrusted to Major Gen. Webb who proved timid and entirely incompetent. The French, improving this opportunity, compelled the surrender of the fort, by capitulation, August 9, 1757, causing a general apprehension throughout the province that the victors would, after investing or capturing Fort Edward, continue their advance into the province from the west, where it was least prepared to repel such an invasion. This alarm led to the calling out of the militia, and to measures for forming a train of artillery for immediate service—both attended with great expense, for which the Legislature was obliged to make provision.

In the earlier movements under Braddock and Loudoun the colonies not only bore all the expenses of the forces raised by them, but likewise supplied the regular forces with provisions. The injustice of this twofold burden was so apparent that it was agreed under Loudoun that contractors should be appointed to supply the regular troops with provisions, and still later, assurances were given by Mr. Secretary Fox that stores and provisions of all kinds for the whole army employed in the campaign of 1756 should be provided at the sole expense of the crown. Early in 1757 (see vol. III., p. 1081, note,) Mr. Pitt, who was virtually premier in the short administration of the Duke of Devonshire, distinctly announced "that the raising of the men, their pay, arms and clothing" would be all that would be required of the several provinces.

The new administration under the lead of the Duke of Newcastle and Mr. Pitt, which was formed in June 1757, adopted a still more liberal policy towards the colonies. Mr. Pitt, in his letter which is hereinafter given in full, not only promised to furnish arms, ammunition, provisions, transportation and a train of artillery for 20,000 men to be raised in the colonies, but also that strong recommendations would be made to the next parliament to grant the necessary appropriation for reimbursing the expense of levying and paying the provincial forces and furnishing them with clothing,—the only burden to which the colonies were to be subjected. These liberal promises were coupled with the assurance that the most vigorous and extensive efforts should be made by the Crown to coöperate with the provincial forces in the reduction of Canada as the surest means of averting the dangers threatened by the French on the colonial frontiers, and that the provincial troops should be raised and commanded by officers of the respective provinces who, as high as colonels, inclusive, were to rank according to their commissions, which were to be issued by the provincial governors.

Nothing more satisfactory could have been proposed to Massachusetts, which promptly voted to raise its contingent of 7000 men, in addition to nearly 3000 already in the service.

The letter above mentioned was communicated to the House, who waited upon the Governor for that purpose in response to a special message. No record of this message or of the interview in the council chamber appears in the journals of the House, but, on the same day, this chapter was passed to be enacted and signed by the Governor.

"March 2, 1758. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with a Message from his Excellency the Governor acquainting them that his Excellency was then in the Chair, and that he directed the Attendance of the House in the Council Chamber.

Mr Speaker and the House being come up, his Excellency was pleased to make a Speech to the two Houses, & having delivered a Copy of it to the Speaker, He with the House returned to their own Chamber.

His Excellency's Speech is as follows.

Gentlemen of the Council & House of Representatives.

The Season is now advancing fast in which the Interests and perhaps the Being of these Colonies are to be contended for by Arms; The Events of these Operations are in the hands of Providence; The means are in our own hands; As therefore We in earnest value the Blessings of our Property & Religion enjoyed in Liberty, we must in earnest steddily & vigorously exert these Means.

While We English have been busied in Works of Peace and Industry, in settling and planting this Country; the Enemy the French have been as industriously employed in Works of War, in taking possession of it; It is not therefore enough that we have settled and planted this Country—We must possess it, or we shall be found to have settled and Planted it for the French.

His Majesty whose gracious Protection is, under Heaven, our best Security, is pleased to send over here to assist Us in this Work of Possessing our Country, a very great and Powerfull Body of Forces both by Sea and Land requiring only of Us, that we should aid and assist this Service with our Provincial Troops; Let us therefore in Gratitude and Obedience to his Majesty, in Gratitude and affection to our Mother Country, in duty to ourselves and the good People of the Land engage and cooperate in this Service, not grudgingly as though forced to it, but as in our own cause with all our Spirit and Abilities; not waiting to see what Others will do, and measuring our Service by Quotas, but by the importance of the Objects, and what we ought to do.

The Enemy by our unfortunate Situation is at our very Doors, at the Head of all our Waters, ready to come down upon Us. 'Tis therefore absolutely necessary that there be kept up a constant and vigilant defence upon our Frontiers; I can add nothing on that Subject to what I recommended to you last Sessions. When I shall know how his Majesty's Regular Troops are disposed of, I shall be able to judge what more particular measures may be necessary for Me to take within my own Command of this Province.

During the Recess of the General Court in obedience to his Majesty's Instructions,

I met his Excellency the Earl of Loudoun at Hertford on February the twenty-fourth; his Lordship was pleased to acquaint me what Aid of Soldiers he must require of this Province, and further which I cannot but hope will be a great encouragement to our People, to express his Intention of employing their Service to the Eastward; the particulars I shall direct the Secretary to lay before You.

* * * * * *

It seems that the Legislatures of the several Provinces and Colonies of this Northern Part of America wait to give Us the Lead, and Look to Us for an Example. Perhaps it were better as it would save delay if every Assembly had met at one time, and no one waited to make precedents of the other; However exhausted as this Province is, by always standing foremost in his Majesty's Service; We shall not, I trust, be the first to desert the honour of his Majesty's Arms, and the just cause of our Country; But that we shall still be an Example of Vigor and Dispatch.

T Pownall.

The Secretary then by order of the Governor laid before the two Houses the Earl of Loudouns Requisition of an Aid of Soldiers for his Majesty's Service as referr'd to in his Excellency's Speech.—Mr Agent Bollan's Letter of 1 October with the Papers accompanying the same were also read in both Houses." —*Council Records, vol. "March 13, 1758. In the House of Representatives. Voted that seven thousand Men, inclusive of Officers be raised on the Part of this Government by Inlistment for the intended Expedition against Canada to be formed into Regiments and Officered by such of the Inhabitants of this Province as his Excellency the Captain General shall be pleased to appoint; The said Men to be continued in the Service for a time not exceeding the first day of November next, and to be dismissed as much sooner as his Majesty's Service will admit. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 264.

"March 14, 1758. In the House of Representatives Ordered That Mr Prat, Colo Choate, Colo White, Colo Ruggles, Mr Tyng, Mr Paine, Mr Witt, and Mr Bradbury with such as the honourable Board shall join be a Committee to consider what is proper to be further done, in relation to the Expedition now under consideration of this Court, and report. Read and Concurred and Sr William Pepperrell, John Osborne, Jacob Wendell, John Cushing, Silvanus Bourn, Thomas Hutchinson and William Brattle Esqrs are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 265.

"March 15, 1758. The Committee of both Houses appointed the 14 Instant to consider what is proper to be further done in relation to the Expedition now under consideration,—reported the following Message to the Governor.

May it please your Excellency.

It has been the Practice of this Government to allow Subsistence as well as Pay to their Forces from the time of their Inlistment, and the two Houses are of opinion that it will be a discouragement to the People if they should not on this occasion be allowed in the same manner. The Sum engaged last year by the General of his Majesty's Forces for Subsistance being only two shillings Sterling ℔ week proved insufficient; It is therefore the desire of both Houses that Your Excellency would be pleased to write to General Abercromby and to endeavour to procure for the Forces now proposed to be raised the same Sum for their daily Subsistance as is allowed by his Majesty to the Contractor for victualling the Army, the Allowance to commence at the same time with their Pay and to continue until they receive the Kings Provisions at the place of Rendezvous. This Point being made certain will tend to facilitate raising the Men.

The two Houses beg leave further to observe to your Excellency, that as many of the Inhabitants of this Province—especially those in the Eastern Parts of it are well acquainted with Louisbourgh, and there are many who served there when that place was formerly reduced, it seems therefore that it would tend to promote his Majesty's Service if some of the Regiments from this Province should be employed in that part of the Service of the present year, and your Excellency is likewise desired to propose this to the General of his Majesty's Forces accordingly. In Council. Read and Accepted. And Ordered That Benjamin Lynde Esq with Such as the honourable House shall join be a Committee to present the foregoing Message to his Excellency the Governor.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Concurred, and Judge Russell and Mr Flucker are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 267.

"March 17, 1758. The Committee appointed by both Houses to consider what is proper to be further done in relation to the Expedition now under consideration made report, which with the Amendments afterwards made thereon by the two Houses is as follows viz[t]

That each able bodied effective Man who shall voluntarily inlist himself into the intended Expedition against Canada before the fifteenth day of April next shall be intitled to Thirty shillings, and upon his passing Muster shall receive a good Blanket and fifty shillings more for furnishing himself with Cloaths. Also That the following Establishment be made for Officers and Soldiers that may be employed in said Expedition viz[t]

That the Wages of a Colonel to each Regiment consisting of 1000 Men be . . . . . £20 ℔ month

For one Lieut[t] Colonel for such Regiment . . . . . £16 13 4 ditto

For one Major to ditto	13	6	8	ditto

For each Drummer	1	18	7	℔ month
For each Private Centinel	1	16		℔ ditto

And that there be allowed for inlisting the several Soldiers for said Expedition two shillings each to be paid to the Persons who shall inlist the same.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Ordered That this Report be accepted. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 274.

"March 18, 1758. In the House of Representatives Voted That in addition to other Encouragements granted by this Court; That to every Non Commission Officer and private Soldier, that shall voluntarily inlist themselves into his Majesty's Service for the present intended Expedition against Canada, and shall actually proceed thereon, there be paid to every such person on his Return, or to his Executors or Administrators in case they die in the Service the Sum of Ten Pounds, in case the said Government of Canada shall by said Expedition be reduced to a Subjection to his Majesty's Arms. Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 276.

"March 22, 1758. In the House of Representatives. Whereas it appears to be his Majesty's Pleasure that the Forces now proposed to be raised shall be victualled at the charge of the Crown from the time of their engaging in the Service; but no express direction is given in what manner they shall be furnished untill their Arrival at the Place of rendezvous; and it being necessary in order to encourage such Inlistment that such Subsistence should be advanced untill Orders can be received from the General of his Majesty's Forces. Therefore Voted That each Soldier who shall inlist into the Service on the proposed Expedition against Canada and shall pass Muster, shall be intitled to six pence sterl[g] ℔ day for Subsistence from the time of his Inlistment, till he arrive at such Place where he shall receive the Kings Allowance. "By his Excellency Thomas Pownall Esq Captain General and Governor in Cheif in and over his Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England and Vice Admiral of the Same.

A Proclamation.

His Majesty feeling for the Miseries that His People of these his Dominions daily suffer from the Ravages and Massacres of a perfidious and a Savage Enemy, and sensible of the very dangerous and Urgent Crisis to which this Country is reduced, has determined to make a General Invasion on Canada; and to carry War into the Heart of the Enemy's Country: And now calls upon his faithful and brave Subjects of New England to join and cooperate with that Body of his Forces which He hath been pleased to destine for that Service. And in a just grounded Expectation that the best Gentlemen and Freeholders will engage in the Service at this Good Time

His Majesty is graciously pleased to grant to the Officers of his American Forces a Rank & Command equal to the Officers of his British Forces, except that the Officers of the Mother Country are in their respective Ranks to be considered as Seniors to those of the Provinces.

His Majesty is further pleased to give to the Forces, Arms, Ammunition, Tents, and Provisions, and to such who shall take with them good and sufficient Arms of their own an Allowance for the same, the Loss or damage of which his General will make good.—

And Whereas this his Majesty's dutiful and loyal Province in full confidence of his wise Measures, and in Obedience to his Royal Commands have unanimously Resolved to raise a sufficient number of Men, and for the Encouragement to the People to inlist have engaged a Bounty of thirty shillings unto each able bodied effective Man who shall voluntarily inlist in the Service before the fifteenth day of April next to be paid at the time of his Inlistment, and a good Blanket, and fifty shillings more for furnishing himself with Cloaths to be paid and delivered upon his passing Muster, and have as a further Encouragement to every Non Commission Officer and Private Soldier that shall voluntarily inlist in the Service aforesaid and actually proceed in it promised the Sum of Ten Pounds, to be paid to every such person on his Return; or to his Executors or Administrators in case he die in the Service, provided the Government of Canada shall by the proposed Expedition be reduced to a Subjection to his Majesty's Arms, and have likewise made an Establishment for the Wages of each Private Centinel at the rate of thirty six shillings ℔ month. And the General Court have further made Provision for advancing to each Private Man, From the Time of His Enlistment Six Pence Sterling ℔ day for his Subsistance till He shall arrive at such Place where He receives the Kings Provisions.

I do therefore hereby promise in his Majesty's Name, and in behalf of his Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay that there shall be a full compliance with the aforementioned Articles.

And Whereas many Persons in his Majesty's Service and in the Pay of this Government have deserted from said Service, and have yet suffered no other Penalties than the Forfeiture of their Wages.

I do hereby engage that upon their Inlisting on this Occasion they shall receive a full Pardon and be exempt from all the Penalties to which they will otherwise be still exposed. And I do hereby call upon all Persons in Authority and all Officers Civil and Military that they use their Utmost Influence to Encourage and Promote this Service so Essential to the Liberties and Being of this Country.

"Whitehall Decr 30. 1757.—

Sir, His Majesty having nothing more at Heart, than to repair the Losses, and Disappointments, of the last inactive & Unhappy Campaign; And, by the most vigorous & extensive Efforts, to avert, by the Blessing of God on His Arms, the Dangers impending on North America; and not doubting, but all his Faithfull and Brave Subjects there will chearfully cooperate with and Second, to the Utmost, the large Expence, and extraordinary Succours, supplied by this Kingdom for their Preservation and Defence; And His Majesty considering that the several Provinces, in particular, from Proximity and Accessibility of Situation, more immediately obnoxious to the Irruptions of the Enemy from Canada, are of Themselves, well able to furnish at least Twenty Thousand Men, to join a Body of The King's Forces for invading Canada, by the Way of Crown Point, and carrying War into the Heart of the Enemy's Possessions;—And His Majesty not judging it expedient to limit the Zeal and Ardor of any of His Provinces, by making a Repartition of the Force to be raised by Each respectively, for this most important Service; I am Commanded to signify to You the King's Pleasure, that You do forthwith use your Utmost Endeavours & Influence, with the Council and Assembly of Your Province, to induce Them to raise, with all possible Dispatch, as large a Body of Men, within Your Government as the Number of its Inhabitants may allow; and forming the same into Regiments, as far as shall be formed * Convenient, That You do direct Them to hold Themselves in Readiness, as early as may be, to march to the Rendezvous at Albany, or such other Place, as His Majesty's Commander in Cheif in America, shall appoint, in order to proceed, from thence, in Conjunction with a Body of The King's British Forces, and under the Supreme Command of His Majesty's said Commander in Cheif in America, so as to be in a Situation to begin the Operations of the Campaign, by the First of May, if possible, or as soon after as shall be any way practicable, by attempting to make an Irruption into Canada, as above, by the Way of Crown Point, and, if found practicable, to attack either Montreal, or Quebec, or Both of the said places, successively, with the whole Force in one Body, or at one and the same time, by a Division of the Troops, into seperate and distinct Operations, according as His Majesty's said Commander in Cheif, shall, from his Knowledge of the Countries, thro' which the War is to be carried, and from emergent Circumstances not to be known here, judge any of the said Attempts to be practicable.

* * * * * *

And the better to facilitate this important Service, The King is pleased to leave it to You to issue Commissions to such Gentlemen of Your Province, as You shall judge, from their Weight and Credit with the People, and their Zeal for the Public Service, may be best disposed and enabled to quicken and effectuate the speedy Levying of the greatest Number of Men; In the Disposition of which Commissions,

* Sic.

I am persuaded, You will have nothing in View but the Good of the King's Service, and a due Subordination of the whole, when joined, to His Majesty's Commander in Cheif.—And all Officers of the Provincial Forces, as high as Colonels inclusive, are to have Rank; according to their several respective Commissions, in like Manner as is already given, by His Majesty's Regulations, to the Captains of Provincial Troops in America

The King is further pleased to furnish all the Men, so raised as above, with Arms, Ammunition, and Tents, as well as to order Provisions to be issued to the same, by his Majesty's Commissaries, in the same Proportion and Manner, as is done to the rest of The King's Forces;—A sufficient Train of Artillery will also be provided, at His Majesty's Expence; for the Operations of the Campaign; and the Ship, that conveys this, Carries Orders for the timely providing, at the King's Charge, with the utmost Diligence and in an ample Manner, Boats, and Vessells, necessary for the Transportation of the Army on this Expedition.—The whole, therefore, that His Majesty expects and requires from the several Provinces, is, the Levying, Cloathing, and Pay of the Men. And on these Heads also that no Encouragement may be wanting to this great and salutary Attempt, The Kings* is farther Most Graciously pleased to permit me to Acquaint You, that strong Recommendations will be made to Parliament in their Session next Year, to grant a proper Compensation for such Expences as above, According as the active Vigour & strenuous Efforts of the respective Provinces shall justly appear to merit.

Although several thousand Stands of Arms will be forthwith sent from England, to be distributed to the Troops now directed to be raised, in the Northern & Southern Provinces Yet, as it is hoped, that the numbers of Men, levyed in all Parts of America may greatly exceed the Quantity of Arms, that can at present be supplied from England; It is His Majesty's Pleasure, that You do, with particular Diligence, immediately collect, and put into the best Condition, all the serviceable Arms, that can be found within your Government, in order that the same may be employed, as far as they will go in this Exigency.

I am further to inform You, that Similar Orders are sent by this Conveyance, to New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, and New Jersey,—The Southern Governments are also directed to raise Men in the same Manner to be employed in such Offensive Operations, as the Circumstances & Situation of the Enemy's Posts, in those Parts, may point out; which it is hoped, will oblige them so to divide their Attention, & Forces, as will render the several Attempts more easy and Successfull.

It is unnecessary to add any thing to animate your Zeal, in the Execution of His Majesty's Orders on this great Occasion, where the Safety and Preservation of America & of your own Province in particular, are at Stake; and the King doubts not, from your known Fidelity and Attachment, that You will employ yourself with the Utmost Application & Dispatch, in this Urgent and dangerous Crisis:—Altho', the Knowledge of an Intention to invade Canada is apprehended to be not only unattended with any Inconvenience, but necessary to be propagated in the Provinces, in order to give Success to the Levies, Yet as Secrecy in all Enterprizes on particular Places is of the greatest Importance, The King is persuaded, that You will use all proper Discretion in communicating, by Name, any of the immediate Objects before pointed out, further than to such Persons, to whom it may be necessary; for the Good of the Service, confidentially to entrust the same.—I am Sir

Your most obedient humble Servt W. PITT."—"Letters," vol. 2, p. 206, in Secretary's Office.

"By his Excellency Thomas Pownall Esq Captain General & Governor in Cheif in and over his Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England and Vice Admiral of the Same.

A Proclamation.

Having on the 23d day of March last issued my Proclamation for encouraging the Inlistment of Seven thousand Men into his Majestys Service for a general Invasion of Canada—therein setting forth—That this Government had promised unto each able bodied effective Man who should voluntarily inlist into said Service before the 15th day April Instant and pass Muster a Bounty of Four Pounds and a good Blanket. And to every Non Comission Officer & Private Soldier that should voluntarily inlist in the Service aforesaid & actually proceed in it, the Sum of Ten Pounds to be paid to every such Person on his return, or to his Executors or Administrators in case he die in the Service provided the Government of Canada shall by the proposed Expedition be reduced to a Subjection to his Majesty's Arms; And had likewise made an Establishment for the Wages of each Private Centinel at the rate of thirty six shillings ℔ month; and had further made provision for advancing to each Private Man from the time of his Inlistment six pence Sterling ℔ day for his Subsistence till he shall arrive at such Place where he receives the Kings Provisions.—

And Whereas the Great and General Court in order to compleat the Levy of said Men have lengthened out the time for their Inlistment upon the same Bounty till the second day of May next.—I do hereby promise in behalf of this his Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay that there shall be a full compliance with such Engagement. And that all such Persons who shall inlist as aforesaid shall be further intitled to all other Priviledges and Advantages set forth in the forementioned Proclamation—Provided said Men shall inlist at or before four of the Clock in the Afternoon of the said second day of May; after which time all such able bodied men as are fit for the Service, and who are not by Law exempted, will be liable to an Impress in consequence of the same Order of the Great and General Court and will not be intitled to the Bounty or Privileges engaged to Such as shall voluntarily inlist before.

We the Subscribers who your Excellcy has been pleased to appoint Officers to go in the Intended Expedition Against Canada Beg leave humbly to represent That we Esteem it Absolutely necessary it be made certain before the Troops march that they be furnished with camp furniture particularly Kettles & Haversacks.—

Also to encourage good Surgeons to Undertake in the Service that the Establishment for their pay may be Enlarged & each Regiment have at least two Surgeons Mates we find that Gentlemen of Character are unwilling to engage upon the present establishment

Upon the Strictest enquiry we find the provincial Troops may not depend upon the Kings Armorers for the repair of their Arms we beg that each Regiment be provided with an Armorer & one assistant at least.

In order to engage Gentlemen of the best Character to Undertake as Chaplains it Appears Necessary the establishment for them be Enlarged.

We desire your Excellcys particular care that Ineffective persons may not be Suffered to go in the Army (persons) for Men we cannot call Numbers that have Enlisted & Mustered.

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives

I desire to recommend to your consideration this Memorial of the Officers of the Regiments to be raised for invading Canada, When our Fellow Country-men turn out so cheerfully in the Service of their Country, We should not measure our Bounty to them by a scrupulous Reasoning upon strict Right—but by a Generosity that may render that the Service as comfortable to them as the nature of the thing will admit.

By looking over the Preparations of last Campaign I find there was allowed by the Province Knapsacks, Hatchets Tinkettles and Tin Flasks. The importance of this Service does not call for less Preparation, It would also be a great Releif to the Labours of the Men, if some means were provided of carrying forward their Baggage to the Rendezvous. I see no disadvantages likely to arise to the Service if the Provincial Forces in the County of York and those in the County of Barnstable, who can embark on the South Side of the Cape should proceed as far as Albany by Water, as it is probable they may go as soon that way, as by Land. If you are of that Opinion, you will make provision for Transports accordingly. But as the Passage by Water is attended with some Uncertainty, I cannot think it adviseable for any great proportion of the Forces to proceed that way, and I shall therefore give Orders, that Magazines of Provisions be forthwith laid in at proper Stations for the remaining Part of them; And if you think it necessary to provide for any charge that may attend the Transportation of their Baggage, I will give seasonable direction for the taking up Waggons or Carts accordingly.

The Consideration of your Excellency's Message to both Houses on the 18th Current accompanyed with a Copy of a Vote of the General Assembly of the Colony of Connecticut, a Letter from the Governor of that Colony, and your Excellency's Answer, to the same, has hitherto been postponed in expectation of Intelligence of the Resolutions of that respectable Colony posterior to their Governor's receiving your Excellency's Answer and his being thereby informed that it was impossible for Commissioners on the Part of this Government to be appointed and to meet at the time and place proposed for the Conferences. But having received no Information on this Subject; both Houses now apprehend the General Assembly of Connecticut have for the present dropt their design of a Conference.

We beg leave to assure your Excellency; that We shall with Pleasure embrace every Opportunity to give proofs of Our Esteem for that Colony, and to create and preserve a correspondence of measures with all the Provinces and Colonies & particularly with that of Connecticutt, in whose wisdom & Vigour we have great Confidence, and whose preservation and Welfare we consider as intimately connected with our own.

The State of Public Affairs is altered since the Meeting of the Commissioners in Boston, and how greatly it may be changed in the Progress and Conclusion of this most important Campaign, God only knows.

ACTS,

PASSED 1758–59.

ACTS

Passed at the Session begun and held at Boston, on the Thirty-first day of May, A. D. 1758.

CHAPTER 1.

AN ACT FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING THE SUM OF EIGHTY-TWO THOUSAND AND THIRTEEN POUNDS SIX SHILLINGS AND EIGHTPENCE; AND ALSO FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING A FURTHER TAX OF ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN POUNDS, FOR FINES LAID UPON TOWNS THAT HAVE SENT NO PERSONS TO REPRESENT THEM AT THE GENERAL COURT THIS YEAR.

Preamble.

Whereas the great and general court or assembly of this province did, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, grant a tax of thirty-four thousand pounds; and at their session in February, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, did grant a further tax of thirty-nine thousand pounds, and by said acts provision was made, that the general court, at this present session, might apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and places within the province, if they thought fit; and whereas the general court, at this session, have granted a further tax of eight thousand pounds, and a tax of nine hundred and ninety-three pounds six shillings and eightpence upon the town of Sherburn upon Nantucket, for carrying on the present war, making in the whole eighty-two thousand and thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence; wherefore, for the ordering, directing and effectual drawing in the sum of eighty-two thousand and thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence, we, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the representatives in general court assembled, pray that it may be enacted,—

1756-57, chap. 3, § 5.

1756-57, chap. 22, § 2.

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That each town, district, parish or place within this province be assessed and pay, as such town, district, parish and place's proportion of the sum of eighty-one thousand three hundred and eighty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, and for the fines aforesaid, the several sums following; that is to say,—

And be it further enacted,

Rules for assessment.

[SECT. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district or parish, or other place within this province that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district, parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, thirteen shillings and sixpence per poll (excepting the governor, lieutenant-governor, and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well from being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands and under their actual management and improvement; as also all the estate pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who, through age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards publick charges, they may exempt their polls, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet.

[SECT. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county in proportion to their province rate; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade, faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money or commissions of profit in their improvement, according to their understanding or cunning, at one shilling per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for such town, district, parish or other place to pay; and in making their assessment, to estimate houses and lands at six years' yearly rent whereat the same may be reasonably set or let for in the place where they lye: saving all contracts between landlord and tenant, and where no contract is, the landlord to reimburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands; and to estimate negro, Indian and molatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment and discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old, at three shillings each: likewise requiring the said assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty; and if as guardian, or for any estate, in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists, so perfected and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collectors, constable or constables of any such town, district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector, constable or constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the last day of October next.

[Sect. 4.] And the treasurer, for the time being, upon receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector, or constable or constables of such town, district, parish or place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection and issue their accompts of the whole, at or before the thirty-first day of March next, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine.

And be it further enacted,

Inhabitants to bring in a true list of their polls, &c.

[Sect. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or place, respectively, in convenient time before their making the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or place, or notify the inhabitants some other way to give or bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, rateable estate, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors, on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreeable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid in to the town, district or parish treasurer or selectmen for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county, for relief, as in the case of being over-rated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estates, as aforesaid, to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

[Sect. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estates, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he doth or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, though, in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government,—

Be it further enacted,

Transient traders to be rated.

[Sect. 7.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, and trade, to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such persons according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, though the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected, as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Merchants, &c., to be rated for carrying on trade in any other town beside where they dwell.

[SECT. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store and traffick or carry on any trade or business in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid be and are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandizes, for carrying on such trade and business, and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons, as afore mentioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on, shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[SECT. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoyned to levy and collect all such sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are residents in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same. [Passed June 15.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITLED "AN ACT TO PREVENT THE DESERTION OF SOLDIERS DURING THE PRESENT WAR WITH FRANCE, AND THE LOSS OF ARMS," &c.

Preamble.

1756-57, chap. 36, §1.

WHEREAS in and by an act made and passed in the thirtieth year of his present majesty's reign, intitled "An Act to prevent the desertion of soldiers during the present war with France, and the loss of arms, whether lent by his majesty or belonging to this province," it is among other things provided that it shall and may be lawful for any person to apprehend any one who may be suspected to be a deserter, if inlisted or impressed in this or either of the neighbouring governments, and bring [them] [him] before any justice of the peace living in or near the place where he shall be apprehended: and whereas it hath been doubted whether any person may lawfully enter by force into any house or vessel[l] to search for a deserter suspected to be harboured or concealed there,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Sheriffs, &c., may make forcible entry in search of deserters.

[SECT. 1.] That it is and shall be lawful for any sherif[f] or his deputy or a constable within their respective precincts, and for such officers only, with their assistants, by virtue of a warrant from a justice of the peace of the county where any deserter is or shall be vehemently suspected to be concealed or harboured, to break open and forc[ea][i]bly enter any dwelling-house or outhouse (whether belonging to the deserter or to any other person) and into any ship or vessel in order to make search for such deserter, and apprehend him when found, and bring him before a justice as aforesaid: provided, always, that such officer shall not enter by force into any house or vessel without first giving notice that a deserter is suspected to be concealed or harboured there, and that he hath a warrant from a justice to search for and apprehend him; nor unless, after a demand made by the officer, the supposed deserter shall refuse or neglect to surrender himself, nor unless the officer's entrance, when by him demanded, shall be denied or any ways obstructed.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That if any justice of the peace, upon application made to him by a commission officer for a warrant to search for and apprehend any deserter, shall refuse or neglect to grant such warrant, and shall be thereof du[e]ly convicted, he shall for every such offence be adjudg[e]'d to pay as a fine to his majesty a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds, at the discretion of the justices of the court wherein such conviction shall be had: provided, always, that no warrant be granted by any justice of the peace to search for a deserter in any house or vessel before oath shall be made before him by the commission officer applying for such warrant that he vehemently suspects that such deserter is concealed or harboured in such house or vessel.

Penalty for any justice refusing, on application, to grant a warrant, &c.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That when and so often as any person shall by order of a justice be committed to goal as a deserter, the keeper of the same goal shall detain him in custody until, upon application made by a commission officer appointed to rec[ie][ei]ve him, he shall by order of a justice of the peace be delivered over to such officer to be sent to the company or regiment to which he belongs, to attend his duty in his majesty's service. [Passed June 8; * published June 12.

Deserters to be detained till discharged by a justice.

CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT FOR PREVENTING ANY DEFICIENCY IN THE NUMBER OF SOLDIERS TO BE RAISED WITHIN THIS PROVINCE FOR THE INTENDED EXPEDITION AGAINST CANADA.

It appearing to this court that notwithstanding the many orders that have been issued by his excellency the captain-general, and the several laws enforcing the same, for raising and compleating the number of soldiers agreed to be levied within this province for the present expedition against Canada, that as yet the number raised in some of the regiments falls short of the quota or proportion assigned them; and that divers persons duly inlisted or impressed have absconded, and others refuse to go forth into the service; and this government, willing to do all that in them lies to prevent any such deficiency, more especially on this so important occasion, do enact,—

Preamble.

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the colonels or chief officers of the several regiments within this province, that of Nantucket only excepted, shall forthwith make return to the captain-general, upon receiving his orders therefor, of the names of all such as have bonâ fide been inlisted or impressed for the present expedition against Canada, in pursuance of the captain-general's warrant issued for that purpose; as also the names of such impressed and inlisted persons as have not gone forth into the service, and of all those, so far as hath come to their knowledge, who since their departure have deserted and returned.

Colonels or chief officers to return lists, &c.

[Sect. 2.] And the captains or chief officers of the several companies shall, without delay, make diligent enquiry in order to discover what inlisted or impressed soldiers belonging to their respective companies are not gone into the service, and such as, having gone forth, have deserted and returned, and shall lodge a list of their names with Captains, &c., to make strict inquiry for soldiers not come into the service, and to make return.

* June 15, according to the record.

the colonel of the regiment whereto they belong, by him to be transmitted to the captain-general as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for not making return.

[SECT. 3.] That if any such field-officer or other officer aforesaid shall refuse or neglect to make due return as aforesaid, or shall wittingly make a false return, such officer, upon due conviction of such offence, shall be thereafter rendered uncapable of sustaining any office, civil or military, within this government.

And be it further enacted,

Captains, &c., to apply for warrants for apprehending delinquent or desertling soldiers.

[SECT. 4.] That the captains or chief officers of the several companies shall, as soon as may be, make application to some justice of the peace in the county where such company is, for a warrant or warrants for apprehending such delinquent or deserting soldiers and securing them in the goal of such county, or otherwise, for conveying them to such place as the captain-general shall appoint, from whence they may be afterwards sent or transported to the company or regiment, gone forth in his majesty's service, to which they respectively belong, there to do duty; which warrant shall be granted without fee or reward. And the sheriff or other executive civil officer, having such warrant, is hereby authorized to convey any soldier or soldiers by him apprehended, through any county or counties, to the place that shall be assigned as aforesaid to receive and secure them.

Warrants to be granted without fee.

Sheriff's power of conveying.

And be it further enacted,

Chief officers, &c., may apprehend enlisted or impressed soldiers without warrant, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That it shall and may be lawful for the chief officer of every regiment or company, as occasion may require, not only to apprehend, as by law they may, any inlisted or impressed soldier who refuses or neglects to attend duty in the expedition aforesaid, but, without warrant from a justice of the peace, to secure such soldier, or to convey him to the place to which he shall be ordered by the captain-general, there to be detained until he can be sent into the public service in said expedition, such officer giving immediate notice thereof to the captain-general, and attending his orders relative thereunto.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for not aiding officers.

[SECT. 6.] That every person refusing to aid and assist any civil or military officer, being thereunto required in his majesty's name, in apprehending and securing any such delinquent or in conveying him to such place as the captain-general shall appoint, from whence he may with most convenience be transported or conveyed to the army, he and they shall, upon conviction of such offence, forfeit and pay to his majesty, for the use of this government, the sum of five pounds. And in case any person shall presume to rescue any such delinquent apprehended as aforesaid, or to be aiding therein, he shall be corporally punished by whipping, not exceeding twenty stripes, at the discretion of the court before whom he shall be convicted, according to the aggravation of the offence.

Penalty for a rescue.

And be it further enacted,

Delinquent soldiers to be conveyed to the regiment, &c.

[SECT. 7.] That all such delinquent soldiers as shall be apprehended as aforesaid, and such others as may be impressed or hired for his majesty's service aforesaid, shall, as soon as may be, be transported or conveyed to the regiment or company, in the army, whereto they respectively belong, or to which they shall be assigned, in such manner as the captain-general shall judge to be most convenient.

Preamble.

And whereas a deficiency in the quota of men ordered by the captain-general, in consequence of an act of this government, to be raised in divers regiments within this province, has happened by reason that a great number belonging to certain companies in such regiments were gone on fishing voyages to avoid the embargo that has since been laid, or were departed this province to avoid being impressed into his majesty's service in the present expedition; by reason whereof the proportion of men ordered by the colonels to be raised out of such companies as their proportion, could not be obtained; therefore,—

Be it further enacted,

Deficiency of soldiers to be completed by the colonel or chief officer of the regiment.

[Sect. 8.] That where such deficiency has happened in any company, the colonel or chief officer of the regiment to which such company belongs shall, and he is hereby required, upon order therefor received from the captain-general, forthwith to cause such deficiency to be supplied, and the full quota which were ordered to be raised in such regiments to be compleated, by impress, out of such deficient company, if it may be, or otherwise out of the other companies in the same regiment, in due proportion to each other; the charge of raising said men to be borne by such deficient company, or such of them as by withdrawing themselves have avoided doing duty, as shall be judged most equitable, and in such manner and proportion as the commission officers of such regiment shall order; and to issue his warrants to the several captains for that purpose; and them shall muster and have in readiness to send into the service as the captain-general shall order; and every captain shall, without delay, lodge a list of the names of the persons so impressed with his colonel, by him to be thereupon immediately transmitted to the captain-general.

Captains to lodge lists, &c.

And whereas in and by a late law of this province, intitled "An Act in addition to an act made and passed this present year, intitled 'An Act for the speedy levying of soldiers for an intended expedition,'" it is among other things enacted, that in every regiment in which there are any of the people called Quakers, liable to be impressed, the colonel or chief officer of such regiment be impowered and required to engage and employ a sum not exceeding thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence per man, in order to hire into the service so many men as would have been liable to be impressed from the people called Quakers, in a due proportion to the other part of the regiment; the sums so engaged to be paid out of the public treasury and to be levied in the next tax-act upon the people called Quakers, in such manner and proportion as shall be therein ordered.

And whereas by reason of the great number of persons of that perswasion in the regiments under the command of Colonel Ezra Richmond and Colonel Thomas Bowen, and for that those regiments are bordering upon or near to the boundary-line betwixt this and the government of Rhode Island, it has been found difficult if not impracticable, to hire so many men as are wanting to make up the full quota assigned to those regiments,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Any person empowered to hire men in the room and stead of Quakers.

[Sect. 9.] That it shall and may be lawful not only for the colonels of those regiments, but for any other person or persons living elsewhere within this province, whom the captain-general shall appoint, to engage and employ such sum as aforesaid for hiring into said service so many men in any other part of the province in the room and stead of the people called Quakers, as shall be necessary to supply the remaining deficiency in the number of soldiers which the Quakers in those regiments were liable to find as their proportion; the sums so engaged, together with all the costs attending the procuring said men, to be paid out of the public treasury by warrant from the governour, with the advice and consent of the council, and to be levied in the next tax-act upon the people called Quakers, in manner and proportion as shall be therein ordered.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty on military officers for wilfully neg-

[Sect. 10.] That every military officer who shall wilfully neglect the duty enjoyned him by this act shall, upon due conviction of such offence before the superiour court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, upon complaint or information made to said court, be liable not only to be cashiered, but to be mulcted in a sum not exceeding one hundred pounds, for the use of this province, at the discretion of the justices of said court, according to the circumstances aggravating or extenuating the offence. CHAPTER 4.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY THOUSAND POUNDS, TO BE THENCE ISSUED FOR DISCHARGING THE PUBLIC DEBTS, AND DRAWING THE SAME INTO THE TREASURY AGAIN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the provision already made for defreying the expences of the Crown-Point expedition is found insufficient, and no provision made by the general court for discharging the debts of the ensuing year,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer empowered to borrow £180,000.

[SECT. 1.] That the treasurer of the province be and he hereby is impowered and directed to borrow from such person or persons as shall be willing to lend the same, a sum not exceeding one hundred and eighty thousand pounds in mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, or in other coined silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce; and the sum so borrowed shall be applied in manner as in this act is hereafter directed.

[SECT. 2.] And for the sum of nine thousand one hundred and ninety pounds six shillings and eight pence, being part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, the treasurer shall give his receipt or obligation in the form following:—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of
Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, and, in behalf of said province, I do promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or order, the first day of June one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Witness my hand, H. G., Treasurer.

Notes payable in 1761 and 1762.

[SECT. 3.] And for the further sum of one hundred thousand pounds, part of the said sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, the treasurer shall give his notes in the form aforesaid, payable the first day of June one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

[SECT. 4.] And for the further sum of seventy thousand eight hundred and nine pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, being the remainder of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, the treasurer shall give his notes in the form aforesaid, payable the first day of June one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two.

And no receipt shall be given for less than six pounds.

And be it further enacted,

£2,000 for payment of the late Crown-Point expedition.

[SECT. 5.] That the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, when received into the treasury, shall be issued out in the manner and for the purposes following; that is to say, two thousand pounds, part of the sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the services of the late Crown-Point expeditions still unpaid; and the further sum of sixteen thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the service of the several forts and garrisons within this province, pursuant to such grants and orders as are or shall be made by this court for these purposes; and the further sum of eight thousand five hundred pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for purchasing provisions and the commissary's disbursements for the service of the several forts and garrisons within this province; and the further sum of eight thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of such premiums and grants that now are or may hereafter be made by this court; and the further sum of five thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the discharge of other debts owing from this province to persons that have served or shall serve them, by order of this court, in such matters and things where there is no establishment nor any certain sum assigned for that purpose; and for paper, writing and printing for this court; and the further sum of three thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of his majesty's council and house of representatives serving in the great and general court during the several sessions for the present year; and the further sum of six thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied to the payment of the charge of maintaining armed vessels of war belonging to this province; and the further sum of four thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the troops that marched for the relief of Fort William Henry when attacked by the enemy in August, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven; and the further sum of five thousand two hundred and fifty-five pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the bayonets provided for the militia of this province by virtue of the act intituled "An Act in addition to the several acts of this province for regulating the militia;" and the further sum of one hundred and twenty-one thousand nine hundred and forty-five pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the expences in the present expedition against Canada;

£16,000 for forts and garrisons.

£8,500 for purchasing provisions, &c.

£8,000 for premiums and grants.

£5,000 for payment of debts where there is no establishment, &c.

£3,000 for payment of the council and house of representatives.

£6,000 for armed vessels.

£4,000 for payment of troops who marched to Fort William Henry.

£5,255 for payment of bayonets, &c.

1757-58, chap. 18, § 6.

£121,945 for the Canada expedition.

And whereas there are sometimes contingent and unforeseen charges that demand prompt payment,—

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That the sum of three hundred pounds, being the remaining part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, shall be applied to pay such contingent charges, and for no other purpose whatsoever.

£300 for contingent charges.

And in order to draw the money into the treasury again, and enable the treasurer effectually to discharge the receipts and obligations (with the interest that may be due thereon), by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds, to be levyed on polls, and estates both real and personal within this province, in manner following; that is to say, nine thousand one hundred and ninety pounds six shillings and eightpence, part thereof, according to such rules and in such proportions on the several towns and districts within the province, as shall be agreed upon and ordered by the general

And the further sum of one hundred thousand pounds, according to such rules and in such proportion on the several towns and districts aforesaid, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and to be paid £70,809 13s. 4d. in 1761. into the treasury on or before the last day of March next after. And the further sum of seventy thousand eight hundred and nine pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, according to such rules and in such proportion on the several towns and districts aforesaid, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, and to be paid into the treasury on or before the last day of March next after.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on. [SECT. 8.] That if the general court, in their present session, and in their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and in their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, and some time before the twentieth day of June in each year, shall not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by this act are engaged to be, in each of said years, assessed and levied, that then, and in such case, each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal within their limits, the same proportion of the said sums as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

[SECT. 9.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, some time in the month of June in each of the years aforesaid, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportions of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the treasury at the aforementioned times; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by and subject to all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the last preceeding tax-act.

And as a further fund to enable the treasurer to discharge said receipts and obligations by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

Fund. [SECT. 10.] That the duties of excise upon spirituous liquors, for the year seventeen hundred and fifty-nine, shall be applied for the payment and discharge of the principal and interest that shall become due on said notes, and to no other purpose.

And be it further enacted,

The treasurer to conform to the appropriations. [SECT. 11.] That the treasurer is hereby directed and ordered to pay the sum of one hundred and eighty thousand pounds out of such appropriations as shall be directed by warrant, and no other; and the secretary, to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and accounts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they Proviso. direct, such muster-rolls and accounts, after payment thereof: provided, always, that the remainder of the sum which shall be brought into the treasury by the duties of excise before mentioned, and the several taxes ordered by this act to be assessed and levied, over and above what shall be sufficient to discharge the notes and obligations aforesaid, shall be and remain as a stock in the treasury, to be applied as the general court of this province shall hereafter order, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

And whereas this province have an humble trust and dependance on his majesty for a reimbursement of the charge arising in consequence of the intended expedition against Canada,—

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 12.] That the treasurer be and hereby is directed and impowered to apply so much of the money that shall arrive from Great Britain before the first day of June, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, as shall be necessary to discharge the notes to be by him given pursuant to this act; save, only, that nothing in this act shall alter the appropriation of twenty-eight thousand pounds out of said money pursuant to an act of this province, intitled "An Act impowering the province treasurer to borrow twenty-eight thousand pounds." Notes or securities given by the treasurer, to be paid out of such money as may be granted by parliament. 1757-58, chap. 30.

[Sect. 13.] And in case of the arrival of the money as aforesaid, and the whole of said notes being discharged thereby, then the clauses in this act providing for issuing a tax of one hundred thousand pounds and a tax of seventy thousand eight hundred and nine pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence be and hereby is declared void.

[Sect. 14.] And in case only part of said notes shall be discharged, then the treasurer shall not issue his warrants for assessing more than what shall be necessary for making up such deficiency, and shall issue his warrants, if need be, accordingly, for assessing such deficiency only. [Passed June 15; published June 16.

CHAPTER 5.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING THE SUM OF THIRTEEN HUNDRED POUNDS, FOR THE SUPPORT OF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNOUR.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, That the sum of thirteen hundred pounds be and hereby is granted unto his most excellent majesty, to be paid out of the public treasury to his excellency Thomas Pownall, Esq., captain-general and governour-in-chief in and over his majesty's province of the Massachusetts Bay, to enable him to carry on the affairs of government. AN ACT IN ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL ACTS FOR THE BETTER REGULATING THE INDIANS.

Whereas the act of this government, intituled "An Act in addition to the several acts for the better regulating the Indians," is near expiring, and as said act has proved very beneficial to the Indians, and a further regulation is also necessary,— Preamble. 1753-54, chap. 6.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That there be three proper persons appointed for the future by this court, near to every Indian plantation in this province, guardians to the said Indians in their respective plantations, who are hereby impowered, from and after the [23] [twenty-third] day of June, A. D. 1758, to take into their hands the said Indians lands, and allot to the several Indians of the several plantations such parts of the said lands and meadows as shall be sufficient for their particular improve- Three proper persons to be appointed as guardians to the Indians in their respective plantations.

ment from time to time during the continuance of this act; and the remainder, if any there be, shall be let out by the guardians of the said respective plantations to suitable persons for a term not exceeding the continuance of this act.

[SECT. 2.] And such part of the income thereof as is necessary shall be applied for the support of such of the proprietors in their respective plantations as may be sick or unable to support themselves; and the surplusage thereof, if any there be, shall be distributed amongst them according to their respective rights or interest, for providing necessaries for themselves and families and for the payment of their just debts, at the discretion of their said guardians; and that the respective guardians aforesaid be hereby impowered and enabled, in their own names, and in their capacities as guardians, to bring forward and maintain any action or actions for any trespass or trespasses that may be committed on the said Indian land; and that any liberty or pretended liberty obtained from any Indian or Indians for cutting off any timber, wood or hay, milking pine-trees, carrying off any ore or grain, or planting or improving said lands, shall not be any bar to said guardians in their said action or actions: provided, that nothing in this act shall be understood to bar any person or persons from letting creatures run upon the said Indians' unimproved lands that lie common and contiguous to other towns or proprietors.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

Indians prohibited leasing or selling lands, &c.

[SECT. 3.] That from and after the [23] [twenty-third] day of June aforesaid, no Indian or Indians shall sell or lease out to any other Indian or Indians any of his or her lands without the consent of the guardians, or a major part of the guardians, of the Indians of the plantation wherein such lands do lye; and all sales or leases of land for any term or terms of years that shall, at any time hereafter during the continuance of this act, be made by any Indian or Indians to any other Indian or Indians, shall be utterly void and of none effect, unless the same be made by and with the licen[s][c]e of the respective guardians as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

No action to be brought against any Indian for debt, unless.

[SECT. 4.] That no action shall be brought against any of the said Indians for any debt hereafter to be by them contracted with any English persons for any sum whatsover, unless the same be first examined and allowed by the court of general sessions of the peace for the county where such Indian or Indians live, or the respective guardians of such plantations where such Indian or Indians live, except specialties approbated according to the law of this province made in the fourth and fifth year of the reign of his majesty King George the First, intituled "An Act in addition to the act for preventing abuses to the Indians," made in the twelfth year of King William.

1700-1, chap. 9.

And be it further enacted,

Guardians to keep a fair account, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That the several guardians aforesaid shall keep a fair account of their proceedings in the abovesaid affair, to be by them laid before the general court from year to year, by said court to be adjusted and allowed of.

Limitation.

[SECT. 6.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of three years from said [23] [twenty-third] day of June, and from thence to the end of the next session of the general court, and no longer. [Passed June 15; published June 16.

ACTS

Passed at the Session begun and held at Boston, on the Fourth day of October, A. D. 1758.

CHAPTER 7.

AN ACT FOR ALTERING THE TIMES APPOINTED FOR HOLDING THE COURTS OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE AND INFERIOUR COURTS OF COMMON PLEAS AT PLYMOUTH, WITHIN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF PLYMOUTH.

Preamble. 1742-43, chap. 32. 1753-54, chap. 33.

Whereas the times appointed by law for holding the courts of general sessions of the peace and inferiour courts of common pleas at Plymouth, within and for the county of Plymouth, is found to be inconvenient,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Time of inferior courts sitting in Plymouth for the county of Plymouth altered.

[Sect. 1.] That the times for holding the said courts of general sessions of the peace and inferiour courts of common pleas at Plymouth, for the county of Plymouth, shall henceforth be on the first Tuesday of January, April, July and October annually; and all officers and other persons concerned are required to conform themselves accordingly.

And be it further enacted,

All matters depending in said courts continued.

[Sect. 2.] That all writs, suits, plaints, processes, appeals, recognizances, warrants, or other matters or things whatsoever, which now are, or at any time before the said first Tuesday of January shall be issued, taken or depending in the said county of Plymouth, which were to have been returned or proceeded on at the time heretofore appointed by law for holding the said courts at Plymouth, shall be valid and stand good to all intents and purposes in the law, and shall be returned and proceeded on at the times appointed by this act for holding the same. [Passed October 14.

CHAPTER 8.

AN ACT PROVIDING FOR THE RECEPTION AND ACCOMMODATION OF HIS MAJESTY'S FORCES WITHIN THIS PROVINCE.

1757-58, chap. 25.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Regular forces marching through the province to be provided with quarters, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That when and so often as, during the continuance of this act, it shall be judged necessary for the defence of his majesty's dominions, or for carrying on measures against his enemies, that any of his majesty's regular forces should march through any of the towns or districts within this province, every taverner or innholder within such town or district within this province shall receive and entertain within their respective houses and outhouses, as many of such forces as can therein be received and accommodated; and if such forces shall not be provided with victuals, every such taverner or innholder shall furnish them with diet and small beer, payment or allowance to be made therefor as follows; viz[t]., for one commission officer of foot under the degree of a captain, for his diet and small beer, per diem, one shilling sterling, and for each foot soldier['s] diet and small beer, sixpence sterling per diem, and so in proportion for part of a day.

Rates of quarters.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That upon complaint made to any justice of the peace for any of the counties in this province, respectively, that any taverner or innholder doth refuse to receive and entertain any of his majesty's forces as aforesaid, such justice shall forthwith make enquiry into the grounds of such complaint, and shall thereupon, within two hours, determine and order how many of such forces shall be received into the house or outhouses of such taverner or innholder, and how many shall be furnished with diet and small beer; and every taverner or innholder refusing or neglecting to receive and entertain such and so many of the forces, shall for each offence forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds sterling.

Complaint made against any taverner, innholder, &c.

Penalty.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That when and so often as, during the continuance of this act, any of his majesty's regular forces shall, for the defence of his dominions, or for prosecuting measures against his majesty's enemies, be ordered into any town or towns within this province, it shall and may be lawful for the governo[u]r, with the advice of the council, to appoint, authorize or impower any person or persons to agree for and take up such and so many houses and buildings in or near such town or towns as shall be judged sufficient and necessary, together with the barracks already provided at Castle William, to receive and accommodate the whole number of forces that may be so ordered; or if need be, to impress so many uninhabited tenements in or near such town or towns as shall be necessary as aforesaid, and also to provide such barrack utensils and necessaries as shall be judged reasonable, the charge thereof to be advanced and paid out of the public[k] treasury, and an account thereof to be transmitted to the general of his majesty's forces for a reimbursement, or to the agent of the province in England, in order to his solliciting the repayment of the same.

Governor with the advice of the council to authorize persons to provide quarters for his majesty's forces in any town.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to be and continue in force from the thirteenth day of October instant, to the last day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and no longer. [Passed October 12; published October 14.

CHAPTER 9.

AN ACT IN FURTHER ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL ACTS OF THIS PROVINCE FOR THE REGULATING THE MILITIA.

Preamble.

1757 68, chap. 18, § 1.

WHEREAS by law the captain or chief officer of each military foot company, and also of each troop of horse within this province are obliged to instruct and employ their respective companies and troops in military exercises on the last Monday of this instant October, and the Tuesday following the same Monday; and a great number of the soldiers being gone into the war, and probably will not be returned before said days,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

That no captain or chief officer of any foot company or troop of horse shall be held and obliged to call together, instruct or employ his company or troop in military exercises on the last Monday of this instant October or on the Tuesday following said Monday, and no foot soldier nor trooper shall be liable to any penalty for not appearing in arms on either of those days, respectively. [Passed and published October 14.

Captains or chief officers of the militia exempted from mustering their companies.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE TWENTY-NINTH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1758.

CHAPTER 10.

AN ACT TO ENABLE CREDITORS TO REC[IE][EI]VE THEIR JUST DEBTS OUT OF THE EFFECTS OF THEIR ABSENT OR ABSCONDING DEBTORS.

Preamble.
1748-49, chap. 6. 1753-54, chap. 28. 14 Mass., 160.

FOR the better preventing of frauds and deceit, too often designed and practiced by ill-minded debtors, in betrusting and depositing their goods and effects in the hands of others with intent to reserve and secure them to their own use and defeat their creditors of their just dues, absconding or withdrawing themselves out of this province, or not being within this province or to be come at, and their goods and effects concealed so as they cannot be attached and made liable to the payment of their creditors by the ordinary process of law,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Goods and effects of absconding debtors to be attached.
16 Mass., 323.

[SECT. 1.] That it shall and may be lawful for any person [i][e]ntitled to any action of debt, detinue, account, covenant or case, in trover, indebitatas assumsit, or on express contract against any person absconding or absent out of this province, to cause the goods and estate of such absconding or absent person to be attached, in whose hands or possession soever the same are or may be found; and the attaching of any part thereof shall secure and make the whole that is in such person's hands liable in the law to respond the judgment to be recovered upon such process, if so much there be, and no further, and shall be subjected to be taken in execution for satisfaction thereof, or so far as the value thereof will extend, and the person in whose hands they are shall expose them accordingly.

And subject to execution.
99 Mass., 531.

And be it further enacted,

Agent, &c., of an absent debtor to be summoned to court in case no effects appear.

[SECT. 2.] That where no goods or effects of such absent or absconding person in the hands of his attorney, factor, agent or trustee shall be exposed to view or can be come at so as to be attached, it shall and may be lawful[l] to and for any person [i][e]ntitled to any of the aforesaid actions to file a declaration against such absent or absconding person in the clerk's office of the inferiour court of common pleas in the same county where such factor, agent or trustee lives, therein particularly setting forth his debt and damage, how and for what cause it arises, and to cause the attorney, factor, agent or trustee of such absent or absconding person to be served with a summon[s] out of the office, annexed to the said declaration, fourteen days before the sitting of the court, for his appearance at such court; which, being duly served, and return thereof made under the officer's hand, shall be sufficient in the law to bring forward a tr[y][i]al without other or further summons, unless the principal be an inhabitant or hath for some time had his residence within this province, in which case a like summons, with an Trial thereupon to be had.

attested copy of the declaration annexed, shall also be left at his dwelling-house, lodging or place of his last and usual abode fourteen days before the sitting of the court; and such attorney, factor, agent or trustee, upon his desire, shall be admitted to defend the suit on behalf of his principal throughout the course of the law, and an imparlance shall be granted of course at two terms successively, that he may have [an] opportunity to notify his principal thereof, and at the third term, without special matter alledged and allowed in bar, abatement or further continuance, the cause shall peremptorily come to tr[y][i]al, and if judgment be rendered for the plaintif[f], all the goods, effects or credits of such absent or absconding person in the hands of such attorney, factor, agent or trustee, which were in his hands at the time of his being served with the summons and declaration aforesaid, to the value of such judgment, if so much there be, shall be liable and subjected to the execution granted upon such judgment for or towards satisfying the same, and, from the time of serving the summons as aforesaid, shall be liable and secured in the law in his hands to answer the same, and may not be otherwise disposed of or converted.

Two imparlances to be granted.

Goods in such agents hands subject to execution on a judgment.

Provided, nevertheless,—

And be it enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That if upon summons being served as aforesaid, the supposed attorney, factor, agent or trustee shall come into court at the first term and declare that he had not in his hands at the time of the service of such summons, any goods, effects or credits whatsoever of the absent or absconding person, and shall submit to an examination upon oath respecting the same; and if upon such examination it shall appear to the satisfaction of the justices of the court that he had not any goods, effects or credits whatsoever of the absent or absconding person in his hands at the time of his being summoned as aforesaid, then in every such case the plaintif[f] shall become nonsuit, and shall pay to him who was summoned as attorney, factor, agent or trustee his reasonable costs, to be taxed in common form by the justices of the court.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That if any attorney, factor, agent or trustee, being served with summons and declaration as aforesaid, shall not appear at the first term, and then either acknowledge himself to have had in his hands some goods, effects or credits of the absent or absconding person at the time of the service aforesaid, and thereupon pray that he may be admitted to defend the action, or otherwise submit himself to an examination upon oath as aforesaid, he shall be liable to pay to the pla[i]ntif[f] all such costs as shall arise upon his suit, to be taxed by the justices of the court before which the action shall be brought.

Agents not appearing at the first term, &c., liable to pay costs.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That in case any attorney, factor, agent or trustee, from and after the time of his being served with summons and declaration as aforesaid against his principal, being an absent or absconding person, shall transfer, remit, dispose of or convert any of the goods, effects or credits of such absent or absconding person in his hands at the time of such service, so that there shall not be sufficient to satisfy the judgment, the debt being afterwards ascertained by judgment of court, or that shall not discover, expose and subject the goods, effects or credits of such absent or absconding person[s] in his hands to be taken in execution for or towards the satisfaction of the judgment so far as what were in his hands at the time of said service will extend, shall be liable to satisfy the same of his own proper goods and estate, and as of his own debt; and a writ of scire facias may be taken out of the same court and served upon him as the law directs, to appear and shew cause, if any he have, to the contrary, where, upon default of appearance or refusal to disclose upon his oath, which oath the justices of such court are impowered to administer, what goods, effects or credits of the absent or absconding person are in his hands, and to what value, then judgment shall be entred up against him of his own proper* goods and estate, and execution be awarded accordingly.

Execution to be levied on agent's proper goods and estate in case.

Agent to be put on oath.

Provided, nevertheless,—

And be it enacted,

Proviso.

[SECT. 6.] That if it shall appear that the attorney, factor, agent or trustee so summoned as aforesaid, and having in his hands at the time of such summons any goods, effects or credits of the absent or absconding person, hath not any ways remitted, disposed of or any ways converted the same after the summons being served on him as aforesaid; but that he hath discovered, exposed and subjected them to be taken in execution to satisfy the judgment recovered against the absent or absconding person as aforesaid, then the party who commenced the suit shall pay such attorney, agent, factor or trustee his reasonable costs, to be taxed in common form by the justices of the court from which the scire facias issued as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Agent to be acquitted and discharged.

[SECT. 7.] That the goods, effects or credits of any absent or absconding person so taken as aforesaid by process and judgment of law out of the hands of his attorney, factor, agent or trustee by any of his creditors, shall fully acquit and forever discharge such attorney, factor, agent or trustee, his executors or administrators, of, from and against all actions and suits, damages, payments and demands whatsoever, to be asked, commenced, had, claimed or brought by his principal, his executors or administrators, of and for the same; and if any attorney, factor, agent or trustee shall be molested, troubled or sued by his principal for anything by him done in pursuance of this act, he may plead the general issue and give this act in evidence.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 8.] That any absconding or absent person against whom judgment shall be recovered as aforesaid, shall be [i][e]ntitled to a review of the same at any time within three years after such recovery. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1759.

CHAPTER 11.

AN ACT TO CONFIRM AND RENDER EFFECTUAL AN AGREEMENT BETWEEN SUNDRY PERSONS CLAIMING PROPERTY AND INTEREST IN THE COMMON AND UNDIVIDED LANDS IN A NECK OF LAND IN FRAMINGHAM, IN THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX.

Preamble.

WHEREAS John Pike, Joseph Bixbee, Samuel Lamb, Timothy Pike, Joseph Bixbee, Jun^{r}., Benjamin Barnard, Samuel Frost, Richard Mellin, Isaac Fisk, [*George] Walkup, Benjamin Whitney, Mark Whitney, Daniel Haven, Nathan Carter, Abraham Pike, Joseph Buckminster, Esq$^{[r]}$., Joseph Haven, Esq$^{[r]}$., John Farrar, Moses Pike, Daniel Stone, Thomas Brown, Noah Eaton, Peter Jenison, Thomas Winch, Jun^{r}., David Haven, James Haven, Isaac Haven, Joseph Cozens, Silvanus Hemingway, Ralph Hemingway, Thomas Winch, James Haven, Jun^{r}., Ebenezer Hemingway, John Winch, Squier Haven, Micah Gibbs, Benoni Prat, Ebenezer Hagar, Ezekiel How, Jonathan Edmonds, David

* Parchment mutilated by mice.

How, Junr., Ephraim Power, Jeremiah Pike, Amos Darling, Amos Gates, Jonathan Barrett, Elias Whitney, James Mellin, William Ballard, Jonathan Maynard, Joseph Eames, Nathaniel Eames, John Bruce, Ebenezer Boutwell, Benjamin Haven, John Nurse, Jonathan Hemingway, John Haven, Benjamin Nurse, Joseph Hemingway, Jeremiah Belknap, Aaron Pike, Josiah Stone, Ebenezer Singletary, John Johnson, Martha Goddard, George Ca[*rnel], William Pike, William Pike, Junr., Elkanah Haven, persons who claim or have claimed property and interest in the common lands on a neck of land in Framingham, have represented to this court that, in consequence of a division made of said commons in pursuance of a vote of the proprietors, many disputes and two lawsuits have arisen between divers of them; that, for an amicable termination of all suits and disputes touching the premisses, they have entred into an agreement, dated Framingham, September the eighth, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, an attested copy whereof has been laid before this court, which agreement hath been also ratified by vote of the proprietors in a legal proprietors' meeting; but inasmuch as some of the claims and disputes intended to be set-[t]led by said agreement are of such kind as that it is doubtful[l] whether the same can be legally set[t]led and made binding according to the true intent of the parties by all that hath been done or can be done by any deeds of agreement, especially as some of the proprietors are minors, and such doubt and danger must greatly interrupt the quiet of the concerned, and hinder the improvement of the lands aforesaid, to the great damage of the said town of Framingham; and have thereupon prayed, that by a private act the agreement aforesaid, mutually entered into by the persons aforesaid, might be ratified and established, so as to operate according to the true intent thereof. And it being evident that if said agreement was rendered effectual and carried into execution, it would prevent many lawsuits and promote the general good of the interested in said common land[s],—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Proprietors' agreement confirmed, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That said agreement be and hereby is established and ratified; that an exact survey be taken of all the lands in the neck aforesaid, held under Joseph Buckminster, Esq[r]., deceased, at the charge of those who hold the same, by a surveyor and chainmen mutually chosen by the possessor of those lands and the proprietors of the common lands on the neck aforesaid; and in want thereof, by a committee of three persons to be appointed by the justices of the inferiour court of common pleas for the county of Middlesex.

[Sect. 2.] That all persons holding lands on the neck aforesaid, under any grants made by the said Buckminster, be quieted in the possession of so much thereof, and no more, than the number of acres expres[s]ly mentioned in their original grants; save only that fifty acres are allowed to the owners of the six hundred acres first granted by the said Buckminster on the neck aforesaid, by equal average.

[Sect. 3.] That if it shall appear that the said Buckminster was not [i][e]ntitled to those six hundred acres, and the same should hereafter in consequence thereof be recovered and set out in any part of the neck aforesaid now lying in common, the then proprietors of the common lands on the neck aforesaid who shall be so evicted, may demand and recover six hundred acres of the land aforesaid granted by the said Buckminster, or the value of the lands evicted, and the same land shall be chargeable accordingly; anything herein to the contrary notwithstanding.

* Parchment mutilated by mice.

[SECT. 4.] That if, upon the survey aforesaid, it appears that any person holds more lands on the neck aforesaid under the said Buckminster, his heirs or assigns, than the number of acres expressly mentioned in the said Buckminster's original grant, such person shall either set[t] the same off in a regular form in one [i][e]ntire peice, and resign the same to the proprietors aforesaid, or pay them the value thereof, exclusive of the improvements made thereon, upon an appraisement made by three persons mutually chosen and appointed by him and the proprietors aforesaid; and in want thereof, by a committee of three persons to be appointed by the justices of the inferio[u]r court of common pleas for the county of Middlesex.

Joseph Buckminster, Esq., to release his right in said neck.

[SECT. 5.] That Joseph Buckminster of Framingham, Esq[r]., release to the proprietors of the common lands aforesaid on the neck, all the right and interest that he now hath in the neck aforesaid, and the same is remi[s][tt]ed to them accordingly.

Division into lots confirmed.

[SECT. 6.] That the division of the lands on the neck aforesaid into lots, made by the proprietors aforesaid, be confirmed, and that the residue of the lands there belonging to the proprietors, be laid out into such lot[t]s as may best accom[m]odate the proposed division.

Grants made by the proprietors heretofore confirmed, &c.

[SECT. 7.] That the grants heretofore made by the proprietors aforesaid of lot[t]s number fifteen and number sixteen in the river range to Joseph Haven, Esq[r]., and also the two fifteen acre lot[t]s sold by said proprietors' committee to Benjamin Burnap, Jun[r]., be and hereby are confirmed to them and their heirs; and that all the other draughts of lot[t]s made by the aforesaid proprietors be void and of no effect; and that there be a new draught of all the lots, except the four lot[t]s aforesaid.

Owners of lands held under Thomas Danforth, Esq., considered as proprietors, &c.

[SECT. 8.] That the owners of all the lands in Framingham leased by Thomas Danforth, Esq[r]., deceased, be considered as proprietors of the common lands on the neck aforesaid; that each proprietor subscribing to said agreement draw a share thereof in proportion to the number of acres mentioned in the original title deed or the quantity found by a survey made at his own cost, at his own election; and the six hundred acres aforesaid, and also the six hundred acres adjo[y][i]ning to Sudbury line, containing Nobscot and Doeskin Hill, mentioned in said Danforth's lease to the aforesaid Joseph Buckminster, Esq[r]., deceased, shall also draw an equal share with the other lands, and such draughts shall be and remain to and for the use of the person or persons to whom the same belongs; but the other lands on the neck aforesaid, conveyed by the said Joseph Buckminster, Esq[r]., dece[ase]d, shall not draw any share in the division of the commons aforesaid.

Charges already arisen how to be paid.

[SECT. 9.] That the charges already incurred in bringing forward a division of the commons aforesaid, and the grants heretofore made by the proprietors to reimburse those charges, be allowed and paid by the whole propriety.

Dispute between Joseph Buckminster and Francis Brindley, Esqs., not to be affected.

[SECT. 10.] That nothing in the foregoing shall be construed to affect the dispute that is or may be between Joseph Buckminster, Esq[r]., and Francis Brindley, Esq[r]., who shall be [i][e]ntitled to the share or proportion of the commons that the lands sold by the same Buckminster and others to the said Brindley shall draw; and if that dispute shall be finally set[t]led in favour of the said Buckminster, so that he should hold such draughts, then the said Buckminster shall allow for the twenty acres sold to James Newton, otherwise, that the said Newton shall hold his measure, anything herein to the contrary notwithstanding.

Allowance to be made by Joseph Buckminster, Esq., in case.

[SECT. 11.] That the several clauses of this act shall operate according to the true intent of said agreement: and that all proprietors in common in said lands and persons claiming right with them, or to any share of commonage therein, their heirs and assigns, shall and hereby are bound by the settlement aforesaid as established by this act, and according to the true intent and meaning thereof, any legal incapacity of any such proprietor or claimant, and any defect in the executing said agreement or proceedings in such proprietary meetings notwithstanding. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1759. Operation of this act.

CHAPTER 12.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE SECOND PRECINCT IN THE TOWN OF HADLEY, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A DISTRICT, BY THE NAME OF AMHERST.

Whereas the inhabitants of the second precinct in the town of Hadley, in the county of Hampshire, have petitioned this court, setting forth sundry difficulties they labour under by means of their not being a district, and praying they may be so erected,— Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the said second precinct in Hadley, according to its present known bounds, be and hereby is erected into a sep[a][e]rate and distinct district by the name of Amherst; and that the inhabitants thereof do the duties that are required, and enjoy all privileges that towns do or by law ought to enjoy in this province, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted; and that the inhabitants of said district shall have full right to join with the inhabitants of the said town of Hadley in electing a representative annually, and shall be notified of the time and place of election with the inhabitants of the said town of Hadley, by a warrant from the selectmen of Hadley directed to the constable of said district, requiring him to warn the inhabitants of said district to attend the meeting for that purpose at the time and place by them assigned, which warrant shall be seasonably returned by said constable; and the representative may be chosen indifferently out of said town or either of the districts, his pay and allowance to be born by the town of Hadley and the said districts, in the proportion that they respectively pay to the province tax. Second precinct in Hadley erected into a separate district. Powers thereof.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That Isaac Ward, Reuben Ingraham, Phillip Ingraham, Isaac Hubbard, and Edward Elmor, and their respective estates lying within the bounds of the tract of seventeen hundred and seventy-seven acres petitioned for, and adjoining to the said second precinct line, be and hereby are annexed to the said district, there to enjoy privilege and do duty. Persons and estates annexed to said district.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That Timothy Dwight, Esq[r]., be and hereby is directed and impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant within said district, requiring him to warn the inhabitants of said district qualified to vote in town affairs, to assemble at some suitable time and place to choose such officers as are necessary to manage the affairs of said district: provided, nevertheless, the inhabitants of said district shall pay their proportionable part of all such town, county, and province charges as are already assessed in like manner as tho' this act had not been made. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1759. Power for calling a meeting. Proviso.

CHAPTER 13.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE INHABITANTS OF THE WEST WING OF RUTLAND, IN THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER, INTO A PRECINCT.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of the West Wing of Rutland, in the county of Worcester, have represented to this court the great difficulties and inconvenienc[i]es they labour under in their present situation, and have earnestly requested that they may be incorporated into a precinct; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

West wing of Rutland incorporated as a precinct.

[SECT. 1.] That the inhabitants of that tract of land in the town of Rutland, in the county of Worcester, called the West Wing, be, and they hereby are, incorporated as a precinct, and shall have and enjoy all the rights, priviledges and immunities which by law precincts have heretofore been vested with; and that the said inhabitants, or the major part, be, and they hereby are, authori[s][z]ed and enabled to elect, appoint and pay a schoolmaster for the instruction and education of the children of the said inhabitants, as also to elect, appoint and pay a surveyor or surveyors of the highways within said precinct.

And be it further enacted,

Power to make assessments.

[SECT. 2.] That the said inhabitants, or the major part of them, be, and they hereby are, authori[s][z]ed and impowered to assess the inhabitants of the said West Wing in such sum or sums of money as they or the major part of them shall deem sufficient to defrey all the charges and expences of the said precinct.

And be it further enacted,

Power for calling a meeting.

[SECT. 3.] That John Murray, Esq., be, and he hereby is, impowered to issue his warrant to some principal inhabitant of the said precinct, requiring him, in his majesty's name, to warn and notify the said inhabitants to meet together at such time and place in said precinct as by said warrant shall be appointed, to choose such officers as may be necessary to manage the affairs of said precinct. And the inhabitants being so met, shall be, and hereby are, impowered to choose precinct officers accordingly. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1759.

CHAPTER 14.

AN ACT TO PREVENT A MULTIPLICITY OF LAWSUITS.

Preamble.

1742-43, chap. 25. 1754-55, chap. 5.

WHEREAS of late it hath been the practi[s][c]e of some of the sheriffs, undersheriffs, or their deputies, within this province, to receive from some of the justices of the peace and the clerks of the courts within the respective counties blank writ[t]s, and then fill them up and serve them, and sometimes appear by virtue of a power of attorney to pursue the same; which practice has a tendency very much to increase the number of lawsuits, and to a partial administration of justice; for remedy whereof,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

No sheriff, &c., to presume to fill any writ or give advice and assistance except in certain cases.

[SECT. 1.] That no sheriff, undersher[r]iff, or deputy sheriff within this province, from and after the tenth day of February, 1759, shall presume to draw or fill up any writ[t] for any matter or thing whatsoever, triable before any of his majesty's justices of the peace or courts of record within this province, or be any ways of advice or assistance therein, unless in cases where he or they are concerned as plaintiff; and in case it appears to the justice or court to whom such writ is returned, that any writ was so drawn or filled up as aforesaid, such justice or court shall dismiss the same and allow costs for the defendant.

And be it further enacted,

No sheriff, &c., to appear as an attorney, &c.

[Sect. 2.] That no appearance of any sheriff, his undersheriff or deputy, before any justice of the peace or court of record, by virtue of a power of attorney, shall be allowed good to any intent or purpose whatsoever, in the county where he is an officer, except where the party giving the power lives out of the province, and in this case his appearance shall not be allowed if he filled the writ. CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT MAKING PROVISION FOR THE QUARTERING AND BILLETING RECRUITING OFFICERS AND RECRUITS IN HIS MAJESTY'S REGULAR FORCES EMPLOYED FOR THE PROTECTION AND DEFENCE OF HIS MAJESTY'S DOMINIONS IN NORTH AMERICA.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Recruiting officers on application to have quarters provided by the selectmen, or in default or absence of the selectmen by a justice of the peace, on public houses, who are to furnish them with diet, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That when and so often as during the continuance of this act application shall be made by any recruiting officer or officers in any of the troops that are or may be employed in his majesty's service for the protection and defence of his majesty's colonies upon the continent of North America, to any of the selectmen of any town or district within this province, or in the default or absence from the respective towns and districts of any selectmen, to any one justice of the peace for the county, inhabiting in or near such town or district, such selectmen or such justice are hereby required to quarter and billet such recruiting officers, and such recruits in his majesty's service, in any of the publick houses within such town or district licenced for the selling within doors wine, rum or other strong liquors by retail; and the officers and soldiers so quartered and billeted as aforesaid shall be received and furnished with diet and small beer by the occupiers of such licenced houses in which they may be quartered and billeted, payment and allowance to be made therefor by such recruiting officers as shall demand quarters as follows; viz[t]., for one commission officer of foot, under the degree of a captain, for his diet and small beer, per diem, one shilling sterling, and so in proportion for part of a day; and if such officer shall have an horse or horses, for each such horse or horses, for their hay, per diem, sixpence sterling, and for each foot soldier and each recruit his diet and small beer, fourpence sterling per diem, and so in proportion for part of a day.

Rates for billeting, &c.

Soldiers may be accommodated at houses taken up for that purpose in case.

1758-59, chap. 8, § 3.

[Sect. 2.] And in case there should be any house or houses already taken up in any town or towns and suitably furnished with barrack utensils and necessaries to accommodate his majesty's troops, agreeable to an act passed in the thirty-first* year of his majesty's reign, [e][i]ntituled "An Act providing for the reception and accommodation of his majesty's forces within this province," that in this case the selectmen or justices of said town or towns, instead of quartering said soldiers upon the taverners or innholders of such town or towns, shall accommodate them with barrack utensils and other necessaries of billeting at such house or houses so taken up, anything contained in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

* Thirty-second: the act was passed October 12, 1758.

Provided, also,—

And be it further enacted,

Persons aggrieved, to whom to apply and in what way and manner they shall be relieved, &c.

[SECT. 3.] That in case any person shall find himself aggrieved in that any selectm[e][a]n has quartered or billeted in his house a greater number of soldiers than he ought to bear in proportion to his neighbours, and shall complain thereof to one or more justice or justices of the peace for the county where such soldiers are quarter[ed][ing], or in case such soldiers shall have been quartered by a justice of the peace, then on complaint made to two or more justices of the peace for the county, such justices, respectively shall have and hereby have power to relieve such person by ordering such and so many of the soldiers to be removed or quartered upon such other person or persons as they shall see cause; and such other person or persons so licenced shall be obliged to receive such soldiers accordingly.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for any selectman or justice of the peace refusing or neglecting to quarter officers and soldiers, or that shall receive a reward, &c.

[SECT. 4.] That if any selectman or justice of the peace shall neglect or refuse for the space of four hours to quarter or billet such officers or soldiers, when thereunto required, in such manner as is by this act directed, provided sufficient notice be given before the arrival of any recruiting parties, or shall receive, demand, contract or agree for any sum or sums of money, or any reward whatsoever, for or on account of excusing or in order to excuse any person or persons whatsoever from quartering or receiving into his, her or their house or houses any such officer or soldier, or in case any occupier of any publick licenced house liable by this act to have any officer or soldier bil-[l]et[t]ed and quartered on him or her, shall refuse to receive and victual any such officer or soldier so quartered and billeted upon him or her as aforesaid according to the directions of this act, and shall be thereof convicted before two justices of the peace for the county where such offence shall be committed, one of which justices to be of the quorum either by his or her own confession, or by the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, every person so offending shall forfeit to his majesty for every such offence the sum of five pounds sterling or any sum of money not exceeding five pounds sterling nor less than forty shillings sterling, as the said justices before whom the matter shall be heard shall in their discretion think fit, to be levied by distress and sale of the goods of the person offending, by warrant under the hands and seals of the justices before whom such offender shall be convicted, to be directed to the sheriff of the county, his deputies, or any constable of the town where the offender shall dwell, such fine or forfeiture to be paid into the province treasury and to be applied to the publick charges of this government.

Or occupier of any publick house who shall refuse or neglect to quarter officers and soldiers.

To be levied by distress.

Applied to the charges of the government. Limitation.

[SECT. 5.] This act to be and remain in force, from and after the twenty-ninth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, to and until the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and no longer. [Passed January 17;* published February 14,† 1759.

CHAPTER 16.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT TO PREVENT FRAUD IN CORD-WOOD EXPOSED TO SALE."

Preamble. 1705-6, chap. 8, § 1.

WHEREAS in and by an act made and passed in the fourth year of her late majesty Queen Anne, intit[u]led "An Act to prevent fraud in cord-

* February 13, according to the record.
† January 20, according to the printed acts.

wood exposed to sale," it is enacted, "that all cord-wood exposed to sale shall be four feet long, accounting to half the carf; and the cord, being well and close laid together, shall measure eight feet in length and four feet in heig[h]th." Notwithstanding which, great frauds and abuses have for several years past, and still are daily committed in bringing to many towns in this province, and there exposing to sale, great quantities of firewood, commonly called cord-wood, not more than three feet or three feet and a half long, whereby the inhabitants of such towns, and especially the poor thereof, are greatly injured and defrauded, there being no penalty annexed by said law to such persons as are guilty of the breach thereof; for remedy whereof, and for preventing the like abuses for the future,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Admeasurement of cord-wood.

[Sect. 1.] That if any firewood or wood designed for fewell, commonly called cord-wood, which shall be less in length than four feet, including half the carf as aforesaid, shall, after the first day of November next, be brought by water into any towns in this province for sale, such wood shall be forfeited, two third parts thereof to the use of the poor of the town, and the other third part thereof to the sealer of wood, who shall seize the same accordingly.

Penalty.

And be it further enacted,

Selectmen to appoint meet persons to be sealers of wood, &c.

[Sect. 2.] That in every town or district within this province where wood is usually sold by the cord, the selectmen shall annually, or as occasion shall require, nominate and appoint some meet persons to be measurers and sealers of wood, who shall be sworn in like manner as other town officers to the faithful[l] and diligent discharge of their office, and the selectmen shall from time to time appoint such fees or allowance for their service as they shall judge reasonable.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for carting or carrying wood until measured.

[Sect. 3.] That no wharfinger or carter shall, by himself or any for or under him, cart or carry any firewood or wood commonly used or intended for fewell from any wharf[f][e] or landing place in any town in this province, except for the proper use and consumption of such wharfinger or carter, that shall not be four feet in length, including half the carf, and until it hath been first measured by the officer appointed by the selectmen as aforesaid, on penalty of forfeiting and paying six shillings for every load of wood so carried off, and every wharfinger shall be chargeable to the officer or person appointed to measure wood as aforesaid, for his fees, if demanded, and be compelled by law to pay him the same.

Preamble.

And whereas frequent complaints are made that such of the inhabitants of the town of Boston as are poor, and usually purchase their firewood and charcoal in small quantities, are greatly defrauded in their measure, and not having the quantity bought; for preventing whereof, and for ascertaining the quantity of wood and charcoal bought,—

Be it enacted,

Carts or sleds to be marked and numbered, &c.

[Sect. 4.] That each cart or sled employed by any wharfinger or common carter belonging to the town of Boston, be so marked and numbered by the sealer of wood on some proper part of such cart or sled, as that it may thereby be seen and known what quantity of wood such cart or sled will contain and carry, and the mark and number of each cart or sled shall be registred by the town clerk of said town; and no wharfinger or carter aforesaid shall presume to carry any wood unless for his own fire, in any cart or sled that shall not have been so marked, numbered, and registred, and that shall not have at the time of such carrying the marks and number remaining visible thereon.

Provided, nevertheless, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 5.] That when any person purchases a quantity of firewood for his own burning, and lands it on any wharfe or landing besides a common wharfinger's, he may employ any cart or carts to carry off the same: saving only, that such carter shall not carry within the town of Boston more than six feet at a time, under the penalty of six shillings for each offence. And no greater quantity than six feet shall within the town of Boston be carried at any one time; and every person offending in either of the particulars aforesaid shall forfeit and pay the sum of six shillings for each offence. And if any dispute shall arise between the buyer and seller as to the quantity of wood delivered, and the quantity bought or agreed for; and if on cording and sealing the same at the place of delivery, it shall appear there is not the quantity of wood delivered which was bought or agreed for, the seller shall pay the buyer the costs of c[ord][art]ing and sealing the wood the second time, as also the sum of four shillings for each offence.

Penalty.

And be it further enacted,

Admeasurement of baskets for charcoal.

[SECT. 6.] That all basket[t]s used and improved in measuring charcoal brought into any town for sale, shall contain two bushel[l]s, and be of the following dimensions; viz[t]., twenty-one inches in heighth, and nineteen inches in breadth; and every person that shall measure coal in any basket of less dimensions, shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of three shillings, and said basket[t] shall be destroyed: provided, nevertheless, that no persons shall be obliged to measure coal sold, where the quantity shall be agreed upon by the buyer and seller.

Penalty.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

Selectmen to appoint meet persons to seize deficient baskets for measuring charcoal, &c.

[SECT. 7.] That the selectmen of any town where coal is usually sold, or the major part of them, be and hereby are fully impowered to appoint, as occasion shall require, such meet person as they shall judge proper for seizing and securing all basket[t]s improved for measuring coal that are not of the dimensions aforesaid, and prosecute such person or persons as shall be guilty of the breach of this act.

Fines how to be recovered and applied.

[SECT. 8.] All fines and forfeitures arising on the breach of this act may be recovered by bill, plaint or information in any court of record or before any of his majesty's justices of the peace, according to the nature of the offence; one moiety thereof shall be for the informer, and the other moiety for the use of the poor of the town where the offence shall be committed.

Limitation.

[SECT. 9.] This act to be in force for three years from and after the first day of November next, and to the end of the then next sitting of the general court, and no longer. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1759.

CHAPTER 17.

AN ACT IN FURTHER ADDITION TO AN ACT INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT FOR EXPLANATION OF AND SUPPLEMENT TO AN ACT REFERRING TO THE POOR," &c.

Preamble.
1740-41, chap. 20, 1741-42, chap. 4, 1749-50, chap. 16.

WHEREAS it sometimes happens that considerable charges arise to some towns in this province by means of their being obliged to take care of lew[e]d women at their lying-in with bastard children, and for nursing and taking care of such bastard children,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Selectmen, &c, to bind lewd women to service.

[Sect. 1.] That it shall and may be lawful for the selectmen or overseers of the poor of any town within this province, with the assent of two justices of the peace, to bind out to service for a term not exceeding five years, any unmarried woman who shall hereafter be delivered of a bastard child, and who during her lying-in shall have been supported, with her child, at the charge of such town, or whose bastard child shall become a town charge before it arrive at the age of five years, and who shall be unable or shall refuse to reimburse or procure the reimbursement of such charge or expence.

Preamble.

And whereas there frequently happens in the several counties through this province many failures both on the part of masters and mistresses, and on the part of indented servants, in the performance of their respective covenants or duties, as expressed in their indentures or deeds of covenant whereby said servants are bound, and many injuries may be committed by masters or mistresses to bound-servants, as well as by such servants to their respective masters and mistresses, which require a summary and speedy method of redress,—

Be it further enacted,

General sessions empowered to take cognizance on the complaints of the overseers of the poor or selectmen, relating to the deficiency of masters and mistresses towards their servants.

[Sect. 2.] That it shall and may be lawful for the courts of general sessions of the peace for the respective counties, upon complaint or representation made by the overseers of the poor or selectmen of any town in such county, or by the overseers appointed for the county where any indented, bought, or any way legally bound, servant or apprentice shall not be within any town or district, that any such servant or apprentice have been abused or evil treated by their masters or mistresses, or that the education of such children in reading or writing and cyphering, according to the tenor of their indentures, has been unreasonably neglected, to take cognizance of such representation or complaint, and if upon [i] [e] nquiry there shall appear to have been just cause therefor, such master or mistress shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds, for the use of the poor of the town or district where such master or mistress shall then be an inhabitant, to be levied by distress and sale of his or her goods, by warrant to be issued by order of the court aforesaid; and the said court may order such child or children to be liberated or discharged from their masters or mistresses, and any male so discharged being under the age of twenty-one years, and any female under the age of eighteen years, may, by order of such court, be bound to other persons until they arrive to the age of twenty-one or eighteen years, respectively; and if such representation shall not be sufficiently supported or proved, the same shall be dismissed; and no fee shall be allowed or taken by said court for the entry of such representation or complaint, or any process thereon.

Penalty.

Sessions' power of binding servants after they have been liberated, &c.

And be it further enacted,

In case of the elopement, &c., of servants, on complaint of their masters or mistresses, general sessions empowered to order satisfaction.

Proviso.

[Sect. 3.] That if any apprentice or servant shall elope or desert the service to which he or she is or shall be bound as aforesaid, and damage accrue thereby to the master or mistress of such servants, it shall and may be lawful for the justices of the court of sessions, upon application made to them, to order satisfaction to be made by such servant or apprentice, to his or her master or mistress, either by service or otherwise, as to them shall seem meet: provided, that if any apprentice or servant shall, during the present war, inlist and actually go into his majesty's service, he shall not for such inlistment be deemed a deserter from the service of his master or mistress, nor be held to make satisfaction as aforesaid.

Limitation.

[Sect. 4.] This act to be and continue in force until the fifteenth day of February, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, and no longer. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1759.

CHAPTER 18.

AN ACT PROVIDING THAT THE SOLEMN AFFIRMATION OF THE PEOPLE CALLED QUAKERS SHALL IN CERTAIN CASES, BE ACCEPTED INSTEAD OF AN OATH IN THE USUAL FORM.

Preamble. 1743–44, chap. 29. 1747–48, chap. 6.

WHEREAS the people called Quakers profess to be, in their consciences, scrupulous of taking an oath in the form by law required,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Quakers permitted to make affirmation.

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the tenth day of February, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, every Quaker within this province who shall be required upon any lawful occasion to take an oath where, by law, an oath is required, shall, instead of the usual form, be permitted to make his, or her, solemn affirmation or declaration in the words following; viz[t].,—

Form of affirmation.

I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely affirm and declare, under the pains and penalties of perjury.

—which said solemn affirmation or declaration shall be adjudged and taken,—

And it is hereby enacted and declared,

Affirmation to be of force and effect, &c.

[SECT. 2.] To be of the same force and effect, to all intents and purposes, in all courts of justice and other places where by law an oath is required within this province, as if such Quaker had taken an oath in the usual form.

And be it further enacted,

False affirmation to be deemed perjury.

[SECT. 3.] That if any Quaker making such solemn affirmation or declaration shall be lawfully convicted, wilfully, falsely, and corruptly to have affirmed or declared any matter or thing which, if the same had been in the usual form, would have amounted to wilful [l] and corrupt perjury, every such Quaker so offending shall incur the same penalties and forfeitures as, by the laws of this province, are enacted against persons convicted of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Provided, always,—

And be it enacted,

Proviso.

[SECT. 4.] That no Quaker or reputed Quaker shall by virtue of this act be qualified or permitted to serve on any jury in any of the courts within this province (without taking the oath by law required, except in civil causes only; and in such causes such persons shall be liable to serve as a juror on taking the affirmation aforementioned, and on refusing to take the same, shall be subjected to the same fine that others are, by law, subjected to for not serving as jurors) nor bear any office in this government where an oath is, by law, required to qualify a person for the discharge of such office, except in town offices only, and in such case not to serve as an assessor or collector for any rate or tax to be made for the support of the minister or ministers in any town, or for building or repairing of any house for the public worship of God within the same.

And be it further provided and enacted,

In case the majority of assessors or collectors chosen being Quakers, towns empowered to choose other persons, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That where one-half or more of the assessors or collectors of any town shall be of the people called Quakers, such of the inhabitants of said town who are not Quakers may and shall at the same meeting at which such assessors or collectors, being Quakers, are chosen, proceed to the choice of an equal number of other persons who are not Quakers; and such assessors or collectors so chosen shall be as fully qualified by themselves, where the whole number of the first-chosen assessors are Quakers, or together with the other assessors who are not Quakers, when any such there be, to make rates and taxes for the settlement and support of the ministry, and for building and repairing any house or houses for the public worship of God within such town, and for no other purposes; and such collector shall be as fully impowered to collect the same as they, the said assessors and collectors, would have been had no other assessors or collectors been before chosen: and any assessor or collector so chosen shall be liable to the same penalty for refusing to serve in their respective office as he would have been had he been chosen and refused to serve as assessor or collector of all the rates and taxes in said town.

[Sect. 6.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of five years from the tenth day of February, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1759. Limitation.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY OF FEBRUARY, A. D. 1759.

CHAPTER 19.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL RATES AND DUTIES OF IMPOST AND TUNNAGE OF SHIPPING.

We, his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, being desirous of lessning the public debts, have chearfully and unanimously given and granted, and do give and grant, to his most excellent majesty, for the service of this province, as they shall hereafter apply it, the several duties of impost upon all liquors, wares, goods and merchandizes that shall be imported into this province, and tonnage of shipping, hereafter mentioned; and pray that it may be enacted, —

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, to the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, there shall be paid by the importers of all wines, rum and other liquors, goods, wares and merchandize that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants thereof (except what is by this act hereafter exempted), the several rates and duties of impost following; viz^t., —

For every pipe of wine of every sort, ten shillings.

For every hogshead of rum, containing one hundred gallons, eight shillings.

For every hogshead of sugar, fourpence.

For every hogshead of molasses, fourpence.

For every hogshead of tobacco, ten shillings.

For every pound of tea that shall be imported from any of his majesty's plantations in America, one shilling.

—And so, proportionably, for a greater or less quantity.

And for all other commodities, goods or merchandize not mentioned or not excepted, fourpence for every twenty shillings value: excepting such goods as are the product or manufacture of Great Britain.

[SECT. 2.] And for any of the above-mentioned liquors, goods, wares and merchandize (excepting tea, which shall pay only one shilling), that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants of the other provinces or colonies on this continent, or of the English West-India Islands, in any ship or vessell to them belonging, on the proper account of any of the said inhabitants of the said provinces, colonies or islands, there shall be paid by the importers double the impost laid by this act: provided always, that everything which is the growth or produce of the provinces or colonies aforesaid (tobacco and bar-iron excepted), and all provisions, salt, cotton-wool, pig-iron, mohogony, brazilleto, black-walnut, lingum-vitee, red-cedar, logwood, hemp, raw skins and hides, and also all prize goods brought into and condemn'd in this province, are and shall be exempted from every the rates and duties aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That all goods, wares and merchandize, the property of any of the inhabitants of any of the neighbouring provinces or colonies on this continent, that shall be imported into this province, and shall have paid, or * which there shall have been secured to be paid, the duty of impost, by this act provided to be paid, and afterwards shall be exported and landed in any of the said provinces or colonies on this continent, then, and in such case, the exporter, producing a certificate from some officer of his majesty's customs, that the same have been landed in some of the provinces or colonies aforesaid, shall be allowed a drawback of the whole duty of impost by him paid, or secured to be paid, as by this act provided.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That the master of every ship or vessell coming into this province from any other place, shall, within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port or harbour, and before bulk is broken, make report and deliver a manifest, in writing, under his hand, to the commissioner aforesaid, of the contents or loading of such ship or vessell, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantities of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessell, with the marks and numbers thereof, and to whom the same are consigned; and make oath before the commissioner that the same manifest contains a just and true account of all the lading taken on board and imported in such ship or vessell, so far as he knows or beleives; and that if he knows of any more wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize laden on board such ship or vessell, and imported therein, he will forthwith make report thereof to the commissioner aforesaid, and cause the same to be added to his manifest.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That if the master of any ship or vessell shall break bulk, or suffer any of the wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessell to be unladen before report and entry thereof be made as aforesaid, he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That all merchants and other persons, being owners of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported into this province, for which any of the rates or duties aforesaid are payable, or having the same consigned to them, shall make an entry thereof with the commissioner aforesaid, and produce an invoice of all such goods as pay ad valorem, and make oath before him in form following; viz^{t}.,—

You, A. B., do swear that the entry of the goods and merchandize by you now made, exhibits the sterling value of said goods, and that, bonâ fide, according to your best skill and judgment, it is not less than that value. So help you God.

—which oath the commissioner or receiver, appoint'd in consequence of this act, is hereby impowered and directed to administer; and the owners aforesaid shall pay to the said commissioner, or give security to pay, the duty of impost by this act required, before such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize be landed or taken out of the vessell in which the same shall be imported.

* Sic.

[SECT. 7.] And no wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize that by this act are liable to pay impost or duty, shall be landed on any wharff, or in any warehouse or other place, but in the daytime only, and that after sunrise and before sunset, unless in the presence or with the consent of the commissioner or receiver, on pain of forfeiting all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, and the lighter, boat or vessell out of which the same shall be landed or put into any warehouse or other place.

[SECT. 8.] And if any person or persons shall not have and produce an invoice of the quantities of rum or liquors to him or them consigned, then the casks wherein the same are, shall be gauged at the charge of the importer, that the contents thereof may be known.

Provided, nevertheless,—

[SECT. 9.] That the said commissioner shall be and hereby is allowed to give credit to such person or persons whose duty of impost in one vessell shall not exceed six pounds: which credit shall be so limited as that he shall settle and ballance his accompts with every person, on or before the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, that the said accompts may be produced to this court as soon as may be after; and for all entries where the impost to be paid doth not exceed three shillings the said commissioner shall not demand anything, and not more than sixpence for any other single entry to what value soever.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 10.] That the importer of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, from and after the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and untill the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, by land-carriage, or in small vessells or boats, shall make report and deliver a manifest thereof to the commissioner aforesaid or his deputy, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantity of all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize so imported, with the marks and numbers thereof, when, how and by whom brought; and shall make oath, before the said commissioner or his deputy, to the truth of such report and manifest, and shall also pay or secure to be paid the several duties aforesaid by this act charged and chargeable upon such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, before the same are landed, housed or put into any store or place whatsoever.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 11.] That every merchant or other person importing any wines into this province, shall be allowed twelve per cent for leakage. provided, such wines shall not have been filled up on board; and that every hogshead, butt or pipe of wine that hath two-thirds thereof leaked out, shall be accounted for outs, and the merchant or importer shall pay no duty for the same. And no master of any ship or vessell shall suffer any wines to be filled up on board without giving a certificate of the quantity so filled up, under his hand, before the landing thereof, to the commissioner or receiver of impost for such port, on pain of forfeiting the sum of one hundred pounds.

[SECT. 12.] And if it may be made to appear that any wine imported in any ship or vessell be decayed at the time of unloading thereof, or in twenty days afterwards, oath being made before the commissioner or receiver that the same hath not been landed above that time, the duties and impost paid for such wines shall be repayed unto the importer thereof.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 13.] That the master of every ship or vessell importing any liquors, wines, goods, wares or merchandize, shall be liable to pay the impost for such and so much thereof, contained in his manifest, as shall not be duly enter'd, and the duty paid for the same by the person or persons to whom such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned. And it shall and may be lawful, to and for the master of every ship or other vessell, to secure and detain in his hands, at the owner's risque, all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in any ship or vessell, untill he receives a certificate, from the commissioner or receiver of impost, that the duty for the same is paid, and untill he be repaid his necessary charges in securing the same; or such master may deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize as are not entered, unto the commissioner or receiver of the impost in such port, or his order, who is hereby impowered and directed to receive and keep the same, at the owner's risque, untill the impost thereof, with the charges, be paid or secured to be paid; and then to deliver such wine, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize as such master shall direct.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 14.] That the commissioner or receiver of the impost in each port, shall be and hereby is impowered to sue the master of any ship or vessell, for the impost or duty of so much of the lading of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported therein, according to the manifest to be by him given upon oath, as aforesaid, as shall remain not enter'd and the duty of impost therefor not paid or secured to be paid. And where any goods, wares or merchandize are such that the value thereof is not known, whereby the impost to be recovered of the master, for the same, cannot be ascertained, the owner or person to whom such goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned, shall be summoned to appear as an evidence at the court where such suit for the impost and duty thereof shall be brought, and be there required to make oath to the value of such goods, wares or merchandize.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 15.] That the 'ship or vessell, with her tackle, apparell and furniture, the master of which shall make default in anything by this act required to be performed by him, shall be liable to answer and make good the sum or sums forfeited by such master, according to this act, for any such default, as also to make good the impost or duty for all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize not enter'd as aforesaid, or for which the duty of impost hath not been paid; and, upon judgment recovered against such master, the said ship or vessell, with so much of the tackle or appurtenances thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy said judgment, may be taken by execution for the same; and the commissioner or receiver of the impost is hereby impower'd to make seizure of the said ship or vessell, and detain the same under seizure untill judgment be given in any suit to be commenced and prosecuted for any of the said forfeitures or for the duty aforesaid; to the intent, that if judgment be rendered for the prosecutors or informer, such ship or vessell and appurtenances may be exposed to sale, for satisfaction thereof, as is before provided: unless the owners, or some on their behalf, for the releasing of such ship or vessell from under seizure or restraint, shall give sufficient security to the commissioner or receiver of impost that seized the same, to respond or satisfy the sum or value of the forfeitures and duties, with charges, that shall be recovered against the master thereof, upon such suit to be brought for the same, as aforesaid; and the master occasioning such loss or damage unto his owner, through his default or neglect, shall be liable unto their action for the same.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 16.] That the naval officer within any of the ports of this province shall not clear or give passes to any master of any ship or vessell, outward bound, untill he shall be certified, by the commissioner or receiver of the impost, that the duty and impost for the goods last imported in such ship or vessell are paid or secured to be paid.

[SECT. 17.] And the commissioner or receiver of the impost is hereby impower'd to allow bills of store to the master of any ship or vessell importing any wines or liquors, for such private adventures as shall belong to the master or seamen of such ship or vessell, at the discretion of the commissioner or receiver, not exceeding three per cent of the lading; and the duties payable by this act for such wines or liquors, in such bills of stores mentioned and expressed, shall be abated.

And for the more effectual preventing any wines, rum or other distill'd spirits being brought into the province from the neighbouring governments, by land, or in small boats or vessells, or any other way, and also to prevent wines, rum or other distill'd spirits being first sent out of this province, and afterwards brought into the government again, to defraud the government of the duties of impost,—

Be it enacted,

[SECT. 18.] That the commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost shall, and he is hereby impower'd and enjoin'd to, appoint one or more suitable person or persons as his deputy or deputies, in all such places of this province where it is likely that wine, rum or other distilled spirits will be brought out of other governments into this; which officers shall have power to seize the same, unless the owner shall make it appear that the duty of impost has been paid therefor since their being brought into or relanded in this government; and such officer or officers are also impowered to search, in all suspected places, for such wines, rum or distilled spirits or tea brought or relanded in this government, where the duty is not paid as aforesaid, and to seize or secure the same for the ends and uses as in this act is hereafter provided.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 19.] That the commissioner or his deputies shall have full power to administer the several oaths aforesaid, and search in all suspected places for all such wines, rum, liquors, tea, goods, wares and merchandize as are brought into this province, and landed contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, and to seize the same for the uses hereinafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 20.] That if the said commissioner, or his deputy, shall have information of any wines, rum or other distill'd spirits, or tea, being brought into and landed in any place in this province, for which the duties aforesaid shall not have been paid after their being brought into or relanded in this government, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place; and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said commissioner or his deputy's making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid; and having such warrant, and being attended by such officer, the said commissioner or his deputy may, in the daytime, between sunrising and sun-setting, demand admittance, of the person owning or occupying such place, and, upon refusal, shall have right to break open such place; and, finding such liquors or tea, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is impower'd to command assistance, and impress carriages necessary to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and any persons refusing assistance, or preventing any of the said officers from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to the said commissioner; and he or his deputy shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance afforded, and carriages made use of, to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and the commissioner or his deputy shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferiour court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made, which court shall summon the owner of such liquors or tea, or the occupier of such shop, house or warehouse, or distill-house, where the same were seized, to appear and shew cause, if any he has, why such liquors or tea so seized shall not be adjudged forfeited, and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause as aforesaid, or shall make default, the said liquors or tea shall be adjudged forfeited, and the said court shall order them to be sold at public vendue; and the nett produce of such sale shall be paid, one half to the province treasurer for the use of this province, and the other half to the said commissioner.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 21.] That there shall be paid, by the master of every ship or other vessell, coming into any port or ports of this province, to trade or traffick, whereof all the owners are not belonging to this province (except such vessells as belong to Great Britain, the provinces or colonies of Pensylvania, West and East Jersey, Connecticutt, New York, New Hampshire and Rhode Island), every voyage such ship or vessell doth make, one pound of good pistol-powder for every ton such ship or vessell is in burden: saving for that part which is owned in Great Britain, this province, or any of the aforesaid governments, which is hereby exempted; to be paid unto the commissioner or receiver of the duties of impost, and to be employed for the uses and ends aforesaid.

[Sect. 22.] And the said commissioner is hereby impowered to appoint a meet and suitable person, to repair unto and on board any ship or vessell, to take the exact measure or tonnage thereof, in case he shall suspect the register of such ship or vessell doth not express and set forth the full burthen of the same; the charge thereof to be paid by the owner or master of such ship or vessell, before she shall be cleared, in case she shall appear to be of a greater burthen: otherwise, to be paid by the commissioner out of the money received by him for impost, and shall be allowed him, accordingly, by the treasurer, in his accompts. And the naval officer shall not clear any vessell, untill he be certified, also, by the commissioner, that the duty of tonnage for the same is paid, or that it is such a vessell for which none is payable according to this act.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 23.] That when and so often as any wine, rum or tea imported into this province, the aforesaid duty of impost upon which shall have been paid agreeable to this act, shall be reshipped and exported from this government to any other part of the world, that then, and in every such case, the exporter of such wine, or rum or tea shall make oath, at the time of shipping, before the receiver of impost, or his deputy, that the whole of the wine, or rum or tea so shipp'd has, bonâ fide, had the duty of impost aforesaid paid on the same, and shall afterwards produce a certificate, from some officer of the customs, that the same has been landed out of this government,—or otherwise, in case such rum, or wines or tea shall be exported to any place where there is no officer of the customs, or to any foreign port, the master of the vessell in which the same shall be exported shall make oath that the same has been landed out of the government,—and the exporter shall, upon producing such certificate, or upon such oath of the master, make oath that he verily beleives no part of said wines, rum or tea has been re-landed in this province,—such exporter shall be allowed a drawback from the receiver of impost as follows; viz^{t}.,—

For every pipe of wine, nine shillings.
For every hogshead of rum, seven shillings and sixpence.
And for every pound of tea, one shilling.
Provided, always,—

[SECT. 24.] That if, after the shipping of such wines, or rum or tea to be exported as aforesaid, and giving security as aforesaid, in order to obtain the drawback aforesaid, the wine, or rum or tea so shipped to be exported, or any part thereof, shall be relanded in this province, or brought into the same from any other province or colony, that then all such rum, wine and tea so relanded and brought again into this province, shall be forfeited and may be seized by the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 25.] That there be one fit person, and no more, nominated and appointed by this court, as a commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost and tunnage of shipping, and for the inspection, care and management of the said office, and whatsoever relates thereto, to receive commission from the governour or commander-in-chief for the time being, with authority to substitute and appoint a deputy receiver in each port, or other places besides that in which he resides, and to grant warrants to such deputy-receivers for the said place, and to collect and receive the impost and tunnage of shipping as aforesaid that shall become due within such port, and to render the account thereof, and to pay in the same, to the said commissioner and receiver: which said commissioner and receiver shall keep fair books of all entries and duties arising by virtue of this act; also, a particular account of every vessell, so that the duties of impost and tonnage arising on the said vessell may appear; and the same to lye open, at all seasonable times, to the view and perusal of the treasurer or receiver-general of this province (or any other person or persons whom this court shall appoint), with whom he shall account for all collections and payments, and pay all such monies as shall be in his hands, as the treasurer or receiver-general shall demand it. And the said commissioner or receiver and his deputy or deputies, before their entering upon the execution of their said office, shall be sworn to deal truly and faithfully therein, and shall attend in the said office from ten o'clock in the forenoon, untill one in the afternoon.

[SECT. 26.] And the said commissioner or receiver, for his labour, care and expences in the said office, shall have and receive, out of the province treasury, at the rate of sixty pounds per annum; and his deputy or deputies shall receive for their service such sums as the commissioner of impost, together with the province treasurer, shall judge necessary, for whatever sums they shall receive and pay; and the treasurer is hereby ordered, in passing and receiving the said commissioner's accompts, accordingly, to allow the payment of such salary or salaries, as aforesaid, to himself and his deputies.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 27.] That all penalties, fines and forfeitures accruing and arising in consequence of any breach of this act, shall be one half to his majesty for the use of this province, and the other half to him or them that shall seize, inform and sue for the same, by action, bill, plaint or information, in any of his majesty's courts of record, wherein no esoign, protection or wager of law shall be allowed; the whole charge of the prosecution to be taken out of the half belonging to the informer.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 28.] That from and after the commencement of this act, in all causes wherein any claimer shall appear, and shall not make good the claim, the charges of prosecution shall be born and paid by the said claimer, and not by the informer. [Passed March 28; * published March 22, 1759.

CHAPTER 20.

AN ACT IN FURTHER ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL LAWS NOW IN BEING FOR THE MORE SPEEDY FINISHING THE LAND-BANK OR MANUFACTORY SCHEME.

Preamble. 1748-49, chap. 16. 1754-55, chap. 24.

WHEREAS, notwithstanding the several laws made for bringing the Land-bank or Manufactory Scheme to a conclusion, yet, by reason of the death of some of the late partners in said scheme, the insolvency of others, the removal of divers of them out of the province, after their having sold their real estates, the difficulties that have occurred in making sale of the real estates that have been taken in execution, together with the last assessment, which was lodged in the secretary's office, being rend[e]red invalid, this affair as yet remains unset[t]led, to the great damage of all concerned; and whereas, an account has been taken, in consequence of a law pass[e]'d at the session of the general court in March last, of all the manufactory bills outstanding, amounting to about nine hundred and ninety-five pounds in those bills, to the end that an assessment might be made for the drawing in said bills forthwith, and thereby putting a stop to the interest growing thereon,— 1757-58, chap. 28.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Commissioners appointed in the room of John Jeffries and John Chandler, Esqs.; and their power.

[SECT. 1.] That Thomas Goldthwait and Nathan[i][a]el Hatch, Esq[rs]., be commissioners in the room of John Jeffries, Esq[r]., who has resigned, and of John Chandler, Esq[r]., who declined attendance on this service soon after his appointment to receive commission from the governour, and the said commissioners, with Samuel Danforth, Esq[r]., or any two of them, after the said Thomas Goldthwait and Nathan[i][a]el Hatch have been duly sworn as the law directs, shall, by virtue of this act, have as full power in all respects as the commissioners heretofore by law appointed for adjusting and settling the affairs of that scheme were vested with, and they are hereby authorized and directed, as soon as may be, to make an assessment of three thousand pounds, lawful money, on such of those persons mentioned in a list printed in the supplement to the "Boston Gazette," one thousand seven hundred and forty-five, as are now living within this province, whom they shall judge of ability as to estate, forthwith to pay what they shall be assessed, and to proportion the same among them as agre[e]able to the rules heretofore observed by the commissioners as may be, and the assessment so made the said commissioners shall immediately after the making thereof cause to be published in the Boston weekly newspapers, that so every person concerned may have the knowledge thereof, and have opp[u][o]rtunity to pay the sum assessed on them respectively to the commissioners; and if any person so assessed shall neglect payment [by] [for] the space of thirty days next after the publication thereof, the said commissioners shall forthwith issue their executions against such delinquent and their estates; which execution shall be in the form following; viz[t].,—

* In the governor's handwriting.

Form of the execution.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, } Esq^rs., Commissioners for the more speedy finishing the Land-Bank or Manufactory Scheme.

To the sheriff of the county of , his under-sheriff or deputy. Greeting:

Whereas on the day of an assessment was made by us on divers of the late directors and partners in said scheme, and afterwards published in the public newspapers in Boston agre[e]able to law, since which more than thirty days have elapsed, in which A. B. of C., in the county of E., a late partner in said scheme was assessed the sum of , as his part or proportion; and altho' public notice has been given of said assessment as aforesaid, yet the said A. B. has neglected to pay the same to us. You are therefore hereby required, in his majesty's name, to levy of the monies of the said A. B. the sum of or of his goods and chatt[le][el]s to the value thereof, and pay the same to us within thirty days coming, and for want of such money or goods and chatt[le][el]s to the value thereof, when sold at an outcry, to be by him shewn unto you or found within your precinct, you are hereby commanded to apprehend the body of the said A. B., and him commit unto his majesty's goal in and the keeper thereof is hereby commanded to receive the said A. B. into the said goal, and him safely keep until[l] he shall pay the full sum aforesaid, with your fees. Hereof fail not, and make return of this precept with your doings into our office at Boston within thirty days next coming. Given under our hands and seals at Boston, the day of A. D. , and in the year of his majesty's reign.

Sheriffs, &c., to levy executions.

And all sheriffs, under-sheriffs and deputies, and where they are interested, all coroners, and where the sum exceeds not ten pounds, all constables are impowered to serve said executions, being directed to them.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners when enabled to redeem bills to give notice.

[SECT. 2.] That the said commissioners, or the major part of them, as soon as they are enabled to redeem said bills, shall give notice in the said weekly newspapers of the time and times in the town of Boston, when and where they will attend to redeem them, which public notice being inserted in all the weekly newspapers printed in Boston six weeks successively, is hereby made and declared a legal tender to all and every possessor and possessors of said bills.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners empowered to call sheriffs, &c., to account.

[SECT. 3.] That the said commissioners be and they hereby are fully impowered to call to account all sheriffs, deputy-sheriffs, coroners and constables who have received warrants heretofore against any of the said directors or partners, and those of them who have been or shall be guilty of negligence or misfeazance pursue in a course of law until[l] final issue in order to recover damages, to which they are hereby declared liable, for their negligence or misfeazance.

And be it further enacted,

Bills redeemed, the commissioners empowered to make a new assessment, &c.

[SECT. 4.] That so soon as the aforesaid bills shall have been redeemed, the said commissioners shall proceed to make another assessment, as equitably as may be, as well upon such of the partners who, having some estate, may have been omitted in their former assessment, as upon the real estate of all said partners who are deceased or removed out of the province, and conveyed away their said estates contrary to an act or law of this province made in the seventeenth year of his present majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act for the more speedy finishing the Land-bank or Manufactory Scheme," and to proportion the same in such manner according to the laws heretofore made relative to said scheme, as that any losses or charges arisen or that may arise, may be born by the persons concerned therein as equitably as may be, and shall give notice thereof as in this act is directed relating to the other assessment, to the end that the tenants in possession or others concerned may be duly apprized thereof, and may pay said assessment; and if neglect be made of payment for the space of thirty days next after such notice given, the said commissioners are hereby authorized and impowered forthwith to sell so much of the said real estate which did belong to such delinquent partner, as they shall judge sufficient to answer his said assessment, and give sufficient deed or deeds therefor, first giving notice of time and place of sale thirty days beforehand; and upon the executing such deed or deeds, it shall be lawful for the vendee or vendees immediately, and without other process in the law, to enter into the estate so conveyed, and to hold the same, the conveyance of any such partner contrary to the said act made in the seventeenth year of his present majesty's reign, or the possession of any such tenant or tenants notwithstanding, and execution shall issue against the aforesaid partners who have been omitted in their former assessment in manner and form as is provided by this act.

Preamble.

And whereas endeavours have been used to discourage and prevent persons, otherwise inclined to purchase, from bidding for estates taken by execution, and exposed to public[k] sale,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Directors' or partners' estates not sold by public sale, &c., may be otherwise disposed of.

[SECT. 5.] That where the estate of any of the late directors or partners, taken by warrants or execution from the commissioners, hath or shall be exposed to public[k] sale, and could not be sold, or where the highest sum bid as the purchase consideration was or shall be but of trifling value compared with the real value of such estate, in such case it shall be lawful for the said commissioners, or such other person or persons as by law are vested with authority to dispose of such estate, to convey the same by private sale, where 'tis apprehended that said estate may be so vended to better advantage.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners to sit in the town of Boston.

[SECT. 6.] That the said commissioners shall sit[t] in the town of Boston for the accomplishing those affairs, as often as they shall judge necessary, and be paid for their service what this court shall judge reasonable; and if there shall be a surplus in the hands of the said commissioners after redeeming said bills and paying all losses and necessary charges, the said commissioners shall divide and pay the same equitably among the said partners who shall have duly paid their said assessments.

And be it further enacted,

Persons purchasing lands from commissioners, &c., barred from bringing actions, &c.

[SECT. 7.] That all persons who shall purchase any of the lands aforesaid from the s[ai]d commissioners or sheriffs shall be forever excluded and debar[re]'d from bringing any action or actions against the said commissioners or sheriffs upon the account of any disturbance which may happen to the said purchasers or any of them in their possessions or titles from any person or persons whatsoever. CHAPTER 21.

AN ACT FOR THE SPEEDY LEVYING OF SOLDIERS FOR AN INTENDED EXPEDITION AGAINST CANADA.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it has been determined by the votes and resolves of the general assembly of this province that five thousand men, including officers, should be raised for his majesty's general service this present year, over and above the garrison at Castle William, the several forts and garrisons on the eastern and western frontiers, and such marching parties as may be necessary for the defence of said frontiers, and the seamen necessary for the ship King George; and whereas provision has already been made by the assembly aforesaid for raising four hundred of said five thousand men; therefore, for the effectual levying four thousand six hundred men, including officers, being the remaining part of said five thousand men,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

General muster.

[SECT. 1.] That on the sixth day of April next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, there shall be a muster of all the companies of horse and foot of the militia of this province, and of the batteries of the towns of Boston, Charlestown, Marblehead, Salem and Glocester, and Chief officer to notify the same by a sergeant or corporal, either in person or by leaving a notification at the place of his abode.

the captain or chief officer of each of said companies shall immediately give notice thereof by a sergeant or corporal of his troop or company, to each person belonging to the same, from the age of sixteen to sixty, and not by the law of this province exempt from attending military exercises, either in person, or in case of his absence or not being to be found, by leaving a notification in writing at the place of his abode; and Penalty for non-appearance.

every person notified in either of the ways aforesaid shall punctually and duly attend until dismissed, unless unavoidably prevented, on penalty of forfeiting and paying sixteen pounds, to be sued for and recovered with costs of suit, by the clerk of the troop or company to which such delinquent belongs; and if such delinquent be a minor or servant, the action to be brought against and penalty recovered of his parent or master; one third of said penalty to be for the use of said clerk, and the other two thirds shall by him be paid into the hands of the treasurer of the town, district or parish, to be employed in hiring men into his majesty's service, as there shall be occasion, and drawn out for that purpose by the captain or chief officer of the troop or company.

How to be recovered and applied, &c.

In case of deficiency of the quota assigned any company or troop, the same to be completed by an impress, &c.

[SECT. 2.] And in case any troop or company, being warned as aforesaid, shall not, on or before the said sixth day of April next, at four of the clock in the afternoon, have made up the dificiency of their enlistments and compleated their quota, then the captain or chief officer of such troop or company shall immediately proceed to impress or cause to be impressed so many able-bodied men as shall be necessary in order to compleat his quota as aforesaid; and every person so impressed and not exempted as aforesaid, shall be deemed a soldier in the service into which he was impressed, unless he shall obtain a discharge in writing under the hand of the captain or chief officer of the company or colonel of the regiment to which he belongs, or from the commander-in-chief of the province, or otherwise shall pay to the captain or chief officer of the troop or company to which he belongs the sum of eight pounds within one hour after he is impressed, to be disposed of in hiring another man in his stead, and to account upon oath for the overplus, if any there be, to be paid to the treasurer of the town, district or parish, to be employed in hiring men into his majesty's service as there shall be occasion, and drawn out for that purpose by the captain or chief officer of the troop or company; and in case the fine or fines paid by impressed men as aforesaid shall not be sufficient to hire able-bodied men enough to make up the quota immediately, such captain or officer shall proceed to impress more men; and in case of their paying the fine aforesaid, or being discharged as aforesaid, shall go on without delay to impress in manner aforesaid, until the quota be compleated either by hiring with the fines, or with the impressed men as aforesaid.

Fines, how to be disposed of.

Preamble.

And whereas many persons liable to train and do military duty may come from other governments into this province to avoid doing their duty at home, and others who are inhabitants within this province may strole from town to town or place to place to avoid impresses, and others that do not belong to any particular company,—

Be it further enacted,

Residents or strollers impressed, to be deemed soldiers.

[SECT. 3.] That the colonels of each regiment, captain or chief officer of any troop or company who shall be in want of men to compleat his quota after ten of the clock in the forenoon, on the sixth day of April next, may impress any residents or strolers within his district, being persons suitable to be impressed, though the same persons do not belong to his regiment or company; and such persons so impressed shall be deemed soldiers in the service: unless they do really belong to some company of the militia within this province that shall have compleated its quota before the said sixth day of April next, or shall be discharged by the governour or commander-in-chief, or such person as he shall appoint for such purposes: unless he doth procure some able-bodied, effective man to the acceptance of the officer who impressed him, or to the muster master, who shall inlist in his room, on or before the time appointed for his passing muster.

Proviso.

Preamble.

And whereas the people called Quakers alledge a scruple of conscience against any military service, and persist in their neglect or refusal to attend on military musters,—

Be it enacted,

Quakers exempted.

[SECT. 4.] That such of the inhabitants of this province as profess themselves to be of the people called Quakers, shall be and hereby are declared to be exempt from the fines and forfeitures for not attending on military musters, and for not attending the service upon an impress, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Preamble.

And in order to prevent any unequal burthen upon any company in which there are any of the people called Quakers liable to be impressed, and to prevent any deficiency in the whole number of men required to be raised by this act,—

Be it further enacted,

Quakers liable to be impressed to pay £13 6*s.* 8*d.*, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That in every company in which there are any of the people called Quakers, liable to be impressed, the captain or chief officer of such company is hereby impowered and required to engage and employ a sum not exceeding thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence per man, in order to hire into the service so many men as by this act would have been liable to be impressed from such people called Quakers, in a due proportion to the other part of the company, the sums so engaged to be paid out of the public treasury upon an account thereof exhibited to and allowed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, and to be levied in the next tax-act upon the people called Quakers, in such manner and proportion as shall be therein ordered.

And be it further enacted,

Treasurer to tax Quakers, &c.

[SECT. 6.] That if the general assembly who shall pass the next tax act shall omit therein to levy the aforesaid sums on the people called Quakers, that then the province treasurer shall be, and he hereby is impowered and directed to add the said sums to the town or district's proportion wherein such Quakers live respectively, over and above such town or district's ordinary proportion of the province tax, distinguishing it, however, from said proportion, that so the respective assessors of said towns and districts may assess such Quakers for the same accordingly as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Colonels to file list of Quakers in secretary's office.

[SECT. 7.] That the captain or chief officer of every company in each regiment within this province that shall have employed any sum or sums to hire persons into the service in the room and stead of the people called Quakers, in consequence of this act, shall, sometime before the twenty-fifth day of May next, in this present year, prepare and deliver to the colonel of the regiment to which he belongs, a list of all the people called Quakers, or who, under a pretence of a scruple of conscience, absent themselves from military musters within the respective districts of their respective companies, specifying in such list the towns of which each and every such person is an inhabitant; and every such colonel or chief officer of such regiment shall, sometime before the first day of June next, return such list into the secretary's office.

Penalty. [SECT. 8.] And every captain or chief officer of a company who shall fail of preparing and delivering such lists, shall forfeit and pay a sum double to that he shall receive out of the province treasury to hire men withal; one moiety thereof to his majesty for the use of the province, the other moiety to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same; and every colonel who shall neglect or refuse to deliver into the secretary's office within the time aforesaid the several lists delivered him by the officers aforesaid, shall for every such neglect forfeit and pay the like sum, to be recovered in manner and applyed to the uses aforesaid: provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to extend to the inhabitants of Nantucket, who are to attend and observe the rules and directions in the law of this province, relating to the inhabitants of that island, made in the present year of his present majesty's reign.

Proviso.

1758-59, chap. 23.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 9.] That if at any time before the men raised are delivered over to the officers going upon the expedition aforesaid, there shall be a deficiency in any troop or company in the number to be raised therein, that in every such case the captain or commanding officer of said troop or company is hereby authorized and required immediately, by impress, to make up said deficiency, and for that end may impress or cause to be impressed in any part of this province any able-bodied, effective man or men belonging to his troop or company liable to be impressed; and every person that, before four of the clock in the afternoon of the sixth day of April next, who* shall inlist and attend the service aforesaid, shall be deemed part of the quota ordered to be raised out of the troop or company whereunto he belonged; and every stroler or stragler that shall be impressed, and attend the service as aforesaid, shall be deemed part of that troop or company's quota whereunto that officer belongs who may impress him.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for neglect of duty. [SECT. 10.] That every captain or commanding officer, sergeant or corporal that shall neglect or refuse to do his duty by this act required of him, shall for every offence, if a captain or commanding officer, forfeit and pay the sum of thirty pounds; if a sergeant or corporal, the sum of four pounds, to be recovered by any person who shall prosecute for the same, either by action of debt or information; one third of said fine or forfeiture to be for the use of said prosecutor, the other two thirds to be lodged in the hands of the treasurer of the town, district or parish where said offender lives, to be drawn out for the use and purpose aforesaid, and no other, by the colonel of the regiment if the captain or commanding officer is the offender; if the sergeant or corporal is the offender, by the captain.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITULED "AN ACT FOR THE SPEEDY LEVYING OF SOLDIERS FOR AN INTENDED EXPEDITION AGAINST CANADA."

WHEREAS provision is already made by law for the officers of the militia speedy raising the levies agreed by this government for the intended invasion of Canada, but unless some further provision be made many desertions may happen, and great delay and inconveniencie may arise in marching the men so raised; for prevention whereof,— Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 21.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

That if any officer of this province that shall have received a commission and engaged in said service, shall refuse to obey the orders given him by the captain-general of this province, or his commanding officer, or shall not duly observe the same by punctually attending the militia officers to receive the men after they have raised and mustered them, or not march them as directed and required by the orders given them in manner as aforesaid, such expedition officers, unless unavoidably prevented, for such offence committed in this province, shall, if a field officer, forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds; if a commission officer, the sum of fifty pounds, to be recovered by action or information, the one moiety to him that shall inform or sue for the same, the other moiety to be to and for the use of this government. [Passed March 28; published March 22,† 1759. Penalty for expedition officers not obeying orders, &c.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Inhabitants of Nantucket to pay into the treasury £13 6*s.* 8*d.* for each man that shall be assigned them to raise.

[SECT. 1.] That when and so often as it shall be found necessary that a number of men should be raised in the several towns in this province for his majesty's service, and the quotas of such men assigned to the several towns, counties or regiment[s] within th[e][is] province, the inhabitants of the said island of Nantucket shall pay into the public treasury of this province the sum of thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence for each and every man that shall be assigned to them to raise as aforesaid; which monies shall be levied and collected on the polls and rateable estates of the inhabitants of said island by the same rules of law and in the same manner as the province tax is levied and collected, and shall from time to time be added to their province tax in the then next tax act.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Not to extend to those who are not inhabitants of the island of Nantucket.

[SECT. 2.] That this act shall not be construed or understood to extend to any persons who are not inhabitants of said island of Nantucket, but it shall and may be lawful for the sheriff of the county of Nantucket, or his deputies, and they are hereby severally required, to

—and no receipt or obligation shall be given for less than six pounds.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the aforesaid sum of forty-six thousand pounds, when received into the treasury, shall be issued out by the governour or commander-in-chief, by and with the advice of the council, in the manner and for the purposes following; viz[t]., the sum of thirty thousand pounds, part of the said sum of forty-six thousand pounds, for the paying the bounty to the men that shall inlist on or before the sixth day of April next for the expedition against Canada, pursuant to the order of this court; and the further sum of nine thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of forty-six thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the commissary's disbursements in purchasing necessary supplies for the forces that shall go in said expedition, hiring of vessels and transporting goods; and the further sum of two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of forty-six thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the forces that were sent on the alarm for the relief of Fort William Henry, in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven; and the further sum of two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of forty-six thousand pounds, shall be applied

£30,000 for paying bounty to enlisted men.

£9,000 for commissary's disbursements, &c.

£2,000 for paying of such who went to the relief of Fort William Henry.

£2,000 for hiring men in the room of Quakers.

* According to the printed acts.

for the payment of the several captains of the militia such sums of money as they shall employ in hiring men to go into the said expedition in the room of Quakers, pursuant to the directions of an act made in the present year of his majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for the speedy levying of soldiers in the intended expedition against Canada"; and the further sum of three thousand pounds, the remaining part of the aforesaid sum of forty-six thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the billeting of the men that shall be raised for said expedition, until they shall receive the king's provision.

1758-59, chap. 21, § 5.

And as a fund and security to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

Tax granted of £50,000.

£32,000 in 1759.

£18,000 in 1760.

[SECT. 3.] That there be and hereby is granted to his excellent majesty, a tax of fifty thousand pounds, to be levied on polls and estates within this province; and that thirty-two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of fifty thousand pounds, according to such rules and in such proportions as shall be agreed upon and ordered by the general court of this province on or before the first day of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and to be paid into the publick treasury on or before the second day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty; and the sum of eighteen thousand pounds, the remaining part of the said sum of fifty thousand pounds, according to such rules and in such proportions on the several towns and districts aforesaid, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and to be paid into the publick treasury on or before the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning a tax in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[SECT. 4.] That in case the general court shall not, before the first day of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and before the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by this act are engaged to be in each of said years apportioned, assessed and levied, that then, and in such case, each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their limits, the same proportion of the said sums as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

[SECT. 5.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, sometime in the month of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, and for their respective parts and proportion of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the public[k] treasury at the aforementioned times; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as have been given in the last preceeding tax act.

Fund.

And as a further fund to enable the treasurer to discharge the receipts and obligations aforesaid by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it further enacted,

Notes or securities given by the treasurer to be discharged out of the particular fund.

[SECT. 6.] That when the treasurer shall receive the money granted by the parliament of Great Britain to this province in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, who is hereby fully authorized and impowered to receive the same, or any part thereof, from any person or persons that shall bring the same into the government, it shall be applied by said treasurer, or so much thereof as shall be needful, for discharging such obligations, with the interest that shall be due thereon in pursuance of this act, and the overplus, if any there be, to remain as a stock in the treasury. mentary grant of 1758.

Provided, always, anything in this act notwithstanding,— Proviso.

[SECT. 7.] That in case the money aforesaid shall arrive from Great Britain, and be received into the province treasury on or before the first day of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and shall be sufficient to repay the sums engaged for by virtue of this act, and shall be sufficient for discharging the obligations given by the treasurer in pursuance of this act, then, and in such case, the several taxes which otherwise by this act are ordered to go forth, shall be and hereby are declared to be null and void. In case the money should be received on or before the first day of October.

[SECT. 8.] But if the sum that shall be received from Great Britain shall not be sufficient for the discharging the obligations given by the treasurer and interest thereon, in pursuance of this act; then, and in such case, the tax or taxes ordered by this act shall go forth only for a sum to make good the deficiency. CHAPTER 29.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY AN EXCISE UPON SPIRITS DISTILLED AND WINE, AND UPON LIMES, LEMMONS AND ORANGES.

WE, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful[l] subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in general court assembled, being desirous to lessen the present debt of the province, have chearfully and unanimously granted, and do hereby give and grant unto his most excellent majesty, for the end and use above mentioned, and for no other use, an excise upon all rum and other spirits distilled, and upon all wines whatsoever, and upon lemmons, limes and oranges, to be raised, levied and collected, and paid in manner and form following:— Preamble.

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, every person already licenced, or that shall be hereafter licenced, to retail rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall pay the duties following:— Time of this act's continuance.

For every gallon of rum and spirits distilled, eightpence.

For every gallon of wine of every sort, twelvepence.

For every hundred of lemmons or oranges sold, eight shillings.

For every hundred of limes sold, three shillings.

—And so proportionable for any other quantity or number.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That every retailer of rum, wine or spirits distilled, taverner, innholder and common victualler, shall, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, take a just and true account, in writing, of all wine, rum and spirits distilled then by him or her, or in his or her possession; and that every person who shall be hereafter licenced to be taverner, innholder, common Accounts to be taken.

* March 28 according to the record. † According to the printed acts.

victualler and retailer of wine, rum or spirits distilled, shall take a like account of all wine, rum and other spirits distilled by him or her, or in his or her possession, at the time of such licence granted; and that every taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer of rum or other spirits distilled, or wine shall make a fair entry, in a book by them respectively to be kept for that purpose, of all such rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, as he or she, or any person or persons for him or her, shall buy, distill, take in or rec[ie][ei]ve after such first account taken, and when and of whom the same was bought and taken in; and at the expiration of every half year shall take a just and true account how much thereof then remains by them; and shall, in writing, under their hands, render to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid the whole of those several accounts, and shall also make oath, in the form following, before such collector or collectors, who are hereby impowered to administer the same:—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the account by you now rendered is, to the best of your knowledge, a just and true account of all wines, rum and distilled spirits, you had by you, or in your possession, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and also of all the wine, rum and other distilled spirits bought, distilled, taken in or rec[ie][ei]ved by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by or with your knowledge, allowance, consent or connivance, and that there still remains thereof in your possession unsold, so much as is in this account said to remain by you unsold; and that you do not know or believe that there hath been by you, or by any other person or persons for or under you, or by your or their order, allowance, consent or connivance, either directly or indirectly, sold, used or consumed any wine, or any liquor for, or as, wine; any rum or distilled spirits, or liquor for, or as, rum or distilled spirits; or that there hath been any limes, lemmons or oranges sold by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by your order, consent, [or] allowance or connivance, used in making punch, or otherwise for sale, since the said twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, besides what is contained in the account by you now rendered. So help you God.

Penalty for collectors receiving accounts without oath.

—and every collector of the excise who shall rec[ie][ei]ve any account from any person in consequence of this act, without their making oath to the same as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for the use of the government the sum of twenty pounds.

Oath to be varied.

[SECT. 3.] And for every person that was not licenced on the same twenty-fifth day of March, the form of the oath shall be so varied as that, instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last account shall be inserted and used; and for every person rendering an account after the first, the oath shall be so varied, as that instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last accounts shall be inserted and used.

Duties to the collector.

[SECT. 4.] And every such taverner, innholder, retailer and common victualler shall pay the duties aforesaid to him or them that shall collect the same, or the whole of the several articles mentioned in such account rendered, saving only for such part thereof as remains in their hands unsold: provided, nevertheless, that for leakage, &c., ten per cent shall be allowed them on all liquors in such account mentioned, besides what remains in their hands unsold.

Ten per cent allowed for leakage.

And be it further enacted,

Taverner, &c., to give bond.

[SECT. 5.] That every person hereafter licenced to be taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer of any wine, rum or spirits distilled shall, within thirty days after such licence granted, and before he or she sell by virtue of the same, not only become bound to keep good rule and order, as by law is already required, but shall also become bound, with sufficient sureties, by way of recognizance, to his majesty, for the use of this government, in a sufficient sum, to be ordered by the court that grants the licence, which sum shall not exceed three hundred pounds nor be less than fifty pounds, conditioned that they shall keep and render the accounts aforesaid, and pay the duties aforesaid, as in and by this act is required.

And be it further enacted,

Forfeiture for neglect in keeping and rendering account.

[SECT. 6.] That every such taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer, who shall neglect or refuse to take, keep and render such accounts as by this act are required, or that shall neglect or refuse to take the oath aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay, to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid, double the sum which the court of general sessions of the peace in that county shall adjudge that the duties of excise upon the liquors, limes, lemmons and oranges by such taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer, or by any for, by or under him or them, sold, used or consumed would have amounted to; and no persons shall be licenced by the justices of the general sessions of the peace,who have not accounted with the collector, and paid him the excise aforesaid, due from such person at the time of his or her taking or renewing his licence.

Preamble.

And whereas, notwithstanding the laws made against selling strong drink without licence, many persons, not regarding the penalties of said acts, do rec[ie][ei]ve and entertain persons in their houses, and sell great quantities of spirits and other strong drink, without licence; by reason whereof great debaucheries are committed and kept secret, and such as take licences and pay the duties of excise therefor are greatly wronged, and the government thereby defrauded,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Forfeiture for selling without license.

[SECT. 7.] That if any distiller, importer or any other person whatsoever, after the said twenty-fifth day of March, shall presume, directly or indirectly, to sell any rum or other distilled spirits, or wine, in less quantity than twenty-five gallons, or any beer, ale, cyder, perry or other strong drink, in any quantity less than ten gallons, without licence first had and obtained from the court of general sessions of the peace in that county, and recognizing in manner as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for each offence, the sum of four pounds and costs of prosecution, two thirds for the use of the government and the other third for the prosecutor; and all such as shall neglect or refuse to pay the fine aforesaid, shall stand closely committed in the common goal of the county, and not have the liberty of the goaler's house or yard, until[l] said sum of four pounds is paid, with costs; and any goaler giving liberty contrary to this act, shall forfeit and pay the said sum of four pounds, to be disposed of in manner aforesaid, and costs of prosecution.

Preamble.

And whereas some doubts have arisen whether the lending or delivering rum, brandy or other spirits distilled, or wine to others, for their use, upon agreement or confidence of having the like liquors returned again, be a sale thereof; wherefore, for removing all such doubts,—

Be it enacted,

Liquors lent or delivered on certain considerations to be deemed a sale.

[SECT. 8.] That all rum, brandy and other spirituous liquors and wine, lent or delivered to others for their use, upon such like consideration, is, and shall be deemed and taken to be, an absolute sale thereof: and that every person not licenced as aforesaid, that shall order, allow, permit or connive at the selling any rum, brandy or other distill'[e]d spirits, or wine, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, by his or their child or children, servant or servants, or any other person or persons in or belonging to his or her house or family, shall be deemed and taken to be the seller of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against such offenders, and shall be recovered in like manner: provided, that if it shall be made to appear that the liquors lent or delivered as aforesaid, shall have had the duties paid upon them, or were purchased of any person or persons having licence or permit, the person lending or delivering the same, as aforesaid, shall not be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties.

Preamble.

And whereas divers other persons than those licenced to sell rum and other distilled spirits by retail, have heretofore suppl[y][i]ed persons employed by them in the fishery, building vessel[l]s, and in other bu[i]s[i]ness, with rum and other liquors, without paying any excise thereon, and thereby have defrauded the government of the duty of excise, and have not been subject to the penalty provided by law against selling drink without licence, and the same practice will probably be continued, unless effectual care be taken to prevent the same,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Persons not licensed supplying those employed by them in the fishery, &c., with spirituous liquors to be deemed sellers.

[SECT. 9.] That all persons not licenced, as aforesaid, who hereafter shall, by themselves, or by another person or persons under them, or by their order, allowance or connivance, supply any person or persons employed by them in the fishery, building of vessel[l]s, or any other bu[i]s[i]ness or employ, with rum or other distilled spirits, or wine, shall be deemed and taken to be sellers of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against persons selling any of the liquors aforesaid without licence, and shall be recovered in like manner, unless they make it appear that such wine, rum or other distilled spirits, was purchased of a taverner, innholder or retailer, or other person or persons that had licence or permit to sell the same.

And be it further enacted,

One witness sufficient for conviction.

[SECT. 10.] That when any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence, one witness produced to the satisfaction of the court or justice before whom the trial is, shall be deemed sufficient for conviction. And when and so often as it shall be observed that there is a resort of persons to houses suspected of selling strong drink without licence, any justice of the peace in the same county, shall have full power to convene such persons before him, to examine them upon oath concerning the persons suspected of selling or retailing strong drink in such houses, out-houses or other dependencies thereof; and if upon examining such witnesses, and hearing the defence of such suspected person, it shall appear to the justice there is sufficient proof of the violation of this act by selling strong drink without licence, judgment may thereupon be made up against such person, and he shall forfeit in like manner as if process had been commenced by action or information before the said justice; or otherwise said justice may bind over the person suspected, and the witnesses, to the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where such person shall dwell.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for selling strong drink to negroes, mulattoes, &c.

[SECT. 11.] That when and so often as any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence to any negro, Indian or mollato slave, or to any child or other person under the age of discretion, and other circumstances concurring, it shall appear to be highly probable in the judgment of the court or justice before whom the trial shall be, that the person complained of is guilty, then, and in every such case, unless the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath (to be administred to him or her by the court or justice that shall try the cause), such defendant shall forfeit and pay four pounds, one third to the informer, the other two thirds to the collector of excise for the use of the government, and costs of prosecution; but if the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath as aforesaid, the court or justice may and shall enter up judgment for the defend[an]t to recover costs.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 12.] That if any person or persons shall be summoned to appear before a justice of the peace, or the grand jury, to give evidence relating to any person's selling strong drink without licence, or to appear before the court of general sessions of the peace, or other court proper to try the same, to give evidence on the trial of any person informed against, presented or indicted for selling strong drink without licence, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence in that behalf, every person so offending shall forfeit the sum of twenty pounds and cost of prosecution; the one half of the penalty aforesaid to be to his majesty for the use of the province, and the other half to and for the use of him or them who shall sue for the same as aforesaid. And when it shall so happen that witnesses are bound to sea before the sitting of the court where any person or persons informed against, for selling strong drink without licence, is or are to be prosecuted for the same, in every such case, the deposition of any witness or witnesses, in writing, taken before any two of his majesty's justices of the peace, quorum unus, and sealed up and delivered into court, the adverse party hav[e]ing first had notice, in writing, sent to him or her, of the time and place of caption, shall be esteemed as sufficient evidence, in the law, to convict any person or persons offending against this act, as if such witness or witnesses had been present at the time of tr[y][i]al[l], and given his, her or their deposition viva voce; and every person or persons who shall be summoned to give evidence before two justices of the peace, in manner as aforesaid, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence relating to the facts he or she shall be enquired of[f], shall be liable and subject to the same penalty as he or she would have been by virtue of this act, for not appearing, or neglecting or refusing to give his or her evidence before the grand jury or court aforesaid. Penalty on persons refusing to give evidence.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 13.] That all fines, penalties and forfeitures arising by this act shall and may be recovered by action or information, before any court of record proper to try the same; and, where the sum forfeited doth not exceed four pounds, by action or information before any one of his majesty's justices of the peace in the respective counties where such offence shall be committed: which said justice is hereby impower'[e]d to try and determine the same. And said justice shall make a fair entry or record of all such proceedings: saving always to any person or persons who shall think him-, her- or themselves aggr[ei][ie]ved by the determination of said justice, liberty of appeal therefrom to the next court of general sessions of the peace to be holden for and within said county, at which court such offence shall be finally determined: provided, that in the same appeal the same rules be observed as are already required by law, in appeals from justices, to the court of general sessions of the peace: saving, only, that the recognizance for prosecuting the appeal shall be eight pounds. How fines, &c., are to be recovered.

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 14.] That every collector shall settle all acco[mp][un]ts relating to said excise in the several towns of the county where he is collector, first giving seasonable and public[k] notice of the time and place or places where said bu[i]s[i]ness shall be transacted. Collector to settle accounts.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 15.] That there be one or more collectors in each county appointed by the general court, or courts of general sessions of the peace, where it shall happen that such collector refuse to accept said office, or be removed by death or for mismanagement, to take charge of this duty of excise, who shall have full power to inspect the houses of all such as are licenced, and of such as are suspected to sell with- Collectors of the excise to be appointed by the general court.

out licence, which collectors shall be upon oath to take care of the execution of this law, and to prosecute the breakers of it.

[SECT. 16.] And every collector of the excise in any county may substitute and appoint one or more deputy or deputies under him, upon oath, to collect and receive the excise aforesaid which shall become due in said county, and pay in the same to such collector, which deputy and deputies shall have, use and exercise all such powers and authorities as, in and by this act, are given or committed to the collector for the better collecting the duties aforesaid, or prosecuting offenders against this act; for the doings of such deputies, the collectors, respectively, shall be accountable.

[SECT. 17.] And the said collectors shall carefully examine the accounts of every licenced person in their respective counties, and demand, sue for, and receive the several sums due from them by this act, and shall give in the name of every licenced and permitted person, and an account under their hands, of the particular sums they receive, and of whom received, unto the treasurer upon oath; which oath the treasurer is hereby impower'[e]d and directed to administer in the words following; viz[t].,—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that this is a just and true account of the excise upon all wines, rum and distilled spirits, limes, lemmons and oranges by you received or secured to be paid you in the county of ; and that the persons by whom such excise was paid or secured to be paid to you, were sworn in manner and form as by law is prescribed. So help you God.

Collectors to give two receipts for every sum received.

[SECT. 18.] And at the time of receiving any money, the said collector shall give two receipts of the same tenor and date, mentioning what sum or sums they have received from any taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer; one of which receipts to be by the said taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer returned to the court of general sessions of the peace within their respective counties, at the next session of such court, and the clerks of said court shall, within twenty days after receipt thereof, transmit the same to the treasurer or receiver-general.

[SECT. 19.] And such collectors shall pay in to the public treasury of this province all such sums as they shall receive within six months from the date of their commission, and so from time to time within the space of six months, as long as they shall continue in such office, on pain of forfeiting the reward given such collectors by this act, who shall be allow'[e]d, in the county of Suffolk, one and a half per cent; in the counties of Essex and Middlesex and Plymouth, two per cent, and in the other counties, three per cent on all money by them collected and paid into the treasury, as aforesaid: each collector, before he enters into the said office to give bond, for treble the sum that it was farm[e]'d for, in the respective counties, in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, to the treasurer of this province, for the time being, and his successors in said office; which bond shall be executed before the next court of general sessions of the peace in the respective counties after such appointment, where the said collectors live, or before two of his majesty's justices of the peace in the respective counties, one to be of the quorum (one of the said justices to return the certificate to the clerk of the sessions within thirty days as aforesaid) and be transmitted to the treasurer of the province by the clerk of the peace within such county, within three months after the bond is executed; and the said treasurer shall put in suit the bonds of all such collectors who shall neglect to make due payment within fifty days after either of the times of payment.

[Sect. 30.] And if the master of any vessel[1], or any other person, shall give such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, without receiving the liquors mentioned therein, or if any person shall procure such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, with design to defraud the government, and shall be thereof convicted, they and each of them shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds; two thirds for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor.

And if any such certificate, receipt or bill of lading shall be forged, counterfeited or altered, the person forg[e]ing, counterfeiting or altering shall incur[r] the penalty of one hundred pounds.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 31.] That the person having permit as aforesaid, shall not sell any of the liquors aforesaid in a quantity less than twenty-five gallons (to be sold and delivered to one person at one time), unless he or she hath licence from the court of general sessions of the peace, as aforesaid, on pain of incurring the several fines and penalties in the former part of this act laid upon those persons who sell the liquors aforesaid without licence.

Be it further enacted,

Collector to give certificate on penalty.

[SECT. 32.] That the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, when the exporter shall make an entry with him as aforesaid, or shall make an entry with him and swear as aforesaid, shall give to said exporter a certificate of such entry, or a certificate of such entry and oath, on penalty of one hundred pounds for the use of the exporter.

And be it further enacted,

Persons applying for a permit to give bond.

[SECT. 33.] That every person applying to the collector or his deputy, or to the impost officer or his deputy, for a permit, shall give bond, for the use of this province, with or without sureties, in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds, nor less than twenty pounds, at the discretion of the collector or impost officer, conditioned for the payment of the excise that shall become due according to the account to be exhibited by such person taking such permit; and no person shall have such permit of the collector or impost officer until[l] he hath given such bond.

Preamble.

And whereas the importer of any of the liquors aforesaid, or the person to whom they shall be consigned, may intend the same either for sale or for his or her own private consumption, in which case such importer or consignee is not sufficiently held by any preceeding part of this act to pay the duty or excise aforesaid; wherefore, in order to lay said duty or excise in as equal manner as may be,—

Be it enacted,

Persons importing liquors for private consumption, &c., to render account thereof to the collector.

[SECT. 34.] That every person that shall bring or import into this province, either by land or water carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid either for sale or private consumption, shall, within twenty-four hours, pay or secure to the collector the duties or excise due thereon; but in case such importer or consignee be licenced or permitted, then he shall be held only to report the same to the collector of excise, and at the end of each half-year, respectively, shall make out an account expressing the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid, imported or consigned as aforesaid; and when the account is rendered to the collector or his deputy, it shall be upon oath, and such importer or consignee shall pay to the said collector or his deputy, on the liquor or liquors mentioned in said account, the duty of excise afores[ai]d, deducting ten per cent for leakage; and in case of failure herein, the offender shall pay a fine of four pounds, and treble duty or excise on the quantity so imported or brought in, one third of which shall be for the use of the province, the other two thirds for him or her that shall inform and sue for the same.

Collector may apply to two justices for a citation, where he may suspect persons giving a false account, &c.

[SECT. 35.] And if said collector or his deputy shall have reason to suspect any person of bringing or importing into this province, either by land, or water carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid, without having enter'[e]d the same and secured the duties or excise aforesaid, the said collector may apply to two of the next justices of the peace to such suspected person, and within the county where he lives, and on making oath that he so suspects such person said justices shall issue a process under their hands and seals, directed to the sheriff or his deputy, or constable, requiring him to summons such suspected person, and oblige him to give security to the amount of one hundred pounds, to appear and answer and respond the judgment that shall be given on the premises; and in case such person shall not give such security, to bring him before such justices at the time that said justices in such process shall appoint; and when the parties shall be before them, the said justices shall examine into the cause of complaint; and if it shall appear, either by confession of the party, or by the evidence of one credible witness, that he or she, or any one on his or her behalf, has imported, or has had any of the liquors aforesaid consigned to him or her, without having entered the same and secured or paid the duty or excise as aforesaid, such suspected person shall then render a full account, on oath, of the kinds and quality of the liquors imported or consigned as aforesaid, and shall pay on such liquors, or give security to pay the aforesaid fine of four pounds, and treble duty or excise as aforesaid, one third for the use of this government, the other two thirds for the informer and prosecutor, and costs.

[Sect. 36.] And said justices are hereby impowered to make up judgment and award execution accordingly: provided, the said fine and treble damage exceed not six pounds, then said justices shall bind the offender to answer his offence at the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where the offence was committed, and such offender shall enter into recognizance, with two sufficient sureties, to answer for his offence, in the sum of fifty pounds; and any person or persons upon refusing to render such account and paying as aforesaid, shall forfeit fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, in lieu of such fine and treble duty, to be recovered as is hereafter provided in this act.

[Sect. 37.] And if no confession be made by such suspected person, and no evidence produced as aforesaid, and it shall appear to the justices before whom the same is tryed that there is sufficient ground of suspicion, the suspected person may then clear him- or herself from the complaint aforesaid, by taking an oath in the form following:—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that you have not, directly or indirectly, either by yourself, or any person in your behalf, imported into this province any rum, spirits distilled or wine, and that you have not had any of said liquors directly or indirectly consigned to you, but what you have paid, or secured to be paid, the duty or excise agreeable to an act of this province, made in the thirty-second year of his majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." So help you God.

—which oath the said justices are hereby impower'[e]d and required to administer.

Penalty for refusing to take the oath.

[Sect. 38.] And if such suspected person shall refuse to take said oath, and shall neglect to appear upon the citation aforesaid, he or she shall pay the cost of citation, and shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, and costs of prosecution; but if such suspected person shall take the said oath, the costs of citation or warrant shall be paid by the collector or his deputy, respectively, who appl[y'][ie]d for such citation or warrant; who shall also pay to the person cited or apprehended, and taking said oath, the sum of twenty shillings; and in case any person shall be served with the process aforesaid, in manner aforesaid, and shall not appear according to the tenor thereof, said justices shall make a record thereof, and the security taken by the sheriff or his deputy, or constable, as aforesaid, shall be deemed forfeited, and the same by said collector may and shall be put in suit in any court proper to try the same, and the sum recovered shall be divided, one third to his majesty for the use of this province, and the other two thirds to such collector.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to grant a permit on penalty.

[SECT. 39.] That the collector, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is obliged to grant a permit, under his hand, to every person applying for the same, on penalty of two hundred pounds, to and for the use of the person making application; which permit shall be in the form following; viz[t].,—

Form of the permit.

You, A. B. of C., in the county of D., are hereby permitted to sell rum and other distilled spirits, and wine, or any of said liquors, within the county of , until the day of , one thousand seven hundred and sixty, pursuant to an act of this province, made in the thirty-second year of his majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." Dated at C., this day of , 175 .

A. B., collector (or deputy collector) of excise for the county aforesaid.

Fee for a permit.

And for such permit the said collector or deputy shall be [i][e]ntit[u]led to rec[ie][ei]ve twopence, and no more; and the like sum for an entry made with him, and the like sum for a certificate given by him.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to keep an office in each seaport town, &c.

[SECT. 40.] That the collector of excise, either by himself or his deputy, shall keep an office in each seaport town within his county, where he or his deputy shall give his attendance on every Thursday, from nine o'clock in the morning to twelve at noon, to grant permits, rec[ie][ei]ve entries, give certificates, &c.

Provided,—

[SECT. 41.] That in the town of Boston such an office shall be kept, and attendance given on every day, Lord's day only excepted, within the hours aforesaid, of each of said days, respectively.

Provided, also,—

[SECT. 42.] That the said collector or his deputy, on application made, shall at any other time grant permits, rec[ie][ei]ve entries, and give certificates aforesaid.

Preamble.

And whereas persons not belonging to this province may import the liquors aforesaid, and take permit to dispose of the same, and may go out of the province before the time comes about when persons selling said liquors are held to account with the collector, and by that means may avoid paying the duty upon what has been so disposed of; for preventing whereof,—

Be it enacted,

Persons importing liquors as aforesaid, to give bond.

[SECT. 43.] That every person importing the liquors aforesaid, and applying to the collector or his deputy for a permit to sell the same, shall give bond to said collector in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds, nor less than twenty pounds, with or without sureties, at the discretion of the collector, that he will render to said collector or his deputy an account, on oath, of the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid sold by him, or by any person or persons on his behalf, and that he will pay thereon the duty or excise aforesaid before he leaves the province; and if such person shall refuse to give such bond, the said collector or his deputy shall not be obliged to grant him a permit, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding; and if such person shall sell any of the liquors aforesaid without permit, he shall be subject to all the penalties that other persons selling without permit are subject to; or if such person shall give bond as aforesaid, and shall leave the province before such bond be discharged, the collector may bring his action on said bond against the surety or sureties, for the recovery of the sum in such bond mentioned, which shall be, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government.

Be it further enacted,

Deputy collectors liable to military duties.

[SECT. 44.] That no person shall be exempted from any military duties by means or on account of his being appointed a deputy collector of the duties of excise of spirituous liquors, but shall, to all intents and purposes, be liable to train, be impressed and perform every other military duty, as if such person had not been appointed a deputy collector as aforesaid.

Be it further enacted,

All persons who had permits or license to sell liquors, and shall not renew the same, to account for the duties thereof.

[SECT. 45.] That all persons who took out permit[t]s in the preceeding year, and do not renew the same, shall, at the end of each half year from and after the twenty-sixth day of March next, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, render to the collector or his deputy that shall or may be appointed in the respective counties by virtue of this act, an account, on oath, of all liquors remaining in their hands and consumed in his, her or their families during the continuance of this act, and pay the duties herein imposed, deducting ten per cent for leakage, upon penalty of fifteen pounds, one half to the informer, the other half to and for the use of this province.

Be it further enacted,

Collector of the duties of excise to account for all wine, &c., sold or consumed by them.

[SECT. 46.] That every person that has been or may be appointed collector of the duties aforesaid, who shall import into this province or shall have, by consignment or otherwise, or shall sell or dispose of any wine, rum, or spirits distilled, limes, lemmons or oranges, or shall use or consume the same, such collector shall take, keep and render a like account thereof, upon oath, to the province treasurer, who is hereby impowered to administer the same in the form by this act prescribed, and pay to him the like duties thereon as such person so appointed collector would otherwise have been held and obliged to have taken, kept, rendered and paid to the collector of the duties aforesaid; and that the same be done in like manner and time, and under the like pains and penalties, as by this act in such cases is provided.

Be it further enacted,

How fines, &c., arising by this act are to be disposed of.

[SECT. 47.] That all fines, penalties and forfeitures, arising or accruing by any breach of this act, and not otherwise appropriated, shall be, two thirds to his majesty, for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor; to be recovered by action or information in any of his majesty's courts of record. ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE ELEVENTH DAY OF APRIL, A. D. 1759.

CHAPTER 31.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT, INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT FOR THE SPEEDY LEVYING OF SOLDIERS FOR AN INTENDED EXPEDITION AGAINST CANADA," MADE IN THE THIRTY-SECOND YEAR OF HIS PRESENT MAJESTY'S REIGN.

Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 21, § 5.

WHEREAS in and by an act, intit[a]led "An Act for the speedy levying of soldiers, for an intended expedition against Canada," it is, among other things, enacted, that in every company in which there are any of the people called Quakers, liable to be impressed, the captain or chief officer of such company is therein impowered and required to engage and employ a sum, not exceeding thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence per man, in order to hire into the service so many men as by said act would have been liable to be impressed from such people called Quakers, in a due proportion to the other part of his company, which sum of thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence is found by experience to be insufficient for the purpose aforesaid.—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Captain or chief officer of military companies allowed to advance £5 in addition to £13 6*s.* 8*d.* already granted, for hiring men in lieu of Quakers.

That the captain or chief officer of such companies, in which there [are] any of the people called Quakers, be hereby impowered and required, on or before the seventeenth day of May next, to engage and employ a further sum, not exceeding five pounds, in addition to said sum of thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence, for the purpose in said act mentioned, the sums so engaged to be paid out of the public treasury upon an account thereof exhibited to and allowed by the governour, with the advice and consent of the council, and to be levied upon the people called Quakers, born both upon train-band and alarm-list, in such manner as is provided in said act for levying the sum of thirteen pounds six shillings and eightpence per man. [Passed April 24; published April 25, 1759.

CHAPTER 32.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF TWENTY-TWO THOUSAND POUNDS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS this court have agreed to raise the further number of fifteen hundred men by inlistment, to co-operate with his majesty's forces for the reduction of Canada, and it is necessary that there be a speedy supply of money for the levying and cloathing the same,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer empowered to borrow £22,000.

[SECT. 1.] That the treasurer of this province be and he hereby is directed and impowered to borrow from such person or persons as shall be willing to lend the same, a sum not exceeding twenty-two thousand pounds, in Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, or in coined silver, sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce.

[SECT. 2.] And for the sum of nine thousand pounds so borrowed, the treasurer shall give a receipt and obligation in the form following; viz[t].,—

Form of treasurer's receipts.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 1759. Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer, to repay the said or order, the second day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver, of sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or in Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Witness my hand, H. G.

[SECT. 3.] And for the remaining sum of thirteen thousand pounds the treasurer shall give a receipt and obligation in the form following; viz[t].,—

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 1759. Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer, to repay the said or order, the second day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver, of sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or in Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Witness my hand, H. G.

—and no receipt or obligation shall be given for less than six pounds.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That the aforesaid sum of twenty-two thousand pounds, when received into the treasury, shall be issued out by the governor or commander-in-chief, by and with the advice of the council, in the manner and for the purposes following; viz[t].: The sum of twenty thousand pounds, part of the said sum of twenty-two thousand pounds, for the paying the bounty to the men that shall inlist on or before the tenth day of May next for the expedition against Canada, as also the allowance voted by this court to recruiting officers, pursuant to grants that are or shall be made by this court; and the further sum of two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of twenty-two thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the commissary's disbursements in purchasing necessary supplies for the forces that shall go in said expedition, hiring of vessels and transporting goods, pursuant to grants for that purpose which are or shall be made by this court.

£20,000 for bounty to enlisted men and recruiting officers.

And as a fund and security to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

Tax granted of £24,100

[SECT. 5.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty, a tax of twenty-four thousand one hundred pounds, to be levied on polls and estates within this province; and that nine thousand five hundred and forty pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of twenty-four thousand one hundred pounds, be levied on the several towns and districts within this province, according to such rules and in such proportions as shall be agreed upon and ordered by the general court of this province on or before the first day of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and to be paid into the public[k] treasury on or before the twentieth day of April, one thousand seven hundred and sixty; and the sum of fourteen thousand five hundred and sixty pounds, the remaining part of said sum of twenty-four thousand one hundred pounds, according to such rules and in such proportions on the several towns and districts aforesaid, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court in their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and shall be paid into the publick treasury on or before the last day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[SECT. 6.] That in case the general court shall not, before the first day of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and before their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and in their sessions in May, sometime before the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by this act are engaged to be in each of said years apportioned, assessed, and levied, that then, and in such case, each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their limits, the same proportion of the said sums as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

[SECT. 7.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, sometime in the month of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, to issue and send forth his warrants directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportion of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the public[k] treasury at the aforementioned times; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as have been given in the last preceeding tax act.

And whereas, humble trust and dependance is had by the general assembly on a reimbursement of the charges arisen on account of the expedition in one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight,—

Be it further enacted,

Proviso in case a parliament grant should be received on or before the 1st of October, 1759.

[SECT. 8.] That in case such reimbursement be made, and the money shall arrive from Great Britain, and be received into the province treasury on or before the first day of October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and be sufficient for discharging the obligations given by the treasurer in pursuance of this act, then, and in such case, the several taxes which otherwise by this act are ordered to go forth, shall be and hereby are declared to be null and void.

[SECT. 9.] And if the sum that shall be received from Great Britain shall not be sufficient for the discharging the obligations given by the treasurer and interest thereon, in pursuance of this act; then, and in such case, the tax or taxes ordered by this act shall go forth for a sum to make good the deficiency, and for such sum only. [Passed April 24; published April 25, 1759.

CHAPTER 33.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITULED "AN ACT FOR REGULATING OF FENCES, CATTLE, &c."

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council, and House of Representatives,

1693-4, chap. 7.

Proprietors of lands agreeing to improve the same in one common inclosure, empowered to make rules for the improvement of the same, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That when and so often as the proprietors of certain tracts of land, so situated as that they have or do agree to improve the same in one common inclosure, they shall have it in their power, by a major vote of the said proprietors, legally met (the votes to be reckoned according to the interest of each voter), to make such rules relating to the securing and improvement of the same, as they shall think just and equitable; and for that end, said proprietors shall annually meet together sometime in the month of May this year, and in the month of March in future years, during the continuance of this act; and, for the calling said meetings, any one of the proprietors of such tracts of land may apply to a justice of the peace, by a request in writing, under his hand, setting forth the ends and business of such meeting; such justice is hereby required and authorized to issue a warrant to said proprietor, directing him to post up a notification, in writing, in some publick place in the town where said land lays, fourteen days before the time appointed for said meeting, setting forth the time, place, ends, and purposes of said meeting, which shall be a legal warning. And all votes passed by the proprietors then present relative to the matters and things contained in said notification, and entred in a book by the proprietor that called the meeting, he being under oath for that purpose, shall be binding upon all the proprietors.

Provided, nevertheless,

Proviso.

[SECT. 2.] That when and so often as one or two men shall own the greater part of the lands, [i][e]nclosed, as above expressed, and he or they shall pass such vote or votes at any meeting, as the minor part of said proprietors do not agree to, the said minor part of said proprietors may apply to two justices of the peace, quorum unus, within the county in which such land l[y][i]es, for process, which justices are hereby authorized to issue a writ of summon, directed to the proprietor or proprietors who passed such vote or votes, requiring him or them to appear before the said justices fourteen days after the date of said summon; and the said justices are hereby authorized and impowered to hear, examine, and enter final judgment concerning the matter in controversy, and award a writ of execution upon such judgment, returnable to them in thirty days from the date thereof. And in case any of the proprietors shall neglect seasonably and sufficiently to make up his part of fence, he shall be liable to the penalty by law provided to enforce the proprietors of common fields to make and maintain their fences; and in case any proprietor turn stock into said inclosure before the day agreed upon by the vote of the proprietors, or shall, after that day, turn in more stock than his proportion, he shall be deemed a trespasser, and his creatures so put in shall be proceeded with by any of the proprietors as creatures taken damage feasant to all intents and purposes, as much as tho' he owned no lands in said inclosure; any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Limitation.

[SECT. 3.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of two years from the first day of May next, and no longer. [Passed April 24; published April 25, 1759.

CHAPTER 34.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO, AND FOR EXPLANATION OF, AN ACT, INTITULED "AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY AN EXCISE UPON SPIRITS DISTILLED AND WINE, AND UPON LIMES, LEMMONS AND ORANGES."

Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 29, § 1, 2.

Whereas, in and by an act made and passed in the present session of the general court, intituled "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges," it is, among other things, provided, that every person, then licenced, or that should be thereafter licenced, to retail rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall pay a duty of eight shillings for every hundred of lemmons or oranges sold, and a duty of three shillings for every hundred of limes sold, and so proportionably for any other quantity or number: whereupon a doubt hath arisen, whether the duties aforesaid are to be paid for any limes, lemmons and oranges other than such as any taverner, innholder, victualler, or retailer shall have used and consumed in making punch, or otherwise for sale,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council, and House of Representatives,

Duties to be paid for such limes, &c., only as are used in making punch.

[Sect. 1.] That the act aforesaid be so understood as that the duties aforesaid shall be paid for such limes, lemmons and oranges only as any taverner, innholder, victualler or retailer shall have used and consumed in making punch, or otherwise for sale; and that every taverner, innholder, victualler and retailer, shall render an account to the collector of such limes, lemmons and oranges, and of such only.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect 2.] That the oath, to be administ[e]red by the collector to every taverner, innholder, victualler and retailer, upon rend[e]ring his account, shall be in the form following, and in no other:—

Form of the oath to be administered by the collector.

You, A. B., do swear that the account by you now rendered is, to the best of your knowledge, a just and true account of all wines, rum and distilled spirits, you had by you, or in your possession, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and also of all the wine, rum and other distilled spirits bought, distilled, taken in or received by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by or with your knowledge, allowance, consent or connivance, and that there still remains thereof in your possession unsold, so much as is in this account said to remain by you unsold; and that you do not know that there hath been by you, or by any other person or persons for or under you, or by your or their order, allowance, consent or connivance, either directly or indirectly sold, used or consumed any wine, or any liquor for, or as, wine; any rum or distilled spirits, or liquor for, or as, rum or distilled spirits; or that there have been any limes, lemmons or oranges, by you, or by any other person or persons for or under you, or by your order, consent, allowance or connivance, used or consumed in making punch, or otherwise for sale, since the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, besides what is contained in the account by you now rendered. So help you God.

CHAPTER 35.

AN ACT FOR REVIVING AND CONTINUING SUNDRY LAWS THAT ARE EXPIRED OR NEAR EXPIRING.

Preamble. Sundry laws expired or near expiring, revived and continued.

WHEREAS the several acts hereinafter mentioned, which are now expired, or near expiring, have been found useful and beneficial; namely, two acts made in the thirteenth year of his present majesty's reign: the one intit[u]led "An Act for the effectual preventing of horses, neat-cattle, sheep and swine from running at large or feeding upon a certain island called Plumb Island, lying in Ipswich Bay in the county of Essex"; the other intit[u]led "An Act in addition to the several laws of this province relating to common roads and private ways"; and one act made in the twenty-sixth year of his present majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act for further regulating the proceedings of the court of probate within this province,"—

1739-40, chap. 8.

1739-40, chap. 12.

1752-53, chap. 12.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council, and House of Representatives,

Their continuance to 10th of June, 1766.

That the two first-mentioned acts, which are near expiring, be and they hereby are, continued; and that the last-mentioned act, which is expired, with all and every article, clause, matter and thing therein contained, be and hereby is revived; and that all the said acts shall be in force until the tenth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-six, and no longer. [Passed April 24; published April 25, 1759.

CHAPTER 36.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT, [E][I]NTITULED "AN ACT FOR THE EFFECTUAL PREVENTING THE CURRENCY OF THE BILLS OF CREDIT OF CONNECTICUT, NEW HAMPSHIRE AND RHODE ISLAND WITHIN THIS PROVINCE," MADE AND PASSED IN THE THIRTIETH YEAR OF HIS PRESENT MAJESTY'S REIGN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it frequently happens that persons who are entit[u]led to take out writs of execution upon judgments by them obtained are absent out of this province, or employed in his majesty's service in such parts of it as are very remote from the places where such judgments are entred, and so cannot take the oath by law appointed to be taken before executions are issued; wherefore for remedy of these inconvenienc[i]es,—

1756-57, chap. 34, § 6.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Clerks of the courts to issue execution to persons being absent from the province, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That when any person or persons shall be absent from this province, or employed in his majesty's service in such parts thereof as are very remote from the courts or places where they recover judgments, in all such cases it shall be lawful[l] for the clerks of the superiour court of judicature, court of assize, and general goal delivery, and of the inferiour courts of common pleas, or other court of law, to issue writs of executions (when applied for) upon judg[e]ments recovered by such person or persons, as are before mentioned, notwithstanding he or they have not taken the oath appointed to be taken, by an act made and passed in the thirtieth year of his majesty's reign; provided, nevertheless, that before executions are issued as aforesaid, a certificate in writing, under the hand of any justice of the peace for any county in the province, shall be delivered to the clerk who issues the execution, setting forth that at the date of said certificate the person or persons on whose behalf execution is apply'd for is then out of the province or employ[e]'d in his majesty's service as aforesaid.

[SECT. 2.] This [bill] [act] to be in force till the last day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and no longer. [Passed April 24; published April 25, 1759. Limitation.

CHAPTER 37.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO "AN ACT RELATING TO EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS."

WHEREAS some doubts and questions have arisen upon the construction of some parts of an act, intitled "An Act relating to executors and administrators," whether by force of the same, real estates of the testators and intestate[s] may be taken in execution for the satisfaction of the judgments recovered against their estate in the hands of their executors and administrators, and in what manner the same should be levied, and whether executors and administrators, who by neglecting to raise money out of the assetts by sales of personal estate, or real estate if need be, shall subject the estates of their testators or intestates to the cost and loss that must attend such a method of paying debts, shall be deemed guilty of waste or breach of trust,— Preamble. 1703-4, chap. 12, 4 Mass., 657.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That the real estates of any testators or intestates are and shall be liable to be taken and levied upon by any execution issuing upon judgments recovered against executors or administrators in such capacity, being the proper debts of the testators or intestates, and that the method of levying, apprai[s][z]ing, recording, and right of redemption shall be the same as by law is provided respecting other real estates levied upon and taken in execution. Estates of testators and intestates liable to execution, &c. 1719-20, chap. 9.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That when any executor or administrator shall neglect or unreasonably delay to raise money out of his testator's or intestate's estate, by collecting the debts due to the estate, and selling the personal estate, or the real estate (if need be, and he has power or can obtain leave to sell the same), or shall neglect to pay what he has in his hands, and by such neglect or delay shall subject his testator's or intestate's real or personal estate to be taken in execution, the same shall be deemed waste in him and unfaithful[l] administration. Neglect of executors and administrators deemed waste, &c.

And whereas, it sometimes may happen that the estate taken by execution as aforesaid, or sold by virtue of a licence from the superio[u]r court, has been specially devised by the testator to one or more persons, who by means of such levying or sale may be deprived of his or their legacy or devise; therefore,— Preamble.

Be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That whenever any testator in and by his last will and testament hath given or shall give any chatt[le][el]s or real estate to any person or persons, and the same hath been or shall be taken in execution in manner aforesaid, or sold by order of the superiour court, in such case all the other legatees, devisees or heirs shall refund their average or proportionable part of such loss to such person or persons Real estate or chattels of testators taken in execution to be borne proportionably among the legatees, &c.

from whom the bequest shall be so taken away, and he or they shall and may maintain a suit or action to compel such contribution.

Limitation. [SECT. 4.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of five years from the seventeenth day of April, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, and no longer. [Passed April 24; published April 25, 1759.

CHAPTER 38.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A FURTHER SUM OF MONEY BY A LOTTERY OR LOTTERIES FOR COMPLEATING THE PAVEMENT OF THE NECK LEADING OUT OF THE TOWN OF BOSTON, CALLED BOSTON NECK.

Preamble. 1755-56, chap. 24. WHEREAS the great and general court at their sessions in January, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, by an act pass'd impowered the then selectmen of Boston to raise by a lottery or lotteries the sum of three thousand pounds, to be applied for pav[e]ing and repairing said neck; and whereas said sum has been accordingly raised, and the same expended for the purposes for which it was rais'[e]d so far as it would extend, but it being insufficient to compleat and finish said pavement and repair said neck 'till it meets with Roxbury bounds; for raising a sum sufficient for finishing said neck and paying the charges of said lotteries,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Messrs. Joshua Henshaw, Joseph Jackson, Thomas Cushing, Samuel Hewes, John Scollay, Benjamin Austin, and Andrew Oliver, junior, selectmen of Boston, allowed and empowered to set up one or more lotteries, and how the money raised thereby shall be disposed of. [SECT. 1.] That Mess[ieu]rs Joshua Henshaw, Joseph Jackson, Thomas Cushing, Samuel Hewes, John Scollay, Benjamin Austin and Andrew Oliver, Junr., or any three of them, be and they hereby are allowed and impowered to set up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting in the whole to such a sum as, by deducting ten per cent out of the same, or out of each prize or benefit-ticket, may raise one thousand pounds, and no more; and that said sum of one thousand pounds, raised by the deduction aforesaid, be, by the persons aforenamed, paid to the town treasurer of Boston aforesaid, within ten days after the sale of the tickets of said lottery shall be compleated: which sum of one thousand pounds shall be applied towards finishing and compleating the pavement of said neck, the walls on each side, and gravelling and repairing the same: saving so much of said sum as shall be sufficient to defrey the necessary charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid; and to such other use as is hereafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

Any three of them may be the managers or directors. [SECT. 2.] That the persons aforesaid, or any three of them, be, and they hereby are declared to be, the managers or directors of each and every of said lottery or lotteries, and are hereby impower'[e]d to make all necessary rules, and use all necessary methods, to manage and direct the same, until[l] the whole shall be fully compleated and finished.

And be it further enacted,

Managers and those employed by them to be under oath, &c. [SECT. 3.] That each manager or director aforesaid, before his acting in that capacity, and also all other persons employed about said lottery or lotteries, shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the trust reposed in them; and said managers or directors are hereby required in all their proceedings relating to said lottery or lotteries, to conform to the directions mentioned in the aforerecited act pass'd in January, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, and to keep a particular account of their attendance, and have the same allowance as is therein mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

Owners of benefit-tickets seasonably to apply for the same.

[SECT. 4.] That the owner or owners of any benefit-tickets shall not be entitled to the same unless they apply within the time limit[t]ed by said act; and if any person shall forge or counterfeit any ticket or tickets, to be made in consequence of this act, or alter any of the numbers thereof, or utter, vend, barter or dispose of any false, altered, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, or bring such ticket or tickets, knowing the same to be such, to the said directors, or any of them, or to any person, with a fraudulent intent, every person or persons, being thereof convicted, in due form of law, shall be punished either by setting in the pillory, whipping, fine or imprisonment, at the discretion of the court before whom the conviction may be, according to the nature and aggravation of the offence; and [the] said managers or directors are hereby vested in every respect with the same powers and authorities, as the managers or directors were by said act pass'[e]d in January, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six.

Penalty for forging or counterfeiting tickets, &c.

Town of Boston directed.

[SECT. 5.] And the town of Boston are hereby directed and ordered to pave the bottom or lower end of Prince Street, in said town of Boston, leading to Charlestown Ferry, so far as may be convenient, the expence whereof shall be paid out of the monies rais'[e]d by virtue of this act. [Passed April 24; published April 25, 1759.

CHAPTER 39.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A SUM OF MONEY, BY A LOTTERY OR LOTTERIES, FOR THE PAVING AND REPAIRING THE HIGHWAY IN ROXBURY, FROM BOSTON LINE TO THE FOOT OF THE MEETING-HOUSE HILL, LEADING TOWARDS DEDHAM.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the highway in the town of Roxbury, leading from Boston Neck, so called, to the foot of the meeting-house hill, in the same Roxbury, towards Dedham, by reason of the great number of waggons and other heavy carriages, passing over it, is frequently out of repair, notwithstanding the great cost and expence the town of Roxbury has been yearly at for repairing the same. And whereas the paving of the same highway is the most effectual method of repairing and keeping the same in good order and condition, and will require a considerable sum of money to effect it; for the raising whereof,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Messrs. Joseph Williams, Samuel Heath, Ebenezer Newell, Jeremiah Richards and Joseph Mayo, selectmen of Roxbury, allowed and empowered to carry on a lottery or lotteries for the purposes therein mentioned.

[SECT. 1.] That Messieurs Joseph Williams, Samuel Heath, Ebenezer Newell, Jeremiah Richards and Joseph Mayo, or any three of them, be and hereby are allowed and impowered to set[t] up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting in the whole to such a sum as, by drawing or deducting ten per cent out of the same, or out of each prize or benefit-ticket, may raise one thousand six hundred and sixty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, and no more; and that the said sum of one thousand six hundred and sixty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, raised by the [d][r]eduction aforesaid, be, by the persons above named, paid to the town treasurer of Roxbury aforesaid, within ten days after the sale of the ticket[t]s of said lottery shall be compleated; or, if the persons aforesaid shall think fit[t] to raise said sum of one thousand six hundred and sixty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence by more lotteries than one, then the money raised by each lottery, by the deduction aforesaid, shall, within ten days after the tickets of each lottery, respectively, are sold, be paid by them to the treasurer aforesaid; which sum of one thousand six hundred and sixty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, or whatever part thereof shall be so raised, shall be appl[y][i]ed towards the paving and repairing the highway aforesaid; saving so much of said sum as shall be sufficient to defrey the necessary charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid; and to no other use whatsoever, except in case of a surplusage, as in this act hereafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

Any three of them may be the managers or directors.

[SECT. 2.] That the persons aforesaid, or any three of them, be, and they are hereby declared to be, the managers or directors of each and every of the said lottery or lotteries, and are hereby impowered to make all necessary rules, and use all necessary methods, to manage and direct the same, till the whole shall be fully compleated and finished.

And be it further enacted,

Said managers to dispose of the tickets, make preparation for the drawing, and to give public notice of the same.

[SECT. 3.] That the s[ai][a] managers or directors, with all convenient speed, after the sale of the tickets of said lottery, or of each lottery, respectively, shall make preparation for the drawing the same, and shall give notice in the public prints, of the time and place of drawing, at least ten days before the said drawing begins, that any of the adventurers, if they think fit[t], may be present at the drawing; and after the said drawing commences, they, the said managers, may adjourn from day to day, till the whole number of ticket[t]s of each lottery, respectively, shall be drawn: provided the drawing of any one of said lotteries continue not longer than fifteen days, exclusive of Lord's Days.

Managers directed in their proceedings.

[SECT. 4.] And the said managers or directors shall make, or cause to be made, a fair entry, in a book provided for that purpose, of all the tickets so drawn, and of the blanks and prizes drawn, answering to said tickets, and within ten days after the drawing of each lottery, respectively, shall be finished, they shall cause a list of the benefit-tickets, expressing the number and the amount of each of them, to be printed in the public[k] newspapers; at the same time, in the said newspapers, notifying the owners of such benefit-tickets of the time and place when and where they may apply for the payment of such tickets; and if any contention or dispute shall arise in adjusting the property of any of the said benefit-tickets, the major part of the managers shall determine to whom it doth or ought to belong.

And be it further enacted,

Benefit-ticket to be paid off by the managers within twenty days after drawing.

[SECT. 5.] That the said benefit-tickets shall be paid off by the managers aforesaid within twenty days after the drawing of each lottery, respectively, is finished, upon application of the owner or owners of such tickets, and delivering them up to be cancelled; and to secure the payment of such benefit-tickets to the owner or owners of them, the said managers or directors, and their estates, are hereby held and subjected to satisfy and make good the same, in like manner as they and their estates are subjected by law to satisfy and make good their own proper debts: provided, that if the money in said managers' hands shall be lost by fire, or any other extraordinary or unavoidable accident, the said managers, and their estates, shall not be so held and subjected.

And be it further enacted,

Owners of benefit-tickets not applying for their money in one year, in case, shall not be entitled to the same.

[SECT. 6.] That if the owner or owners of any benefit-ticket or tickets shall, for the space of one year after the drawing aforesaid, neglect to apply for the payment of such ticket[t] or ticket[t]s, unless he, she or they shall have been at sea and out of the province for that term of time (and to such persons eighteen months shall be allowed to produce their tickets), he, she or they shall not be entitled to rec[ie][ei]ve the same, but such ticket and tickets are hereby declared to be cancelled and of no value; and the money in the hands of said directors, which was to have been appl[y][i]ed to the payment of such ticket[t]s, shall, after the expiration of the term aforesaid, be immediately paid to the town treasurer of said Roxbury for repairing and keeping in repair the highway aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 7.] That each manager or director aforesaid, before his acting in the capacity of manager or director, as aforesaid, shall take the following oath; viz[t].,—

Manager's, or director's oath.

I, A. B., do swear that I will faithfully execute the trust reposed in me, and that I will not use any indirect act or means to obtain a prize or benefit-lot for myself, or any other person whomsoever, and that I will do the utmost of my endeavo[u]r to prevent any undue or sinister practice to be done by any person whomsoever, and that I will, to the best of my judgment, declare to whom any prize, lot or ticket does of right belong, according to the true intent and meaning of the act of this province made in the thirty-second year of his majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act for the raising a sum of money by a lottery or lotteries, for the paving and repairing the highway in Roxbury, from Boston line to the foot of the meeting-house hill, leading towards Dedham." So help me God.

1758-59, chap. 39.

—which oath shall be administred by any justice of the peace in the county of Suffolk; and every person or persons employed about the lottery or lotteries aforesaid, by the directors aforesaid, shall take an oath for the faithful[l] performance of his trust, to be administred by any one or more of the directors aforesaid, who are hereby impowered to administer the same.

Persons employed about the lottery or lotteries to be on oath.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 8.] That if the whole number of tickets of each lottery, respectively, shall not be sold and disposed of by the said directors within six months after the publication of the scheme of each lottery, respectively, it shall and may be lawful for the town of Roxbury, if they think fit[t], to take the remainder of said tickets, undisposed of as aforesaid to their own account; provided, that within one month after the public[k] meeting of said town, to be called for that purpose, a sum of money be raised, and paid to the directors aforesaid, sufficient to purchase the remainder of said tickets, which shall, in that case, be delivered to such person or persons as the said town shall appoint to rec[ie][ei]ve the same; but if the whole of said tickets cannot be sold within the term of six months aforesaid, and the town aforesaid refuse to take the tickets remaining unsold as aforesaid, then the money rec[ie][ei]ved by the said directors for the tickets sold shall be by them returned to the owners of said tickets, upon their delivering up their tickets to the said directors, and the charges arisen shall be defreyed by the said town of Roxbury: provided, nevertheless, that the said managers shall not hereby be prohibited from carrying on said lottery or lotteries at any other time which they may judge suitable and convenient for the same.

In case the whole number of tickets in each lottery shall not be sold in six months after publication of the scheme, the town of Roxbury may take the remainder to their own account: provided.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 9.] That if the sum raised by means of this act shall be more than sufficient to pave and repair the highway aforesaid, and defrey the charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid, and pay the managers aforesaid for their services, as hereinafter expressed, the surplusage shall be appl[y][i]ed towards the paving or repairing of such street or streets or highways in the town of Roxbury as the said town shall direct.

In case of a surplusage, how the same shall be disposed of

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 10.] That if any person shall forge or counterfeit any ticket or tickets, to be made in consequence of this act, or alter any of the numbers thereof, or utter, vend, barter or dispose of any false, altered, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, or bring such ticket or tickets, knowing the same to be such, to the said directors, or any of them, or to any other person, with a fraudulent intent, every such person or persons, being thereof convicted, in due form of law, shall be punished by imprisonment, by being publickly whipped, or by being set in the pillory, at the discretion of the court before whom the conviction shall be, according to the nature and aggravations of the offence.

[SECT. 11.] And the said managers or directors, or any two of them, are hereby authorized and impowered to cause any person or persons bringing out, or uttering such false, altered, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, as aforesaid, to be apprehended and committed to close goal, to be proceeded against according to law.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to keep account of the time of their attendance, and exhibit the same to the town.

[SECT. 12.] That the directors or managers aforesaid shall keep a particular account of the days of their attendance upon the service aforesaid, and for each day's attendance shall be allowed the sum of six shillings, the same not to be paid out of the monies raised by virtue of this act, unless there be a sufficiency for the purposes aforesaid, and for the payment of such their allowances; and in case of a sufficiency, they shall exhibit an account of their attendance aforesaid before a publick meeting of the town aforesaid, which account, being examined and found just, shall be paid by the town treasurer aforesaid, upon the order of the said town; but in case there shall not be a sufficiency, the town aforesaid shall make provision for the payment of such managers' allowance aforesaid; provided, that no more than three managers aforesaid shall be intitled to such allowance for one and the same day.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to receive accounts of charge, and order payment.

[SECT. 13.] That the managers or directors aforesaid, after the said lottery, or each of the said lotteries, respectively, is finished, shall rec[ie][ei]ve the accounts of all charges arisen thereon, and having found them just, shall certify the same upon said accounts, and direct the town treasurer aforesaid to pay them off and discharge them.

And be it further enacted,

Selectmen of Roxbury, for the time being, to contract for the work, materials, &c.

[SECT. 14.] That the selectmen of the town of Roxbury aforesaid for the time being, shall contract and agree for the paving and repairing the highway aforesaid, and for the materials and labour necessary to do the same, at money price, and shall draw on the town treasurer aforesaid for the payment thereof; and when the said paving and repairs are finished, they shall exhibit a particular account of the cost of the same, and lay it before the town aforesaid at one of their public[k] meetings, in order to be put on file with their other papers. NOTES.—There were five sessions of the General Court this year, at all of which acts were passed. All the acts of this year were printed: chapters 1 and 19, separately; and the engrossments are preserved except of chapters 1, 3, 4, 5, 7, 21 and 22.

The acts of the first session were duly certified for transmission under the province seal on the twenty-second day of September, 1758. They were delivered to the clerk of the Council, in waiting, the 25th of November following. On the 13th of December they were referred to the committee, of the Privy Council, on plantation affairs, which committee again referred them, December 22, to the Board of Trade. The Board of Trade took them into consideration January 16, 1759, and referred them to Sir Matthew Lamb for his opinion thereon in point of law. On the 25th of July the Board of Trade ordered the draught of a report to be prepared, which was signed July 31.

In this report chapters 1, 3 and 5 are represented as "for temporary Services and are either expired by their own Limitations or the purposes for which they were enacted, have been completed." Chapter 4 is included with several other acts which are represented as "passed for temporary services and at different times for raising or borrowing sums of Money for defraying the Expences of Military and other Services," and as having "in great measure taken effect, but as the Execution of some of the Provisions therein contain'd, in which the publick faith of the Province is interested will not be compleated till the Years 1760, 1761 & 1762, and as Sir Mathew Lamb, whose opinion has been taken upon these Acts, has no objection to any of them in point of law, We conceive it expedient that they should receive His Majesty's Royal Allowance." Chapters 2 and 6 are represented to "relate to the internal Œconomy of the Province and appear to have been enacted for it's private convenience, and We see no reason why His Majesty may not be graciously pleased to confirm them."

All the other acts of this year were duly certified for transmission under the province seal, in two parcels, on the nineteenth day of June, 1759.

The acts of the second and third sessions were delivered to the clerk of the Council, in waiting, February 4th 1760 from the Board of Trade, where they had been read as early as the 23d of January. Two days later they were referred to the committee of the Privy Council, on plantation affairs, who, on the 20th referred them to the Board of Trade to "examine into the same and report their opinion thereupon to this committee." In the Board of Trade they were, on the 11th of March 1760, "referred to Sir Matthew Lamb for his opinion thereupon in point of law."

The acts of the fourth and fifth sessions were delivered to the clerk of the Council, in waiting, November 26th 1759, and the next day referred to the committee of the Privy Council on plantation affairs, who took them into consideration December 5, and immediately referred them to the Board of Trade, by whom they were considered on the 14th of December, and immediately referred to Sir Matthew Lamb for his opinion thereon in point of law. Sir Matthew Lamb reported November 12th 1760 "Upon perusal and consideration of these Acts I have no Objections thereto in point of Law."

No further action of the Privy Council upon any of these acts has been discovered, but from the following entry in the minutes of the Board of Trade, it is probable that they were intentionally suffered to receive a virtual approval by lapse of time:—

Chap. 2. "June 1, 1758. In Council Voted That John Cushing, Silvanus Bourn, Stephen Sewall and William Brattle Esqrs be a Committee to bring in a Bill in addition to the Law for preventing the desertion of Soldiers during the present War with France &c."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 364.

"July 25, 1758. His Excellency acquainted the Board that he had received Information that a great number of the Forces raised within this Province (chiefly those belonging to the Regiment commanded by Colo Thomas Doty) and put under the Command of Major General Abercromby had Deserted and were returning home and desired the Advice of the Council thereon—

Advised that his Excellency issue his Proclamation for apprehending the said Deserters.

His Excellency having recommended to the Board to consider the best manner of providing for the Subsistence of such of the Forces as have Deserted the Army and may return to their Duty.

Advised that the several Taverners on the Road supply them with Provisions as has been usual for Soldiers in the pay of the Province and that the Accounts thereof be exhibited on Oath for Allowance and Payment out of the Publick Treasury and that a Deduction be made from each Soldiers Wages according to what shall have been paid for his Victualling as aforesaid."—Executive Records of the Council, vol. 3, p. 420.

"Aug. 1, 1758. Advised and Consented that a Warrant be made out to the Treasurer to pay to the Honble Thomas Hutchinson Esqr the sum of Four Pounds to discharge his Acco[t] of Expences in a Journey for the apprehending of Deserters."—Ibid., p. 421.

"April 17, 1761. A Petition of John Gorham Esqr, Sheriff of the County of Barnstable setting forth That in 1758, he in pursuance of the Governors Proclamation apprehended and secured nine Deserters from the Service (of Colo Dotys Regiment) that the legal Fees for Diet &c[a] amount to £2.17.2. and praying allowance.

In the House of Representatives; Read and Ordered That the Prayer of the Petition be granted, and that there be allowed and paid out of the Public Treasury to the Petitioner the sum of Two pounds Seventeen shillings and two pence in full of his Account.

In Council Read and Concurred Consented to by the Governor."—Council Records, vol. XXIII., p. 746.

Chap. 3. "June 8, 1758. In Council. His Excellency having acquainted the Board that there still remains a deficiency in the Number of Men ordered to be raised, for the intended Expedition, the Returns from the Colonels of several Regiments being short of the Number assigned, and also that there is reason to apprehend that a large Number of those returned have not yet proceeded. Ordered That Samuel Danforth, William Brattle and Benjamin Pickman Esq^rs with such as the Honourable House shall appoint be a Committee to consider what is further Necessary to be done by this Court for the Carrying into full Execution his Excellency's Orders for raising Men; and also what is proper to be done for ascertaining the Number of men, who have been returned by the several Colonels, and are not gone into the Service, and compelling them forthwith to attend their duty, and making provision for their being conveyed to the Place of Rendezvous; the Committee to sit and report as soon as may be.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Concurred and M^r Stone, M^r Giddinge, Doctor Sayer, and Major Hartwell are joined in the affair."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 382.

Chap. 4. In his speech to both Houses June 1, 1758, from which the following is extracted, Governor Pownall had recognized his dependence upon them for supplies in such a manner as to elicit from them a flattering address in which, though they declared that their burdens were so great that if the expected relief from Great Britain should fail, they would become insupportable, they expressed satisfaction at the "economy, vigor and integrity" displayed by the Governor in his application of moneys raised by them. They also entreated him to represent their "distressed case" to the King, and on the same day passed this chapter to be enacted.

"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives. I have directed the Treasurer to lay before You the State of the Treasury, and I must recommend to You to compleat the Supplies for those Vigorous measures already engaged in; also that You make provision for the ordinary Revenues and Charges of Government; and for the Pay and Subsistence of the Troops which it is become necessary I should keep upon our Frontiers. I have directed the Secretary to lay before You a List of the Officers and Men as required by the several Services.

* * * * * *

His Excellency General Abercromby acquaints me, that as soon as he receives the proper Vouchers, he will settle the Payment of the billetting money for the Troops raised by this Government last Year; as also the four pences for this Year. These Vouchers were sent to the late Commander in Cheif. I have now sent further Copies; those of this Year shall be sent as soon as they can be compleated. These are great helps and Assistances from the Crown, and for those Expences of the War which We do not thus receive immediate Assistance in, we have the best Assurances that strong Recommendations will be made to parliament for a proper Compensation to Us.

The ways and means of raising these Supplies do by right as they do in the reason of the thing lie with you.

It only remains with Me, from a tender and paternal sense of the heavy burthens that the People labour under, to recommend those ways and means which are most equal and least burthensome, and to assure You that as far as lies with Me, all shall be Administred with the most circumspect and wary management, under the exactest method, and most strict Oeconomy in the public Accounts, that the Assistance I have will enable Me."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 361.

"June 15, 1758. In the House of Representatives—Ordered That M^r Speaker and M^r Flucker with Such as the honourable Board shall join be a Committee to assist the Treasurer in endeavouring to borrow money for the use of the Province in the present exigency of Affairs. In Council. Read and Concurred and John Erving Esq is joined in the Affair.

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 404.

"Nov. 18, 1758. His Excellency laid before the Board the form of a Muster Roll which he had directed to be prepared to be made Use of as a Rule in paying off the Forces furnished by the Province as their Quota in the late Expedition under the Command of His Excellency Major General Abercromby and Asked their Advice in the Affair.

Advised that his Excellency give his Orders to make Use of the said Form in making up their respective Pay Rolls accordingly."—Executive Records of the Council, vol. 3, p. 439.

Chap. 6. "October 9, 1758. James Bowdoin Esq from the Board went down to the House of Representatives with a Message to acquaint them that as the Act passed the last Session for regulating the Indians, did not pass the two Houses to be enacted until the last day of the Session, it happened that the Choice of Guardians pursuant to said Act was omitted—and to propose to the House to come to the Choice of Guardians to the several Tribes of Indians to morrow at three o'clock in the Afternoon."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 420.

"October 10, 1758. The two Houses proceeded according to Agreement to the Choice of Guardians for the Indians by Joint Ballot when the following Gentlemen were chosen by a Major Vote of the Council and House of Representatives viz^t

For the Indians at Natick, Joseph Buckminster and John Jones Esq^rs and Captain John Clark.

For the Indians at Stoughton or Puncapog Indians, Robert Spurr and Samuel Niles Esq^rs and M^r Joseph Billings.

"January 3, 1759. In Council Whereas the List of Guardians to the several Tribes of Indians chosen by the two Houses on the 10th day of October last was casually omitted being laid before his Excellency the Governor for his Approbation.

Resolved. That the several persons named in said List be, and hereby are declared re-elected, And that all Acts and Doings of said Persons in the Capacity of Guardians since the said 10th day of October, be and hereby are declared as valid and effectual to all intents and purposes, as if said List had been duly laid before his Excellency, and by him approved.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor.

The said List being laid before his Excellency, He was pleased to write thereon as follows.

I consent to the above Elections.

Chap. 8. No provision was made in this act, or in the act of 1757-58, chap. 25, for the support of the women and children that followed the regulars from Nova Scotia; but as their support was a burden incident to the reception of the forces, and as these persons arrived after the expiration of the former act, the following is inserted as pertinent to this chapter.

"Sept. 21, 1758. His Excellency laid before the Board an Application from the Selectmen of the Town of Boston, for directions concerning a number of Women left in the Town by the Forces commanded by Major General Amherst.

Advised that his Excellency give Orders to the Selectmen of the Town of Boston, to send said Women to New York by some of the Transports bound thither, and apply to the Agent Victualler for their Subsistence or otherwise make such Provision for it as they shall find necessary."—Executive Records of the Council, vol. 3, p. 427.

"Sept. 26, 1758. His Excellency acquainted the Board he had received Information that there were about two hundred Men* lately arrived in the Transports from Halifax which was likely to become a Province charge unless measures were taken to prevent it; and Asked the Advice of the Council thereon — Advised that his Excellency give directions to the Selectmen of the Town of Boston to obtain a List of the Women lately sent up from Halifax and an Account of what Regiments they respectively belong to, and that they send such as belong to the Regiments at the Westward to New York in order to be forwarded to the Army, and that all others be returned to their respective Regiments or to Halifax from whence they came. Ordered accordingly."—Ibid.

"October 5, 1758. In the House of Representatives. Ordered that Mr Russell, Captn Livermore, Mr Folger, Mr Tyng and Mr Witt with such as the honourable Board shall appoint be a Committee to take under consideration the State and Circumstances of a Number of Women lately arrived here with their Children, whose Husbands belong to the Regular Forces in his Majesty's Service, and report what they judge proper to be done relative to them. In Council Read and Concurred and John Erving, Richard Cutt, William Brattle, and Gamaliel Bradford Esqrs are joined in the Affair."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 414.

"October 7, 1758. The Committee appointed the 5th Instant to take under Consideration the State and Circumstances of a number of Women and Children lately arrived here from Nova Scotia having reported according to Order. In Council. Read and Accepted. And Voted That William Brattle Esq with Such as the House shall join be a Committee to wait on his Excellency the Governor, and desire that he would give Orders that the Women lately arrived here whose Husbands belong to the Regular Forces in his Majesty's Service, be together with their Children received in the Barracks at Castle William, And that He would Acquaint the Kings General of their Arrival in the Province, and desire that He would give orders respecting the disposal and support of the same. And that the said Committee likewise inform his Excellency that the two Houses are of Opinion that in the mean time it would be best that the Contractor for Provisions for the Kings Forces or his Agent should provide for said Women and Children according to the Kings Allowance, and pray his Excellency's interposition in that behalf.

In the House of Representatives Read and Concurred and Colo Osgood, and Captn Newhall are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 417.

"Oct. 10, 1758. The Report of the Committee and Order of Court of the 7th Instant respecting the Women and Children lately arrived here from Nova Scotia—In Council Read again, and it appearing to the Board to be necessary that some further proceedings be had in this Affair. Ordered that the Committee sit again forthwith, and report as soon as may be.

Chap. 21. During the recess between the first and second sessions of the General Court tidings had arrived of the surrender of Louisbourg, and of the occupation of Cape Breton: of Bradstreet's successful expedition against Fort Frontenac; of the destruction of that fort, and the enemy's naval force there, and of the enemy's stores and magazines at Cadaraqui. In his speech at the opening of the second session the Governor alluded to these successes in terms of reverent gratitude, and referred to Abercrombie's repulse at Ticonderoga only as having "somewhat delayed matters." He expressed confidence that now "the very gates of Canada must, we trust in God, be put into our hands," and that having "put our hand again to the plough if we do not look back it must go over the very foundation of the enemy's country." After stating that the promises of reimbursement by the Crown had been a great encouragement to the province he informed the Assembly that parliament had voted £27380, 19s. 11½*d.* to reimburse their expenses in the campaign of 1756, which he considered an encouraging assurance for the future, and recommended the Representatives to make further provision for the troops under Abercrombie and on the frontiers, and for the ship King George. A committee appointed to consider the Governor's speech reported the next day (Oct. 5,) thanking the Governor for what he had done in the administration of affairs, and particularly "for the full and just representation of the distressed state of the Province" made by him to Secretary Pitt. (See note to chapter 16, 1759–60, post.)

The legislature this session passed without hesitation or dissent the act providing for the reception, &c., of his majesty's forces, &c., (chap. 8,) in which the authority of the Governor to provide quarters, limited in the former act (1757–58, chap. 25) to the town of Boston, was extended to any town or towns within the province, in anticipation of the movement of General Amherst's forces to Albany.

On December 22, Governor Pownall received a letter from General Amherst, dated New York, nine days before, giving notice of his appointment to the chief command of the army, and urging the raising of new levies to be ready for the field as soon as the season would permit.

At the opening of the third session the Governor congratulated the Assembly on the acquisition of Fort DuQuesne, which event occurred since the last prorogation, but urged the necessity of preparing for another year's service, which promised "to be decisive." This was followed by a message, on the first of January, in which the Governor showed that of the 7000 men voted to be raised the previous year, 6925 had been actually sent. He praised the Lieutenant-Governor for the address and promptness which he had shewn in arranging the details of accounts and allowances with the General-in-chief and urged the Assembly to have all claims so collected and adjusted as to be closed this year, with a view to speedy reimbursement by parliament.

On the 6th of January the Assembly voted an address to the Governor in reply to his speech, reciprocating congratulations upon the recent victories, approving of the plan for the expulsion of the French from Nova Scotia, and promising, "with the greatest cheerfulness", notwithstanding their "burdened and oppressed" condition, financially, "to engage, under" his "direction, in such measures as shall be found necessary for the service of the year to come."

Other messages relating to stoppages for the detention of arms, and for arming new levies, and also for building and garrisoning a fort on the Penobscot, passed between the Governor and the Assembly during the month ensuing. On the 8th of February a vote was passed approving this latter measure, and providing for a guard of 400 men, to continue during the progress of the work, and a garrison of 100 men, to remain in charge of the completed fort, together with an establishment for transports, wages &c.; but there were no enactments relating to the war except chapter 15, by which further facilities were afforded for recruiting for the army, and the rates for billetting were established.

Measures were also taken to secure the promised reimbursement and to have the money brought over in a British ship-of-war, and insured.

The fourth session began February 28th, and, after waiting for the representatives to arrive, the Governor, on the second day of March, made his opening speech, having previously sent down a message that he had "matters of the utmost consequence to communicate to the Court." He informed the Assembly of the determination of the ministry to protect the colonies and to make a final decision of the contest; of their call upon the province to second these efforts; of their promises for reimbursement of the expenses of a new campaign; and of the momentous character of the measures about to be taken, which were to decide whether the British Empire or a French kingdom should be established in America,—from which latter event, to be averted then or never, would date "the decline of the British Empire." He concluded with a hopeful augury from previous successes, and even from the repulse at Ticonderoga, declaring that this province "always did and always will bear its share in these services"; and enjoining secrecy regarding the papers which he should lay before them, among which was a letter from Gen. Amherst, dated New York, February 16, requesting that the provincial troops should be at Albany by the tenth of April, at farthest.

A committee was appointed the next day to consider this speech. Before this committee reported, the House voted to request the Governor to represent to Gen. Amherst that the troops of the last campaign could not be paid, for want of money, that it was equally impossible to raise new levies without advancing additional large sums, as bounty, which the province was unable to borrow, and to ask him to advance the necessary funds, to be repaid out of the money—in the hands of the Agent of the province in London—which parliament had appropriated for reimbursement. The Council refused to concur in this vote.

On the fifth of March the Governor sent another message, informing the Assembly of his efforts to prevent impresses for the navy, and expressing his earnest desire not only to see this evil remedied, but the embargo ended, and all sailors, enlisted in the navy from this province, accredited to the provincial quota, and so paid by the Crown. To these ends he declared that he had already procured the agreement of Gen. Amherst, and such promises from Admiral Durell as left no doubt of his full concurrence when the arrangement should have been clearly and definitively settled.

Votes followed, on the eighth, for furnishing hospitals and hospital stores, appointing a committee to ascertain what medicines were necessary for the army, and appropriating £100 to the commissary-general, for every 1000 men enlisted, for necessaries for the sick and wounded.

While these votes were being prepared and passed, the committee on the Governor's speech were engaged in framing a report and resolutions which should prove acceptable to both branches of the legislature and at the same time meet the wishes of the Governor and Gen. Amherst in respect to the new levies. The first draught of the report of this committee provided for raising 6000 men including the 400 men at Penobscot Fort and was read first in the Council-chamber on the seventh of March, and sent down to the Representatives. In the House it was read, and accepted with amendments; one of which reduced the whole number of men to 5000. It was then sent up, in a new draught, for concurrence. This was on the tenth; and the same day the Council sent down a special message urgently recommending the House to reconsider that part of their resolutions fixing the number of men; but the House voted to adhere. On the twelfth, the Council read the new draught sent up from the House, and, after voting a nonconcurrence, recommitted it; at the same time adding five councillors to the committee, which was ordered to sit forthwith. They then sent their votes down for concurrence. The House still voted to adhere to their former vote, and refused to concur. Thereupon the Council voted to concur, with certain amendments—not however affecting the number of the contingent—upon which the House voted to concur in all the amendments save five. The report was then newly drawn in the form of the following preamble and resolutions, which were passed on the 15th of March:—

"In the House of Representatives. In order to a deliberate and mature determination upon the important matters recommended by his Excellency in his Speech of the 2d Instant, the House find it necessary to take into consideration the distresses brought upon the Inhabitants of the Province by means of the great Levies which have been made from year to year since the War, and particularly by means of the disproportioned number of men that were in the Service the last year. The House likewise consider that many of the Inhabitants have inlisted this present year as Rangers and Batteaumen and in other Branches of his Majesty's Service; that the Government is now burden'd with a very heavy Load of debt, and the charges arising from the Services of the last year are unpaid, and that it will be extreemely difficult to procure such a Sum of Money as will be necessary to be immediately advanced in case of engaging in any further service. On the other Hand the House consider the importance and necessity of continuing to aid and assist in such measures as his Majesty shall be pleased to engage in for the defence and preservation of his Colonies: and they likewise consider the gracious Assurances of such Compensation being made as shall render the burden proceeding from such Services supportable; and upon the whole It is Resolved That five thousand Men, Officers included, be immediately raised for his Majesty's general Service viz[t] Four hundred of them to guard the Workmen employed in building a Fort at Penobscot, for which Provision is already made, the remaining 4600 to be formed into Regiments and to be under Officers from among the Inhabitants of this Province (excepting only such and so many of them as may enter on board any of his Majesty's Ships of War upon the terms hereafter mentioned) and to be employed in the intended Expedition against Canada, each Regiment to consist of a number not less than 960 Men, Officers included, and to be proportioned upon the several Regiments, Troops of Horse, Independant Companies, Batteries of Boston, Charlestown, Marblehead and Glocester, according to their numbers: and that in case a sufficient number of Men shall not inlist upon the terms hereafter mentioned on or before the sixth day of April next, then so many shall be impressed as to make up 4600 which with the 400 aforesaid compleat the number of Five thousand: and that every Person who has been in the Service in former years shall be equally liable to such Impress with those who have never been in the Service.

Resolved That to every Non Commission Officer and Private Soldier of the said 4600 Men who shall inlist into the said Service on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the said sixth day of April next, and shall pass muster, there be allowed and paid in a Treasurers note a bounty of Six pounds and wages from the time of their Inlistment. And as a further encouragement It is Resolved That to every Non commission Officer and private Soldier who has been in the service and pay of this Province in the years 1755, 1756, 1757 or 1758, and shall inlist into the said intended Service on or before the second day of April next, there be allowed instead of bounty full Wages from the 20th day of November last; and four months and an halfs wages be advanced to each amounting to the Sum of Eight pounds two shillings and to be paid them in a Treasurers note at the time they pass muster, and that all said Notes be upon interest and payable the 2d day of June 1760. And it is further Resolved That Wages be allowed to each Private Soldier employed as aforesaid in the Land Service at the rate of six dollars ℔ month until they are discharged said service, and that there be given a good blanket to each non commission Officer and Private Soldier in the Land Service. Resolved That as many of said men as his Excellency the Governor, shall think proper, and as are willing to enter into the Sea Service upon such terms as his Excellency shall settle with the Admiral or Commander in Cheif of his Majesty's Ships of War be employed in such Service, and that additional Wages be allowed over and above the ordinary Pay in his Majesty's Ships, so as to make their Wages equal with the Wages of those in the Land Service.

That in case it shall be found necessary to cause any men to be impressed in order to compleat the 4600 Men as aforesaid, so many of such men as his Excellency the Governor shall think proper shall be at liberty to enter into the Sea Service, but none shall be compelled to it. That the whole number of the said 4600 men be continued in the Service for a term not exceeding the first of November next, and to be dismissed as much sooner as his Majesty's Service will admit.

And Whereas it will be necessary that the Forces should be allowed billetting from the time of their inlisting until their receiving the Kings Provision, but the present State of the Treasury will not admit of advancing the same, and it is likewise necessary that they should be supplied with Provisions or allowed billetting from the time of their discharge until their Arrival at their several Places of Abode.

Resolved That Application be made to the General and Commander in Cheif of his Majesty's Forces that billetting may be allowed and promised to each Man from the time of his Inlistment, until he receives the Kings Provisions at the rate of six pence Sterling ℔ day, and that each man shall either be furnished with Provisions for his Subsistence from the place where he shall be dismissed until he arrives at his place of aboad, or that he be allowed six pence Sterling ℔ day, accounting every fifteen miles distance for one day, and the Officers be allowed Rations according to their Rank as has been usually given to the Officers of his Majesty's Regular Forces, which proportion the Officers of the last year entered into the Service with full expectation of receiving; but this Court are informed it has not yet been allowed them

And Whereas his Majesty has been pleased to declare by his Secretaries of State in the years 1756 and 1757 that all which he expected from this Government was the levying, cloathing and pay of the men; and whereas Monies have been advanced by this Government for other necessary Charges in expectation of a Reimbursement from the Commanders in Cheif, but the Accounts of such Charges have been refused to be allowed and such Reimbursment has been withheld, and Whereas his Majesty has been pleased to repeat in the most explicit terms the same declaration in a Letter from the Right honourable Mr Pitt of the 9th of December last.

Resolved That his Excellency General Amherst be acquainted that this Government cannot advance any further Sum than what shall be necessary for those particular Services, and depend on provision being otherwise made for every other expence or Article of Charge that shall be determined to be necessary.

And Whereas the obliging the Forces to receive Rice instead of Peas has not only been dissatisfactory to the Provincials who have not been used to that species of Provisions, but has also been as is apprehended prejudicial to their health Resolved That the Commander in Cheif of his Majesty's Forces be acquainted, that it is the desire of this Government that a sufficient quantity of Peas may be provided for the Service of the present year. In Council. Read and Concurred Consented to by the Governor."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 583.

In the original report, March 30th was the day fixed for the impress, from which all were exempted who had been impressed the previous year, and had received no bounty, and such as had then enlisted and had received no pay (except the bounty). As an inducement for enlisting, however, all persons who had been in the service in 1755, or since, and who should enlist on or before March 26, 1759, were to receive whole wages from November 20, 1758, and half wages, for the same period, if they should enlist before two o'clock in the afternoon of March 30th. One month's pay was also to be advanced. Still further encouragement was given in subsequent votes which provided for extra equipments and clothing. The date of the impress was subsequently changed to April 2d, and, in the resolutions as finally reported, it was postponed to April 9th, which was the subject of a special message from the Governor to the Assembly on the 14th—whereupon the resolutions were amended by changing the date to the sixth.

"March 16, 1759. The Deputy Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the House of Representatives viz!

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives After all the difficulties which have attended, the Resolves to raise Men at his Majesty's desire for this year's Campaign, and after all the difficulties that will attend the Execution in my hands as things now are: There remains nothing now that can absolutely obstruct my raising the number you have voted, so as to be of any use to his Majesty, but my not being able to get such Colonels and Officers as I can confide in, as I know will not abuse the Men, as I can trust will do Justice to the Country, do honour to the Province, and do his Majesty that Service which he expects from the Province Troops. I cannot be ignorant that the Wages which the House Voted for the Colonels last year was upon the consideration that such Colonels were to receive six Rations of the Kings Supplies; It is now known to the House (if it be not, the House may see it in the Letter herewith sent) That by the Regulations of the Army in America the Officers receive but one Ration. I can make no doubt but the Justice of the House will consider this in the Provision they make for the Colonels Wages. and why these Officers who have been in the Service in the years 1755, 1756, 1757 and 1758, and have suffered greatly without any Relief should not be intitled to pay from the same time as the Men is liable to be construed as a disgrace thrown on their Services.

If by these Savings the House hope those may be got to go, who will go cheapest: —those only that are least fit and most unworthy are readiest to go on such terms— Perhaps Such only as may have hopes of making up this deficiency by ways which no man of Honour would go into—I must therefore desire it of the House to have the same regard to the Service of these their Officers, as to that of the Men. And as not only the Welfare and Well doing of the men, but the Good to be expected from the Forces, the Province sends to the Kings Service intirely depends upon the Faithfulness and Goodness of the Officers.—the putting me in a situation not to be able to get such Officers is undoing with one hand what has been done with the other:—I must here also remind the House that the delay in compleating the several Provisions for raising the Men renders it impracticable for me to issue the Proclamation, without which every thing remains at a Stand.

"By his Excellency Thomas Pownall Esq. Captain General and Governour in Cheif, in and over His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts-Bay in New England, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

A Proclamation.

His Majesty having nothing more at Heart than by the most vigorous and extensive Efforts to avert, by the Blessing of God on his Arms, all Dangers which may threaten North-America from any future Irruptions of the French, hath determined in this urgent and decisive Crisis to make a general Invasion of Canada, and to carry War into the Heart of the Enemy's Country; and now calls upon his faithful and brave Subjects of New England to join and co-operate with that Body of his Forces which he hath been pleased to destine for that Service: And in a just grounded Expectation that the best Gentlemen and Freeholders will Engage in the Service at This Good Time, His Majesty is graciously pleased to Grant to the Officers of his American Forces a Rank and Command equal to the Officers of his British Forces, except that the Officers of the Mother-Country are in their respective Ranks to be considered as Seniors to those of the Provinces.

His Majesty is further Pleased to furnish and Provide the Forces with Arms, Ammunition, Tents and Provisions; and as most People in North America have Arms of their own, which from their being accustomed to, and being so much lighter than the Tower-Arms, must be more agreeable and proper for them, General Amherst, as an Encouragement for their coming provided with good Muskets, engages to pay for every one they shall so bring that may be spoiled or lost in actual Service at the Rate of Twenty-five Shillings Sterling.

And Whereas This His Majesty's Province, in full Confidence of his wise Measures, and in Pursuance of His Royall Pleasure, have resolved to raise a Number of Men, under Officers Inhabitants of this Province. and have made Provision for the Levying and Support of such to the first Day of November next, said to be then dismissed, or as much sooner as His Majesty's Service will Admit; and for Encouragement to the People to inlist, have engaged, 'That to every Non-commission 'Officer and Soldier who shall inlist into the said Service on or before Four o'clock 'in the Afternoon of the sixth Day of April next, and shall pass Muster, there 'be allowed and paid in a Treasurer's Note, a Bounty of Six Pounds and Wages 'from the Time of his Inlistment, and to every Non-commission Officer or Soldier 'who has been in the Service and Pay of this Province in the years 1755, 1756, 1757, 'or 1758, and shall inlist into the said intended Service on or before the second Day 'of April next, there be allowed Eight Pounds Two Shillings, and paid him in a 'Treasurer's Note at the Time he shall pass Muster; and that all the said Notes be on 'Interest, and payable the second Day of June 1760:—That to each Soldier who shall 'proceed in this Year's Campaign, there be likewise allowed a good Blanket a Knap-'sack, and a wooden Bottle or Canteen; and that to each Non-commission Officer or 'Private, there be advanced Six Pence Sterling a Day for Subsistance, from the 'Time of his Inlistment or being Impressed until he arrive at Worcester; to be paid 'upon his Marching off with the Company where the said Company is collected; The 'same Subsistence to be likewise paid to those who go by Water at the Time of their 'Embarkation; and Wages to each Private Soldier at the rate of Six Dollars per 'Month:—And for the further Encouragement of the Service, this Government has 'likewise engaged to allow to each Mess of Six Men, two Tin-Kettles; containing 'Ten Quarts each, and a Hatchet; and Thirty Watch-Coats to each Regiment:— 'And likewise to provide Hospitals, Hospital-Stores and Medicines for the Sick;'—

I Do therefore hereby promise in His Majesty's Name, and in behalf of His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts-Bay, that there shall be a full Compliance with the Aforementioned Articles.

And I do further promise a Pardon to all such Soldiers, who being in the Pay of this Province, did in any former years desert the Service, provided they shall inlist therein for the present Campaign, on or before the Sixth Day of April as aforesaid.

"By His Excellency Thomas Pownall, Esq; Captain General and Governour in Cheif, in and over His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts-Bay in New England, and Vice Admiral of the same.

A Proclamation.

Whereas the Great and General Court have agreed to raise Five Thousand Men for the Campaign this Present year 1759; And have Resolved, That as many of said Men as I shall think proper, and as are willing to enter into the Sea Service upon such Terms as I should settle with the Admiral or Commander in Cheif of his Majesty's Ships of War, be employed in such Service, and that Additional Wages be allowed over and above the ordinary Pay in his Majesty's Ships, so as to make their Wages equal to the Wages of those in the Land Service.

In order therefore to promote a Measure so essential to his Majesty's Service, I have thought fit to issue this Proclamation, hereby making known that Admiral Durell, Commander in Cheif of His Majesty's Ships of War at Halifax, has engaged to discharge all such Men, as shall Inlist for the Service aforesaid, agreeable to the Time they shall engage for, or at the End of the ensuing Campaign 1759; and that they shall not be carried to Europe or the West Indies; but shall be Discharged and sent to Boston in Transports for that Purpose:—That each Man who shall thus Inlist shall receive his Majesty's Royal Bounty of Forty shillings Sterling; that their Wages shall commence at the Time of their Entring, notwithstanding they may be at a Distance, and that their Pay Tickets shall be made out from the Time of their Entering to the Day of their Discharge; and that they shall pass free from being Impressed on their Passage home.

The Admiral has further Assured Me, that if among the Men who shall inlist, there are any that understand navigating a Ship, and are qualified for that Purpose, he will give them all Encouragement he is able, by enabling them to act as Midshipmen; and further promises, That the Men of such Towns as shall appear by my Certificate to have done their Share in this Service, shall be free from all Impresses by Sea.

And I do hereby engage in behalf, both of the Province and of the Admiral, that the foregoing Conditions shall be duly complied with; and that the Men who shall inlist as aforesaid, shall likewise receive the Province Bounty, agreeable to My Proclamation of the 17th Instant, and be punctually Discharged at the Time they shall inlist for: And that whatever Number of Men any Town or Company shall raise for this Service, shall be esteemed as Part of their Quota of the Five Thousand Men agreed to be raised by this Government for the general Service of the year. And for the greater Certainty and Precision in this Matter I have ordered the Inlistments to be made on the back of this Proclamation as the Conditions of the Men's Inlistment.

"March 19, 1759. The Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the two Houses respectively viz[t]

Gentlemen of the Council & House of Representatives.

In order to the duly carrying into execution the Levy you have made provision for, you have laid Penalties on the Officers of the Militia who shall neglect to perform their duty in raising their respective Quotas.

I must acquaint You that last year after the Officers of the Militia had done their duty; a great defect in the Execution, great trouble in the Country, and much unnecessary harassing the Men, arose from the neglect of the Expedition Officers to attend duly the Militia Officers, and to receive of them the Men after the Militia Officers had had the trouble of raising them;

I must therefore recommend it to You to affix some sufficient Penalty on such Expedition Officer as shall neglect to Obey such orders as he shall receive from Me or his Commanding Officer, to attend the Militia Officers, to receive of them the Men raised, and duly to march them off.

"June 7, 1759. A Petition of Jonathan Morton of Hatfeild—Setting forth That not long after the publication of the late Excise Act, he being possessed of an hogshead of Rum did innocently as being ignorant of the Law, sell the same, althô He had no permit as the Law requires to sell such Liquors. That the Excise upon said Rum has been duly paid, but the Collector being under Oath thinks himself obliged to prosecute the Petitioner for the Penalty of the Act, although he is himself satisfied with respect to the duty of Excise, as appears by his Certificate annexed. And Praying Relief.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Ordered That the Collector be directed not to prosecute the Petitioner for any Violation of the Law: it appearing that the Excise for the Rum sold, has been duly paid to the Collector. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor.

A Petition of Oliver Partridge in behalf of John Dickinson of Hatfeild—Setting forth That the said John in the month of August last, having no Permit to sell spirituous Liquors did ignorantly sell one barrell of Rum for which as appears by the Collectors Certificate the duty of Excise has been paid. And Praying he may be exempted from the Penalty of the Law for selling as aforesaid.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Ordered That the Collector be directed not to prosecute the Petitioner said John Dickinson for any violation of the Law. It appearing that the Excise for the Rum sold has been duly paid to the Collector. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., vol. XXIII., p. 21.

"June 7, 1759. A Petition of Timothy Nash of Road-Town—Setting forth That he hath a permit in common form for the selling of Rum at his dwelling House or Store in said Road Town, but that he hath inadvertently and without any design of defrauding the Government sold Rum elsewhere, for which he hath nevertheless paid the duty of Excise. And praying that he may be exempted from the Penalty of the Law for selling as aforesaid.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Ordered That the Collector be directed not to prosecute the Petitioner for any violation of the Law, it appearing that the Excise for the Rum sold has been duly paid to the Collector. In Council. Read and Concurred

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 22.

"June 7, 1759. A Petition of Martyn Phelps of Northampton—Setting forth That He is licensed to be a retailer of strong Liquors in said Town. That He purchasing two barrells of Rum at Boston for that purpose, was transporting the same home, but to accomodate an Innholder in said Town about four miles before he reached home did inadvertently sell one of said barrells of rum, but without any Intention to defraud the Government, and has duly paid the duty of Excise thereon. And praying he may be exempted from the penalty of the Law for so doing.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Ordered That the Collector be directed not to prosecute the Petitioner for any violation of the Law. It appearing that the Excise for the Rum sold has been duly paid to the Collector. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor.—Ibid.

"June 12, 1759. A Petition of Jeremiah Green Esq—Setting forth That one Thomas Stinson a person admitted a Retailer of Rum &c in the Town of Boston, is employed by the Petitioner to manage the affairs of his Distill-house, and apprehending that by his License he was at liberty to Sell Rum and other distilled Liquors from said Still house, accordingly so did, and kept a particular account of the same, and rendered said Account to the Collector of Excise, and is ready to pay the duty according to Law. That John Hill Esq and two others retailers and permitted persons received of said Stinson three hogsheads of Rum, and in their account exhibited by mistake that said Rum was bought of the Petitioner, when in fact it was bought of said Stinson and he has rendered an Account thereof to the Collector as sold to them. Yet Mr Thomas Fletcher the Collector thinks himself bound by his Oath to prosecute the Petitioner for selling said Rum contrary to Law, although he is at the same time satisfied there was no design to defraud the Government of the duty, and has certified that the same has been paid—Therefore Praying Releif.

In the House of Representatives Read and Ordered That the Collector of Excise be directed not to prosecute the Petitioner. Provided He duly pays the Excise to him for the Rum mentioned, the omission in presenting his Account notwithstanding. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 43.

"January 24, 1760. A Petition of Daniel Clarke Collector of the Excise upon Spirits &c for the County of York—Setting forth That as the County is of large extent He is at great trouble and expence in Collecting the duties of Excise. And Praying a further Allowance.

In the House of Representatives Read, and in asmuch as the County of York is of so large an Extent as renders it very inconvenient to the Petitioner to collect the Excise at three per Cent. Therefore Voted That the Petitioner be allowed two per Cent in addition to the said three per Cent, making in the whole five ℔ Cent from March 25. 1759 to March 25. 1760.

In Council. Read and Concurred. Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 203.

"April 26, 1760. A Petition of Philip Masters of Boston Retailer—Setting forth his distressed Circumstances by reason of the late Fire wherein he lost his House, and almost every thing in it, and among other things the money he had laid by to pay the duties of Excise for the last half Year. And Praying that the said duties may be remitted him.

In the House of Representatives Read, and in Answer Ordered That the Excise due from the Petitioner to the Government from the 25th March 1759 to 24: March following be remitted to him. And that the Commissioner of Excise on spirituous Liquors for the County of Suffolk for the Year 1759 govern himself accordingly.

In Council Read and Concurred Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 378.

Chap. 32. Neither the time limited for enlistments, in the resolutions of March 13th, nor the number of men voted to be raised, seems to have met the Governor's expectation or desire, and on the day when those resolutions were finally reported he sent a message to the Assembly expressing a hope that the failure to raise, this year, a force as large as was raised, "at once," in the previous year would not prove a "prejudice to the service." He suggested that the gravity of the situation required at least an effort equal to that which was made by them in the former campaign, and that a failure to furnish as large a quota might disarrange measures in the formation of which such a quota had been relied upon, and so "be of the most fatal consequences."

On the following day a committee was appointed to consider this message and prepare an answer thereto. This answer, which was immediately prepared, refers to the past conduct of the Assembly as an assurance that they had "no regard to quotas but were governed by the importance of the service," that, though their disposition was unchanged, it was as difficult to raise 5000 men this year as it had been to raise 7000 men for the last campaign;—"and the distress of the province then was as great as it could support itself under." They added that they could not then determine what further could be done after raising 5000 men but that the province would continue, as it always had done, to exert itself to the utmost.

A few days later, letters of encouraging import were received from Secretary Pitt and Gen. Amherst. These the Governor laid before the House of Representatives on the twenty-first of March. In the letter from Amherst, dated the 15th of the same month, the General informed the Governor of his intention to send 2500 of the Massachusetts quota to take the place of regular troops then in garrison at Louisbourg, Halifax, Nova Scotia and the Bay of Fundy, there to remain on garrison duty, with the possibility that a portion of them would proceed on the intended expedition up the St. Lawrence. This message and accompanying letters were immediately referred to a committee.

Gen. Amherst wrote again on the twenty-third, after he had received information of the vote of the Assembly for raising forces, expressing his disappointment that the quota had been reduced from that of the previous year. Before this letter arrived the Governor had renewed his recommendation to the legislature to increase the quota, which, he urged, was to be employed in a cause that the province had always desired to engage in, and for the failure of which through their want of zeal they could never be excused. He concluded this message with the following appeal: "If it be now in your hearts to join your King and Mother country, now shew your zeal as to the ways and means of compleating efforts that call for your whole strength! I must refer wholly to you." This message was duly referred to a committee, but, before they reported, the following proceedings took place:—

"March 28, 1759. The Committee appointed the 21 Inst to consider of the several Letters his Excellency was pleased to lay before the two Houses relative to the Operations of the ensuing year—Reported as follows That it is necessary such an Addition be made to the five thousand Men raised for his Majesty's Service under the General and Commander in Cheif of his Majesty's Forces as that the whole number of Men in the Pay of the Province including those in the Province Ship, those at Castle William, and those upon the Inland Frontiers may amount to seven thousand, the additional number now raised to be under the Direction of the Commander in Cheif of his Majesty's Forces in all respects as fully as the Four thousand six hundred men, for raising of whom Provision has been made this present session. (Signed) T: HUTCHINSON Pr order.

In Council. Read and Sent down.

In the House of Representatives Read and after a debate Ordered That the further consideration of this Report be referred till the next Sitting of this Court. In Council. Read and Nonconcurred."—Council Records, vol. XXII., p. 638.

The thanks of the Assembly were also voted to the Governor for his repeated applications to the King for reimbursement, and preparations were made for transmitting the money, if voted; if not, the Agent was instructed to use his best endeavors to procure an appropriation. Surgeon's chests, shirts, hose and shoes were directed to be provided for the army and then the following action was taken:—

"March 28, 1759. The Committee appointed on his Excellency's Message of the 26 Instant reported the following draft of an answer thereto submitting the same (Signed) ISAAC ROYALL.

May it please your Excellency

The importance of the Service which your Excellency has so warmly recommended to the two Houses has induced them to come into measures for raising a number of Men, which they at present apprehend equal to the Abilities of the Province especially considering how many have already entered into other Services, notwithstanding which, if after the raising the Men already voted, the necessity of the Service, and State and Circumstances of the Government will admit, we shall be still willing to exert Ourselves to the Utmost; but as it is necessary that the several Members of the Court should be at their respective Towns to encourage the Levies already Voted, they are desirous, if your Excellency thinks proper, of having a short Recess, and when they come together again, after the time appointed for the compleating of the said Levies, they will be the better able to judge how far it is in their power to exert themselves further. In Council. Read and Accepted. And Ordered That Samuel Danforth Esq with such as the honourable House shall join be a Committee to wait on his Excellency with the said Message.

In the House of Representatives Read and Concurred and Colo Buckminster and Mr Turner are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 643.

At the beginning of the fifth session (Apr. 11,) the Governor sent down a message which, with the action of the Assembly thereon, is hereunder given:—

"Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives.

I have by my Speech and several Messages this Sessions laid before You every Reason and Motive that can induce you to join your King and the Mother Country with the same Efforts You did last year. You have answered Me that you will exert yourselves to the Utmost of your Abilities, and that if, After raising the present 5000 Men, it should appear that the Abilities of the Province were equal to the raising more Men, you would, if the Service should require it, further exert yourselves.

You will see by the Letters I now order to be laid before You, that the Service dos absolutely require it, and I can add nothing to the Motives which must arise from the Considerations of your own Honour, Duty and Interest.

This was followed by another message, on the 18th, upon which a vote was passed referring it, with the accompanying letters, to a joint committee; and on the same day the Assembly voted to raise 1500 men in addition to the number already voted to be raised, and sent up an address in answer to the Governor's message of the 11th. The message, vote of reference, and subsequent proceedings are hereunder given:—

"Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives.

Upon fitting out the Troops for the present Expedition, I find a large and unexpected deficiency of Arms.

The measure (namely that of Stoppages on the mens Pay) gone into by the Court to remedy this, may make Amends for the Loss, but dos not remedy the deficiency. Now it appears to me that Stoppages made for the Loss of Arms given by the Crown, are in the nature of the thing appropriated to replace them, as the Province has indented for them. And I cannot but think that Stoppages made for Arms granted by the General Court should in the reason of the thing be also appropriated to replace Province Arms, as these are a Grant already made to the Crown.

However I recommend this Matter to your consideration And if you think any thing further necessary to be done I must desire You will appropriate the Sum arising by such Stoppages to the buying other Arms, and I will make myself answerable to the Province for them.

April 18, 1759. T. Pownall

In the House of Representatives Read and Ordered That M[r] Flucker M[r] Hatch and M[r] Russell with Such as the honourable Board shall appoint take this Message together with the Account of Stoppages charged in the several Muster Rolls for Arms &[c] not returned in the Expeditions 1757 and 1758 under consideration and report what they Judge proper to be done thereon. "April 18, 1759. The House of Representatives having sent up to the Board for their Concurrence an Establishment for fifteen hundred Men in addition to the 5000, already granted for the general Service of the year, the Board took the same into consideration, but declined passing upon it at present and appointed Benjamin Lynde Esq and Others a Committee to go down to the House of Representatives with a verbal Message to acquaint them that the Board had not passed upon said Establishment as they apprehended that neither the Number of Men thus provided for, nor the Bounty for their encouragement to inlist, nor the Prœmium granted for the inlisting Officers, were sufficient to answer the purpose, and to move to the House to reconsider the matter, and if they should be of opinion the Circumstances of the Province would allow of it, to make such further provision as they should judge best.

To which Message the Board received an Answer by Col[o] White and Others a Committee of the House of Representatives informing the Board that the House had considered their Message, and did not judge it fit to augment the number of Men or the Bounty.

The Board then proceeded to pass upon the Establishment which is as follows viz[t]

In the House of Representatives Whereas the Extraordinary Efforts of this Province for his Majesty's Service ever since the commencement of the Rupture with France, more especially in the last Campaign have reduced it to such an exhausted and distressed State, that the Province could not without great difficulty raise the Five thousand Men it has already raised, and that another Impress this year would be of ruinous and fatal consequence.

Therefore Voted and Resolved That so many Men as with their Officers will make up fifteen hundred be raised by voluntary Inlistments, if they can be so procured, but not otherwise: That each able bodied effective Noncommissioned Officer and private Soldier who shall inlist into his Majesty's Service in the Expedition against Canada on or before the tenth day of May next shall on his passing muster by such Person whom his Excellency the Governor shall appoint in the Regiment to which they belong, be intitled to receive as Bounty two Treasurer's Notes, one of Six pounds payable with Interest on the second day of June 1760, and one of Eight pounds payable with Interest on the second day of June 1761, together with a Blanket, Knapsack, Canteen, or Wood Bottle, and other Articles in the like proportion as have been allowed to the 5000 already Voted by this Court.

Also Voted and Resolved That the following Establishment be made for the Officers and Private Men that may be raised in consequence of the above Resolve viz[t]

	℔ month
For one Colonel for said fifteen hundred men	£.25.
For one Lieutenant Colonel for said Regiment	16. 13. 4
For one Major to ditto	13. 6. 8
For a Captain of Fifty Men including Officers	9. " "
For two Lieutenants for such Company, each	5. " "
For one Ensign for ditto	3. 10.
For one Chaplain for each Regiment, if a settled Minister and leaves his Congregation	10. "
For a Minister not settled	8. "
For one Surgeon to ditto	10. "
For two Surgeon's Mates to ditto, each	5. 6. 8
For one Adjutant	4. " "
For one Quarter Master to ditto	5. " "

	℔ᵗ month
For each Sergeant	£2. 3. 1
For each Corporal	1. 18. 7
For two Drummers, each	1. 18. 7
For each Private.	1. 16.

Also further Resolved That all other Allowance be granted to the Officers and Men now to be raised, as has been granted to them already raised, and that they be continued in the Service for a time not exceeding the first day of November next, and to be dismissed as much sooner as his Majesty's Service will admit.

Also Resolved That his Excellency the Governor be desired in issuing his Commissions to grant them to such persons as being otherwise qualified, and being Inhabitants of this Government shall inlist the greatest number of Men.

Also Resolved That the following Establishment be made vizᵗ

	℔ᵗ month
For one Gunner for the Forces going to Penobscot	£5. " "
For one Quarter Gunner for ditto	2. 10. "
For one Quarter Master for each of the Regiments going Westward	5. " "
For a Commissary for ditto	8. " "
For a Commissary for the Regiment destined to Louisbourgh	8. " "
For three Commissaries for the Forces destined for Nova Scotia, vizᵗ one to be at Halifax, one at Fort Cumberland & one at Annapolis, each	8.

Which Commissaries are to have the care of issuing out the Hospital Stores.

Also Resolved That those Persons who shall be appointed Commissaries for the intended Expedition the present year shall not on any pretence whatsoever supply the Forces with any Stores of any kind, but what they receive from the Government. And if any of said Commissaries shall supply the said Forces in any other way than as aforesaid he shall not be entitled to any Wages from the Government, nor be made up in any Pay Roll whatsoever. The Committee appointed to consider his Excellency's Message recommending an augmentation of the Forces—reported the draft of a Message to his Excellency, as follows— (Signed) T: HUTCHINSON—

May it Please your Excellency.

The several Reasons and Motives which your Excellency has from time to time laid before the two Houses in order to induce an Augmentation of the Forces for the Service of the present year have been maturely weighed and considered by us.

We have likewise had an Opportunity in the Recess of the Court of acquainting Ourselves with the State of the several parts of the Province, and its Ability for raising an Additional number of Men. We acknowledge with Gratitude that the Interest and Ease of the People has been consulted by your Excellency in making the late Levy as far as could consist with his Majesty's Service, and the purposes for which the Men are raised. The Distress brought upon the Inhabitants is notwithstanding extremely great.

The number of Men raised this year we are sensible is not equal to that of the last. The Assembly then made the greatest Effort that has ever been known in the Province. They looked upon it to be the last Effort; They had no expectation that it could be repeated, and it was really so great as to render it impracticable for Us to make the like a second time. The number of our Inhabitants is since then much lessen'd. Some were killed in Battle, many died by Sickness while they were in Service, or soon after their return home, Great numbers have inlisted as Rangers Artificers. Recruits in his Majesty's Regular Forces, and for other Branches of the Service.

The unprecedented Charge of the last year also tends to increase the distress of the Province, the expence of the Regiments raised for his Majesty's Service amounted to near One hundred and twenty thousand Pounds Sterlᵍ, besides this the Inhabitants of the several Towns in the Province by Fines or by Voluntary Contributions to procure Men for the Service paid at least Sixty thousand pounds Sterling more, which is in all respects as burdensome as if it had been raised as a Tax by this Government. The Defence of our own Frontiers and the other ordinary Charges of Government amount to at least Thirty thousand pounds Sterlᵍ more. Because the Province the last Year raised 7000 Men, it is inferred that it is able to raise the same number this, and no Allowance is made for its being so much reduced in its Estate and number of Inhabitants.

We have generally been the first in proposals for Public Service, and have determined what Force we would employ. Other Governments have followed after Us in just what proportion they pleased, and we wish it had been in an equal one. We are now lessened and they are increased, and We are yet urged to continue the same proportion. We have always chose to avoid entering into the consideration of Quotas or Proportions, but We seem now obliged to do it. We conceive that in order to determine a just proportion, the Wealth, the number of Inhabitants and the Charges of each Government for its immediate defence are all to come under consideration. If this be allowed to be a just Rule to determine by, we are sure that not only in all past Years, but in this present year also we have done more in proportion to the General Service than any one Government upon the Continent.

We know of no Quota settled for each Colony. The Agreement made at Albany by the Commissioners in the year 1754 has been generally urged as a Rule of proportion since that time, but it was agreed by the same Commissioners that Regard should be always had to the special Services of any Colony for its immediate defence. We are obliged to keep six hundred Men in pay for the defence of our Frontiers & Sea Coasts; this Charge some of the other Governments are wholly free from, and the rest subject to in very small degree. Exclusive of the 600 Men aforesaid we have already raised 5000 Men for the General Service, Connecticut have raised in proportion to the 5000, only according to the Albany Plan without any Regard to the 600: every other Government falls short even of that, so that We have this year already done more in proportion than any of our Neighbours.

We are told that We are the leading Province, We have been so for many years past, and we have been as long unequally burdened. We have borne it patiently, although We have seen our Inhabitants leaving Us and removing to other Governments to live more free from Taxes. and a few years ago for this reason alone, four of our Principal Towns refused to submit any longer to our Jurisdiction, and another Government found a pretence for receiving them, and they are not yet returned to Us. Under these difficulties We are still willing to afford every reasonable aid in our power. A further Impress would distress and discourage the People to such a degree, that as well in faithfulness to the Service, as to the particular Interest of this Province We are bound to decline it, But great as our Burdens are, We have now engaged a bounty more than double what has ever yet been given by the Province in order to procure a voluntary Inlistment of fifteen hundred Men over and above the five thousand already raised, and we have reason to hope that this Bounty will be sufficient and have the Effect which your Excellency desires.

In the House of Representatives Read and Ordered That this Report be accepted and that Colº Jones and Colº Lawrence with Such as the honourable Board shall appoint be a Committee to wait on his Excellency with the foregoing Message. In Council. Read and Concurred and Andrew Oliver Esq is joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 662.

"April 24, 1759. In the House of Representatives Voted That the time for inlisting the fifteen hundred Men which was determined by this Court to be on or before the 10th of May next, be further lengthned to the 17th of the same month. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 682.

There were other messages and votes this session connected with the subject of raising men for the service; but as they related, chiefly, to the deficiency and procurement of arms, to the protection of the frontier town of Stockbridge—left exposed by the absence of nearly fifty of its men who had entered the service—and to a proposed impress of sailors to man the transports, they are omitted here as not specially pertinent to this chapter.

Chap. 38. "January 17, 1757. In the House of Representatives January 15, 1757. —Whereas in and by an Act of this Province made and passed in the Twenty Ninth Year of his present Majestys Reign, intitled 'an Act for raising a Sum of Money by 'a Lottery or Lotteries for the paving and repairing the Neck, leading out of the 'Town of Boston, called Boston Neck'—

Messrs Samuel Grant, Thomas Hill Joshua Henshaw, Joseph Jackson Thomas Cushing Samuel Hewes & John Scollay of Boston, or any three of them are allowed & Impowered to Set up and carry on One or more Lottery or Lotteries amounting in the whole to such a Sum as by drawing or deducting Ten ℔ Cent out of the Same or out of each Prize or Benefit Ticket may raise Three thousand Pounds & no more, which Sum when raised should be paid to the Town Treasurer of Boston within Ten days after the Sale of the Tickets for the Lottery or Lotteries aforesaid shall be compleated—And Whereas the aforesaid Samuel Grant, Thomas Hill, Joshua Henshaw, Joseph Jackson, Thomas Cushing Samuel Hewes & John Scollay have proposed to raise the said Sum of Three Thousand Pounds by Five several Lotteries & have accordingly set up & carried on One of the said Five already whereby they have raised Two Thousand Dollars, and paid the same into the Treasurer of the Town of Boston, and are now carrying on a Second Lottery, for the raising Twenty One Hundred Dollars more, which is near compleat, and whereas a Doubt has arisen whether the Select Men of the Town of Boston for the time being, who are by said Act impowered to Contract and agree for the Paving and Repairing the Neck aforesaid can enter upon or begin the same till the full Sum of Three Thousand Pounds be raised, & thereupon a considerable Sum of Money must be unimproved and the Work not effected for a long time which would be a Publick damage.

Resolved that it is the true intent and meaning of the said Act that on the said Samuel Grant, Thomas Hill, Joshua Henshaw, Joseph Jackson, Thomas Cushing Samuel Hewes & John Scollay their receiving the Sum proposed to be raised by each Lottery and paying the same to the Treasurer of the Town of Boston, the Select Men of said Boston for the time being be & accordingly they hereby are Authoriz'd and Impowered to begin & Carry on the said Work, and to draw out of the Treasury the Money so raised from time to time, for the End & Use provided for in said Act. In Council; Read & Concurr'd.

Consented to by the Lieutenant Governour."—Council Records, vol. XXI., p. 338.

"August 27, 1757. A Petition of the Selectmen of the Town of Boston—Praying that they may be indulged with further time for drawing the Lotteries granted them by the Government, than that to which they are confined by the Act of this Court. And that they may be allowed to lay out a part of the money which may be rais'd by said Lotteries in building a Wharf or Wall for the preservation of the Pavement, for the effecting of which the Lotteries aforesaid were originally granted.

In the House of Representatives. Ordered That the Prayer of this Petition be granted. And that the Memorialists have liberty to dispose of such Ticketts as are not yet sold of their Lottery N° 3 for the space of three months from and after the 7th of September next, and to draw said Lottery within that time. Also that said Memorialists be and they hereby are allow'd such further time for drawing any other Lotteries they are impowered to do by the Act passed in January 1756, for the purposes therein mentioned, as they shall judge necessary and convenient not exceeding two years in the whole from this time any thing in the said Act to the contrary notwithstanding. Also that the Memorialists be, and they hereby are impowered to lay out so much of the monies as already hath been or hereafter may be raised by Lotteries for building a Wall or Wharf for securing the Pavement on the Neck as they may think proper, and then proceed to finish the remaining part of paving said Neck according to the directions of the Act aforesaid. In Council. Read and Concurred.

Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., vol. XXII., p. 99.

PASSED 1759–60.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE THIRTIETH DAY OF MAY, A. D. 1759.

CHAPTER 1.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING THE SUM OF THIRTEEN HUNDRED POUNDS, FOR THE SUPPORT OF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNOUR.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

That the sum of thirteen hundred pounds be and hereby is granted unto his most excellent majesty, to be paid out of the publick treasurer* to his excellency Thomas Pownall, Esquire, captain-general and governour-in-chief in and over his majesty's province of the Massachusetts-Bay, to enable him to carry on the affairs of government. [Passed June 15.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING THE SUM OF NINETY-FOUR THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY POUNDS THREE SHILLINGS AND TWOPENCE; ALSO FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING A TAX OF THREE HUNDRED POUNDS, FOR FINES LAID UPON TOWNS THAT HAVE NOT SENT ANY PERSONS TO REPRESENT THEM IN THE GENERAL COURT THE PRESENT YEAR; ALSO FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING A TAX OF FIVE THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FOUR POUNDS ELEVEN SHILLINGS, PAID THE REPRESENTATIVES FOR THEIR TRAVEL, SERVICE AND ATTENDANCE IN THE GENERAL COURT, IN THE YEARS ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-SEVEN, AND ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-EIGHT; ALSO FOR ASSESSING A TAX OF SIX HUNDRED AND SIXTY-TWO POUNDS FOUR SHILLINGS AND SIXPENCE, UPON THE TOWN OF SHERBURN, UPON NANTUCKET, IN LIEU OF THEIR PROPORTION OF SOLDIERS FOR CARRYING ON THE PRESENT WAR; AND ALSO FOR ASSESSING A TAX OF THREE THOUSAND AND FIFTY-THREE POUNDS ONE SHILLING AND FOURPENCE, UPON SUNDRY TOWNS, TO BE LEVIED UPON THE PEOPLE CALLED QUAKERS, IN LIEU OF FURNISHING THEIR RESPECTIVE QUOTAS OF MEN FOR THE MILITARY SERVICE, IN THE YEARS ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-EIGHT, AND ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-NINE.

WHEREAS the great and general court or assembly of this province did, in their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, levy a tax of sixty-nine thousand and eight hundred pounds; 1757-58, chap. 3, § 7

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district or parish or other place within this province, that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district or parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, fifteen shillings and eightpence per poll, (excepting the governor, lieutenant-governor, and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well from being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands, and under their actual management and improvement; as also the estate pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who, through age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public charges, they may exempt their polls, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet. Rules for assessment.

[Sect. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county, in proportion to their province rate; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade, faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money, or commissions of profit in their improvement, according to their understanding or cunning, at one shilling per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for such town, district, parish or other place to pay; and, in making their assessment, to estimate houses and lands at six years' yearly rent whereat the same may be reasonably set or let for in the place where they lye: saving all contracts between landlord and tenant, and where no contract is, the landlord to reimburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands; and to estimate negro, Indian and mulatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment and discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; every horse and mare of [*] years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old, at three shillings each: likewise requiring the said assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty, and if as guardians, or for any estate in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists so perfected, and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collectors, constable or constables of any such town, district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector, constable or constables, with the sum-total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the last day of October next.

[SECT. 4.] And the treasurer for the time being, upon receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector, or constable or constables of such town, district, parish or place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and issue their accompts of the whole, at or before the thirty-first day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty.

And be it further enacted,

Inhabitants to bring in a true list of their polls, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or place, respectively, in convenient time before their making the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town-meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or place, or notify the inhabitants some other way to give or bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, rateable estate, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty * shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid in to the town, district or parish treasurer or selectmen, for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggr[ei][ie]ved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county, for rel[ei][ie]f as in the case of being overrated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estates as aforesaid to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions, for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

[SECT. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he doth or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and, before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, and trade, to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, thô the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected, as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store, and traffick, or carry on any trade or business, in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid, be and are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandizes, for carrying on such trade and business and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons, as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[Sect. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoyned to levy and collect the* sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are residents in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same. [Passed June 15.

CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE PLANTATION CALLED NEW MARLBOROUGH, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF NEW MARLBOROUGH.

Whereas it has been represented to this court that the inhabitants of the plantation of New Marlborough, in the county of Hampshire, labour under great difficulties by reason of their not being incorporated into a district; and praying they may be so erected,— Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the said plantation be and hereby is erected into a seperate and distinct district by the name of New Marlborough: bounded as follows: beginning at a stake and stones, the south-west corner (which is the south-east corner of Sheffield); then running north, one degree and twenty minutes east, to a large heap of stones, the north-west corner; then east, two degrees north, to a stake and stones near Twelve-mile Pond, the north-east corner; then south, two degrees west, to a stake and heap of stones in the colony line; then, on the colony line, till it comes to the first-mentioned bounds: and that the inhabitants thereof be and hereby are invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities that the inhabitants of towns within this province are or by law ought to be vested with, saving only the choice of a representative. New Marlborough erected into a district, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That all monies agreed to be raised by the inhabitants Assessments before the 11th of November, 1757, declared valid.

and proprietors of said plantation of New Marlborough, before the eleventh day of November, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, be collected and paid according to their several votes and agreements; and their assessments are hereby declared valid in law to all intents and purposes: and what monies are necessary for the payment of their minister's salary and defreying the other charges of said plantation since said eleventh day of November, be assessed on the polls and estates of the inhabitants of said plantation, agreeable to law.

Moneys, how to be assessed.

And be it further enacted,

District meeting to be assembled, &c.

[SECT. 3.] That John Ashley, Esq., be and hereby is directed and impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant within said district, requiring him to warn the inhabitants of said district, qualified to vote in town affairs, to assemble at some suitable time and place in said district, to chuse such officers as are necessary to manage the affairs of said district.

Provided nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 4.] The inhabitants of said district shall pay their proportionable part of all such county and province charges as are already assessed, in like manner as tho' this act had not been made. [Passed June 15.

CHAPTER 4.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITULED "AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE TOWNSHIP OF NEW SALEM, SO CALLED, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A DISTRICT."

Preamble. 1753-54, chap. 2.

WHEREAS, in the act for erecting the township of New Salem, so called, in the county of Hampshire, into a district, it is, among other things, enacted that the inhabitants of said district shall have full power and right, from time to time, until the further order of this court, to join with the town of Sunderland in the choice of a representative; which, by reason of their great distance from the usual place of meeting in Sunderland, and the badness of the roads, as well as in many other respects, is found by experience to be very inconvenient; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

New Salem no longer considered as part of Sunderland in the choice of a representative.

That from henceforth, the inhabitants of the district of New Salem be no longer considered as joined with the town of Sunderland for the choice of a representative, nor be obliged to pay any part of the expence thereof; any thing in said act to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed June 15.

CHAPTER 5.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE NEW PLANTATION CALLED NARRAGANSETT NUMBER TWO, IN THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER, INTO A DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF WESTMINSTER.

Preamble.

Whereas the inhabitants of a township formerly granted by the great and general court, commonly called Narragansett Number Two, have addressed this court, setting forth the many difficulties they now labour under, which would be effectually remedied if they were constituted a district,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Narragansett Number Two a district.

[Sect. 1.] That the lands formerly granted by the great and general court of this province, to the descendants of those who were in the Narragansett fight with the Indians of that countr[e]y, now called the proprietors of Narragansett township, Number Two, lying in the county of Worcester, be and hereby are erected into a distinct and separate district by the name of Westminster; the bounds of said district to be according to their original grant, and as the said lands were laid out, and the plan thereof accepted, by the great and general court in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and twenty-eight; and that the inhabitants of the said district be and hereby are invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities which the inhabitants of towns within this province do or by law ought to enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted.

Privileges, &c., granted said district.

And be it further enacted,

William Richardson, Esq., to issue his warrant for assembling the inhabitants.

[Sect. 2.] That William Richardson, Esq[r]., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant of said district, requiring him to notify and warn the inhabitants thereof, qualified by law to vote in town affairs, to meet, at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to chuse all such officers as shall be necessary to manage the affairs of said district.

Preamble. 1757-58, chap. 2.

And whereas the great and general court of this province, at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, laid a tax of fifty pounds on the inhabitants of said Narragansett Number Two, and at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, one other tax of fifty pounds, and at their sessions in May last, one other tax of fifty-eight pounds ten shillings and twopence, towards defreying the publick charges of this province, which sums have not yet been assessed or paid into the province treasury,— 1758-59, chap. 1. 1759-60, chap. 2.

Be it therefore further enacted,

Rates, how to be assessed.

[Sect. 3.] That the assessors that may be chosen at the meeting of said inhabitants to be called as aforesaid, be and they hereby are impowered and directed to assess the aforesaid sums upon the inhabitants of said district, according to the rules of assessment in the respective tax acts mentioned, and commit said assessment to the collector or collectors that may then also be chosen, and return a certificate of the name or names of such collector or collectors, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto the treasurer of this province, on or before the first day of December next; and the treasurer for the time being, upon receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue his warrants to such collector or collectors, requiring them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and issue their accounts of the whole, at or before the thirty-first day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty. [Passed October 20.

CHAPTER 6.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE EAST WING OF RUTLAND, SO CALLED, IN THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER,—AND SUNDRY FARMS CONTIGUOUS THERETO, LYING BETWEEN LANCASTER AND NARRAGANSET[T], NUMBER TWO,—INTO A SEP[E][A]RATE DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF PRINCETOWN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS a number of the inhabitants and proprietors of the east wing of Rutland, in the county of Worcester, and the proprietors and inhabitants of sundry farms, contiguous thereto, lying between Lancaster and Narragansett [No. 2,] [Number Two], have represented to this court many difficulties they labour under, and praying that they may be made a sep[e][a]rate district; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, Rutland east wing, &c., erected into a district, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That the said east wing of Rutland, so called, and sundry farms lying contiguous thereto, contained within the bounds hereafter mentioned, be and hereby is erected into a distinct and sep[e][a]rate district, by the name of Princetown; viz[t]., beginning at the north-west corner of Lancaster, second precinct,—being also the south-west corner of Leominster,—from thence run[n]ing north, [54] [fifty-four] degrees west, seven hundred and sixty rods, to a heap of is invested with all the priviledges, powers and immunities, that towns in this province by law do or may enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted.

Provided, nevertheless,—
And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the said district shall pay their proportion of all town, county and province taxes already set[t], or granted to be raised, on the town of Rutland and Lancaster, as if this act had not been made. Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That William Richardson, Esq., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant to some principal inhabitant of said district, requiring him to notify and warn the inhabitants of said district, qualified by law to vote in town affairs, to meet, at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to chuse all such officers as shall be necessary to manage the affairs of said district. [Passed October 20. William Richardson, Esq., empowered to issue his warrant for assembling the inhabitants.

CHAPTER 7.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE INHABITANTS OF A TRACT OF LAND CALLED NEGUASSET, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK, INTO A DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF WOOLWICH.

Whereas the inhabitants of a tract of land called Neguasset, in the county of York, have represented to this court the great difficulties and inconvenienc[i]es they labour under in their present situation, and have earnestly requested that they may be incorporated into a district,— Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the whole of that tract of land in the county of York, called Neguasset, bounded as follows; viz[t], beginning at Towessick Gut, at the head of Arowsick Island, or Georgetown, so called, and running northerly on Sagadahock, or Kennebeck, River, to a certain pine-tree marked, which is the first marked tree in the boundary line between the proprietors of said land and the Plymouth Company; from thence, easterly on said line, to Mountsweeg River, as the line is now established; and from thence, southerly, down said river and Mountsweeg Bay, including an island called Oak Island; and from thence, again southerly, round a point of land call[e]['']d Phipps's Point; and from thence, westerly, to a point called Hawkomoka Point; and from thence, northerly, running through Hellsgate, so called, into Towessick, or Neguassett, Bay, to the bounds first mentioned; be and hereby is incorporated into a district by the name of Woolwich: and that the inhabitants thereof do the duties that are required, and be invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities which the inhabitants of any town within this province do or by law ought to enjoy, excepting only the priviledge of chusing a representative to represent them in the general assembly; and that the inhabitants of said district shall have full power and right, from time to time, to join with the town of Georgetown, in the choice of a representative or representatives, in which choice they shall enjoy all the priviledges which the inhabitants of the several towns within this province are intitled to. Neguassett lands erected into a district. Bounds thereof. Privileges, &c., granted said district.

Provided, nevertheless,—
And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the said district shall pay their proportion of all town, county and province taxes already set on, or granted to be raised by, said town of Georgetown, as if this act had not been made. Proviso

And be it further enacted,

Samuel Denny, Esq., empowered to issue his warrant for assembling the inhabitants.

[SECT. 3.] That Samuel Denny, Esq[r]., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant in said district, requiring him to notify and warn the inhabitants of said district, qualified by law to vote in town affairs, to meet, at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to chuse all such officers as shall be necessary to manage the affairs of said district. [Passed October 20.

CHAPTER 8.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY-FOUR THOUSAND AND FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS, TO BE THENCE ISSUED FOR DISCHARGING THE PUBLICK DEBTS, AND DRAWING THE SAME INTO THE TREASURY AGAIN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the provision already made for defreying the expences of the Canada expedition is found insufficient, and no provision made by the general court for discharging the debts of the ensuing year,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer empowered to borrow £144,500.

[SECT. 1.] That the treasurer of the province be and he hereby is impowered and directed to borrow, from such person or persons as shall be willing to lend the same, a sum not exceeding one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, in mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in other coin'd silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce; and the sum so borrowed shall be applied in manner as in this act is hereafter directed: and for the sum of sixty thousand pounds, being part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, the treasurer shall give his receipt or obligation in the form following:—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of
Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, and, in behalf of said province, I do promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or order, the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Witness my hand, H. G. Treasurer.

£84,500 payable June 20, 1763.

[SECT. 2.] And for the further sum of eighty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, being the remainder of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, the treasurer shall give his notes, in the form aforesaid, payable the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three; and no receipt shall be given for less than six pounds.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, when received into the treasury, shall be issued out in the manner and for the purposes following; that is to say, one hundred and twelve thousand pounds, part of the sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the expences in the present expedition against Canada; and the further sum of two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the services of the expedition against Canada in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, still unpaid; and the further sum of thirteen thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for the service of the several forts and garrisons within this province, pursuant to such grants and orders as are or shall be made by this court for these purposes; and the further sum of four thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for purchasing provisions, and the commissary's disbursements for the service of the several forts and garrisons within this province; and the further sum of four thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for the payment of such premiums and grants that now are or may hereafter be made by this court; and the further sum of two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for the discharge of other debts owing from this province to persons that have served or shall serve them, by order of this court, in such matters and things where there is no establishment nor any certain sum assigned for that purpose, and for paper, writing and printing for this court; and the further sum of two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for the payment of his majesty's council and house of representatives serving in the great and general court during the several sessions for the present year; and the further sum of four thousand and five hundred pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied to the payment of the charge of maintaining armed vessels of war belonging to this province; and the further sum of one thousand pounds, the remaining part of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, shall be applied for the payment of the troops that marched for the relief of Fort William Henry, when attacked by the enemy in August, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven.

£13,000 for forts and garrisons.

£4,000 for provisions, commissary's disbursements, &c.

£4,000 for premiums, &c.

£2,000 for debts where there is no establishment, &c.

£2,000 for pay of councillors' and representatives' attendance.

£4,500 for armed vessels.

£1,000 for paying such who went to the relief of Fort William Henry.

And in order to draw the money into the treasury again, and enable the treasurer effectually to discharge the receipts and obligations (with the interest that may be due thereon) by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal within this province, in manner following; that is to say, sixty-four thousand pounds, part thereof, according to such rules and in such proportions on the several towns and districts within the province as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court or assembly in their May session, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and to be paid into the publick treasury on or before the last day of March then next after; and the further sum of one hundred thousand pounds, according to such rules and in such proportion on the several towns and districts aforesaid as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and to be paid into the treasury on or before the last day of March next after.

Tax granted of £144,500.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That if the general court, in their May session, in the year seventeen hundred and sixty, and in their session in May, one act shall be agreed on.

thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and some time before the last day of June in each year, shall not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by this act are engaged to be, in each of said years, apportioned, assessed and levied, that then, and in such case, each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal within their limits, the same proportion of the said sums as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

[SECT. 6.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, some time in the month of July in each of the years aforesaid, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportions of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the treasury at the aforementioned times; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by and subject to all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the last preceeding tax act.

And be it further enacted,

The treasurer to conform to the appropriations.

[SECT. 7.] That the treasurer is hereby directed and ordered to pay the sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand and five hundred pounds out of such appropriations as shall be directed by warrant, and no other; and the secretary to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and accounts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they direct, such muster-rolls and accounts, after payment thereof.

Provided, always,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 8.] That the remainder of the sum which shall be brought into the treasury by the taxes ordered by this act to be assessed and levied, over and above what shall be sufficient to discharge the notes and obligations aforesaid, shall be and remain as a stock in the treasury, to be applied as the general court of this province shall hereafter order, and to no other purpose whatsoever. [Passed October 20.

CHAPTER 9.

AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF FORTY-ONE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED AND FORTY POUNDS.

Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 28, § 3. 1758-59, chap. 32, § 5.

WHEREAS this court did, in their session in March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, grant a tax of thirty-two thousand pounds, and at their session in April following did grant a further tax of nine thousand five hundred and forty pounds, amounting in the whole to forty-one thousand five hundred and forty pounds, to be levied on polls and estates within this province, and by said acts provision was made that the general court, by the first of October following, might apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes, and other places; but inasmuch as a number of persons appear willing to lend the government the aforesaid sum of forty-one thousand five hundred and forty pounds, to be repaid them at a distant period, in order to prevent an additional tax going out this year,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer empowered to borrow £41,540.

[SECT. 1.] That the treasurer of this province be and hereby is directed and impowered to borrow from such person or persons as shall be willing to lend the same, a sum not exceeding the sum of forty-one thousand five hundred and forty pounds, in Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in coined silver, sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or in government securities payable in June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty; and the sum so borrowed shall be applied by the treasurer for the discharge of those bounty-notes that were given to the soldiers to encourage them to inlist in the expedition this year; which notes will become due in June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty: and for the sum so borrowed, the treasurer shall give a receipt and obligation in the form following:—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 1759. Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or order, the tenth day of June, one thousand seven hundred [and] sixty-two, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent.

Witness my hand.

And as a fund and security to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

Tax of £45,000 1761.

[Sect. 2.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of forty-five thousand pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal, according to such rules and in such proportion on the several towns and districts within the province as shall be ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[Sect. 3.] That in case the general court shall not, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, and before the twentieth day of June following, agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sum which by this act is engaged to be apportioned, assessed and levied, that then, and in such case, each town, district, parish, or other place shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal within their limits, the same proportion of the said sum as the said towns, districts, parishes or other places were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

Treasurer empowered and directed.

[Sect. 4.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district, parish or other place within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal within their several towns, districts, parishes or other places, for their respective parts and proportion of the sum before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the publick treasury by the thirty-first day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the then last preceeding tax act: and the assessors shall incur the same penalty for not apportioning the sum laid upon their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, as though the same had been assessed upon them by an act of the general court.

And whereas this court, by their respective acts in March and April last, ordered and impowered the province treasurer—upon the general court's omitting to apportion a tax of forty-one thousand five hundred and forty pounds, in the month of October following, upon the several towns and districts within this province—to levy and apportion the same,—

Be it enacted,

Treasurer further directed.

[SECT. 5.] That he, the said treasurer, be and he hereby is directed not to issue and send forth his warrants of assessment for the sum aforesaid: provided, nevertheless, that if the treasurer shall not be able to borrow the whole of the sum aforesaid on or before the first day of November next, then, and in that case, he shall issue forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors in each of the towns and districts within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportion of whatever sum he shall not be able to borrow of the forty-one thousand five hundred and forty pounds aforesaid, to be paid into the publick treasury by the twenty-fifth day of March next; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by and subject to all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the then last preceeding tax act; and whatever sum the treasurer shall so issue his warrants for, shall be deducted out of the forty-five thousand pounds directed to be assessed, by the foregoing part of this act, in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one. [Passed October 17.

CHAPTER 10.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A SUM OF MONEY BY A LOTTERY OR LOTTERIES, FOR REPAIRING THE CAUSEWAY ON THE WESTERLY SIDE OF SUDBURY RIVER, AND FOR BUILDING A BRIDGE OVER SAID RIVER.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the causeway on the westerly side of Sudbury River, and the bridge leading over the same, are much out of repair, and oftentimes the freshet is so high that it is rendered very difficult and dangerous for travellers to pass and re-pass the same, notwithstanding the great cost and expence the town of Sudbury has been yearly at for repairing the same; and whereas the raising said causeway, digging a new canal of forty feet wide across said * canal to King's Pond, with three other sluices, and keeping the same in good repair, will require a considerable sum of money to effect it; for the raising whereof,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

John Noyes, Josiah Brown, Joseph Curtis, William Baldwin, Augustus Moore, Reynolds Seager and Capt. Elijah Smith, of Sudbury, allowed and empowered to set up and carry on one or more lotteries.

[SECT. 1.] That Messieurs John Noyes, Josiah Brown, Joseph Curtis, William Baldwin, Augustus Moore, Reynolds Seager, and Capt. Elijah Smith, of Sudbury aforesaid, or any four of them, be and hereby are allowed and impowered to set up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting in the whole to such a sum, as, by drawing or deducting ten per cent out of the same, or out of each prize or benefit-ticket, may raise eight hundred and twenty-seven pounds, and no more; and that the said sum of eight hundred and twenty-seven pounds, raised by the deduction aforesaid, be, by the persons above named, paid to the town treasurer of Sudbury aforesaid, within ten days after the sale of the tickets of said lottery shall be compleated; or, if the persons aforesaid shall think fit to raise said sum of eight hundred and twenty-seven pounds by more lotteries than one, then the money raised by each lottery, by the deduction aforesaid, shall, within ten days after the tickets of each lottery, respectively, are sold, be paid by them to the treasurer aforesaid; which sum of eight hundred and twenty-seven pounds, or whatever part thereof shall be so raised, shall be applied towards raising said causeway, digging a new canal to King's Pond, across said * canal, with three other sluices: saving so much of said sum as shall be sufficient to defrey the necessary charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid; and to no other use whatsoever, except in case of surplusage, as in this act hereafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

Any four of them may be managers or directors.

[Sect. 2.] That the persons aforesaid, or any four of them, be and they hereby are declared to be the managers or directors of each and every of the said lottery or lotteries, and are hereby impowered to make all necessary rules, and use all necessary methods, to manage and direct the same, till the whole shall be fully compleated and finished.

And be it further enacted,

Said managers to dispose of the tickets, make preparation for the drawing, and to give public notice of the same.

[Sect. 3.] That the said managers or directors, with all convenient speed, after the sale of the tickets of said lottery, or of each lottery, respectively, shall make preparation for the drawing the same, and shall give notice in the publick prints of the time and place of drawing, at least ten days before the said drawing begins, that any of the adventurers, if they think fit, may be present at the drawing; and after the said drawing commences, they, the said managers, may adjourn from day to day, till the whole number of tickets of each lottery, respectively, shall be drawn: provided, the drawing of any one of said lotteries continue not longer than fifteen days, exclusive of Lord's Days.

Managers directed in their proceedings.

[Sect. 4.] And the said managers or directors shall make, or cause to be made, a fair entry, in a book provided for that purpose, of all the tickets so drawn, and of the blanks and prizes drawn, answering to said tickets, and within ten days after the drawing of each lottery, respectively, shall be finished, they shall cause a list of the benefit-tickets, expressing the number and the amount of each of them, to be printed in the publick newspapers; at the same time, in the said newspapers, notifying the owners of such benefit-tickets of the time and place when and where they may apply for the payment of such tickets; and if any contention or dispute shall arise in adjusting the property of any of the said benefit-tickets, the major part of the managers shall determine to whom it doth or ought to belong.

And be it further enacted,

Benefit-tickets to be paid off by the managers within twenty days after drawing.

[Sect. 5.] That the said benefit-tickets shall be paid off by the managers aforesaid within twenty days after the drawing of each lottery, respectively, is finished, upon application of the owner or owners of such tickets, and delivering them up to be cancelled; and to secure the payment of such benefit-tickets to the owner or owners of them, the said managers or directors, and their estates, are hereby held and subjected to satisfy and make good the same, in like manner as they and their estates are subjected by law to satisfy and make good their own proper debts: provided, that if the money in said managers' hands shall be lost by fire, or any other extraordinary or unavoidable accident, the said managers, and their estates, shall not be so held and subjected.

And be it further enacted,

Owners of benefit-tickets not applying for their money in one year, in case, shall not be entitled to the same.

[Sect. 6.] That if the owner or owners of any benefit-ticket or tickets shall, for the space of one year after the drawing aforesaid, neglect to apply for the payment of such ticket or tickets, unless he, she or they shall have been at sea and out of the province for that term of time (and to such person eighteen months shall be allowed to produce their tickets), he, she or they shall not be entitled to receive the same, but such ticket and tickets are hereby declared to be cancelled and of no value; and the money in the hands of said directors, which was to have been applied to the payment of such tickets, shall, after the expiration of the term aforesaid, be immediately paid to the town treasurer of said Sudbury, for repairing and keeping in repair the causeway and bridge aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 7.] That each manager or director aforesaid, before his acting in the capacity of manager or director, as aforesaid, shall take the following oath; viz.,—

Managers' or directors' oath.

I, A. B., do swear that I will faithfully execute the trust reposed in me, and that I will not use any indirect act or means to obtain a prize or benefit-lot for myself, or any other person whomsoever, and that I will do the utmost of my endeavour to prevent any undue or sinister practice to be done by any person whomsoever, and that I will, to the best of my judgment, declare to whom any prize, lot or ticket does of right belong, according to the true intent and meaning of the act of this province made in the thirty-third year of his majesty's reign, intitled "An Act for the raising a sum of money by a lottery or lotteries, for the building a bridge over the westerly side of Sudbury River, and repairing the causeway." So help me God.

Persons employed about the lottery or lotteries to be on oath.

—which oath shall be administred by any justice of the peace in the county of Middlesex; and every person employed about the lottery or lotteries aforesaid, by the directors aforesaid, shall take an oath for the faithful performance of his trust, to be administred by any justice of the peace in the county aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

In case the whole number of tickets in each lottery shall not be sold in six months after publication of the scheme, the town of Sudbury may take the remainder to their own account, provided.

[SECT. 8.] That if the whole number of tickets in each lottery, respectively, shall not be sold and disposed of by the said directors within six months after the publication of the scheme of each lottery, respectively, it shall and may be lawful for the town of Sudbury, if they think fit, to take the remainder of said tickets, undisposed of as aforesaid, to their own account: provided, that within one month after the publick meeting of said town, to be called for that purpose, a sum of money be raised, and paid to the directors aforesaid, sufficient to purchase the remainder of said tickets, which shall, in that case, be delivered to such person or persons as the said town shall appoint to receive the same; but if the whole of said tickets cannot be sold within the term of six months aforesaid, and the town aforesaid refuse to take the tickets remaining unsold as aforesaid, then the money received by the said directors for the tickets sold shall be by them lodged in the hands of some suitable person in the town of Boston, which they shall give notice of in the publick newspapers, to be returned to the owners of said tickets upon their delivering up their tickets to the said directors, and the charges arisen shall be defreyed by the said town of Sudbury.

Provided, nevertheless, that the said managers shall not hereby be prohibited from carrying on said lottery or lotteries at any other time which they may judge suitable and convenient for the same.

And be it further enacted,

In case of a surplusage, how the same shall be disposed of.

[SECT. 9.] That if the sum raised by means of this act shall be more than sufficient to raise said causeway, and build a new bridge aforesaid, and defrey the charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid, and pay the managers aforesaid for their service, as hereinafter expressed, the surplusage shall be applied towards repairing the highways in the town of Sudbury, as the said town shall direct.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for persons who forge or counterfeit tickets, &c.

[SECT. 10.] That if any person shall forge or counterfeit any ticket or tickets to be made in consequence of this act, or alter any of the numbers thereof, or utter, vend, barter or dispose of any false, altered, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, or bring such ticket or tickets, knowing the same to be such, to the said directors, or any of them, or to any other person, with a fraudulent intent, every such person or persons, being thereof convicted, in due form of law, shall suffer such pains and penalties as are by law provided in cases of forgery.

[Sect. 11.] And the said managers or directors, or any two of them, are hereby authorized and impowered to cause any person or persons bringing or uttering such false, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, as aforesaid, to be apprehended and committed to close goal, to be proceeded against according to law.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to keep account of the time of their attendance, and exhibit the same to the town.

[Sect. 12.] That the directors or managers aforesaid shall keep a particular account of the days of their attendance upon the service aforesaid, and for each day's attendance shall be allowed the sum of four shillings, the same not to be paid out of the monies raised by virtue of this act, unless there be a sufficiency for the purposes aforesaid, and for the payment of such their allowances; and in case of a sufficiency, they shall exhibit an account of their attendance aforesaid before a publick meeting of the town aforesaid, which account, being examined and found just, shall be paid by the town treasurer aforesaid, upon the order of the said town; but in case there shall not be a sufficiency, the town aforesaid shall make provision for the payment of such managers' allowance aforesaid: provided, that no more than four of the managers aforesaid shall be intitled to such allowance for one and the same day.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to receive accounts of charge, and order payment.

[Sect. 13.] That the managers or directors aforesaid, after the said lottery, or each of the said lotteries, respectively, is finished, shall receive the accounts of all charges arisen thereon, and, having found them just, shall certify the same upon said accounts, and direct the town treasurer aforesaid to pay them off and discharge them.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to contract for the work and materials, &c.

[Sect. 14.] That the managers aforesaid shall contract and agree for the raising said causeway and building the bridge aforesaid, and for the materials and labour necessary to do the same, at money price, and shall draw on the town treasurer aforesaid for the payment thereof; and, when the said causeway and bridge are finished, they shall exhibit a particular account of the cost of the same, and lay it before the town aforesaid at one of their publick meetings, in order to put on file with their other papers. CHAPTER 11.

AN ACT PROVIDING FOR THE RECEPTION AND ACCOM[M]ODATION OF HIS MAJESTY'S FORCES WITHIN THIS PROVINCE.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Regular forces marching through the province to be provided with quarters, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That when and so often as, during the continuance of this act, it shall be judged necessary for the defence of his majesty's dominions or for carrying on measures against his enemies, that any of his majesty's regular forces should march through any of the towns or districts within this province, every taverner or innholder within such town or district shall receive and entertain, within their respective houses and outhouses, as many of such forces as can therein be received and accom[m]odated; and if such forces shall not be provided with victuals, every such taverner or innholder shall furnish them with diet and small beer, payment or allowance to be made therefor as follows; viz[t].,—

Rates of quarters.

For one commission officer of foot, under the degree of a captain, for his diet and small beer, per diem, one shilling sterling; and for each foot soldier's diet and small beer, sixpence sterling per diem; and so in proportion for part of a day.

And be it further enacted,

Complaint made against any taverner, innholder, &c.

[SECT. 2.] That upon complaint made to any justice of the peace for any of the counties in this province, respectively, that any taverner or innholder doth refuse to receive and entertain any of his majesty's forces as aforesaid, such justice shall forthwith make enquiry into the grounds of such complaint, and shall thereupon, within two hours, determine and order how many of such forces shall be received into the house or outhouses of such taverner or innholder, and how many shall be furnished with diet and small beer; and every taverner or innholder refusing or neglecting to receive and entertain such and so many of the forces, shall, for each offence, forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds sterling.

Penalty.

And be it further enacted,

Governor, with the advice of the council, to authorize persons to provide quarters for his majesty's forces, in any town.

[SECT. 3.] That when and so often as, during the continuance of this act, any of his majesty's regular forces shall, for the defence of his dominions, or for prosecuting measures against his majesty's enemies, be ordered into any town or towns within this province, it shall and may be lawful for the governor, with the advice of the council, to appoint, authorize or impower any person or persons to agree for and take up such and so many houses and buildings, in or near such town or towns, as shall be judged sufficient and necessary, together with the barracks already provided at Castle William, to receive and accom-[m]odate the whole number of forces that may be so ordered, or, if need be, to impress so many uninhabited tenements in or near such town or towns as shall be necessary as aforesaid, and also to provide such barrack utensils and necessaries as shall be judged reasonable; the charge thereof to be advanced and paid out of the public[k] treasury, and an account thereof to be transmitted to the general of his majesty's forces, for a reimburs[ment][ed], or to the agent of this province, in England, in order to his sol[l]iciting the repayment of the same.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to be and continue in force from the twentieth day of October, instant, to the last day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and no longer. [Passed October 20.

CHAPTER 12.

AN ACT FOR THE RELIEF OF POOR PRISONERS FOR DEBT.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Persons standing committed for debt or damages, who have not sufficient estate to support themselves in prison, on complaint to two justices, quorum unus, to have the privilege of this act. 1741-42, chap 6.

[SECT. 1.] That when any persons, standing committed for debt or damages, shall complain that he or she hath not estate sufficient to support him- or herself in prison, the goaler or keeper of such prison shall, at the request of such prisoner, apply to two justices of the peace within the county, quorum unus; who shall thereupon make out a notification, under their hands and seals, to be served on the creditor or creditors of such prisoner, if he, she or they live within this province, his or her executor, administrator, agent or attorney, by reading the same to them, or by leaving an attested copy thereof at the place of his, her or their usual abode, or, if out of the province, then to be left at the place of the usual abode of such creditor or creditors' agent or attorney, if any he, she or they have, thereby signifying to him, her or them, such prisoner's desire of taking the priviledge and benefit allowed in and by this act, and of the time and place appointed for the intended caption of his or her oath; which notification shall be served at least forty days before the caption, and so certified to the justices, that so he, she or they may be present, if they see cause; and in case any creditor lives without this province, and hath no agent or attorney in it, the justices shall cause a notification to be left with the clerk of the court out of which the execution issued, and shall allow double the time before mentioned: and such justices are hereby impowered to administer to the debtor, if they think proper so to do, after they have fully examined and heard the parties, the following oath; viz[t].,—

Form of the oath.

I, A. B., do, upon my oath, solemnly profess and declare before Almighty God that I have not any estate, real or personal, in possession, reversion or remainder, sufficient to support myself in prison, or to pay prison charges; and that I have not, since the commenc[ing][ment] of this suit upon me, nor at any other time, directly or indirectly, sold, leased, or otherwise conveyed, or disposed of, to, or intrusted any person or persons whomsoever with, all or any part of the estate, real or personal, whereof I have been the lawful owner or possessor, with any intent or design to secure the same, or to receive or to expect any profit or advantage therefrom; or done, caused or suffered to be done, anything else whatsoever whereby any of my creditors may be defrauded.

Oath taken, and certificate made by the justices administering the same, the prisoner to be set at liberty, unless.

—which oath being taken by such prisoner, and certificate thereof made, under the hands and seals of the justices administring the same, to the goaler or keeper, he shall thereupon set such prisoner at liberty, unless the creditor or creditors, agent or attorney, notified as aforesaid, his, her or their executor or administrator, shall give security to the goaler or keeper, for the payment of three shillings and sixpence per week for and towards the support of such prisoner while he or she shall be detained in prison; and the goaler or keeper shall detain and keep in close custody such prisoner so long as said sum shall be paid, but upon failure of payment thereof shall set him or her at liberty.

Penalty in case of refusal or neglect of the gaoler, &c.

[Sect. 2.] And in case the goaler shall refuse or delay to discharge any prisoner who has complied with this act, he shall forfeit and pay to the prisoner the full sum for which he stands committed, to be recovered by action of debt in any court proper to try the same.

And be it further enacted,

Prisoner convicted of selling, or otherwise disposing of, his or her estate, how to be punished. 1692–3, chap. 18. § 9.

[Sect. 3.] That if any such prisoner as aforesaid shall be convicted of having sold, leased or otherwise conveyed or disposed of, or intrusted, his or her estate, or any part thereof, directly or indirectly, contrary to his foregoing oath, he shall not only be liable to the pains and penalties mentioned in the act for punishing of wilful perjury, but shall receive no benefit from his oath; or in case such prisoner, at the time of the intended caption, shall not take the aforesaid oath, or be not admitted thereto by the justices, he or she shall be remanded back to the goal, and shall not be intitled to the benefit of this act.

Judgment obtained against such prisoner, to remain good and effectual in law against his or her estate, notwithstanding such discharge, &c.

[Sect. 4.] And all and every judgment obtained against such prisoner shall, notwithstanding such discharge as aforesaid, be and remain good and effectual in law, to all intents and purposes, against any estate, whatsoever, which may then or at any time afterwards belong to him or her; and the creditor or creditors, agent or attorney, his, her or their executors or administrators, may take out a new execution against the lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods and chattels of such prisoner

(his or her wearing apparel, bedding for him and his or her family, and tools necessary for his or her trade or occupation, only excepted), for the satisfaction of the debt, in such sort and manner as might have been done in case such prisoner had never been taken in execution; and the charge, if any there be, that the creditor has been at for such prisoner's weekly support as aforesaid (upon oath being first made thereto before the clerk of the court out of which the execution issues, who is hereby impowered to administer the same), shall be added thereto; and if any debtor shall be aggrieved at any such additional charge, the creditor shall forfeit and pay to the debtor fourfold the sum unjustly charged and levied upon him for such support, to be recovered in any court proper for the trial thereof.

Provided, nevertheless,—

And it is hereby declared;

Proviso.

[SECT. 5.] That such prisoner as aforesaid shall only be discharged from the execution or executions whereon such process, as is before mentioned, has been had, and not from any other whereon he or she may be committed, until the oath and directions before [pr][d]escribed be taken and attended; nor shall any person who, after receiving the benefit of this act, shall be again committed upon any new execution as aforesaid, receive any further advantage by this act; nor shall this act be construed to extend to any person in custody for any fine imposed on him or her.

Limitation.

[SECT. 6.] This act shall continue and be in force from the twentieth day of October instant, until the first day of April, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three. [Passed October 20.

CHAPTER 13.

AN ACT FOR REVIVING SUNDRY LAWS THAT ARE EXPIRED.

Revival of sundry laws.

WHEREAS the several acts hereinafter mentioned, which are now expired, have been found useful and beneficial; namely, one act made in the sixteenth year of his present majesty's reign, intitled "An Act to prevent the spreading of the small-pox and other infectious sickness, and to prevent the concealing the same;" one act made in the eighteenth year of said reign, intitled "An Act in addition to the act intitled 'An Act for appointing commissioners of sewers;'" one act made in the twentieth year of said reign, intitled "An Act relating to views, by a jury in civil actions;" one act made in the twenty-seventh year of said reign, intitled "An Act in addition to the act made and passed in the eighth year of the reign of her late majesty Queen Anne, intitled 'An Act for regulating of drains, or common shores;'" two acts made in the twenty-ninth year of said reign, one intitled "An Act for preventing petitions to the general court, relating to licences for retailing strong drink, and keeping houses of publick entertainment;" and the other intitled "An Act in addition to the several acts and laws of this province, now in force, respecting poor and idle, disorderly and vagrant, persons,"—

Small-pox. 1742-43, chap. 17.

Commissioners. 1745-46, chap. 16.

Petitions for licenses. 1755-56, chap. 39.

Vagabonds. 1755-56, chap. 43.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Continued to the first of April, 1763.

That the before-mentioned acts, with all and every article, clause, matter, and thing, therein respectively contained, be and hereby are revived, and shall be in force from the twenty-fifth day of October, instant, and until the first day of April, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and no longer. [Passed October 20.

CHAPTER 14.

AN ACT TO REVIVE AN ACT INTITLED "AN ACT MAKING PROVISION FOR THE QUARTERING AND BILLETING RECRUITING OFFICERS AND RECRUITS IN HIS MAJESTY'S REGULAR FORCES EMPLOYED FOR THE PROTECTION AND DEFENCE OF HIS MAJESTY'S DOMINIONS IN NORTH AMERICA."

Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 15.

Whereas an act was passed in the [32nd] [thirty-second] year of his majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act making provision for the quartering and billeting recruiting officers and recruits in his majesty's regular forces employed for the protection and defence of his majesty's dominions in North America", which act is now expired; and whereas his majesty's service may require the revival of said act,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Continued till the first of June, 1760, provided.

That the act aforesaid be and it hereby is revived, and every clause and paragraph therein shall be and continue in force from the [25th] [twenty-fifth] day of October, [1759] [one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine], to the [1st] [first] day of June, [1760] [one thousand seven hundred and sixty], if the war with France shall continue so long. ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE SECOND DAY OF JANUARY, A.D. 1760.

CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT IN FURTHER ADDITION TO THE ACT FOR LIMITATION OF ACTIONS, AND FOR AVOIDING SUITS IN LAW WHERE THE MATTER IS OF LONG STANDING.

Preamble. 1757-58, chap. 9. 1740-41, chap. 4. 1755-56, chap. 22.

WHEREAS, by a law of this province, intituled "An Act in further addition to the act for limitation of actions, and for avoiding suits in law where the matter is of long standing," made and passed in the thirty-first year of his present majesty's reign, the time limited for commencing all actions of account, and upon the case, excepting such as are excepted in another act, intituled "An Act in addition to and for the explanation of an act, intituled 'An Act for limitation of actions, and avoiding suits at law where the matter is of long standing,'" made and passed in the twenty-second year of his present majesty's reign, will expire the last day of March next; and whereas the continuance of the war, and great numbers of men that are and may hereafter be in his majesty's service, will make it necessary that some further time may be allowed for the bringing some kind of actions,—

1748-49, chap. 17.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Time for bringing actions of the case, to be extended.

[SECT. 1.] That the time for commencing of actions of the case, upon notes of hand, or upon book accounts, limited by said act of the twenty-second, or by said act of the thirty-first, year of his present majesty's reign, shall be and is hereby extended to the last day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three; and no suit hereafter to be brought in such cases shall be barred if commenced before the expiration of said term.

And that this law may be more generally known,—

Be it further enacted,

1740-41, chap. 4. This act to be read in towns and districts. 1748-49, chap. 17.

[SECT. 2.] That the act, intituled "An Act for the limitation of actions, and for avoiding suits in law where the matter is of long standing," made in the thirteenth year of the present reign, the aforesaid act, intituled "An Act in addition to and for the explanation of an act, intituled 'An Act for the limitation of actions, and avoiding suits at law where the matter is of long standing,'" made and passed in the twenty-second year of the present reign, and this act, shall be read by the clerk of each town and district, at their anniversary meetings in March and May, annually; and the justices of the several courts of common pleas within the respective counties shall cause the same to be publickly read at the opening of their courts, from time to time, from the publication of this act and until the last day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three. CHAPTER 16.

AN ACT FOR APPLYING THE SUM OF TWENTY-SEVEN THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FOUR POUNDS TEN SHILLINGS, LAWFUL MONEY, REMITTED TO THE PROVINCE BY MR. AGENT BOLLAN, TO THE PAYMENT OF THE OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS IN THE LATE EXPEDITION AGAINST CANADA.

Preamble. 1759-60, chap. 8.

Whereas, in and by an act passed in this present year of his majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act for supplying the treasury with the sum of one hundred and forty-four thousand five hundred pounds, to be thence issued for discharging the public[k] debts, and drawing the same into the treasury again, the treasurer of the province is impow-[e]red and directed to borrow one sum of sixty thousand pounds, and to apply the same to the payment of the expences in the expedition against Canada in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine; and the said treasurer is impowered and directed, by the same act, to issue his warrants to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, some time in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, for said sum, to be proportioned among the several towns and districts, according to the preceeding tax act: provided that the general court at their sessions in May, and before the twentieth day of June, in the aforesaid year, do not agree and conclude upon an act to apportion the same; and whereas the sum of twenty-seven thousand five hundred and seventy-four pounds ten shillings, in lawful money of this province, has been remitted to the province by Mr. Agent Bollan, and received into the treasury before the aforesaid sum was borrowed, and remains to be appropriated,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer impowered to apply the money received from Mr. Agent Bollan.

That the treasurer of the province be and hereby is impowered and directed to apply the said sum of twenty-seven thousand five hundred seventy-four pounds ten shillings, to the payment of the officers and soldiers employed in the expedition against Canada, in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine; and that, instead of borrowing the sum of sixty thousand pounds, as aforesaid, he borrow no more than the sum of thirty-two thousand four hundred and twenty-five pounds ten shillings, and that, instead of a tax going out for sixty-four thousand pounds, as aforesaid, it be issued for thirty-five thousand pounds, and no more. [Passed January 25; * published February 5, 1760.

CHAPTER 17.

AN ACT IMPOWERING THE PROVINCE TREASURER TO BORROW THE SUM OF SIXTY THOUSAND POUNDS.

Preamble.

Whereas this court have agreed to raise a number of men to co-operate with his majesty's other forces for the reduction of Canada, and it is necessary that there be a speedy supply of money for levying the same,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer empowered to borrow £60,000.

[Sect. 1.] That the treasurer of this province be and hereby is directed and impowered to borrow the sum of sixty thousand pounds,

* February 13, according to the record.

in Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in coined silver, sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, and the said sum of sixty thousand pounds, when borrowed, shall be issued by the governour or commander-in-chief, by and with the advice of the council, for the levying the said men, pursuant to the order of this court, and for no other use whatsoever; and if there shall be a surplus, it shall remain in the treasury for the further order of this court; and for the sum so borrowed the treasurer shall give receipts and obligations in the form following:—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay. The day of 1760. Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer, to repay the said or order, the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver of sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or in Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest annually at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Witness my hand, H. G.

—and no receipt or obligation shall be given for less than six pounds.

And to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

Tax of £75,000, in 1763.

[SECT. 2.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty, a tax of seventy-five thousand pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates within this province, according to such rules and in such proportions as shall be agreed upon and ordered by the general court of this province, at their sessions in May, and before the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three; and if there shall be a surplus, it shall remain in the treasury for the order of this court.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[SECT. 3.] That in case the general court shall not, by the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, agree and conclude upon a tax act to draw into the treasury the aforesaid sum of seventy-five thousand pounds by the thirty-first day of March then next after, that then the treasurer of the province shall issue his warrants, directed to the assessors of the several towns and districts within this province, requiring them, respectively, to assess, levy and pay their respective proportions of said sum according to the proportions, rules and directions of the then last preceeding tax act.

Whereas this province have a humble trust and dependence on his majesty for a reimbursement of the charge that shall arise in consequence of the aforesaid expedition,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Treasurer to apply moneys that may be received from Great Britain.

[SECT. 4.] That the treasurer be and he is hereby directed and impowered to apply so much of the money that may be granted by parliament as a compensation for the service of the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and shall arrive here from Great Britain before the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, as shall be sufficient to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act; and in case so much money shall arrive from Great Britain and be received into the province treasury before the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, as shall be sufficient to discharge the obligations given by the treasurer, as aforesaid, then in such case the several clauses in this act providing for the issuing a tax of seventy-five thousand pounds shall be and hereby is declared null and void; but if the sum that shall be received from Great Britain shall not be sufficient for the discharging the obligations given by the treasurer, and interest thereon, in pursuance of this act, then and in such case the tax or taxes ordered by this act shall go forth only for a sum to make good the deficiency. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1760.

CHAPTER 18.

AN ACT TO PREVENT SOLDIERS AND SEAMEN IN HIS MAJESTY'S SERVICE FROM BEING ARRESTED FOR DEBT.

Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 25.

For the more speedy and effectual levying of soldiers, and to prevent their being arrested for debt, or their defrauding the government of the bounty they may receive,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Soldiers and seamen in his majesty's service not liable to be arrested.

[Sect. 1.] That no person who is or shall be engaged in his majesty's service, and in the pay of this province, either as a non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman, shall, during his continuance therein, be liable to be taken out of his majesty's service by any process or execution, unless for some criminal matter, for any sum under the value of ten pounds sterling, nor for any greater sum, until oath shall be made by the plaintiff or plaintiffs, before one of the justices of the court out of which the execution or process shall issue, or before two justices of the peace, quorum unus, in the county where the plaintiff or plaintiffs may happen to be, that to his or their knowledge there is, bonâ fide, due from such person as the process or execution is desired to issue against, the sum of ten pounds sterling at least, and was due on the twenty-fourth day of January last; nor in either of the cases aforesaid shall the soldier or soldiers be taken out of said service (in causes criminal only excepted) unless the plaintiff or plaintiffs, or the person in whose favour the execution issued, shall pay the bounty money the said soldier received, unto the justice or justices who shall administer the oath aforesaid; in which cases said justice or justices shall forthwith transmit the same to the treasurer of the province, particularly mentioning for whom said bounty money was paid; said sum to be recovered, in the cases aforesaid, of the soldier, by action of debt brought therefor by the person that paid the same: and every non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman, whose body, contrary to the true intent of this act, shall be arrested by mean process or execution after his being inlisted into said service, may and shall be set at liberty by any two justices of the peace, quorum unus, or by one of the justices of the court where such process issued, upon application made by him or his superiour officer, and proof of his being entred into the service aforesaid.

[Sect. 2.] And when it shall so happen that any non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman shall be actually committed to goal, on any execution, and shall be liberated as aforesaid, after his being dismissed from said service the clerk of the court from whence the execution issued may and hereby is enjoined to give an alias execution, upon the creditor's application for one.

Provided, nevertheless, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act,

Proviso.

[Sect. 3.] That no such non-commission officer, private soldier or seaman as aforesaid, shall have his person exempted from arrests for any sum or sums due for the publick tax for the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, any thing in this act to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1760.

CHAPTER 19.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL ACTS AGAINST DESERTIONS AND FOR THE PUNISHMENT OF DESERTERS.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Persons enlisted and shall afterwards abscond, how to be proceeded with. 1744-45, chap. 11. 1746-47, chap. 23. 1756-57, chap. 36. 1758-59, chap. 2.

That if any person shall inlist into the provincial service, and receive part of the bounty money granted, or that shall be granted, during the present war with France, and shall not attend the orders given him by his superiour officer, but shall abscond, he shall be deemed a deserter, to all intents and purposes, as fully as if he had received the whole of the bounty, and had read to him the second and sixth sections of the articles of war, against mutiny and desertion, and had taken the oath of fidelity; and it shall and may be lawful for any person to apprehend any one who may be suspected of desertion, and bring him before any justice of the peace living in or near to the place where he shall be apprehended, who is hereby impowered to examine such suspected person, and if, by his confession, or the testimony of one or more witness or witnesses upon oath, or upon his inlistment being produced, or by the knowledge of such justice of the peace, it shall appear that he was inlisted and had received the bounty money therefor, or any part of the same, such justice of the peace shall immediately cause said deserter to be conveyed to his majesty's Castle William, in order to his being transported (if his excellency the governour shall see meet) to one of the garrisons in this province, there to do duty as a soldier until he shall thereby have reimbursed the province, at the rate of garrison pay, the bounty he shall have received, the forty shillings reward for taking him up, and all other charges the province shall have been at in his being apprehended and transported as aforesaid; and every such person shall be deemed a soldier in the service of this province, and, in case of misconduct, be subject to the like penalties as if he had inlisted into the same. CHAPTER 23.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE NEW PLANTATION CALLED FRANKFORT, LYING UPON THE EAST SIDE OF THE RIVER KENNEBECK, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK, INTO A TOWNSHIP BY THE NAME OF POWNALBOROUGH.

Whereas it hath been represented to this court by the proprietors of the Kennebeck purchase from the late colony of New Plymouth that the erecting the new plantation called Fran[c][k]fort, lying upon the east side of the river Kennebeck, in the county of York, into a township, will greatly contribute to the growth thereof,— Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the plantation aforesaid, bounded as follows; viz[t]., beginning upon Kennebeck River, two miles and one hundred rods to the northward of the blockhouse within said plantation, and from thence running an east-south-east course, to Sheepscut River; thence to run southerly, down said Sheepscut River, to the mouth of Monsweag River; then northerly, up said Monsweag River, to the northern boundary line of the district of Woolwich; then to run a west-north-west course, along said northern boundary line of Woolwich, to the river Kennebeck; thence northerly, up said river Kennebeck, to the bounds first mentioned,— and to include Swan Island and all other islands, in said river Kennebeck, lying within the northern and southern boundary lines of said plantation,— be and hereby is erected into a township by the name of Pownalborough; and that the inhabitants thereof be and hereby are invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities which the inhabitants of the towns within this province do or by law ought to enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted. New plantation called Frankfort, erected into a township. Bounds thereof. Privileges, &c., granted said town.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That Samuel Denny, Esq[r]., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant in said township, to notify and warn the inhabitants in said township, qualified by law to vote in town affairs, to meet, at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to chuse all such officers as shall be necessary to manage the affairs of said township. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1760. Samuel Denny, Esq., empowered to issue his warrant for assembling the inhabitants.

CHAPTER 24.

AN ACT IN FURTHER ADDITION TO AN ACT INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT FOR THE SETTLEMENT AND SUPPORT OF MINISTERS AND SCHOOLMASTERS."

Preamble. 1692-93, chap. 26.

WHEREAS, in and by an act made and passed in the fourth year of the reign of King William and Queen Mary, intit[u]led "An Act for the settlement and support of ministers and schoolmasters," it is, among other things, enacted "That the inhabitants of each town within this province shall take due care, from time to time, to be provided of an able, learned, orthodox minister or ministers, of good conversation, to dispense the word of God to them; which minister or ministers shall be suitably encouraged and sufficiently supported and maintained by the inhabitants of such town;" and whereas, notwithstanding the provision aforesaid, some towns, districts, precincts or parishes within this province have chosen to, and settled in, the work of the ministry ignorant and illiterate persons, by means whereof the validity of the assessments made for the support of such persons has been disputed, and the peace and good order of such towns, districts, precincts and parishes have been greatly disturbed; for prevention whereof for the future,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Towns, &c., not to be assessed towards the support of illiterate ministers, unless.

That it shall not be lawful for any town, district, precinct or parish to assess the inhabitants thereof for or towards the support or maintenance of any person who shall be hereafter called to or settled in the work of the gospel ministry in such town, district, precinct or parish, unless such person shall have been educated at some university, college, or public[k] academy for the instruction of youth in the learned languages, and in the arts and sciences; or shall have received a degree from some university, college, or such public[k] academy; or shall have obtained testimonials under the hands of the major part of the settled ministers of the gospel in the county where such town, district, precinct or parish shall lie, that they apprehend him, the said person being a candidate for the gospel ministry, to be of sufficient learning to qualif[ie][y] him for the work of such ministry; and all assessments contrary to this act shall be void, and have no effect. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1760.

CHAPTER 25.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A SUM OF MONEY BY LOTTERY, FOR DRAWING IN SUCH OF THE NOTES OR BILLS OF THE LATE LAND-BANK OR MANUFACTORY COMPANY, AS ARE YET OUTSTANDING.

Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 29.

WHEREAS it has been represented to this court that near one thousand pounds of the notes or bills issued by the late Land-Bank or Manufactory Company are still outstanding, and remaining to be redeemed; and that, by reason of the death of many of that company, the insolvency of others, and the removal of divers of them out of the province (having first alienated their estates which lay within the same), the raising a sum of money, by assessment on the rest of the partners, sufficient to exchange those bills, now much enhanced in value by the interest grown thereon, will greatly burthen and distress them; and that, since the loss of the books, accounts, and other papers containing the affairs and transactions of that company,—which, together with the court-house in Boston, were providentially consumed by fire, — it will be difficult, if not impracticable, to apportion and lay such burthen equitably among such of the surviving partners as remain within this province: to the end, therefore, that such of those notes or bills as are still outstanding, with the interest daily growing thereon, may be speedily drawn in and consumed, and a final period put to the perplexed affairs of that company, and for preventing frequent applications to this court in relation thereto, whereby the publick affairs of the province have heretofore been greatly interrupted,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Selectmen of Boston allowed and empowered to set up and carry on one or more lotteries for redeeming land-bank notes.

[Sect. 1.] That Messieurs Joshua Henshaw, Joseph Jackson, Thomas Cushing, Samuel Hewes, John Scollay, Benjamin Austin, and Andrew Oliver, jun., or any three of them, be and hereby are impowered to set up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting in the whole to such a sum as, by drawing or deducting twelve and an-half per cent out of the same, may raise three thousand five hundred pounds, and no more; and that the said sum of three thousand five hundred pounds, raised by the deduction aforesaid, be, by the persons above named, paid to Samuel Danforth, Nathanael Hatch, and Thomas Goldthwait, Esqrs., commissioners appointed by this court to settle the affairs of the said Land-Bank or Manufactory Scheme, within ten days after the sale of the tickets of said lottery shall be compleated, taking their receipt for the same; or, if the persons aforesaid shall think fit to raise said sum of three thousand five hundred pounds by more lotteries than one, then the money raised by each lottery, by the deduction aforesaid, shall, within ten days after the tickets of each lottery, respectively, are sold, be paid by them to the commissioners or to the major part of them.

And be it further enacted,

Any three of them may be managers or directors.

[Sect. 2.] That the persons aforesaid first mentioned, or any three of them, be and they hereby are declared to be the managers or directors of each and every of the said lottery or lotteries, and are hereby impowered to make all necessary rules, and use all necessary methods, to manage and direct the same.

And be it further enacted,

Said managers to dispose of the tickets, make preparation for the drawing, and to give public notice.

[Sect. 3.] That the said managers or directors, with all convenient speed, after the sale of the tickets of each lottery, shall make preparation for drawing the same, and shall give notice in the publick prints, of the time and place of drawing, at least ten days before the drawing begins, that any of the adventurers, if they think fit, may be present at the drawing.

Managers directed in their proceedings.

[Sect. 4.] And as soon as may be after drawing of each lottery, the said managers shall cause a list of the benefit-tickets, expressing the number and value of each of them, to be printed in one of the publick newspapers, at the same time notifying the owners of such benefit-tickets of the time and place when and where they may apply for the payment of such tickets; and if any dispute shall arise about the property of any of the said benefit-tickets, the major part of the managers shall determine to whom it doth or ought to belong.

And be it further enacted,

Benefit-tickets to be paid off by the managers within twenty

[Sect. 5.] That the said benefit-tickets shall be paid off by the managers aforesaid within twenty days after the drawing of each lottery is finished, upon application of the owner or owners of such days after drawing.

tickets, and delivering them up to be cancelled; and to secure the payment of such benefit-tickets to the owner or owners of them, the said managers, and their estates, are hereby held and subjected to satisfy and make good the same, in like manner as they and their estates are subjected by law to satisfy and make good their own proper debts: provided, that if the money in said managers' hands shall be lost by fire, or any other extraordinary or unavoidable accident, the said managers, and their estates, shall not be so held and subjected.

And be it further enacted,

Owners of benefit-tickets not applying for their money in one year, in case, shall not be entitled to the same.

[SECT. 6.] That, if the owner or owners of any benefit-tickets shall, for the space of one year after the drawing aforesaid, neglect to apply for the payment of such ticket or tickets, unless he, she or they shall have been at sea or out of the province for that term of time, (and to such persons eighteen months shall be allowed to produce their tickets), he, she or they shall not be intitled to receive the same, but such ticket and tickets are hereby declared to be cancelled, and of no value; and the money in the hands of said managers, which was to have been applied to the payment of such tickets, shall, after the expiration of the term aforesaid, be paid to the province treasurer for the use of this province.

And be it further enacted,

Managers, &c., to be on oath.

[SECT. 7.] That each manager aforesaid, before his acting in the capacity of manager, shall take an oath for the faithful execution of the trust reposed in him by virtue of this act. And every person employed about each lottery shall take an oath for the faithful performance of his trust; which last oath may be administred by any one of the managers, who are hereby impowered to administer the same.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to keep account of the time of their attendance, &c.

[SECT. 8.] That the managers aforesaid shall keep a particular account of the days of their attendance upon the service aforesaid, and for each whole day's attendance shall be allowed the sum of six shillings, the same to be paid by the commissioners aforesaid, or the major part of them, out of the monies raised by virtue of this act: provided, that no more than three of the managers aforesaid shall be intitled to such allowance for one and the same day.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to receive accounts of charge, &c.

[SECT. 9.] That the managers aforesaid, after each lottery shall be finished, shall receive the accounts of all charges arisen thereon, and, having found them just, shall certify the same upon said accounts, to the said commissioners, or the major part of them, who are hereby directed to pay the same out of the monies aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Lotteries to be finished in eighteen months.

[SECT. 10.] That the lottery or lotteries aforesaid shall be wholly compleated and finished within eighteen months from the first day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty.

And be it further enacted,

How the moneys are to be applied.

[SECT. 11.] That the commissioners aforesaid, or the major part of them, shall, and they hereby are directed to, apply the money, from time to time, as they may receive it from the managers of the lotteries aforesaid (saving so much as shall be sufficient to defrey the necessary charges of said lotteries; and any dues or charges incurred, or that may arise in transacting the affairs of that company, which shall be judged to require speedy payment), to redeem the notes or bills of the said manufactory company, and pay the interest that may be due upon them, they, the said commissioners, or the major part of them, giving notice of the time and place, which shall be within the town of Boston, when and where they will attend to redeem the said bills; which notice shall be given in the several weekly newspapers printed in Boston; and those persons possessed of any of said manufactory bills, who shall first apply for the redeeming of them, shall be intitled to have them first redeemed.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners to give notice of the time of redeeming bills.

[Sect. 12.] That when the commissioners aforesaid shall have received a sufficiency of money to redeem the whole of said bills, they shall give notice thereof, as aforesaid, to the possessors of said bills; and said notice, being given six weeks, successively, in all the weekly newspapers aforesaid, is hereby made and declared a legal tender to all and every such possessor and possessors.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioners to lay their accounts before the general court, within a limited time.

[Sect. 13.] That the commissioners aforesaid, together with the former commissioners, shall, within three months after the compleating of the lotteries aforesaid, lay before this court, for their allowance and approbation, an account of their proceedings in the affairs of said company, and of their disposition of the money received by them by virtue of this act.

And be it further enacted,

Surplusage to be paid to the province treasurer.

[Sect. 14.] That if the sum raised by virtue of this act shall be more than sufficient to defrey the charges of the lotteries aforesaid, redeem the manufactory bills, and pay the commissioners aforesaid for their services and expences in settling the affairs of said company, the surplusage shall be paid into the province treasury, for the use of the province.

Commissioners directed.

[Sect. 15.] And the commissioners aforesaid are hereby directed to forbear issuing any assessment against said partners, during the term herein before limited for finishing said lottery or lotteries, unless by order of this court. [Passed February 13; published February 14, 1760.

CHAPTER 27.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL RATES AND DUTIES OF IMPOST AND TUNNAGE OF SHIPPING.†

WE, his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, being desirous of lessening the publick debts, have chearfully and unanimously given and granted, and do give and grant, to his most excellent majesty, for the service of this province, as they shall hereafter apply it, the several duties of impost upon all liquors, wares, goods and merchandize that shall be imported into this province, and tunnage of shipping hereafter mentioned; and pray that it may be enacted,—

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, to the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, there shall be paid by the importers of all wines, rum and other liquors, goods, wares and merchandize that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants thereof (except what is by this act hereafter exempted), the several duties of impost following; viz[t].,—

For every pipe of wine of every sort, ten shillings.

For every hogshead of rum, containing one hundred gallons, eight shillings.

For every hogshead of sugar, fourpence.

For every hogshead of molasses, fourpence.

For every hogshead of tobacco, ten shillings.

For every pound of tea that shall be imported from any of his majesty's plantations in America, one shilling.

—And so, proportionably, for a greater or less quantity.

And for all other commodities, goods or merchandize not mentioned or not excepted, fourpence for every twenty shillings value, excepting such goods as are the product or manufacture of Great Britain.

[SECT. 2.] And for any of the above-mentioned liquors, goods, wares and merchandize (excepting tea, which shall pay only one shilling) that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants of the other provinces or colonies on this continent, or of the English West-India Islands, in any ship or vessel to them belonging, on the proper account of any of the said inhabitants of the said provinces, colonies or islands, there shall be paid by the importers double the impost laid by this act: provided always, that everything which is the growth or produce of the provinces or colonies aforesaid (tobacco and bar-iron excepted), and all provisions, salt, cotton-wool, pig-iron, mohogony, brazilleto, black-walnut, lignum-vitee, red-cedar, logwood, hemp, raw skins and hides, and also all prize goods brought into and condemned in this province, are and shall be exempted from every the rates and duties aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That all goods, wares and merchandize, the property of any of the inhabitants of any of the neighbouring provinces or colonies on this continent, that shall be imported into this province, and shall have paid, or on which there shall have been secured to be paid, the duty of impost, by this act provided to be paid, and afterwards shall be exported and landed in any of the said provinces or colonies on this continent, then and in such case the exporter, producing a certificate from some officer of his majesty's customs, that the same hath been landed in some of the provinces or colonies aforesaid, shall be allowed a drawback of the whole duty of impost by him paid, or secured to be paid, as by this act provided.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That the master of every ship or vessel coming into this province from any other place, shall, within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port or harbour, and before bulk is broken, make report and deliver a manifest, in writing, under his hand, to the commissioner aforesaid, of the contents or loading of such ship or vessel, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantities of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessel, with the marks and numbers thereof, and to whom the same are consigned; and make oath before the commissioner that the same manifest contains a just and true account of all the lading taken on board and imported in such ship or vessel, so far as he knows or believes; and that, if he knows of any more wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize laden on board such ship or vessel, and imported therein, he will forthwith make report thereof to the commissioner aforesaid, and cause the same to be added to his manifest.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That if the master of any ship or vessel shall break bulk, or suffer any of the wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessel to be unladen before report and entry thereof be made as aforesaid, he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That all merchants and other persons, being owners of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported into this province, for which any of the rates or duties aforesaid are payable, or having the same consigned to them, shall make an entry thereof with the commissioner aforesaid, and produce an invoice of all such goods as pay ad valorem, and make oath before him in form following; viz^{t}.,—

You, A. B., do swear that the entry of the goods and merchandize by you now made, exhibits the sterling value of said goods, and that, bonâ fide, according to your best skill and judgment, it is not less than that value. So help you God.

—which oath the commissioner or receiver, appointed in consequence of this act, is hereby impowered and directed to administer; and the owners aforesaid shall pay to the said commissioner, or give security to pay, the duty of impost by this act required, before such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize be landed or taken out of the vessel in which the same shall be imported.

[Sect. 7.] And no wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize that by this act are liable to pay impost or duty, shall be landed on any wharf, or in any warehouse or other place, but in the daytime only, and that after sunrise and before sunset, unless in the presence or with the consent of the commissioner or receiver, on pain of forfeiting all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, and the lighter, boat or vessel out of which the same shall be landed or put into any warehouse or other place.

[SECT. 8.] And if any person or persons shall not have and produce an invoice of the quantities of rum or other liquors to him or them consign'd, then the cask wherein the same are, shall be gauged at the charge of the importer, that the contents thereof may be known.

Provided, nevertheless, —

[SECT. 9.] That the said commissioner shall be and hereby is allowed to give credit to such person or persons whose duty of impost in one vessel shall not exceed six pounds; which credit shall be so limited as that he shall settle and ballance his accompts with every person, on or before the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, that the said accounts may be produced to this court as soon as may be after; and for all entries where the impost to be paid doth not exceed three shillings, the said commissioner shall not demand anything, and not more than sixpence for any other single entry to what value soever.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 10.] That the importer of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, by land-carriage or in small vessels and boats, shall make report and deliver a manifest thereof to the commissioner aforesaid or his deputy, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantity of all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize so imported, with the marks and numbers thereof, when, how and by whom brought; and shall make oath, before the said commissioner or his deputy, to the truth of such report and manifest, and shall also pay or secure to be paid the several duties aforesaid by this act charged and chargeable upon such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, before the same are landed, housed, or put into any store or place whatsoever.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 11.] That every merchant or other person importing any wines into this province, shall be allowed twelve per cent for leakage: provided such wines shall not have been filled up on board; and that every hogshead, butt or pipe of wine that hath two-thirds thereof leaked out, shall be accounted for outs, and the merchant or importer shall pay no duty for the same. And no master of any ship or vessel shall suffer any wines to be filled up on board without giving a certificate of the quantity so filled up, under his hand, before the landing thereof, to the commissioner or receiver of impost for such port, on pain of forfeiting the sum of one hundred pounds.

[SECT. 12.] And if it may be made to appear that any wine imported in any ship or vessel be decayed at the time of unloading thereof, or in twenty days afterwards, oath being made before the commissioner or receiver that the same hath not been landed above that time, the duties and impost paid for such wines shall be repayed unto the importer thereof.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 13.] That the master of every ship or vessel importing any liquors, wines, goods, wares or merchandize, shall be liable to pay the impost for such and so much thereof, contained in his manifest, as shall not be duly entered, and the duty paid for the same by the person or persons to whom such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned. And it shall and may be lawful, to and for the master of every ship or other vessel, to secure and detain in his hands, at the owner's risque, all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, imported in any ship or vessel, until he receives a certificate, from the commissioner or receiver of impost, that the duty for the same is paid, and until he be repaid his necessary charges in securing the same; or such master may deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize as are not entered, unto the commissioner or receiver of the impost in such port, or his order, who is hereby impowered and directed to receive and keep the same, at the owner's risque, until the impost thereof, with the charges, be paid or secured to be paid; and then to deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize as such master shall direct.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 14.] That the commissioner or receiver of the impost, in each port, shall be and hereby is impowered to sue the master of any ship or vessel for the impost or duty of so much of the lading of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported therein according to the manifest to be by him given upon oath, as aforesaid, as shall remain not entered, and the duty of impost therefor not paid, or secured to be paid. And where any goods, wares or merchandize are such that the value thereof is not known, whereby the impost to be recovered of the master, for the same, cannot be ascertained, the owner or person to whom such goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned, shall be summoned to appear as an evidence at the court where such suit for the impost and the duty thereof shall be brought, and be there required to make oath to the value of such goods, wares or merchandize.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 15.] That the ship or vessel, with her tackle, apparel and furniture, the master of which shall make default in anything by this act required to be performed by him, shall be liable to answer and make good the sum or sums forfeited by such master, according to this act, for any such default, as also to make good the impost or duty for all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize not entered as aforesaid, or for which the duty of impost has not been paid; and upon judgment recovered against such master, the said ship or vessel, with so much of the tackle or appurtenances thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy said judgment, may be taken by execution for the same; and the commissioner or receiver of the impost is hereby impowered to make seizure of the said ship or vessel, and detain the same under seizure until judgment be given in any suit to be commenced and prosecuted for any of the said forfeitures or for the duty aforesaid; to the intent, that if judgment be rendered for the prosecutors or informer, such ship or vessel and appurtenances may be exposed to sale, for satisfaction thereof, as is before provided: unless the owners, or some on their behalf, for the releasing of such ship or vessel from under seizure or restraint, shall give sufficient security to the commissioner or receiver of impost that seized the same, to respond or satisfy the sum or value of the forfeitures and duties, with charges, that shall be recovered against the master thereof, upon such suit to be brought for the same, as aforesaid; and the master occasioning such loss or damage unto his owners, through his default or neglect, shall be liable unto their action for the same.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 16.] That the naval officer within any of the ports of this province shall not clear or give passes to any master of any ship or vessel, outward bound, until he shall be certified, by the commissioner or receiver of impost, that the duty and impost for the goods last imported in such ship or vessel are paid or secured to be paid.

[SECT. 17.] And the commissioner or receiver of impost is hereby impowered to allow bills of store to the master of any ship or vessel importing any wines or liquors, for such private adventures as shall belong to the master or seamen of such ship or vessel, at the discretion of the commissioner or receiver, not exceeding three per cent of the lading; and the duties payable by this act for such wines or liquors, in such bills of stores mentioned and expressed, shall be abated.

And for the more effectual preventing any wines, rum or other distilled spirits being brought into the province from the neighbouring governments, by land, or in small boats or vessels, or any other way, and also to prevent wines, rum or other distilled spirits being first sent out of this province, and afterward brought into the government again, to defraud the government of the duties of impost, —

Be it enacted,

[SECT. 18.] That the commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost shall, and he is hereby impowered and enjoyned to, appoint one suitable person or persons as his deputy or deputies, in all such places of this province where it is likely that wine, rum or other distilled spirits will be brought out of other governments into this; which officers shall have power to seize the same, unless the owner shall make it appear that the duty of impost has been paid therefor since their being brought into or relanded in this government; and such officer or officers are also impowered to search, in all suspected places, for such wines, rum or distilled spirits, or tea, brought or relanded in this government, where the duty is not paid as aforesaid, and to seize or secure the same for the end and uses as in this act is hereafter provided.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 19.] That the commissioner or his deputies shall have full power to administer the several oaths aforesaid, and search in all suspected places for all such wines, rum, liquors, tea, goods, wares and merchandize as are brought into this province, and landed contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, and to seize the same for the uses hereinafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 20.] That if the said commissioner, or his deputy, shall have information of any wines, rum or other distilled spirits, or tea, being brought into and landed in any place in this province, for which the duties aforesaid shall not have been paid after their being brought into or relanded in this government, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place; and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said commissioner or his deputy's making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid; and having such warrant, and being attended by such officer, the said commissioner or his deputy may, in the daytime, between sunrising and sunsetting, demand admittance of the person owning or occupying such place, and, upon refusal, shall have right to break open such place; and, finding such liquors or tea, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is impowered to command assistance, and impress carriages necessary to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and any persons refusing assistance, or preventing any of the said officers from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to the said commissioner; and he or his deputy shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance afforded, and carriages made use of, to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and the commissioner or his deputy shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferiour court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made, which court shall summon the owner of such liquors or tea, or the occupier of such shop, house or warehouse, or distill-house, where the same were seized, to appear and shew cause, if any he has, why such liquors or tea so seized shall not be adjudged forfeited; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause as aforesaid, or shall make default, the said liquors or tea shall be adjudged forfeited, and the said court shall order them to be sold at publick vendue; and the nett produce of such sale shall be paid, one half to the province treasurer for the use of this province, and the other half to the said commissioner.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 21.] That there shall be paid by the master of every ship or other vessel, coming into any port or ports of this province, to trade or traffick, whereof all the owners are not belonging to this province (excepting such vessels as belong to Great Britain, the provinces or colonies of Pennsylvania, West and East Jersey, Connecticut, New York, New Hampshire and Rhode Island), every voyage such ship or vessel doth make, one pound of good pistol-powder for every ton such ship or vessel is in burthen: saving for that part which is owned in Great Britain, this province, or any of the aforesaid governments, which are hereby exempted; to be paid unto the commissioner or receiver of the duties of impost, and to be employed for the uses and ends aforesaid.

[Sect. 22.] And the said commissioner is hereby impowered to appoint a meet and suitable person, to repair unto and on board any ship or vessel, to take the exact measure and tunnage thereof, in case he shall suspect the register of such ship or vessel doth not express and set forth the full burthen of the same; the charge thereof to be paid by the owner or master of such ship or vessel, before she shall be cleared, in case she shall appear to be of a greater burthen: otherwise, to be paid by the commissioner out of the money received by him for impost, and shall be allowed him, accordingly, by the treasurer in his accompts. And the naval officer shall not clear any vessel, until he be certified, also, by the commissioner, that the duty of tunnage for the same is paid, or that it is such a vessel for which none is payable according to this act.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 23.] That when and so often as any wine, rum or tea, imported into this province, the aforesaid duty of impost upon which shall have been paid agreeable to this act, shall be reshipped and exported from this government to any other part of the world, that then, and in every such case, the exporter of such wine or rum or tea shall make oath at the time of shipping, before the receiver of impost, or his deputy, that the whole of the wine or rum or tea so shipped has, bonâ fide, had the duty of impost aforesaid paid on the same, and shall afterwards produce a certificate, from some officer of the customs, that the same has been landed out of this government, — or otherwise, in case such rum or wines or tea shall be exported to any place where there is no officer of the customs, or to any foreign port, the master of the vessel in which the same shall be exported shall make oath that the same has been landed out of the government, and the exporter shall, upon producing such certificate, or upon such oath of the master, make oath that he verily believes no part of said wines, rum or tea has been relanded in this province, — such exporter shall be allowed a drawback from the receiver of impost as follows; viz^{t}., —

For every pipe of wine, nine shillings.

For every hogshead of rum, seven shillings and sixpence.
And for every pound of tea, one shilling.
Provided, always,—

[SECT. 24.] That if, after the shipping of such wines or rum or tea, to be exported as aforesaid, and giving security as aforesaid, in order to obtain the drawback aforesaid, the wine or rum or tea so shipped to be exported, or any part thereof, shall be relanded in this province, or brought into the same from any other province or colony, that then all such wine, rum and tea so relanded and brought again into this province, shall be forfeited, and may be seized by the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 25.] That there be one fit person, and no more, nominated and appointed by this court, as a commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost and tunnage of shipping, and for the inspection, care and management of the said office, and whatsoever relates thereto, to receive commission from the governour or commander-in-chief for the time being, with authority to substitute and appoint a deputy-receiver in each port, or other places besides that in which he resides, and to grant warrants to such deputy-receivers for the said place, and to collect and receive the impost and tunnage of shipping as aforesaid that shall become due within such port, and to render the account thereof, and to pay in the same, to the said commissioner and receiver: which said commissioner and receiver shall keep fair books of all entries and duties arising by virtue of this act; also, a particular account of every vessel, so that the duties of impost and tunnage arising on the said vessel may appear; and the same to lie open, at all seasonable times, to the view and perusal of the treasurer or receiver-general of this province (or any other person or persons whom this court shall appoint), with whom he shall account for all collections and payments, and pay all such monies as shall be in his hands, as the treasurer or receiver-general shall demand it. And the said commissioner or receiver and his deputy or deputies, before their entering upon the execution of their said office, shall be sworn to deal truly and faithfully therein, and shall attend in the said office from ten of the clock in the forenoon, until one in the afternoon.

[SECT. 26.] And the said commissioner or receiver, for his labour, care and expences in the said office, shall have and receive, out of the province treasury, at the rate of sixty pounds per annum; and his deputy or deputies shall receive for their service such sums as the commissioner of impost, together with the province treasurer, shall judge necessary, for whatever sums they shall receive and pay; and the treasurer is hereby ordered, in passing and receiving the said commissioner's accounts, accordingly, to allow the payment of such salary or salaries, as aforesaid, to himself and his deputies.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 27.] That all penalties, fines and forfeitures accruing or arising in consequence of any breach of this act, shall be one half to his majesty for the use of this province, and the other half to him or them that shall seize, inform and sue for the same, by action, bill, plaint or information, in any of his majesty's courts of record, wherein no essoign, protection or wager of law shall be allowed; the whole charge of the prosecution to be taken out of the half belonging to the informer.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 28.] That from and after the commencement of this act, in all causes wherein any claimer shall appear, and shall not make good the claim, the charges of prosecution shall be borne and paid by the said claimer, and not by the informer. [Passed February 13, 1760.

CHAPTER 28.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY AN EXCISE UPON SPIRITS DISTILLED, AND WINE, AND UPON LIMES, LEMMONS AND ORANGES.

Preamble.

We, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in general court assembled, being desirous to lessen the present debt of the province, have chearfully and unanimously granted, and do hereby give and grant unto his most excellent majesty, for the end and use above mentioned, and for no other use, an excise upon all rum and other spirits distilled, and upon all wines whatsoever, and upon lemmons, limes and oranges, to be raised, levied and collected, and paid in manner and form following: —

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Time of this act's continuance.

[Sect. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, every person already licenced, or that shall be hereafter licenced, to retail rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall pay the duties following: —

For every gallon of rum and spirits distilled, eightpence.

For every gallon of wine of every sort, twelvepence.

For every hundred of lemmons or oranges used and consumed in making punch, or otherwise for sale by taverners and innholders only, eight shillings.

For every hundred of limes used and consumed in making punch, or otherwise for sale by taverners and innholders only, three shillings.

—And so proportionable for any other quantity or number.

And be it further enacted,

Accounts to be taken.

[Sect. 2.] That every retailer of rum, wine or spirits distilled, taverner, innholder and common victualler, shall, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, take a just and true account, in writing, of all wine, rum and spirits distilled then by him or her, or in his or her possession; and that every person who shall be hereafter licenced to be taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer of wine, rum or spirits distilled, shall take a like account of all wine, rum and other spirits distilled by him or her, or in his or her possession, at the time of such licence granted; and * every taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer of rum, or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall make a fair entry, in a book by them respectively to be kept for that purpose, of all such rum, or other spirits distilled, or wine, as he or she, or any person or persons for him or her, shall buy, distill, take in or receive, after such first account taken, and when and of whom the same was bought and taken in; and at the expiration of every half-year shall take a just and true account how much thereof then remains by them; and shall, in writing, under their hands, render to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid the whole of those several accounts, and shall also make oath, in the form following, before such collector or collectors, who are hereby impowered to administer the same: —

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the account by you now rendered is, to the best of your knowledge, a just and true account of all wines, rum and distilled spirits you had by you, or in your possession, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and also of all the wine, rum and other distilled spirits bought, distilled, taken in or received by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by or with your knowledge, allowance, consent or connivance, and that there still remains thereof in your possession, unsold, so much as is in this account said to remain by you unsold; and that you do not know or believe that there has been by you, or by any other person or persons for or under you, or by your or their order, allowance, consent or connivance, either directly or indirectly, sold, used or consumed, any wine, or any liquor for, or as, wine; any rum or distilled spirits, or liquor for, or as, rum or distilled spirits; or that there has been any limes, lemmons or oranges by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by your order, consent, allowance or connivance, used in making punch, or otherwise for sale, since the said twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, besides what is contained in the account by you now rendered. So help you God.

* "That," omitted?

Penalty for collectors receiving accounts without oath.

—and every collector of the excise who shall receive any account from any person in consequence of this act, without their making oath to the same, as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for the use of the government the sum of twenty pounds.

[SECT. 3.] And for every person that was not licenced on the same twenty-fifth day of March, the form of the oath shall be so varied as that instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last accounts shall be inserted and used; and for every person rendering an account after the first, the oath shall be so varied as that instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last accounts shall be inserted and used.

Oath to be varied.

Duties to the collector.

[SECT. 4.] And every such taverner, innholder, retailer and common victualler shall pay the duties aforesaid to him or them that shall collect the same, on the whole of the several articles mentioned in such account rendered, saving only for such part thereof as remains in their hands unsold: provided, nevertheless, that for leakage, &c., ten per cent shall be allowed them on all liquors in such account mentioned, besides what remains in their hands unsold.

Ten per cent allowed for leakage.

And be it further enacted,

Taverners, &c., to give bond.

[SECT. 5.] That every person hereafter licenced to be a taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer of any wine, rum or spirits distilled shall, within thirty days after such licence granted, and before he or she sell by virtue of the same, not only become bound to keep good rule and order, as by law is already required, but shall also become bound, with sufficient sureties, by way of recognizance, to his majesty, for the use of this government, in a sufficient sum, to be ordered by the court that grants the licence, which sum shall not exceed three hundred pounds nor be less than fifty pounds, conditioned that they shall keep and render the accounts aforesaid, and pay the duties aforesaid, as in and by this act is required.

And be it further enacted,

Forfeiture for neglect in keeping and rendering accounts.

[SECT. 6.] That every such taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer, who shall neglect or refuse to take, keep and render such accounts as by this act are required, or that shall neglect or refuse to take the oath aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay, to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid, double the sum which the court of general sessions of the peace in that county shall adjudge that the duties of excise upon the liquors, limes, lemmons and oranges by such taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer, or by any for, by or under him or them, sold, used or consumed would have amounted to; and no persons shall be licenced by the justices of the general sessions of the peace, who have not accounted with the collector, and paid him the excise aforesaid, due from such person at the time of his or her taking or renewing his licence.

Preamble.

And whereas, notwithstanding the laws made against selling strong drink without licence, many persons, not regarding the penalties of said acts, do receive and entertain persons in their houses, and sell great quantities of spirits and other strong drink, without licence; by reason whereof great debaucheries are committed and kept secret, and such as take licences and pay the duties of excise therefor are greatly wronged, and the government thereby defrauded,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Forfeiture for selling without license.

[Sect. 7.] That if any distiller, importer or any other person whatsoever, after the said twenty-fifth day of March, shall presume, directly or indirectly, to sell any rum, or other distilled spirits, or wine, in less quantity than twenty-five gallons, or any beer, ale, cyder, perry or other strong drink, in any quantity less than ten gallons, without licence first had and obtained from the court of general sessions of the peace in that county, and recognizing in manner as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of four pounds and costs of prosecution, two-thirds for the use of the government, and the other third for the prosecutor; and all such as shall neglect or refuse to pay the fine aforesaid shall stand closely committed in the common goal of the county, and not have the liberty of the goaler's house or yard, until said sum of four pounds is paid, with costs; and any goaler giving liberty contrary to this act, shall forfeit and pay the said sum of four pounds, to be disposed of in manner aforesaid, and costs of prosecution.

Preamble.

And whereas some doubts have arisen whether the lending or delivering rum, brandy or other spirits distilled, or wine, to others, for their use, upon agreement or confidence of having the like liquors returned again, be a sale thereof; wherefore, for removing all such doubts,—

Be it enacted,

Liquors lent or delivered on certain consideration, to be deemed a sale.

[Sect. 8.] That all rum, brandy and other spirituous liquors, and wine, lent or delivered to others for their use, upon such like consideration, is, and shall be deemed and taken to be, an absolute sale thereof; and that every person not licenced as aforesaid, that shall order, allow, permit or connive at the selling any rum, brandy or other distilled spirits, or wine, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, by his or their child or children, servant or servants, or any other person or persons in or belonging to his or her house or family, shall be deemed and taken to be the seller of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against such offenders, and shall be recovered in like manner: provided, that if it shall be made to appear that the liquors lent or delivered as aforesaid shall have had the duties paid upon them, or were purchased of any person or persons having licence or permit, the person lending or delivering the same, as aforesaid, shall not be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties.

Proviso.

Preamble.

And whereas divers other persons than those licenced to sell rum and other distilled spirits by retail, have heretofore supplied persons employed by them in the fishery, building vessels, and in other business, with rum and other liquors, without paying any excise thereon, and thereby have defrauded the government of the duty of excise, and have not been subject to the penalty provided by law against selling drink without licence, and the same practice will probably be continued, unless effectual care be taken to prevent the same,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Persons not licensed supplying those employed by them in the fishery, &c., with spirituous liquors to be deemed sellers.

[Sect. 9.] That all persons not licenced as aforesaid, who hereafter shall by themselves, or by any other person or persons under them, or by their orders, allowance or connivance, supply any person or persons employed by them in the fishery, building of vessels, or any other business or employ, with rum or any other distilled spirits, or wine, shall be deemed and taken to be sellers of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against persons selling any of the liquors aforesaid without licence, and shall be recovered in like manner, unless they make it appear that such wine, rum or other distilled spirits, was purchased of a taverner, innholder or retailer, or other person or persons that had licence or permit to sell the same.

And be it further enacted,

One witness sufficient for conviction.

[SECT. 10.] That, when any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence, one witness produced to the satisfaction of the court or justice before whom the trial is, shall be deemed sufficient for conviction. And when and so often as it shall be observed that there is a resort of persons to houses suspected of selling strong drink without licence, any justice of the peace in the same county shall have full power to convene such persons before him, to examine them upon oath concerning the persons suspected of selling or retailing strong drink in such houses, outhouses or other dependencies thereof; and if upon examining such witnesses, and hearing the defence of such suspected person, it shall appear to the justice there is sufficient proof of the violation of this act by selling strong drink without licence, judgment may thereupon be made up against such person, and he shall forfeit in like manner as if process had been commenced by action or information before the said justice; or otherwise the said justice may bind over the person suspected, and the witnesses, to the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where such person shall dwell.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for selling strong drink to negroes, mulattoes, &c.

[SECT. 11.] That when and so often as any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence to any negro, indian or molatto slave, or to any child or other person under the age of discretion, and other circumstances concurring, it shall appear to be highly probable in the judgment of the court or justice before whom the trial shall be, that the person complained of is guilty, then, and in every such case, unless the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath (to be administred to him or her by the court or justice that shall try the cause), such defendant shall forfeit and pay four pounds, one third to the informer, the other two thirds to the collector of excise for the use of the government, and costs of prosecution; but if the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath as aforesaid, the court or justice may and shall enter up judgment for the defendant to recover costs.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty on persons refusing to give evidence.

[SECT. 12.] That if any person or persons shall be summoned to appear before a justice of the peace, or the grand jury, to give evidence relating to any person's selling strong drink without licence, or to appear before the court of general sessions of the peace, or other court proper to try the same, to give evidence on the trial of any person informed against, presented or indicted for selling strong drink without licence, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence in that behalf, every person so offending shall forfeit the sum of twenty pounds and cost of prosecution; the one half of the penalty aforesaid to be to his majesty for the use of the province, and the other half to and for the use of him or them who shall sue for the same as aforesaid. And when it shall so happen that witnesses are bound to sea before the sitting of the court where any person or persons informed against, for selling strong drink without licence, is or are to be prosecuted for the same, in every such case, the deposition of any witness or witnesses, in writing, taken before any two of his majesty's justices of the peace, quorum unus, and sealed up and delivered into court, the adverse party having first had notice, in writing, sent to him or her, of the time and place of caption, shall be esteemed as sufficient evidence, in the law, to convict any person or persons offending against this act, as if such witness or witnesses had been present at the time of trial, and given his, her or their deposition viva voce; and every person or persons who shall be summoned to give evidence before two justices of the peace, in manner as aforesaid, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence relating to the facts he or she shall be enquired of, shall be liable and subject to the same penalty as he or she would have been, by virtue of this act, for not appearing, or neglecting or refusing to give his or her evidence before the grand jury or court aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

How fines, &c., are to be recovered.

[Sect. 13.] That all fines, penalties and forfeitures arising by this act shall and may be recovered, by action or information, before any court of record proper to try the same; and, where the sum forfeited doth not exceed four pounds, by action or information before any one of his majesty's justices of the peace in the respective counties where such offence shall be committed: which said justice is hereby impowered to try and determine the same. And said justice shall make a fair entry or record of all such proceedings: saving, always, to any person or persons who shall think him-, her- or themselves aggrieved by the determination of said justice, liberty of appeal therefrom to the next court of general sessions of the peace to be holden for and within said county, at which court such offence shall be finally determined: provided, that in the same appeal the same rules be observed as are already required by law, in appeals, from justices, to the court of general sessions of the peace: saving, only, that the recognizance for prosecuting the appeal shall be eight pounds.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to settle accounts.

[Sect. 14.] That every collector shall settle all accounts relating to said excise in the several towns of the county where he is collector, first giving seasonable and publick notice of the time and place or places where said business shall be transacted.

And be it further enacted,

Collectors of the excise to be appointed by the general court.

[Sect. 15.] That there be one or more collectors in each county appointed by the general court, — or courts of general sessions of the peace, where it shall happen that such collector refuse to accept said office, or be removed by death, or for mismanagement, — to take charge of this duty of excise, who shall have full power to inspect the houses of all such as are licenced, and of such as are suspected to sell without licence, which collector shall be upon oath to take care of the execution of this law, and to prosecute the breakers of it.

[Sect. 16.] And every collector of the excise in any county may substitute and appoint one or more deputy or deputies under him, upon oath, to collect and receive the excise aforesaid which shall become due in said county, and pay in the same to such collector, which deputy and deputies shall have, use and exercise all such powers and authorities as in and by this act are given or committed to the collector for the better collecting the duties aforesaid, or prosecuting offenders against this act; for the doings of such deputies, the collectors, respectively, shall be accountable.

[Sect. 17.] And the said collectors shall carefully examine the accounts of every licenced person in their respective counties, and demand, sue for and receive the several sums due from them by this act, and shall give in the name of every licenced and permitted person, and an account under their hands of the particular sums they receive, and of whom received, unto the treasurer, upon oath: which oath the treasurer is hereby impowered and directed to administer in the words following; viz., —

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that this is a just and true account of the excise upon all wines, rum and distilled spirits, limes, lemmons and oranges, by you received or secured to be paid you in the county of ; and that the persons by whom such excise was paid or secured to be paid to you, were sworn in manner and form as by law is prescribed. So help you God.

Collectors to give two receipts for every sum received.

[SECT. 18.] And at the time of receiving any money, the said collector shall give two receipts, of the same tenor and date, mentioning what sum or sums they have received from any taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer; one of which receipts to be, by the said taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer, returned to the court of general sessions of the peace within their respective counties, at the next session of such court, and the clerks of said court shall, within twenty days after receipt thereof, transmit the same to the treasurer or receiver-general.

Collectors' fees.

[SECT. 19.] And such collectors shall pay in to the public treasury of this province all such sums as they shall receive, within six months from the date of their commission; and so from time to time within the space of the six months, as long as they shall continue in such office, on pain of forfeiting the reward given such collectors by this act, who shall be allowed, in the county of Suffolk, two and an-half per cent, in the counties of Essex and Middlesex and Plymouth, two per cent, and in the other counties three per cent, on all money by them collected and paid into the treasury as aforesaid: each collector before he enters into the said office to give bond, for treble the sum that it was farm'd for, in the respective counties, in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, to the treasurer of this province for the time being, and his successors in said office; which bond shall be executed before the next court of general sessions of the peace, in the respective counties, after such appointment, where the said collectors live, or before two of his majesty's justices of the peace in the respective counties, one to be of the quorum: one of the said justices to return the certificate to the clerk of the sessions within thirty days, as aforesaid, and be transmitted to the treasurer of the province by the clerk of the peace within such county, within three months after the bond is executed; and the said treasurer shall put in suit the bonds of all such collectors who shall neglect to make due payment within fifty days after either of the times of payment.

Bond to be given to the treasurer for treble the sum that the excise was farmed for.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for collectors or deputies offending.

[SECT. 20.] That in case any collector of the excise as aforesaid, or his deputy, shall, at any time during their continuance in that office, wittingly and willing connive at, or allow any person or persons in their respective divisions, not licenced by the court of general sessions of the peace, their selling any wine, rum or other liquors by this act forbidden, such collector or deputy, for every such offence, shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds and costs of prosecution; one half of the penalty aforesaid to be to his majesty for the use of this province, the other half to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, and shall be thenceforward forever disabled from serving in said office: saving, that said collector may give a permit to any person to sell rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, in quantity from twenty-five gallons and upwards, agreeable to this act.

Proviso.

Provided, always, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act, —

[SECT. 21.] That if any taverner or retailer shall sell to any other taverner or retailer any quantity of whatever distilled liquors and wine, such taverner or retailer, selling as aforesaid, shall not be held to pay such duty, but the taverner or retailer who is the purchaser shall pay the same; and the seller as aforesaid, shall and hereby is required to deliver to the collector of this duty a true account of such liquors sold as aforesaid, and to whom sold.

And to the end that the revenue arising from the excise upon spirituous liquors may be increased and raised with more equality, —

Be it enacted,

Duties to be paid upon all liquors imported or manufactured.

[Sect. 22.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, to the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, upon all rum and other distilled spirits, and all wine, imported and manufactured, and sold for consumption within this province, there be laid and hereby is laid the duty of excise following; viz., —

For every gallon of rum and spirits distilled, eightpence;

For every gallon of wine of every sort, one shilling: to be paid to the collector of excise, or his deputy, by every person having permit to sell the said liquors in each county respectively.

And be it further enacted,

Liquors not to be sold by the importer, &c., without a permit.

[Sect. 23.] That every person that shall import any of the liquors aforesaid, or to whom any of them shall or may be consigned, shall be and hereby is prohibited from selling the same, or any part thereof, without having a permit so to do from the collector of excise, or his deputy. And every person distilling or manufacturing any of the said liquors, and every person owning or possessing any of them, excepting such as are or may be licenced by the court of general sessions of the peace, as aforesaid, shall be and hereby are prohibited from selling the same, or any part thereof, without having a permit so to do from the collector of excise, or his deputy, on forfeiture of fifty pounds and of the value of the liquors so sold; and the said permit shall express the particular county where the said liquors shall be permitted to be sold; and if any person who shall have such permit shall sell and deliver, or cause to be sold and delivered, any of the liquors aforesaid from any other county not mentioned in such permit, he shall forfeit four pounds, to be paid, one third to the prosecutor, and the other two thirds to the collector, for the use of this government.

Proviso.

Provided, nevertheless, —

[Sect. 24.] That the impost officer, and his deputy, shall be and hereby are respectively impowered to grant a permit for selling the liquors aforesaid, or any of them, to any person applying for the same, until a collector be appointed in each county, respectively, to whom the duty of excise shall be paid as aforesaid, and until the collector shall give public notice of his appointment as aforesaid. And the said impost officer, and deputy, shall transmit to the collector of each county an account of the permits by each of them respectively granted to persons living in such county.

And be it further enacted,

Collector applying to a justice for a warrant may search for liquors supposed to be concealed.

[Sect. 25.] That if the said collector or his deputy shall have information of any place where any of the liquors aforesaid shall have been sold by any person not having permit, as aforesaid, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place; and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said collector or deputy's making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid, and that he hath just cause to suspect the liquors aforesaid, or some of them, have been sold at such place informed of as aforesaid; and having such warrant, and being attended by such officer, the said collector, or his deputy, may, in the day-time, between sun-rising and sun-setting, demand admittance, of the person owning or occupying such place, and upon refusal shall have right to break open said place, and finding such liquors, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is impowered to command assistance and impress carriages necessary to secure the liquors seized as aforesaid; and persons refusing assistance, or preventing said officers from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to his majesty, for the use of the province, and the said collector, or his deputy, shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance afforded, and carriages made use of, to secure the liquors seized as aforesaid; and the collector, or his deputy, shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferiour court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made: which court shall summon the owner of such liquors, or the occupier of the shop, house, warehouse or distil-house where the same were seized, to appear and shew cause, if any he hath, why the said liquors so seized should not be adjudged forfeited; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause as aforesaid, or make default, the said liquors shall be adjudged forfeited, and the said court shall order them to be sold at public vendue, and the neat produce of such sale shall be paid, one third to the prosecutor, the other two thirds to the collector, for the use of this government.

Provided, —

Proviso.

[SECT. 26.] That if the liquors seized as aforesaid be less in quantity than one hundred gallons, the collector, or his deputy, shall file an information thereof with one of the justices of the peace within the county where the seizure shall be made, who shall summon the owner or occupier aforesaid in manner as aforesaid; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause, or make default as aforesaid, he shall adjudge such liquors forfeited, and shall order them to be sold as aforesaid, and the neat-produce of such sale to be disposed of as aforesaid: saving to the person convicted liberty of appeal, he entring into recognizance to the king, for the use of the province, in the sum or fifty pounds.

And be it further enacted,

Persons having permit as aforesaid to render an account to the collector at the end of every half-year, saving, &c.

[SECT. 27.] That every person having permit as aforesaid, shall, at the end of each half-year, respectively, from the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, be ready to render to the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, an account, on oath, of all the liquors aforesaid by him or her, or any person or persons in his or her behalf, sold; and also of all the aforesaid liquors by him or her imported, distilled or manufactured, or which have come into his or her possession, since the twenty-fifth day of March aforesaid, except the same were bought of a licenced person in a quantity less than twenty-five gallons, which in his or her family have been consumed or expended within each half-year, respectively; which account shall express the number of gallons, of each kind, of the liquors so sold and consumed; and shall pay therefor to the said collector or his deputy the duty aforesaid, excepting for so much as shall have been sold to taverners, innholders or retailers, having licence from the sessions as aforesaid, or to any other persons having permit as aforesaid, and so much as shall have been exported out of this province; and if any of said liquors shall have been sold to persons licenced by the sessions, or to persons having permit, said account shall exhibit the names of such licenced persons who purchased, and persons having permit, and time when they purchased the same; and the persons accounting shall exhibit a certificate under the hand of the licenced or permitted person purchasing, which shall express the number of gallons, and the kind of the liquors purchased, and the time when the same was purchased, and the name of the town and county wherein such licenced or permitted person lives, and shall lodge the said certificate with the said collector or his deputy; and for the quantity of the said liquors mentioned in such certificate, the said collector or his deputy shall not demand any duty, but shall deliver said certificate to the collector of the county wherein such licenced or permitted persons, signing the same, lives: which last-mentioned collector or his deputy shall settle with such licenced or permitted person for the duty aforesaid which may be due from him or her.

Persons having permit as aforesaid to give an account of liquors sent out of the province.

[Sect. 28.] And if any person having a permit or licence as aforesaid, shall ship or export any of the liquors aforesaid out of this province in a quantity not less than thirty gallons, and shall make an entry thereof with the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, and shall produce to such collector or his deputy, when he comes to settle his account of excise, one of the receipts or bills of lading given therefor by the master of the vessel on board which such liquors shall be shipped (or if it shall be carried out of the province by land, or in small boats, then of the person who is master of the land-carriage or boat), expressing the quantity thereof and the time of their being shipped, and shall lodge such receipt or bill of lading with the collector or his deputy aforesaid, and at the same time shall swear that such liquors are bonâ fide sent, or intended to be sent, out of the province, he or she shall not be held to pay the duty thereon aforesaid.

Persons not having permit to render an account, &c.

[Sect. 29.] And if any person not having permit or licence shall purchase for exportation out of this province any of said liquors, in a quantity not less than thirty gallons, of a person having permit or licence, the purchaser shall make entry with the collector or his deputy, and at the same time swear that such liquors are bonâ fide sent, or intended to be sent, out of this province, and shall, within ten days after shipping the same, deliver one of the receipts or bills of lading given for such liquors, as aforesaid, to the person of whom he purchased the same, or be subject to pay the amount of the duty thereon to the person of whom he purchased the same as aforesaid, who shall pay such duty to the collector or his deputy; but if the purchaser aforesaid shall deliver such receipt or bill of lading as aforesaid, and it be lodged with the collector or his deputy, then, for the quantity of said liquors mentioned therein, the collector or his deputy shall not demand any duty.

Penalty for masters or others, giving certificate without receiving the liquors.

[Sect. 30.] And if the master of any vessel, or any other person, shall give such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, without receiving the liquors mentioned therein, or if any person shall procure such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, with design to defraud the government, and shall be thereof convicted, they and each of them shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds, two thirds for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor. And if any such certificate, receipt or bill of lading shall be forged, counterfeited or altered, the person forging, counterfeiting or altering shall incur the penalty of one hundred pounds.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[Sect. 31.] That the person having permit as aforesaid shall not sell any of the liquors aforesaid in a quantity less than twenty-five gallons (to be sold and delivered to one person at one time), unless he or she hath licence from the court of general sessions of the peace, as aforesaid, on pain of incurring the several fines and penalties in the former part of this act laid upon those persons who sell the liquors aforesaid without licence.

Be it further enacted,

Collector to give certificate, on penalty.

[Sect. 32.] That the collector aforesaid or his deputy, when the exporter shall make an entry with him as aforesaid, or shall make an entry with him and swear as aforesaid, shall give to said exporter a certificate of such entry, or a certificate of such entry and oath, on penalty of one hundred pounds, for the use of the exporter.

And be it further enacted,

Persons applying for a permit, to give bond.

[Sect. 33.] That every person applying to the collector or his deputy, or to the impost officer or his deputy, for a permit, shall give bond, for the use of this province, with or without sureties, in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds, nor less than twenty pounds, at the discretion of the collector or impost officer, conditioned for the payment of the excise that shall become due according to the account to be exhibited by such person taking such permit; and no person shall have such permit of the collector or impost officer until he hath given such bond.

Preamble.

And whereas the importer of any of the liquors aforesaid, or the person to whom they shall be consigned, may intend the same either for sale or for his or her own private consumption, in which case such importer or consignee is not sufficiently held by any preceeding part of this act to pay the duty or excise aforesaid; wherefore, in order to lay said duty or excise in as equal manner as may be,—

Be it enacted,

Persons importing liquors for private consumption, &c., to render an account thereof to the collector.

[SECT. 34.] That every person that shall bring or import into this province, either by land or water carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid, either for sale or private consumption, shall, within twenty-four hours, pay or secure to the collector the duties or excise due thereon; but in case such importer or consignee be licenced or permitted, then he shall be held only to report the same to the collector of excise, and at the end of each half-year, respectively, shall make out an account expressing the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid, imported or consigned as aforesaid; and when the account is rendered to the collector or his deputy, it shall be upon oath; and such importer or consignee shall pay to the said collector or his deputy, on the liquor or liquors mentioned in said account, the duty of excise aforesaid, deducting ten per cent for leakage; and in case of failure herein, the offender shall pay a fine of four pounds, and treble duty or excise on the quantity so imported or brought in, one third of which shall be for the use of the province, the other two thirds for him or her that shall inform and sue for the same.

Collector may apply to two justices for a citation, where he may suspect persons giving a false account, &c.

[SECT. 35.] And if said collector or his deputy shall have reason to suspect any person of bringing or importing into this province, either by land or water carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid, without having entered the same and secured the duties or excise aforesaid, the said collector may apply to two of the next justices of the peace to such suspected person, and within the county where he lives, and on making oath that he so suspects such person, said justices shall issue a process under their hands and seals, directed to the sheriff or his deputy, or constable, requiring him to summons such suspected person, and oblige him to give security, to the amount of one hundred pounds, to appear and answer and respond the judgment that shall be given on the premisses, and in case such person shall not give such security, to bring him before such justices at the time that said justices in such process shall appoint; and when the parties shall be before them, the said justices shall examine into the cause of complaint; and if it shall appear, either by confession of the party, or by the evidence of one credible witness, that he or she, or any one on his or her behalf, has imported or has had any of the liquors aforesaid consigned to him or her without having entered the same and secured or paid the duty or excise as aforesaid, such suspected person shall then render a full account, on oath, of the kinds and quality of the liquors imported or consigned as aforesaid, and shall pay on such liquors, or give security to pay, the aforesaid fine of four pounds, and treble duty or excise as aforesaid, one third for the use of this government, the other two thirds for the informer and prosecutor, and costs.

[SECT. 36.] And said justices are hereby impowered to make up judgment and award execution accordingly: provided the said fine and treble damage exceed not six pounds * then said justices shall bind the offender to answer his offence at the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where the offence was committed, and such offender shall enter into recognizance, with two sufficient sureties, to answer for his offence, in the sum of fifty pounds; and any person or persons upon refusing to render such account and paying as aforesaid, shall forfeit fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, in lieu of such fine and treble duty, to be recovered as is hereafter provided in this act.

[Sect. 37.] And if no confession be made by such suspected person, and no evidence produced as aforesaid, and it shall appear to the justices before whom the same is tried that there is sufficient ground of suspicion, the suspected person may then clear him- or herself from the complaint aforesaid, by taking an oath in the form following: —

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that you have not, directly or indirectly, either by yourself, or any person in your behalf, imported into this province any rum, spirits distilled, or wine, and that you have not had any of said liquors directly or indirectly consigned to you, but what you have paid, or secured to be paid, the duty or excise agreeable to an act of this province made in the thirty-third year of his majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." So help you God.

— which oath the said justices are hereby impowered and required to administer.

Penalty for refusing to take the oath.

[Sect. 38.] And if such suspected person shall refuse to take said oath, and shall neglect to appear upon the citation aforesaid, he or she shall pay the cost of citation, and shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, and costs of prosecution; but if such suspected person shall take the said oath, the costs of citation or warrant shall be paid by the collector or his deputy, respectively, who applied for such citation or warrant; who shall also pay to the person cited or apprehended, and taking said oath, the sum of twenty shillings; and in case any person shall be served with the process aforesaid, in manner aforesaid, and shall not appear according to the tenor thereof, said justices shall make a record thereof, and the security taken by the sheriff or his deputy, or constable, as aforesaid, shall be deemed forfeited, and the same by said collector may and shall be put in suit in any court proper to try the same, and the sum recovered shall be divided, one third to his majesty for the use of this province, and the other two thirds to such collector.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to grant a permit, on penalty.

[Sect. 39.] That the collector, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is obliged to grant a permit, under his hand, to every person applying for the same, on penalty of two hundred pounds, to and for the use of the person making application; which permit shall be in the form following; viz., —

Form of the permit.

You, A. B., of C., in the county of D., are hereby permitted to sell rum and other distilled spirits, and wine, or any of said liquors, within the county of , until the day of , one thousand seven hundred and , pursuant to an act of this province, made in the thirty-third year of his majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." Dated at C., this day of , 176 .

A. B., collector (or deputy collector) of excise for the county aforesaid.

* In this act, and in the excise act of the previous year (1758-59, chap. 29, § 36), the words "but if such duty exceed six pounds," seem to have been accidentally omitted. See 1757-58, chap. 19, § 37.

Fee for a permit.

And for such permit the said collector or deputy shall be entituled to receive twopence, and no more; and the like sum for an entry made with him, and the like sum for a certificate given by him.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to keep an office in each seaport town, &c.

[SECT. 40.] That the collector of excise, either by himself or his deputy, shall keep an office in each seaport town within his county, where he or his deputy shall give his attendance on every Thursday, from nine o'clock in the morning to twelve at noon, to grant permits, to receive entries, give certificates, &c.

Provided, —

[SECT. 41.] That in the town of Boston such an office shall be kept and attendance given on every day, Lord's Day only excepted, within the hours aforesaid of each of said days respectively.

Provided, also, —

[SECT. 42.] That the said collector or his deputy, on application made, shall at any other time grant permits, receive entries and give certificates aforesaid.

Preamble.

And whereas persons not belonging to this province may import the liquors aforesaid, and take permit to dispose of the same, and may go out of the province before the time comes about when persons selling said liquors are held to account with the collector, and by that means may avoid paying the duty upon what has been so disposed of; for preventing whereof, —

Be it enacted,

Persons importing liquors as aforesaid to give bond.

[SECT. 43.] That every person importing the liquors aforesaid, and applying to the collector or his deputy for a permit to sell the same, shall give bond to said collector, in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds nor less than twenty pounds, with or without sureties, at the discretion of the collector, that he will render to said collector or his deputy an account, on oath, of the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid sold by him, or by any person or persons on his behalf, and that he will pay thereon the duty or excise aforesaid before he leaves the province; and if such person shall refuse to give such bond, the said collector or his deputy shall not be obliged to grant him a permit, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding; and if such person shall sell any of the liquors aforesaid without permit, he shall be subject to all the penalties that other persons selling without permit are subject to; or if such person shall give bond as aforesaid, and shall leave the province before such bond be discharged, the collector may bring his action on said bond against the surety or sureties, for the recovery of the sum in such bond mentioned, which shall be, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government.

Be it further enacted,

Deputy collectors liable to military duties.

[SECT. 44.] That no person shall be exempted from any military duty by means or on account of his being appointed a deputy collector of the duties of excise of spirituous liquors, but shall, to all intents and purposes, be liable to train, be impressed and perform every other military duty, as if such person had not been appointed a deputy collector as aforesaid.

Be it further enacted,

All persons who had permits or license to sell liquors, and shall not renew the same, to account for the duties thereof.

[SECT. 45.] That all persons who took out permits in the preceding year, and do not renew the same, shall, at the end of each half-year from and after the twenty-sixth day of March next, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, render to the collector or his deputy that shall or may be appointed in the respective counties by vertue of this act, an account, on oath, of all liquors remaining in their hands and consumed in his, her or their families during the continuance of this act, and pay the duties herein imposed, deducting ten per cent for leakage, upon penalty of fifteen pounds, one half to the informer, the other half to and for the use of this province.

Be it further enacted,

Collector of the duties of excise to account for all wine, &c., sold or consumed by them.

[Sect. 46.] That every person that hath been or may be appointed collector of the duties aforesaid, who shall import into this province, or shall have by consignment or otherwise, or shall sell or dispose of any wine, rum or spirits distilled, limes, lemmons or oranges, or shall use or consume the same, such collector shall take, keep and render a like account thereof, upon oath, to the province treasurer (who is hereby impowered to administer the same in the form by this act prescribed), and pay to him the like duties thereon as such person so appointed collector would otherwise have been held and obliged to have taken, kept, rendered and paid to the collector of the duties aforesaid; and that the same be done in like manner and time, and under the like pains and penalties, as by this act in such cases is provided.

Be it further enacted,

How fines, &c., arising by this act to be disposed of.

[Sect. 47.] That all fines, penalties and forfeitures arising or accruing by any breach of this act, and not otherwise appropriated, shall be two thirds to his majesty, for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor; to be recovered by action or information in any of his majesty's courts of record. ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE NINETEENTH DAY OF MARCH, A.D. 1760.

CHAPTER 29.

AN ACT FOR THE BETTER REGULATING THE CHOICE OF PETIT JURORS.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Selectmen of each town to take a list of persons liable to serve as petit jurors, &c., and lay the same before their towns, at a meeting called for that purpose. 1756-57, chap. 13. 5 Gray, 265. 121 Mass., 79.

[SECT. 1.] That the selectmen of each town within this province shall, within their respective towns, some time before the tenth day of April next, take a list of the persons liable by law, and which they shall judge able and well qualified, to serve on the petit juries, and lay the same before the town, at a meeting in May next to be called for that purpose; and the towns shall, respectively, at such m[*eet]ing select out of the list, one-quarter of the number so laid before them, such as they judge most suitable to serve as jurors at the superiour court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, and put their names, written on sep[e][a]rate pieces of paper, in one box; and the remainder of such of them as the town shall think suitable, in the same manner, into another box, to serve as jurors in the inferiour court of common pleas and court of general sessions of the peace, to be provided by the selectmen for that purpose, and deliver the same to the town clerk, to be by him kept under lock and key.

And be it further enacted,

Said list to be carried into the meeting, and as many names drawn out by the town clerk or selectmen as there shall be occasion for.

[SECT. 2.] That when, at any time after the first day of June next, during the continuance of this act, any venire facias shall issue forth for the choice of petit jurors, and the inhabitants of each town shall be assembled for that purpose, the town clerk, or one or more of the selectmen in case of his absence or sickness, shall carry into the meeting the box wherein the names of those persons are put who are designed to serve at the court from whence the venire facias issued, which shall be unlock'd in the meeting, and in the presence of the major part of the selectmen (who are hereby enjo[i][n]ned to be present), and the constable who shall warn said meeting, shall particularly notify them and the town clerk for that purpose; and the town clerk, or, in his absence, one or more of the selectmen, shall draw out so many tickets as there are jurors required by the venire, who shall be the persons that shall be returned to serve as jurors: saving, that if any whose names are so drawn are sick, or otherwise unable to serve at that time, in the judgment of the town, their names shall be returned into the box, and others drawn in their stead.

Persons to serve on juries but once in three years.

[SECT. 3.] And to the intent the same persons may not serve too often, the clerk or selectmen who shall draw the ticket or name of any person returned to serve as aforesaid, shall enter on the back thereof the date of such draft, and return the same into the box again, and said person or persons shall not be obliged (altho' drawn at any time) to serve as jurors oftner than once in three years; and no person who has served as a petit juror within two years past shall be obliged to serve again until three years be compleated from the time of his last serving, notwithstanding his name's being drawn as aforesaid.

* Parchment mutilated.

[SECT. 4.] And the selectmen shall, in the same manner, once in every year, during the continuance of this act, take a new list of such other persons as may become suitable and qualified, and lay the same before the town, whose names, being first by them allowed, shall be put into their respective boxes in manner as aforesaid; and as well that all may do duty, as that the deficiency that may have happen[']d by death, or otherwise, may be supplied at such time, the town may, if they think fit, make a new regulation of the list before received, and transfer the names from one box to another, as they judge needful.

And whereas it often happens that the persons returned to serve as petit jurors abscond, and the respective constables are put to great difficulty, and frequently prevented from notifying them, — Preamble.

Be it further enacted,

[SECT. 5.] That, from and after the first day of June next, and during the continuance of this act, the clerks of the respective courts in this province, shall, and hereby are obliged to, issue out their venires, from their respective * offices, thirty days, at least, before the return day; and the respective constables, upon receipt of the said venires, are hereby obliged to notify their towns thereof, so that the several meetings may be held six days, at least, before the sitting of the court from whence the venire issues; and the constables are hereby directed, in case they cannot personally notify those who are so drawn, upon their leaving a certificate of their being drawn as aforesaid, with the time and place of their respective courts' sitting, at the usual place of such person's abode, four days before the sitting thereof, and it shall be deemed a sufficient notification. Rules for notification and issuing venires.

[SECT. 6.] And if any person, drawn and notified as aforesaid, shall neglect to attend and serve accordingly, unless reasonable excuse be made to the justices of the respective courts, he shall be fined in a sum not exceeding thirty shillings; and if such jurors belong to the town of Boston, they shall be fined in a sum not exceeding ten pounds, for the superiour court only, to be divided between the petit jurors drawn, as aforesaid, and serving at such court. Penalty for persons not attending as jurors.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 7.] That the justices of the respective courts aforesaid are hereby directed, upon motion from either party in any cause that shall be tried after the first day of June next, and during the continuance of this act, to put any juror to answer upon oath (whether returned as aforesaid or as talisman) whether he doth expect to gain or loose by the issue of the cause then depending; whether he is any way related to either party; or hath directly or indirectly given his opinion, or is sensible of any prejudice, in the cause. And if it shall then appear to said court that such juror does not stand indifferent in said cause, he shall be set aside from the trial of that cause, and another appointed in his stead. Method for preventing partial jurors.

And whereas it frequently happens that many of the jurors so chosen to serve in the several courts of judicature within this province fail of attendance, and, by reason of challenges made by parties to several of said jurors, the number of returned jurors are too few to serve at said court; for remedy whereof, — Preamble

* Only one skin of the engrossment of this act, ending with this word, is preserved. It bears no mark of having been sealed, although the date of publication is endorsed upon it.

Be it enacted,

New venires to be issued, in case.

[SECT. 8.] That from and after the first day of June next, and during the continuance of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the justices of the courts aforesaid, when sitting, and as they shall judge there is occasion, to cause new writs of venire facias to be forthwith issued out and directed to the constables of the several towns in the county in which said court is held, for the appointment and return of so many good and lawful men, to serve upon the jury at said court, as shall be directed in the writ; which jurors shall be forthwith appointed, and, being notified and returned to the said court, shall be, and hereby are, obliged to give their attendance immediately, under the penalty by this act provided for non-appearance of jurors.

Preamble.

1756-57, chap. 13, § 10.

And whereas, notwithstanding the expiration of the time limited for continuing an act made and passed in the thirtieth year of his majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for the better regulating the choice of petit jurors," sundry towns have conformed themselves thereto, —

Be it enacted,

Choice and return, &c., made in conformity to the act of the thirtieth year of the present reign, to be good and valid.

[SECT. 9.] That the choices and returns of petit jurors already made, or which hereafter may be made before the commencement of this act, by such towns, in conformity to the act made and passed in the thirtieth year of his majesty's reign, and the verdicts given by such jurors upon causes to them committed, together with all processes and judgments already had and entered thereupon in any court or courts of law, or which hereafter may be, are hereby held and adjudged good and valid, and are hereby confirmed, notwithstanding the discontinuance of the said act made and pass'd in the thirtieth year of said reign.

Limitation.

[SECT. 10.] This act to continue and be in force from the said first day of May next, until the last day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-seven. [Passed and published March 29, 1760.

CHAPTER 30.

AN ACT FOR THE PREVENTION OF DANGER AND INCONVENIENCE IN REBUILDING THAT PART OF THE TOWN OF BOSTON THAT WAS LATELY CONSUMED BY FIRE.

Preamble.

12 Allen, 238.

WHEREAS, by the late desolating fires in the present year of his majesty's reign, a great number of buildings in the town of Boston have been demolished, and a large tract laid waste; to promote the building thereof in the most safe and commodious manner,—

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Names of the persons authorized and appointed to lay out new streets or lanes, and to widen, alter or discontinue the same, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That Thomas Hutchinson, John Osborne, Jacob Wendell, Samuel Watts, Andrew Oliver, Joseph Pynchon, Stephen Sewall, John Erving, James Bowdoin, Thomas Hancock and Thomas Hubbard, Esquires, members of his majesty's council, together with the present selectmen of the town of Boston, be and hereby are fully authorized and impowered to lay out any new streets or lanes, in such places and of such breadth and length as they shall think proper, within the limits of the tract so laid waste as aforesaid, and to widen, ascertain, alter and discontinue any streets or lanes heretofore laid out within the same limits. And any person or persons that shall have their land taken away or lessened, or be otherwise injured thereby, shall and may recover the damages by them sustained, agreeable to the

How persons who have their lands taken away, or other-directions of an act made in the fourth year of the reign of King William and Queen Mary, intituled "An Act for building with stone and brick in the town of Boston, and preventing fire."

wise injured, may be relieved. 1692-93, chap. 13.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That no person shall erect, build or rebuild any house, barn, shop or other building whatever, before the twentieth day of June next, within the limits aforesaid, without leave first obtained of the said members of the council and the selectmen, or the major part of the whole, being met together, in writing, under their hands, and unless the same be placed on such spot, and be of such kind, dimensions and fabrick, as the said members of the council and the selectmen, or the major part of the whole, shall allow and approve of.

[SECT. 3.] And every house or other building erected or rebuilt contrary to the true intent of this act shall be deemed a nusance. And the said members of the council and the selectmen, or the major part of the whole, are hereby authorized and impowred to prostrate and remove the same, and dispose of so much of the materials thereof as shall be necessary to defrey the expence of prostrating and removing the same. [Passed and published March 29, 1760.

CHAPTER 31.

AN ACT FOR FURTHER REGULATING THE PARTITION OF REAL ESTATES.

Preamble. 1692-3, chap. 14, § 1. 1742-43, chap. 24. 1748-49, chap. 12.

WHEREAS the justices of the superio[u]r court, in certain cases, and the judges of probate, in certain cases, are by law impowered to appoint five freeholders to make partition of real estates; and whereas it is found unnecessary for so great a number to be appointed where the estate to be divided is but of small value,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Justices of the superior court, and judges of probate, respectively, to appoint freeholders to make partition of real estates.

[SECT. 1.] That for the future it shall and may be lawful for the justices of the superio[u]r court and [the] judges of probate, respectively, to appoint either three freeholders or five, to make partition of real estates, according to the circumstances of the estate to be divided and as such justices or judges of probate in their discretion shall think proper.

And whereas it sometimes happens that the estate to be divided consists of such distinct tenements, and under such peculiar circumstances, as that an exact partition thereof cannot be made to each of the parties according to his share in the whole estate, without making such fractional[l] division of a messuage, tract of land, or other tenement, as would be extremely prejudicial to the interested therein; for prevention whereof, —

Be it further enacted,

Where lands, &c., cannot be subdivided, may be settled on one of the parties not being a minor.

[SECT. 2.] That when any messuage, tract of land, or other tenement shall be of greater value than either party's purpart or share in the estate to be divided, and cannot at the same time be subdivided, or part thereof assigned to one, and part to another, without great inconvenience, the same may be settled on one of the parties, not being a minor, he paying, for owelty of partition, or, to make a just and equitable partition, such sum or sums to such party or parties as, by means thereof, have less than their share of the real estate, as said dividers shall award; and the part so assigned shall stand charged for the payment thereof. [Passed and published March 29, 1760.

CHAPTER 32.

AN ACT TO ENABLE THE TOWN OF WEYMOUTH TO REGULATE AND ORDER THE TAKING AND DISPOSING OF THE FISH CALLED SHADD AND ALEWIVE[S], WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THAT TOWN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the town of Weymouth, in the county of Suffolk, have been at considerable expence and charge in purchasing and opening a water-passage for the fish called shadd and alewives, from the sea into a pond called Whitman's Pond, and Great Pond, being wholly within the bounds of said town, it seems reasonable and but just that the sole ordering the taking of said fish, and the disposition of them when taken, should be wholly vested in said town of Weymouth; to which purpose, —

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Inhabitants of the town of Weymouth to determine and order how, in what manner, &c., said fish may be taken and disposed of.

[SECT. 1.] That, from and after the publication of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the inhabitants of the said town of Weymouth, at a meeting regularly assembled for that purpose, from time to time, during the continuance of this act, to determine and order how, in what manner, by whom, and what place or places, time or times in the year, the said fish may be taken within the town aforesaid, and shall cause a copy of such order, attested by the town clerk, to be posted up in some publick place in said town of Weymouth, whereunto all persons shall conform, with respect to the taking and disposing of said fish, on penalty that the offender against the same shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings for each offence, to be recovered, before any justice of the peace, by the treasurer of the town of Weymouth, and applied, the one moiety to the use of the poor of the town of Weymouth, and the other to him or them that may sue for the same.

Penalty for offending against this act.

Proviso.

Provided, —

[SECT. 2.] The said town of Weymouth do, for the benefit of the neighbouring towns, appoint one or more meet person or persons to fish for their supply during the usual season, and give publick notice on or before the twentieth day of April next, and, for the future, on or before the first day of April, annually, of time, place, person or persons, by which they are to be supplied; and for such fish, so supplied and delivered, that the said town of Weymouth, or those employed by them, shall demand or receive no more than one shilling per hundred for alewives, and six shillings per hundred for shadd, and so in proportion for a greater or lesser quantity.

And provided, also, —

Persons appointed as aforesaid, to give security.

[SECT. 3.] That if the person or persons appointed by the said town of Weymouth for the purpose aforesaid shall neglect or refuse that service, upon application of any two or more persons aggrieved, to the two next justices in the neighbouring towns, they may appoint one or more meet person or persons, which shall be subject to the general orders of said town respecting the fishery aforesaid; and who shall give sufficient security, to the acceptance of the aforesaid justices, to render and pay to the treasurer of the said town of Weymouth the full produce of his or their fishing, at the rates aforesaid, after a reasonable deduction being made at the discretion of the justices aforesaid, for the said person or persons' time and labour therein: saving, always, to the Indians, the right of fishing in the ponds aforesaid and the water-passages leading thereto.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of five years from the publication thereof, and no longer. [Passed and published March 29, 1760.

CHAPTER 33.

AN ACT TO PREVENT DAMAGE BEING DONE ON THE MEADOWS LYING IN THE TOWNSHIP OF YARMOUTH, CALLED NOBSCUSSETT MEADOW.*

Preamble. 1749-50, chap. 15. 1754-55, chap. 29.

WHEREAS many persons frequently drive numbers of neat cattle, horses, sheep and swine to feed upon the beaches and shores adjoining to Nobscussett meadow, in Yarmouth, between said meadow and the harbour, whereby the ground is much broken and damnified, and the sand blown on said meadow and lands adjoining, to the great damage, not only of private persons, in their property, but also to the said town in general, so far as relates to said meadow, harbour, and the lands adjoining, —

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Persons forbidden to drive cattle, &c., on the beaches, meadow or shores at Nobscusset, within certain limits.

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the last day of March instant, no person or persons shall presume to turn or drive any neat cattle, or horse-kind, or sheep, or swine, to or upon any of the beaches, meadows or shores at said Nobscussett, south of an east and west line from Fox Hill, so-called, to the seashore, and so to the extent of the meadows and beaches aforesaid in said Yarmouth, from the first day of March to the last of November, annually, upon the penalty of ten shillings a head for neat cattle, horses or mares, and one shilling for each sheep and swine, that shall be turned and found on said beaches, meadows or shores, within the time and limits aforesaid; which penalty shall be recovered by the selectmen or treasurer of the said town of Yarmouth, or any other person that shall inform and sue for the same: the one half of the said forfeiture to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, the other half to be to and for the use of the poor of the said town.

And be it further enacted,

Cattle to be impounded, in case.

[SECT. 2.] That if any neat cattle, or horse-kind, or sheep, or swine, shall, at any time hereafter, be found feeding on the said beaches, meadows or shores, south of an east and west line from Fox Hill to the seashore aforesaid, that it shall and may be lawful for any person to impound the same, immediately giving notice to the owners, if known, otherwise to give publick notice thereof in the said town of Yarmouth and the two next adjoining towns; and the impounder shall relieve the said creatures with suitable meat and water while impounded; and if the owner thereof appear, he shall pay the sum of two shillings and sixpence to the impounder, for each neat beast and horse-kind, and sixpence for each sheep and swine, and the reasonable costs of relieving them, besides the pound-keeper's fees. And if no owner appear within the space of six days to redeem the said cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine so impounded, and to pay the costs and damage occasioned by impounding the same, then and in every such case the person or persons impounding such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, shall cause the same to be sold at publick vendue, to pay the costs and charges arising about the same (public notice of the time and place of such sale to be given in the said town of Yarmouth forty-eight hours beforehand), and the overplus, if any there be, arising by such sale, to be returned to the owner of such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, at any time within twelve months next after, upon his demanding the same; but if no owner appear within the said twelve months, then the said overplus shall be one half to the party impounding, and the other half to the use of the poor of the said town of Yarmouth.

Cattle to be sold, in case.

Be it further enacted,

Officers to be chosen to see this act carried into execution.

[SECT. 3.] That the said town of Yarmouth, at their meeting in March, annually, for the choice of town officers, be authorized and impowered to chuse one or more meet person or persons, whose duty it shall be to see this act observed, and to prosecute the breakers thereof, and who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their office. And in case any person so chosen shall refuse to be sworn, he shall forfeit and pay, for the use of the poor of said town of Yarmouth, the sum of forty shillings; and upon such refusal said town from time to time to proceed to a new choice of such officer or officers.

Provided, nevertheless, and it is hereby declared, —

Proviso.

[SECT. 4.] That this act shall not be construed so as to restrain any person or persons on the whaling or fishing business, from turning their horses on the piece of common near said meadows, in case they confine such horses to the said common.

Limitation.

[SECT. 5.] This act to continue and be in force until the last day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy, and no longer. [Passed and published March 29, 1760.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE SIXTEENTH DAY OF APRIL, A.D. 1760.

CHAPTER 35.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT, INTITULED "AN ACT FOR RAISING THE SUM OF TWELVE HUNDRED POUNDS BY LOTTERY, FOR BUILDING AND MAINTAINING A BRIDGE OVER THE RIVER PARKER, IN THE TOWN OF NEWBURY, AT THE PLACE CALLED OLDTOWN FERRY."

Preamble. 1750-51, chap. 14.

WHEREAS, in pursuance of an act made and passed in the twenty-fourth year of his present Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for raising the sum of twelve hundred pounds by lottery, for building and maintaining a bridge over the River Parker, in the town of Newbury, at the place called Oldtown Ferry," the bridge aforesaid has been built, and now is compleated; and whereas it appears, on the representation of Daniel Farnham, Esq., one of the persons appointed by the same act to set up and carry on the lottery and build the bridge aforesaid, that the cost of building the said bridge, and carrying on the said lottery, amounts to the sum of four hundred and seventy-eight pounds eighteen shillings and fourpence more than what was allowed to be raised by the act aforesaid; and he humbly prays that the said sum of four hundred and seventy-eight pounds eighteen shillings and fourpence may be raised by another lottery, together with such additional sum as shall be needful to prosecute the same, under the direction of persons appointed by this government; and whereas Thomas Berry, Esq., one of the persons appointed to conduct the former lottery, is since dead, and John Greenleafe, Joseph Gerrish and Joseph Atkins, Esqrs., three of the other persons, by reason of age and weakness decline the service aforesaid, and pray that other suitable persons may be appointed in their room and stead; and the further sum of six hundred pounds being thought needful for the purposes aforesaid, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Caleb Cushing, Esq., &c., empowered to set up and carry on a lottery in Newbury.

That Caleb Cushing, Esq., Joseph Gerrish, jun., Esq., William Atkins, Esq., and Mr. Patrick Tracey, merchant, together with the aforesaid Daniel Farnham, Esq., or any three of them, be and hereby are impowered to set up and carry on a lottery within the said town of Newbury, amounting to such a sum as, by deducting ten per cent out of each prize, they may thereby raise the said sum of six hundred pounds, for defreying the charges already arisen on the account of building the bridge aforesaid, and the necessary charges of managing and prosecuting the lotteries aforesaid; and upon a just settlement of the expences and charges relative thereto, the residue, if any there shall be, to be applied towards maintaining and repairing the same bridge as occasion shall require: and the said Daniel Farnham, Caleb

Cushing, Joseph Gerrish, jun., and William Atkins, Esqrs., and the said Patrick Tracey, or any three of them, are hereby impowered to make all necessary rules and orders for the regular proceeding therein; and they shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the trust aforesaid, and shall be answerable to the purchasers and drawers of the tickets, for any deficiency or misconduct; and the money thus raised shall be applyed to the uses and purposes aforesaid; and they, or any three of them, are also hereby impowered to adjust and settle accounts with the former managers as aforesaid. [Passed and published April 28, 1760.

CHAPTER 36.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A SUM OF MONEY BY LOTTERY, FOR REMOVING THE ROCKS AND SHOALS IN TAUNTON GREAT RIVER, AND THEREBY TO RENDER THE NAVIGATION IN SAID RIVER MORE EASY AND LESS HAZARDOUS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the navigation in Taunton Great River, between [the] Ware Bridge and Rocky Point, is much obstructed and straitned by reason of diverse rocks and shoals in said river, and vessels are often sunk by run[n]ing on the rocks between the said bridge and Rocky Point, to the great prejudice not only of trade in general, but to those particular persons who have occasion to transport their lumber and other commodities up and down said river for a market; to the end, therefore, that those obstructions may be removed, and the navigation in said river rendered more easy and less hazardous, —

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

James Williams, Esq., and others, allowed and empowered to set up and carry on one or more lotteries for removing the rocks and shoals in Taunton Great River.

[SECT. 1.] That James Williams, Esq[r]., Captain George Williams, Mr. Robert Luscomb and Mr. John Adams, all of Taunton, and Mr. Stephen Burt of Berkley, or any three of them, be and hereby are impowered to set up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting in the whole to such a sum as, by drawing or deducting ten per cent out of the same, may raise three hundred and fifty pounds, and no more; and that the said sum of three hundred and fifty pounds, raised by the deduction aforesaid, be, by the persons above named, paid to Messieurs James Walker, Israel Tisdale and Stephen Macomber, a committee appointed for the purposes in this act mentioned, within ten days after the sale of the tickets of said lottery shall be compleated, taking their receipt for the same; or, if the persons first above named shall think fit to raise said sum of three hundred and fifty pounds by more lotteries than one, then the money raised by each lottery, by the deduction aforesaid, shall, within ten days after the tickets of each lottery, respectively, are sold, be paid by them to the committee aforesaid, or the major part of them.

And be it further enacted,

Any three of them may be managers or directors.

[SECT. 2.] That the persons aforesaid first mentioned, or any three of them, be and they hereby are declared to be the managers or directors of each and every of the said lottery or lotteries, and are hereby impowered to make all necessary rules, and use all necessary methods, to manage and direct the same.

And be it further enacted,

Said managers to dispose of the tickets, make preparation for

[SECT. 3.] That the said managers or directors, with all convenient speed, after the sale of the tickets of each lottery, shall make preparation for drawing the same, and shall give notice in the publick prints, the drawing, and to give public notice.

Managers directed in their proceedings.

of the time and place of drawing, at least ten days before the drawing begins, that any of the adventurers, if they think fit, may be present at the drawing; and as soon as may be after drawing of each lottery, the said managers shall cause a list of the benefit-tickets, expressing the number and value of each of them, to be printed in one of the publick newspapers; at the same time notifying the owners of such benefit-tickets of the time and place when and where they may apply for the payment of such tickets; and if any dispute shall arise about the property of any of the said benefit-tickets, the major part of the managers shall determine to whom it doth or ought to belong.

And be it further enacted,

Benefit-tickets to be paid off by the managers within twenty days after drawing.

[SECT. 4.] That the said benefit-tickets shall be paid off by the managers aforesaid within twenty days after the drawing of each lottery is finished, upon application of the owner or owners of such tickets, and delivering them up to be cancelled; and to secure the payment of such benefit-tickets to the owner or owners of them, the said managers and their estates, are hereby held and subjected to satisfy and make good the same, in like manner as they and their estates are subjected by law to satisfy and make good their own proper debts.

And be it further enacted,

Owners of benefit-tickets not applying for their money in one year, in case, shall not be entitled to the same.

[SECT. 5.] That if the owner or owners of any benefit-tickets shall, for the space of one year after the drawing aforesaid, neglect to apply for the payment of such ticket or tickets, unless he, she or they shall have been at sea, or out of the province, for that term of time (and to such person eighteen months shall be allowed to produce their tickets), he, she or they shall not be intitled to receive the same, but such ticket and tickets are hereby declared to be cancelled and of no value; and the money in the hands of said managers, which was to have been applied to the payment of such tickets, shall, after the expiration of the term aforesaid, be paid to the province treasurer for the use of the province.

And be it further enacted,

Managers, &c., to be on oath.

[SECT. 6.] That each manager aforesaid, before his acting in the capacity of manager, shall take an oath for the faithful execution of the trust reposed in him by v[i][e]rtue of this act; and every person employed about each lottery shall take an oath for the faithful performance of his trust, which last oath may be administred by any one of the managers, who are hereby impowered to administer the same.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to keep account of the time of their attendance, &c.

[SECT. 7.] That the managers aforesaid shall keep a particular account of the days of their attendance upon the service aforesaid, and for each whole day's attendance shall be allowed the sum of four shillings per day, the same to be paid by the committee aforesaid, or the major part of them, out of the monies raised by virtue of this act: provided, that no more than three of the managers aforesaid shall be intitled to such allowance for one and the same day.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to receive accounts of the charge, and order payment.

[SECT. 8.] That the managers aforesaid, after each lottery shall be finished, shall receive the accounts of all charges arisen thereon, and, having found them just, shall certify the same upon said accounts, to the said committee, or the major part of them, who are hereby directed to pay the same out of the monies aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Said lotteries to be finished in a limited time.

[SECT. 9.] That the lottery or lotteries aforesaid shall be wholly compleated and finished within eighteen months from the first day of October, one thousand seven hundred and sixty.

And be it further enacted,

Committee for

[SECT. 10.] That the said James Walker, Israel Tisdale and

Stephen Macomber are hereby declared to be the committee for receiving of the said managers the monies raised by virtue of this act, and for applying the same in the best manner they can for the purposes in this act mentioned. receiving moneys.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 11.] That the committee aforesaid, or the major part of them, shall and they hereby are directed to apply the money, from time to time, as they may receive it from the managers of the lotteries aforesaid (saving so much as shall be sufficient to defrey the necessary charges of said lotteries), for the removing of the rocks and shoals aforesaid in said Taunton River, between the Ware Bridge and Rocky Point aforesaid, in the best and most frugal manner they can, and to render an account of their proceedings therein to this court when required. Committee directed how to apply the moneys.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 12.] That if the sum raised by virtue of this act shall be more than sufficient to pay the charges of the lotteries aforesaid, and pay the committee aforesaid for their necessary services in applying the money by them received for the purposes before mentioned, the surplusage shall be by them paid into the province treasury for the use of the province. In case of a surplusage, how the same shall be disposed of.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 13.] That if any person shall forge or counterfeit any ticket or tickets to be made in consequence of this act, or alter any of the numbers thereof, or utter, vend, barter or dispose of any false, altered, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, or bring such ticket or tickets, knowing the same to be such, to the said directors, or any of them, or to any other person, with a fraudulent intent, every such person or persons, being thereof convicted in due form of law, shall suffer such pains and penalties as are by law provided in cases of forgery. Penalty for persons who forge or counterfeit tickets, &c.

[SECT. 14.] And the said managers or directors, or any two of them, are hereby authorized and impowered to cause any person or persons bringing or uttering such false, forged, altered or counterfeit ticket or tickets, as aforesaid, to be apprehended and committed to close goal, to be proceeded against according to law. CHAPTER 37.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A SUM OF MONEY, BY A LOTTERY OR LOTTERIES, FOR THE PAVING AND REPAIRING THE HIGHWAY IN CHARLESTOWN, LEADING FROM THE FERRY TO THE NECK, SO CALLED.

WHEREAS the highway in the town of Charlestown, leading from the ferry to the neck, so called, by reason of the great number of waggons and other heavy carriages passing over it, and being for the most part extremely founderous, miry and bad, is frequently out of repair, notwithstanding the great cost and expence the town of Charlestown has been yearly at for repairing the same; and whereas the paving of the same highway is the most effectual method of repairing and keeping the same in good order and condition, and will require a considerable sum of money to effect it; for the raising whereof, — Preamble.

* April 28, according to the record.

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

James Russell, Esq., and others, allowed and empowered to set up and carry on one or more lotteries for paving and repairing Charlestown highway.

[SECT. 1.] That James Russell, Esq[r]., Mess[ieu]rs Caleb Call, Isaac Foster, Nathan[i][a]el Rand, David Newall, Samuel Kent and Jabez Whittemore, or any three of them, be and hereby are allowed and impowered to set up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting in the whole to such a sum as, by drawing or deducting ten per cent out of the same, or out of each prize- or benefit-ticket, may raise the sum of eighteen hundred pounds, and no more; and that the said sum of eighteen hundred pounds, raised by the deduction aforesaid, be, by the persons above named, paid to the town treasurer of Charlestown aforesaid, within ten days after the sale of the tickets of said lottery shall be compleated; or, if the persons aforesaid shall think fit to raise said sum of eighteen hundred pounds by more lotteries than one, then the money raised by each lottery, by the deduction aforesaid, shall, within ten days after the tickets of each lottery, respectively, are sold, be paid by them to the treasurer aforesaid; which sum of eighteen hundred pounds, or whatever part thereof shall be so raised, shall be applied towards the paving and repairing the highway aforesaid: saving so much of said sum as shall be sufficient to defr[a][e]y the necessary charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid; and to no other use whatsoever, except in case of a surplusage, as in this act hereafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

Any three of them may be managers or directors.

[SECT. 2.] That the persons aforesaid, or any three of them, be and they are hereby declared to be the managers or directors of each and every of the said lottery or lotteries, and are hereby impow[e]red to make all necessary rules, and use all necessary methods, to manage and direct the same, till the whole shall be fully compleated and finished.

And be it further enacted,

Said managers to dispose of the tickets, make preparation for the drawing, and to give public notice.

[SECT. 3.] That the said managers or directors, with all convenient speed, after the sale of the tickets of said lottery, or of each lottery, respectively, shall make preparation for the drawing the same, and shall give notice in the publick prints, of the time and place of drawing, at least ten days before the said drawing begins, that any of the adventurers, if they think fit, may be present at the drawing; and after the said drawing commences, they, the said managers, may adjourn from day to day, till the whole number of tickets of each lottery, respectively, shall be drawn: provided, the drawing of any one of said lotteries continue not longer than fifteen days, exclusive of Lord's Days.

Managers directed in their proceedings.

[SECT. 4.] And the said managers or directors shall make, or cause to be made, a fair entry, in a book provided for that purpose, of all the tickets so drawn, and of the blanks and prizes drawn answering to said tickets; and within ten days after the drawing of each lottery, respectively, shall be finished, they shall cause a list of the benefit-tickets, expressing the number and the amount of each of them, to be printed in the publick newspapers, at the same time, in the said newspapers, notifying the owners of such benefit-tickets of the time and place when and where they may apply for the payment of such tickets; and if any contention or dispute shall arise in adjusting the property of any of the said benefit-tickets, the major part of the managers shall determine to whom it doth or ought to belong.

And be it further enacted,

Benefit-tickets to be paid off by the managers within twenty

[SECT. 5.] That the said benefit-tickets shall be paid off by the managers aforesaid within twenty days after the drawing of each lottery, respectively, is finished, upon application of the owner or owners of such tickets, and delivering them up to be cancelled; and to secure the payment of such benefit-tickets to the owner or owners of them, the said managers or directors, and their estates, are hereby held and subjected to satisfy and make good the same, in like manner as they and their estates are subjected by law to satisfy and make good their own proper debts: provided, that if the money in said manager's hands shall be lost by fire, or any other extraordinary or unavoidable accident, the said managers and their estates shall not be so held and subjected. days after drawing.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 6.] That if the owner or owners of any benefit-ticket or tickets shall, for the space of one year after the drawing aforesaid, neglect to apply for the payment of such ticket or tickets, unless he, she or they shall have been at sea and out of the province for that term of time (and to such persons eighteen months shall be allowed to produce their tickets), he, she or they shall not be entitled to receive the same, but such ticket and tickets are hereby declared to be cancelled and of no value; and the money in the hands of said directors, which was to have been applied to the payment of such tickets, shall, after the expiration of the term aforesaid, be immediately paid to the town treasurer of said Charlestown, for repairing and keeping in repair the highway aforesaid. Owners of benefit-tickets not applying for their money in one year, in case, shall not be entitled to the same.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 7.] That each manager or director aforesaid, before his acting in the capacity of manager or director, as aforesaid, shall take the following oath; viz[t]. :—

I, A. B., do swear that I will faithfully execute the trust reposed in me, and that I will not use any indirect act or means to obtain a prize- or benefit-lot for myself or any other person whomsoever, and that I will do the utmost of my endeavour to prevent any undue or sinister practice to be done by any person whomsoever, and that I will, to the best of my judgment, declare to whom any prize-lot or ticket does of right belong, according to the true intent and meaning of the act of this province, made in the thirty-third year of his majesty's reign, [e][i]ntituled "An Act for raising a sum of money, by a lottery or lotteries, for the paving and repairing the highway in Charlestown, leading from the ferry to the neck, so called." So help me God. Form of manager's oath.

—which oath shall be administred by any justice of the peace in the county of Middlesex; and every person or persons employed about the lottery or lotteries aforesaid, by the directors aforesaid, shall take an oath for the faithful performance of his trust, to be administred by any one or more of the directors aforesaid, who are hereby impow[e]red to administer the same. All persons employed about the lotteries to be on oath.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 8.] That if the whole number of tickets of each lottery, respectively, shall not be sold and disposed of by the said directors within six months after the publication of the scheme of each lottery, respectively, it shall and may be lawful for the town of Charlestown, if they think fit, to take the remainder of said tickets, undisposed of as aforesaid, to their own account: provided, that within one month after the publick meeting of said town, to be called for that purpose, a sum of money be raised and paid to the directors aforesaid, sufficient to purchase the remainder of said tickets, which shall in that case be delivered to such person or persons as the said town shall appoint to receive the same; but if the whole of said tickets cannot be sold within the term of six months aforesaid, and the town aforesaid refuse to take the tickets remaining unsold as aforesaid, th[a][e]n the money received by the said directors, for the tickets sold, shall be by them returned to the owners of said tickets, upon their delivering up their tickets to the said directors, and the charges arisen shall be defreyed by the said town of Charlestown: provided, nevertheless, that the said In case the whole number of tickets in each lottery shall not be sold in six months after the publication of the scheme, the town of Charlestown may take the remainder to their own account, provided.

Proviso.

managers shall not hereby be prohibited from carrying on said lottery or lotteries at any other time which they may judge suitable and convenient for the same.

And be it further enacted,

In case of a surplusage, how the same shall be disposed of.

[SECT. 9.] That if the sum raised by means of this act shall be more than sufficient to pave and repair the highway aforesaid, and defrey the charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid, and pay the managers aforesaid for their services, as hereinafter expressed, the surplusage shall be applied towards the paving or repairing of such street or streets or highways in the town of Charlestown, as the said town shall direct.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for persons who forge or counterfeit tickets, &c.

[SECT. 10.] That if any person shall forge or counterfeit any ticket or tickets, to be made in consequence of this act, or alter any of the numbers thereof, or utter, vend, barter or dispose of any false, altered, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, or bring such ticket or tickets, knowing the same to be such, to the said directors, or any of them, or to any other person, with a fraudulent intent, every such person or persons, being thereof convicted in due form of law, shall be punished by imprisonment, by being publickly whipped, or by being set in the pillory, at the discretion of the court before whom the conviction shall be, according to the nature and aggravations of the offence.

[SECT. 11.] And the said managers or directors, or any two of them, are hereby authorized and impow[e]red to cause any person or persons bringing out or uttering such false, altered, forged or counterfeit ticket or tickets, as aforesaid, to be apprehended and committed to close goal, to be proceeded against according to law.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to keep account of the time of their attendance, and exhibit the same to the town.

[SECT. 12.] That the directors or managers aforesaid shall keep a particular account of the days of their attendance upon the service aforesaid, and for each day's attendance shall be allowed the sum of six shillings, the same not to be paid out of the monies raised by virtue of this act, unless there be a sufficiency for the purposes aforesaid, and for the payment of such their allowances; and, in case of a sufficiency, they shall exhibit an account of their attendance aforesaid before a publick meeting of the town aforesaid, which account, being examined and found just, shall be paid by the town treasurer aforesaid, upon the order of the said town; but in case there shall not be a sufficiency, the town aforesaid shall make provision for the payment of such manager's allowance aforesaid: provided, that no more than three managers aforesaid shall be intitled to such allowance for one and the same day.

And be it further enacted,

Managers to receive accounts of charge, and order payment.

[SECT. 13.] That the managers or directors aforesaid, after the said lottery, or each of the said lotteries, respectively, is finished, shall receive the accounts of all charges arisen thereon, and, having found them just, shall certify the same upon said accounts, and direct the town treasurer aforesaid to pay them off and discharge them.

And be it further enacted,

Selectmen to contract for the work and materials, &c.

[SECT. 14.] That the selectmen of the town of Charlestown aforesaid, for the time being, shall contract and agree for the paving and repairing the highway aforesaid, and for the materials and labour necessary to do the same, at money price, and shall draw on the town treasurer aforesaid for the payment thereof; and, when the said paving and repairs are finished, they shall exhibit a particular account of the cost of the same, and lay it before the town aforesaid at one of their publick meetings, in order to be put on file with their other papers. AN ACT TO PREVENT DAMAGE BEING DONE ON A BEACH AT MONUMENT PONDS, IN THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, LYING BETWEEN THE LANDS OF THE LATE THOMAS CLARK AND JOSEPH BARTLET, DECEASED, AND ON A CERTAIN TRACT OF MARSHY GROUND LYING UNDER WATER THERE.

Preamble.

WHEREAS cattle for years past have been suffered to feed on said beach, by which means it has been greatly lowered, and the sand of the same blown into a brook adjoining (which issues out of a fresh pond, into which quantities of alewives formerly used to pass to cast their spawn), as also on a great part of said meadow, thereby preventing the fish passing up to spawn, and occasioning the overflowing of said meadow, to the damage of the proprietors of the said lands and to the publick, —

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives,

Powers granted to the proprietors of said beach and marsh.

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the tenth day of May next, the proprietors of said beach and marsh shall have full power, at any meeting by them called, to agree upon lowering and keeping down the aforesaid brook, as, by a major vote of said propriety at any such meeting, they shall think proper; and that the charges arising by the same shall be borne from time to time by each proprietor, in proportion to their respective interests.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for turning neat cattle, horse-kind or sheep, on said beach or meadow.

[SECT. 2.] That no person or persons shall presume to turn or drive any neat cattle, horse-kind or sheep upon the aforesaid beach, or meadow adjoining, on the penalty of ten shillings per head for neat cattle or horses, and three shillings for each sheep, so turned or found upon said beach or meadow; which penalty shall be recovered by any person that shall inform or sue for the same, one half of the forfeiture to him or them that shall inform or sue for the same, the other half for the use of the said proprietors.

And be it further enacted,

Cattle to be impounded, in case.

[SECT. 3.] That if any neat cattle, horse-kind or sheep shall at any time be found feeding on said beach or meadow, it shall be lawful for any person to impound the same, immediately giving notice to the owner or owners of the same if known, otherwise to give publick notice thereof in the town of Plymouth aforesaid; and the impounder shall rel[ei][ie]ve said creatures with suitable meat and water while impounded; and if the owner thereof appear, he shall pay two shillings and sixpence for each neat beast or horse-kind, and eightpence for each sheep, and the reasonable cost of rel[ei][ie]ving them, besides the pound-keeper's fees. And if no owner appear within the space of three days to redeem the said cattle, horse-kind or sheep so impounded, and to pay the cost and damage occasioned by impounding the same, then and in every such case the person or persons impounding such cattle, horse-kind or sheep, shall cause the same to be sold at publick vendue, and pay the cost and charges arising about the same (publick notice of the time and place of such sale being given in the said town of Pl[i][y]mouth, and the two neighbouring towns, forty-eight hours before the sale); and the overplus, if any there be, arising by such sale, to be returned to the owner or owners of such cattle, horse-kind or sheep, at any time within two months next after such sale, upon his demanding the same; but if no owner appears within two months, then the said overplus shall be one half to the person impounding, and the other half to the use of the said proprietors.

Cattle, &c., to be sold, in case.

Provided, —

Proviso. [SECT. 4.] That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the owners of said beach and meadow from granting liberty to any of their propriety to allow any of the cattle, horse-kind or sheep of the said proprietors to go upon said beach or meadow, as they shall order at any of their legal meetings.

Limitation. [SECT. 5.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of seven years from the tenth day of May next, and no longer. [Passed and published April 28, 1760.

CHAPTER 39.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE WESTERLY PART OF THE TOWN OF BRIMFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF MONSON.

WHEREAS it has been represented to this court that the inhabitants of the westerly part of the town of Brimfield, in the county of Hampshire, labour under great difficulties by reason of their not being incorporated into a district, and praying they may be so erected, —

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That the said westerly part of the town of Brimfield — beginning at the ford-way of Cheekobee River, at Benjamin Colton's, the westerly side, thence running a direct course to a chesnut-tree standing a little northerly of a house belonging to the heirs of Ezra King, deceased; thence south, eight degrees west, to the southerly line, and so extending westerly, on the colony line, to Springfield bounds; thence northerly, to the country road that goes from Boston to Springfield; from thence, as the country road runs, to the bridge that crosses said Cheekobee River, and as the said river runs to the place first mentioned — be and hereby is set off and erected into a seperate district by the name of Monson; and that the inhabitants thereof do the duties that are required, and enjoy all privileges that towns do or by law ought to enjoy, in this province, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted; and that the inhabitants of said district shall have full power and right, from time to time, to join with the said town of Brimfield in the choice of a representative or representatives (who may be chosen either in the town or district), in which choice they shall enjoy all the privileges which by law they would have been intitled to if this act had not been made.

Provided, nevertheless, —

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That the said district shall pay their proportion of all town, county and province taxes, already set on or granted to be raised, in like manner as tho' this act had not been made.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That John Sherman, Esq^r., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant in said district, requiring him to notify and warn the inhabitants of said district, qualified by law to vote in town affairs, to meet at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to chuse all such officers as shall be necessary to manage the affairs of said district. [Passed April 28, 1760.

CHAPTER 40.

AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH FOUR THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS this court have agreed to raise five hundred men to re-l[ei][ie]ve so many of those in the pay of this province as are posted at Louisbourg and Nova Scotia; and it being necessary that there be a sum of money immediately borrowed to pay said men such bounty as is agreed upon and voted by this court, —

Be it enacted by the Governour, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That the treasurer of this province be and he hereby is directed and impowered to borrow the sum of four thousand five hundred pounds, in Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in coined silver, of sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce; and the said sum of four thousand five hundred pounds, when borrowed, shall be issued by the governour or commander-in-chief, by and with the advice of the council, for paying said bounty, and for no other use whatever; and in case there be a surplus, it shall remain in the treasury for the further order of this court.

And for the sum so borrowed, the treasurer shall give a receipt or note in the form following: —

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 1760.
Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer, to repay the said or order, the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver, of sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or in Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, with interest, annually, at the rate of six per cent per annum.
Witness my hand, A. B., Treasurer.

—and no receipt or obligation shall be given for less than six pounds.

And to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act, —

Be it enacted,

Tax of £5,500, in 1763.

[SECT. 2.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty, a tax of five thousand and five hundred pounds, to be levied on polls and estates within this province, according to such [rolls] [rules] and in such proportions as shall be agreed upon and ordered by the general court of this province at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and before the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three; and if there should be a surplus, it shall remain in the treasury for the order of this court.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case.

[SECT. 3.] That in case the general court shall not, by the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, agree and conclude upon a tax act to draw into the treasury the aforesaid sum of five thousand and five hundred pounds, by the thirty-first day of March then next after, that then the treasurer of the province shall issue his warrants, directed to the assessors of the several towns and districts within this province, requiring them, respectively, to assess, levy and pay their respective proportions of said sum, according to the proportions, rules and directions of the then last preceeding tax act. [Passed and published April 28, 1760.

NOTES.—There were five sessions of the General Court this year. In the heading of the record of the fifth session, which began April 16, 1760, it is called the fourth; but to treat this new assembling of the Court, after a recess of two weeks, as a continuation of the fourth session would be neither in accordance with the plan adopted in this edition, nor agreeable to the practice in previous years.

The engrossments of all the acts of the first session, and of chapters 8, 10, 17, 18, 19, 20, 25, 26, 27, 28, 30, 33, 35 and 39, are missing. All the acts of this year were printed (chapter 2 and 27 separately) except chapters 31 and 39. The latter act has been here restored from a MS. record of acts, in the Secretary's office; and chapter 27 is here printed from the original bill.

The acts of the first session were duly certified for transmission, September, 29, 1759. They were read in the Board of Trade January 22, 1760, delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, February 4, and referred to the committee, of the Council, on plantation affairs February 6. The Committee took them into consideration February 20, and referred them back to the Board of Trade where they were read March 11, 1760, and "referred to Sir M. Lamb for his opinion thereupon in point of Law." On the same day the acts of the second session were laid before the Board, where they were read and ordered to be "delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, to be laid before His Majesty." They were received by the clerk of the Council March 13, and immediately referred to the committee, of the Council, on plantation affairs, who, on the same day, took them into consideration and referred them back to the Board of Trade to examine and report &c. They seem not to have reached the Board under this reference until March 17, and were there read on the twenty-first.

The acts of the third, fourth and fifth sessions were certified for transmission, May 30, 1760, delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, July 25, and, on the 12th of August, referred to the committee, of the Privy Council, on plantation affairs. On August 28, they were taken into consideration by the committee and referred to the Board of Trade to examine and report &c. The Board of Trade, on the nineteenth of November took up these acts and the order referring them, and ordered that such of them as had "not expired by their own Limitation, be referred to Sir Matthew Lamb for his opinion thereupon in point of Law." Sir Matthew Lamb's report is dated January 12, 1761, and concludes that, upon perusal and consideration of chapters 15, 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 24, 26, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 38 and 39, (chapters 16, 17, 22, 25, 27, 35, 36, 37 and 40 having expired by their own limitation) he had "no objections thereto in point of law."

This report and the acts to which it related were taken into consideration by the Board April 17, 1761, when it was ordered that a draught of a letter to the Governor be prepared "expressing the Board's dissatisfaction at the practice which has of late so much prevailed in that Province, of raising Money for tempory and inconsiderable Services by Lottery," (See note to chap. 35, post.) and also that chapter 26 be further considered as shown in the note to that chapter post.

Chap. 16. The campaign of 1755, employing about 8000 men from Massachusetts, or, as was estimated by the General Court, about one fifth of the male inhabitants of the province, was attended with proportionate expense which it was found impossible to meet by the ordinary methods of raising money. In this emergency temporary relief was afforded by Gov. Shirley's loan of £30,000, out of the fund under his control as commander-in-chief of the American forces. This loan, though received after much delay, enabled the province to pay the wages of the soldiers in the expedition of 1755 and to proceed with preparations for another campaign. (See 1755-56, note to chap. 27.) Meanwhile, the Legislature had authorized Mr. Bollan, who had previously held the office, and who on the thirtieth of October, 1755, had been again appointed agent of the province in London, to effect a loan in Europe (see 1754-55, chap. 33), and also to apply to the Crown for relief.

Discouraged at the poor prospect of negotiating a loan, Mr. Bollan made no attempt in that direction, but immediately addressed himself with energy to the task of procuring a grant. Beginning with an application for £23,000 to the Lords Justices, which the secretary of that board thought it more proper to lay before the Lords of the Treasury, he next applied to the Duke of Newcastle, who was first Lord Commissioner of the Treasury, as well as one of the Lords Justices, and through him succeeded in having his application considered by the Lords of the Treasury. They directed him to wait on the Secretary of State, who objected that the petition should have been laid before the Lords of Trade. Accordingly, he waited on Lord Halifax, secretary of the Board of Trade, who was clearly of opinion that a grant of this character was, primarily, a subject for the consideration of the Lords of the Treasury and the Secretary of State. Again applying to the Secretary of State, after overcoming his objections that the petition was too general, &c., the Agent secured his favorable consideration of the subject and increased the amount asked for, to £50,000, having, since the presentation of the first petition, received advices of further enlistments in the province. The Earl of Halifax warmly engaged in assisting him, and was at first inclined to send a sum of money as an immediate aid to all the colonies. He suggested to Mr. Bollan the propriety of applying for the common benefit of the four New-England colonies and not for Massachusetts alone,—the wisdom of which course the latter approved, although his instructions did not authorize him to follow it. At this stage, it appeared that there was no fund from which such a grant could be taken, and it was thereupon agreed by the Ministry that letters should be sent to the Governors of the four New-England colonies assuring them of his Majesty's approbation of "the chearfulness and alacrity with which they had enter'd upon the expedition and the spirit and vigour with which they had supported it; that his majesty being sensible the expence of it exceeded their abilities he would recommend it to his parliament to grant them such aid and assistance as their merit and circumstances required and such as shou'd be sufficient to enable them to go on with vigour, and assuring them of his majesty's favour and protection." Accordingly, Feb. 3, 1756, parliament granted £115,000 to "New England, New York and Jersey." (See resolves of the House of Commons.) Of this sum the share of Massachusetts was £54,000, which was shipped before April 1756, but never reached the treasury—£30,000 thereof going directly to Gov. Shirley in repayment of his loan, and the remainder being turned over to the army contractors at New York.

A letter from Mr. Secretary Fox, dated March 13, 1756, gave assurance that stores and provisions of all kinds for the whole army employed in the campaign of 1756 should be provided at the sole expense of the Crown, and that the raising of the men, their pay, arms and clothing, were all that would be required of the province. (See 1757-58 chap. 30, note.) This letter was communicated to the Assembly by Lieut.-Gov. Phips on the first of July; but the province had already purchased six months provisions for victualling the Massachusetts forces, at an expense of nearly £30,000, and, in the vacation before the July session, Mr. Hutchinson had informed Mr. Bollan of this expense and intimated that a reimbursement of the value of these provisions would be a great relief to the province, in view of the other expenses attending the expedition.

Mr. Bollan promptly brought the subject to the attention of the Earl of Halifax who entertained it favorably, but advised delay. In October he again moved in the matter, presenting to the Duke of Newcastle a memorial which, through his efforts, was considered by the Lords of the Treasury and referred by them to the Board of Trade. The business being again delayed here by the want of necessary information from the other departments, Mr. Bollan had recourse to the Secretaries of the Treasury and to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, but without success; owing, partly to the press of business in the Treasury department, and partly to changes in the administration.

After nearly fourteen months' application to the different departments, Mr. Bollan, upon the accession of the new ministry of Newcastle and Pitt, addressed a petition for reimbursement, to the King in Council, which he presented to Mr. Secretary Pitt, with a letter, dated December 24, 1757, giving his reasons for applying in this manner. The presentation of this petition was somewhat delayed by the Agent's failure to receive proper vouchers from the province, they not having arrived as late as the eleventh of June. Within a month after its presentation this petition had reached the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, and had been referred by them to the Paymaster-General and the Secretary at War, with instructions to inquire into the demand, and hear Mr. Bollan; Mr. Pitt expressing the hope that the purpose of this reference was "that the validity and exactness of Mr. Bollan's account be enquired into, and not the justness of his pretensions." By March 20, 1758, a favorable report had resulted from this reference, and by the 19th of the next month the Chancellor of the Exchequer had mentioned the subject to the House of Commons, where, on the 31st of May, it was referred to the committee on supplies, and, the next day, a resolve was passed granting the province £27,380. 19s 11½d sterling.

Although Mr. Bollan had performed the duties of his office with marked ability, the delays attending the routine of official action in the different departments of the government caused dissatisfaction among his constituents, which manifested itself strongly in the House of Representatives towards the close of these negotiations. By his address, his intimate knowledge of the history and claims of the province, his personal acquaintance with officers of state, his legal acquirements and his familiarity with the methods of proceeding in the management of the delicate and difficult duties with which he was intrusted, he had actually lessened the delays which were ignorantly attributed, by his opponents, to his indifference or to a too literal adherence to his instructions.

As early as January, 1758, an order, which originated in the House, was passed by the Assembly, appointing a committee to prepare a letter to Mr. Bollan notifying him of their intention to supply his place with some inhabitant of Great Britain for the ostensible reason that they would thus be saved the expense of his living, which Bollan claimed in addition to his salary; but other affairs of great moment having arisen, this vote was succeeded, two months later, by another, requesting Mr. Bollan not suddenly to leave Great Britain notwithstanding the former vote. With a copy of the latter vote further instructions were sent to the Agent.

In the next Assembly a bill was passed by the House to be engrossed, appointing Messrs. Barlow Trecothick, John Apthorp and John Thomlinson, Jr., who were eminent merchants in London, to act with the Agent in receiving and forwarding the provision money, but this bill was unanimously refused a second reading by the Council. On the same day, however, (June 15, 1758) a vote was passed originating in the Council, which empowered the Secretary of the province and the Speaker of the House to execute an instrument, which the Governor was also requested to sign officially, authorizing Mr. Bollan, as agent, to receive the money and give a valid discharge therefor, and directing him to ship the same to New England by one his Majesty's ships of war. This power of attorney was given in conformity to the opinion of the former attorney- and solicitor-general (Ryder and Murray) in 1748, that the province, being a corporation, could only act by such an instrument,—the Lords of the Treasury at that time having submitted the question whether the authority of the several agents to receive the money granted to reimburse the expenses of the reduction and occupation of Cape Breton was sufficient; some of the agents, among them the agent for Massachusetts, claiming to act solely under mere votes of their respective Assemblies.

From the postscript of a letter from Mr. Bollan, dated August 16, 1758, it appears that the money granted had been received by him, and that, after sundry deductions for freight, insurance, etc., and the grant (which had been long deferred) to the Agent for his past services—it was reduced to the amount shown in this act.

Still further delays followed in transmitting the money, owing, mainly, to the agent's instructions to have it shipped to Boston in a man-of-war, and the impossibility of procuring such a conveyance to that port.

Mr. Bollan's letter of August 16, had not been received as late as October following—indeed tidings of the grant had first reached the Governor about the first of the month—and the House having heard the report of a committee appointed to examine the records of the General Court relative to the method pursued in receiving the parliamentary grant of 1748 (see Journals of the House of Commons, April 4, 1748) deemed it necessary to pass formal votes that the expected provision-money should be imported into the province in specie, and that Mr. Bollan should be empowered to receive it in behalf of the province. By the vote of June 15, no authority was expressly given to the committee appointed to prepare the power of attorney to use the name, or affix the seal, of the province; and, apparently for the purpose of remedying this defect, the House now voted that the Governor, the Secretary and the Speaker of the House be authorized to prepare a power of attorney in the name and under the seal of the province. The Council concurred with an amendment striking out the names of the Secretary and the Speaker, whereupon the House took into consideration the subject of continuing Mr. Bollan in the agency, and voted to dismiss him. In this vote the Council refused to concur. A committee of the House appointed to confer with Mr. Charles Apthorp, the contractor for furnishing money for the army, having reported that, although Mr. Apthorp could not undertake to receive and transport the money, he had recommended for that purpose the employment of his friends, Messrs. Trecothick, Apthorp and Thomlinson above mentioned for whose fidelity he was willing to give security; that he assured the committee that these gentlemen would transact the business for one per cent commission, and that he would use his influence with them to have the money sent by the same conveyance that was to bring the money for the pay of the army (which money was expected in March 1759), thus effecting a saving in insurance, freight and shipping-charges; and, moreover, that if the money could not be shipped directly to Boston, he would take it at Louisbourg, Halifax or New York, and pay a like sum in Boston.

Mr. Apthorp's suggestions were favorably received by the House, and accordingly they fell back upon their former vote, to which they now voted to adhere "with amendments as taken into a new draught." In the new draught the same committee as before was empowered to prepare the instrument, but the names of Messrs. Trecothick, Apthorp and Thomlinson were substituted for that of Mr. Bollan, and they, or any two of them, were authorized to receive and give proper discharges for the provision-money, in behalf of the province and, having first insured the same, were directed to send it on board one of his Majesty's ships bound either to Boston, Halifax, Louisbourg or New York, consigned to the Treasurer of the province, for the time being. The Council refused to concur in this vote on the ground that the vote of June 15th "still remains in force and may be effectual for this purpose." The Council further voted that the Secretary write to Mr. Bollan that, as his commission as agent "limits his power to certain special purposes therein mentioned, and to such other matters which the General Court might commit to his care and management pursuant to such instructions as he might from time to time receive from them", "the Court expects that he conduct himself accordingly." In this vote the House refused to concur, adhering to their own vote, and the Council again nonconcurred in the last vote of the Representatives.

No further action in the matter appears to have been taken by the Assembly until after the receipt of Mr. Bollan's letter of Aug. 16. This letter was communicated to the House of Representatives Jan. 5, 1759, and, on the 18th, a vote was passed directing Mr. Bollan to ship the money in accordance with certain instructions, a draught of which was prepared and accepted two days later. By these instructions the agent was directed to ship the money in johannes of full weight, or, if these could not be obtained, in other Portuguese or Spanish gold, to the province Treasurer at Boston, by a man-of-war, or, in failure of any such ship's departure direct for Boston, he was to apply to the Lords of the Admiralty for permission to ship the same on any government vessel bound to New York, Halifax or Louisbourg and to ask for orders for the ship to proceed to Boston after delivering her dispatches at either of the other ports for which she might be bound.

The impossibility of securing such coöperation by the Lords of the Admiralty as would enable the Agent to comply with his instructions, further delayed the shipment of the money; so that the first notice that the money was shipped appears in a letter from Mr. Bollan dated October 12, 1759. It was consigned to the province Treasurer, on board the Mercury, Capt. Faulkner, who was ordered to proceed to New York on other business, and thence to Boston.

In the mean time the General Court, not being aware of this action of the Agent, prepared a letter to him, in which, after setting forth the great inconvenience to which the province had been subjected by the non-arrival of the money, and declaring that they "can't avoid thinking that if the Lords of the Admiralty had been properly informed how much the receipt of this money (tho' a small sum compared with our great expence) would have been a means of promoting his Majesty's general service, they would have consented that a man-of-war should have proceeded with it from some of the neighbouring government to Boston, tho' she might have lost a week or ten days' time,"—they order that the money, in Spanish or Portuguese milled gold, be shipped to Boston, Louisbourg or Halifax or to the government of New York or New Hampshire by the first safe conveyance in one of his Majesty's ships-of-war, consigned to the province Treasurer or to his assigns, and properly insured.

On the 3rd of December 1759, the Mercury had arrived and there were deposited, that day, in the province treasury, to the credit of Mr. Bollan, on account of the provision-money, 10,424¾ johannes and 1414½ moidores which amounted—the former being reckoned at 36 shillings, and the latter at 27 shillings each—to £20,680, 17, 6, sterling.

"Jan. 9, 1760. In the House of Representatives Whereas the Treasurer has received from Mr Agent Bollan Twenty thousand six hundred and eighty pounds seventeen shillings and six pence Sterling equal to Twenty seven thousand five hundred seventy four pounds ten shillings lawful Money, which Money is unappropriated. Resolved That the said Sum be applyed for the Payment of the Officers and Soldiers employed in the late Expedition under General Amherst.

And Whereas by an Act made in October 1759 the Treasurer was directed to borrow the Sum of One hundred forty * thousand five hundred Pounds and issue Government Notes for Sixty thousand Pounds part of said Sum payable the 20 June 1761, and as a Fund for the redemption of said Notes a Tax was granted to his Majesty to be levyed on Polls and Estates in May 1760 for Sixty four thousand Pounds. Therefore further Resolved That the Treasurer be and hereby is directed to borrow but Thirty two thousand four hundred and twenty five pounds ten shillings instead of the aforesaid Sum of Sixty thousand pounds and that the Tax that was to have been issued for sixty four thousand Pounds if the said money had not arrived be but for thirty five thousand Pounds. "Jan. 25, 1760. The Report of a Committee appointed to take under consideration those parts of his Excellency's Speech at the Opening of the Session which were directed to both Houses.

The Committee have proceeded so far as to consider the several matters recommended by his Excellency relative to the Forces in the Pay of this Province and now in Service at Louisbourgh and Nova Scotia and also to the making Provision for raising Forces for the ensuing Year—

With respect to the Forces at Louisbourgh and Nova Scotia the Committee are humbly of Opinion That a Bounty or Reward of Four Pounds be given to each of the Private men and One months pay to each Officer who remained in Garrison after the first day of November last and still continue there over and above their established Wages, and that the Wages of all such Officers and Soldiers be continued according to the present Establishment until the first day of May next, or until the time of their discharge in case they shall be discharged before the said first day of May.

That the continuance of such Establishment be so understood as in no measure to remove or lessen the desire and expectation of the two Houses that the General of His Majesty's Forces in North America do cause the Forces now in the Pay of this Province to be discharged and returned as soon as the Season of the year will allow.

With respect to the Provision for raising men for the ensuing Year the Committee are of Opinion That a Bounty of nine Pounds be given to each private Soldier and non commission Officer now in the Service at Louisbourgh and the several posts and Forts in Nova Scotia who shall inlist anew for his Majesty's General Service the ensuing year, the Bounty to be paid in the manner following viz^{t} Five dollars at the time of their inlisting, five dollars more with a Province Security of six pounds at their passing Muster, which Muster shall be as soon after their Inlistment as it can be conveniently done; this to be considered as over and above the Four pounds reward given as aforesaid.

That over and above the number of Men who may thus inlist at Louisbourgh and Nova Scotia a Bounty of Nine pounds be also given and paid in the same manner and at the same time as to those who shall inlist at either of the above said places to Five thousand men including Officers who shall inlist for said Service at any time before the fifteenth day of March next; such Officers to be Inhabitants of this Province, the Privates and non-commission Officers only of said five thousand men to be intitled to this Bounty.

That the Establishment for one Captain, two Lieutenants and an Ensign be the same as it was the last year, each Company consisting of an hundred Men including Officers that their Wages shall begin from the date of their inlisting Orders, and that for every effective man whom they shall inlist they be allowed and paid three shillings, but they are to be accountable for the money they shall pay to any non-effective man who was so at the time of his Inlistment.

And as to the Wages of the men, the Committee are of opinion that they be the same they were the last year, and that they enter into pay at the time of their passing muster.

That to each man there be given when he shall begin his march a Blanket and such other Articles as were given the last year, saving only that such Blanket and other Articles shall be given to the Men who shall inlist at Louisbourgh and Nova Scotia at the time when the other men in Service at the several Posts there shall be respectively relieved.

That the Men shall not be held to continue in Service beyond the last day of November next, and shall be discharged as much sooner as the Service will Admit.

With respect to the matters recommended by his Excellency and which relate to Penobscot the Committee desire leave to sit again.

Chap. 19. "Jan. 30, 1760. The Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the two Houses respectively viz^t

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives.

After the Court has engaged so large a Bounty for recruits enlisting in the present Expedition to Canada, it much behoves your Wisdom as far as in you lies to take care that the Province is not defrauded of the Services it pays so dear for, which if some further Provision be not made as to Desertion will be the Case in many Instances, not only without Remedy, but with very considerable addition to the expences of the Province.—

For as matters now stand a Deserter, thô he does not serve one quarter of the time shall cost the Province besides the trouble he occasions four or five pounds more than the honest and faithful Soldier who serves his whole time. For as the Articles of War provide for the Punishment of Deserters when joined to the Army, our Laws provide only for the apprehending securing and transporting to their Regiments or Companies such Deserters, there (as is supposed to receive the Punishment allotted to such Delinquency.—The Punishment of Desertion is Death, or in its greatest Lenity such severe Corporal Punishment as is next to it, and if a deserter be returned to the Army as such, he must suffer that Punishment. When therefore Deserters have been taken up, and sent by my Orders to the Castle or other place in order to be transported to his Regiment or Company according to Law, I never could prevail on myself to send them as Deserters, by which means they have escaped all Punishment; and indeed were this severe Punishment inflicted on them however much they may have deserved it, the Country itself would very unwillingly discover or apprehend such Deserters—Therefore as the case now stands as Deserter will defraud his Country of his Service as long as he can lye concealed, and when he is discovered, the Province instead of Amends for the Loss it has already sustained must be at further expence for the apprehending, securing and transporting him for the small portion of Service that remains which expence it cannot be reimbursed out of his Wages, for if he be not returned as a Deserter, no Stoppages can be made on his Wages, and if he be returned as a Deserter, he has no Wages to receive.

Under this Dilemma I would propose to the Court on the present Occasion as follows—That if any man receiving the province Bounty be duly inlisted and dos not join his Company or Regiment when called, such Delinquent shall at any time hereafter when or wherever he can be found within this Province be apprehended, secured and sent to the Castle or such other Place as I shall order according to the present Laws; That the reward for taking up, securing and transporting him shall be advanced out of the Province Treasury. That then I shall be empowered if I see cause so to do, rather than to send him to the Army to send such Delinquent to some of the Province Garrisons there to do duty without pay until He shall have reimbursed the Province by his Service at the rate of Garrison Pay the £9— Bounty, the £2 Reward for taking him up, and all other Charges that the Province hath been at by him, and may be at in transporting him thereto.

I should hope this might much more effectually answer the end of preventing such fraudulent desertions rather than the severe Penalties of Felony as is the case if such Delinquent be tried within the Province, or of Death or of extreeme military Punishment if tryed in the Army; Besides the Province will avoid the additional Expence which such Deserters put it to, having instead thereof a good method of reimbursing itself the same; And as every one will see that such Punishment is not too harsh, but what every such Offender do's fully deserve, it will be the inclination as well as duty of every one to discover and bring him to it.

My Lords,

By the 40th Article of His Majty's Instructions to me I am forbid to pass any Bill creating any New Townships. The inconvenience meant to be obviated by said Instruction was the unequall and unjust representation that it might thereby be in a Governor's power to create in the Assembly; But as the Province of Main containing at present the County of York is now daily increasing in its Townships in its Proprietors in its cultivation and populousness and is as a Frontier (divided off from the Massachusetts Province) greatly concern'd that it shou'd have its full share of representation in the Assembly, which it by no means has, I have been applyed to erect such Townships by Act as may create such equal representation. I humbly beg leave to submit the matter to Your Lordships and ask your direction therein

"The grounds and reasons upon which the fortieth Article of His Majesty's Instructions to you, concerning the passing Laws for erecting new Townships and giving them a Privilege of choosing Representatives, appear to us so just and necessary, and the direction of that Instruction by which the Crown has reserved to itself the Judgment upon all such Laws before they take effect, to be so consistent with wisdom and true policy, that We cannot advise His Majesty to make any alteration therein.

Nor will this Instruction appear less favourable to the interests and inclination of the Representatives of the People, than it is wise and prudent with respect to the Honour and justice of the Crown; when it is consider'd that His Majesty might have directed his Governor upon all cases of this kind to have at once exercised that Negative which is vested in him by the Charter and by His Majesty's Commission."—Extract from letter of Lords of Trade to Gov. "The Secretary is preparing the several Acts which have been passed in order to his forwarding them as has been usual. There is one among them intitled An Act for erecting and establishing two new Counties in the Easterly part of the County of York which is to take place in November next. This County of York is at present 150 Miles in length which has been a great discouragement to the Settlement of the Eastern part of it. Pownalborough lately made a Township but without the privilege of sending a Representative is more conveniently situated than any other Settlement for the Shire Town of the Easternmost of the two Counties which I have called Lincoln and the Bill was so prepared as to give that Town the same privilege which other Towns enjoy but upon my intimating to some of the Members that I should not in any measure depart from my Instructions they altered the Bill before it came to me. I beg leave to suggest to Your Lordships that if in any case His Majesty should think it proper to allow this privilege to any new Town it might be convenient to do it in this case and perhaps to some few of the other Towns which may hereafter be erected, otherwise a whole County will be without a Representative in the General Court."—*Extract from Lieut. of the Massachusets Bay, in the interval between the departure of Governor Pownall & your arrival in that Government.

Upon consideration of this letter and of the Instruction by which Mr Hutchinson apprehended himself restrain'd from assenting to an Act for erecting a new Township in the County of York, with a Clause impowering that Township to send a Representative to the General Court; We think that the Instruction was, in the spirit and intention of it, confined to the splitting Townships in the old settled Counties and that both reason and justice require, that the Inhabitants of the Eastern part of the Province, having been once erected into Corporations, should be admitted to the same rights and priviledges enjoy'd by the incorporated inhabitants in any other part of the Province; and therefore We see no reason why the Townships already erected or any other that may hereafter be erected in the County of York, should not be impower'd by Act of the General Court, or in any other way that shall be thought adviseable, to choose a person to represent them in the General Court."—*Lords of Trade to Gov. "July 11, 1761. In Council. The Committee upon the Petition of Samuel Stevens having reported verbally that the Affair will require more time to consider of, than they will probably have during the present Session. Ordered that the further consideration of said Petition be referred to the first Tuesday of the next Sitting of this Court.—Sent down for Concurrence."—Ibid., p. 92.

"Nov. 25, 1761. In the House of Representatives, Whereas this Court at their Session in February 1760, granted a Lottery for raising a sum of money not exceeding Three thousand five hundred pounds to be applied for the redemption of the Outstanding Bills and finishing the Affairs of the late land Bank or Manufactory Company. And Whereas the time limited for raising said sum has proved altogether insufficient for that purpose, and it having been represented to this Court that at the expiration of the term limited as aforesaid about one half of the tickets of the third Class in said Lottery remained in the hands of the Managers of the same undisposed of, and that unless the time for carrying on said Lottery be lengthned out, the design of said Grant will be wholly frustrate. Therefore Ordered That the further term of six Months from the first day of December next be allowed for carrying on said Lottery under the conduct of the same Managers and according to the regulations contained and prescribed in the Act for granting the same: and the Commissioners appointed for transacting and finishing the Affairs of said Company are hereby directed to forbear issuing any further assessment against said Company until the expiration of said term, unless they have the express order of the General Court therefor. Lord Sandys.

Mr Jenyns. Mr Yorke. Mr Bacon.

Their Lordships took into further consideration an Act passed in the Province of Massachusets Bay in Febry 1760 for regulating Fees and Mr Bollan, Agent for the said Province attending without, pursuant to Order, he was called in and the points upon which the Act appeared to their Lordships to be liable to objection having been fully stated to him, he said that he was not prepared at present on account of a close attendance upon the Treasury Board, to answer to those Objections, but urged some Arguments to shew the Expediency of a new Regulation of Fees, which their Lordships observed to him was not at present the Question before them, & therefore it was agreed that the further consideration of the Act should be postponed to Tuesday the 5th of May when Mr Bollan was desired to attend prepared to answer to those Objections which had been stated to him.

Their Lordships took into further consideration the Law of the Massachusets Bay for regulating Fees and Mr Bollan the Agent attending without, pursuant to Order, he was called in and acquainted their Lordships that he was unable from great indisposition to enter largely into the merits of the Objections stated by their Lordships to the said Act and should only observe in general that the Government of Massachusets Bay, having by their Charter a free and unrestrained power of legislation, they would never consent to the inserting suspending Clauses in any Acts to be passed by them, and had never done it in any one instance, that he would however acquaint them with the Board's Objections to this Act and hoped it might lye by untill he had an Opportunity of consulting his Constituents upon it.

Mr Bollan being ordered to withdraw their Lordships agreed to postpone the further consideration of the Act to another opportunity and the Secretary was ordered to acquaint Mr Bollan therewith.

"Leicester Square, May 8th 1761

Sir The Lords Comiss^rs for Trade & plant^s having under their consideration an Act passed by the Gen^l Court in Febr^y 1760, for regulating fees, on the 24th of last month, pursuant to their directions, I attended their Lordships, when Lord Sandys told me they had these two objections to the act. (1st), that 'althô a temporary act, it repealed a perpetual act of the 4th of Will^m & Mary, chap^r 17. (2) that the perpetual act having had the royal approbation, an act for repealing it ought to have contain'd a clause suspending its force & execution until the King's determination thereupon was declared. A few things were then said wherein some of the lords seem'd to suppose these objections unanswerable. After observing that a new establishment of money, with the changing circumstances of a new country, required a new table of fees, I desired the matter might be deferr'd til I cou'd consider the present act, and all the former laws relating to fees, together with their lordships objections, as this Act had never been transmitted to me, and I was wholly a stranger to it when I received their directions to attend; and after some time spent hereupon the matter was put off accordingly.

* * * * * *

The day before yesterday being appointed for hearing any thing that I might have to offer respecting the act for regulating fees, upon my being called in lord Sandys told me that in favor to me, who they understood had been indisposed, they wou'd require me to speak only to the two points of the act's being temporary, & wanting a suspending clause. In case I had thought it a proper time for entring into the consideration of the matter at large, I shou'd very gladly have declined this favor to myself, and after briefly taking notice that forms were introduced for the sake of substance, and that if the act, as it appear'd to me, was founded on the principles of equality & justice, and was render'd necessary by the present circumstances of the province, I conceived its merit in these particulars was a reason for its approbation. I then proceeded to observe that if their lordships were inclined to introduce the use of suspending clauses in certain cases, and to declare that the present act, without considering its merits, ought to be disallowed for the want of such clause, this was a matter which so nearly affected the province's power of legislation that I must earnestly pray their lordships to postpone the consideration of the affair so that I might have time to give proper notice to the Gen^l Court, & receive their instructions hereupon. In support of this motion I observed to their lordships that, as I understood, the province now & at all times since their constitution was form'd by their present charter conceived the Gen^l Court was well entitled to the free exercise of their authority in making such proper laws as the welfare of the province from time to time in their judgment required, which laws were to take immediate effect, that the power of repealing their own laws was likewise unrestrained, and that there had never yet been an instance of a suspending clause being inserted in any Act. Upon my mentioning this last point, Mr Pownall, who had before observed to their lordships that there was an alternative, which was, to send over the draught of the act before passing it, to whom one of the lords replied that was the same thing with the suspending clause, now said that the draught of one act had been sent over here which related to the proceedings of the Comiss^rs in cases of bankrupts, after observing that altho' I had never heard of this draught being sent over before, yet I supposed this was a special case, and probably owing to the extraordinary difficulties that attended the king's repeal of the act that had before passed against bankrupts; and this being immediately agreed to be the case, I then observed that precedents in these cases being always readily cited, it was proper before making another for me to acquaint the Gen^l Court with this matter, especially as I had never received any instructions from them hereupon, nor ever been in any manner concerned in this question — After with drawing & waiting a considerable time Mr Pownall came to me, & told me that their lordships won'd not now proceed in order to come to any determination upon the act; but that it shou'd lye by for further consideration.

I write in more haste than is agreeable, and cannot at present recollect any thing further that is material to be said on this occasion, save that their lordships in the course of this affair seem'd to have their eye more on the suspending clause than the other point, and appear'd to speak from premeditation, and that I am satisfied they will confine their future consideration to the two points aforementioned, presuming at the same time that they will defer the matter til the Gen^l Court's instructions herein can be received.

I am with the greatest respect for the honble House of Representatives sir your most obed^t & most humble servant, W Bollan."—Letter from the Agent, to Secretary Oliver: Mass. Archives, vol. 22, p. 190.

"Boston Nov^r 28th 1761

S^r The General Court have had under Consideration your Letters of the 8th May & 13th June last: the first relative to the objections made by the Board of Trade to the Act of said Court for regulating Fees: * * * * *

With respect to the Fee-Act, the Objections are — That althô a temporary Act it repeal'd a perpetual Act: That repealing a perpetual Act, that had had the royal approbation, it ought to have contained a clause suspending it's effect till the King's determination thereon was declared. — In regard to the first Objection it may be observed, that it is no new thing for the General Court to make temporary Acts that suspend the effect of perpetual ones: And the perpetual Act (in particular) for regulating fees has been frequently suspended by temporary Acts appointing different fees; And these temporary Acts having never been disapproved by his Majesty, the Genl Court could not suppose that any objection would lie against the new Act on account of it's being temporary: And the varying circumstances of a new Country (as you justly observed to the Lords Commissioners for Trade & Plantations) may furnish a good reason for the alteration of the Fees; & for the Act being made temporary: and it may be presumed that their Lordships themselves may look upon the Genl Court as no incompetent Judges what the circumstances of this Province require.

With respect to the other objection about a suspending Clause, the General Court apprehend their Lordships would not have made it, if at the same time they had recollected those clauses of the Province Charter that relate to the making Laws, & the continuance of their force and effect: the Laws made being to continue in force, in case his Majesty shall not signify his disallowance within the time limited, 'until the expiration of such Laws, or that the same shall be repealed by the General assembly.'—

As you are perfectly acquainted with the Province Charter, & the legislative Power of the General Court, 'tis needless to enlarge on this head; but I am to inform you, that it is an Instruction of the Genl Court, and they hereby instruct you, to support the Fee-Act aforesaid; and more especially defend to the utmost the General Court's Power of Legislation in it's full extent according to the aforesaid charter. — As to the sending over the draught of any act previous to it's passing, it is equivalent (as their Lordships justly observed) to a suspending clause, and therefore inconsistent with the Rights granted by charter. Nor has there been any precedent of this kind: the draught of the act relative to the proceedings of the Comissioners in cases of Bankruptcy being sent over (in his Single capacity) by Governor Pownall; who did not incline to give his Assent thereto till he knew his Majesty's pleasure."—Letter from the General Court to Agent Bollan: Ibid., p. 220.

"March 22, 1760. The Secretary by order of his Excellency the Governor delivered the following Message to the two Houses respectively

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives

As the late Fire in the Town of Boston hath laid Waste a Quarter that is extreemely well Situated for carrying on the Trade of this Metropolis of the Province if some effectual measures were taken to regulate, and Widen some of the Streets which now lye desolate, and to Open any New Streets or Lanes that might be judged useful, and to prevent the more effectually the building with Wood: I should hope in course of time that this ruinous Quarter of the Town would be rebuilt in such manner as to make it as Safe beautiful and commodious as any part of the Town whatever; and in the end prove an Encouragement to the Trade and business of it.

The Parliament of England in their Wisdom thought fit after the Great Fire which happened in London in the year 1666, to Enact a Law for rebuilding the City many of the Regulations mentioned in that Law must suit the present Case of the Town of Boston. The Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council were impowered to lay out Streets: and adjust any differences that might be occasioned thereby, to regulate the Buildings, and prevent exorbitant prices of Materials and Workmen. I would recommend it to your Serious consideration whether some of the magistrates or Selectmen of this Town might not with Propriety be Vested with some of the like Powers for carrying into Execution so useful a Design here.

"March 25, 1760. In the House of Representatives The House agreeable to the Order of the day entered into the consideration of his Excellencys Message of the 22d Instant and after a debate — Voted That the Members of the Town of Boston together with Mr Higginson, Mr Hatch, and Capt Goldthwait with such as the honourable Board shall appoint be a Committee to take the said Message under consideration and report.

In Council Read and Concurred. And his Honour the Lieut Governor, Jacob Wendell, Benjamin Lynde, Andrew Oliver, James Bowdoin, and Peter Oliver Esqrs are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 296.

"April 24, 1760. A Petition of Charles Paxton Esqr and others — Setting forth That there were divers Tanyards in that part of the Town that was latly consumed by Fire, that the Buildings appertaining to them were burnt, and larger streets are now laying out there, which would induce persons to build good Dwelling Houses in said Streets in case the Tanyards could be removed. And Praying the Interposition of the Court for that purpose.

In Council Read and Ordered That William Brattle and James Bowdoin Esqrs with such as the honourable House shall join be a Committee to consider of this Petition and report.

In the House of Representatives Read and Concurred and Mr Flucker Mr Russell and Mr Tyler, are joined in the Affair."—Ibid., p. 365.

"April 24, 1760. In the House of Representatives Ordered That the Committee of both Houses appointed to regulate the Buildings in the Town of Boston and to apply home for relief &c be directed to sit forthwith. In Council Read and Concurred."—Ibid., p. 366.

"April 25, 1760. The Committee appointed Yesterday on the Petition of Charles Paxton Esqr and others, for removing certain Tanyards in the Town of Boston made report.

In Council Read and Accepted, And Ordered That the further consideration of this Petition be referred to the second Wednesday of the next May Session; and that it be an instruction to the Persons impowered by an Act of this Court to regulate the Streets & Buildings latly laid Waste by Fire, not to suffer or grant Permission for erecting any Buildings on the premisses in the mean time.

In the House of Representatives Read and Nonconcurred and Ordered that this Petition be dismissed."—Ibid., p. 367.

"Aug. 15, 1760. A Petition of James Dalton of Boston, in the County of Suffolk Mariner, Setting forth, that tho' he had no Buildings consumed by the late Fire, yet the Damage he has sustained by demolishing his Buildings to prevent the spreading of the Fire Amounts to near One hundred and fifty pounds Lawfull money, That this is a small Damage compared with what he is like to suffer by having the Street laid out, from the Head of Leverets Lane at King street, down to Water street, and th*ough your Memorialist's land, lying Eastward of his Dwelling House, as the Committee for laying out Streets have it, and which has been Confirmed, by the Great and General Court—That he would not pretend to complain of the running of the Streets as it is now stated, barely on his own Account, but he is well assured, that he is able to make it evident that if the Street was to run as it was at first laid out, by the Hon^ble^ Committee, which is about 26 feet further Westwardly than where it is now laid out, the Expence to the Town would not be so great and all the Estates abutting on both sides of the Streets, and upon Atkinsons Street also will be much benefited, for hereby the Street will be strait upon the West side and runing across Milk street, so joins with Atkinsons Street, as exceedingly to add to the Beauty and Convenience of the same, from the North side of King street, down a great way into Atkinsons Street, and it would save great Expence to the Town, for if the street runs as it is at present stated, it will take full two Thirds of the Rev^d^ M^r^ Brighams Estate out of the Middle, and leave two small useless strips of land, one to the West of the street, and another to the East of it, and as this street is to run through that Part of the Town, which has been, and will be most full † Business, it will be of more General Convenience, to all Persons in General, both in Town and Country, with regard to the Private Interest of the Memorialist, he begs leave to say, that if the street should run, as it was at first laid out, thrô his Messuage, in that Case it takes 166 feet in length, and 35 feet in Bredth through the Middle of his land, which seems no small Hardship, as the Fire never touched his Estate—Wherefore your memorialist prays Relief,

To The Honbl The Council & House of Representatives in Gen^l Court Assembled

John Turner of Salem in y^e County of Essex Humbly Shews.

That he and Timothy Fullar of Middleton in y^e County of Essex, are Tenants in Comon of The Island in Salem aforesaid Called Bakers Island About a Quarter Part whereof belongs to y^e said Fullar and the rest to your Pet^r

That The Island Contains About Sixty Acrees, and The best, & Indeed y^e Only Advantagious Method of Improveing it, is by feeding Cattle Thereon and So it has been Improved, but the Said Fullar, hitherto has put More than his Just Proportion Thereon, And will not Agree To Stint y^e Island, Sell his Interest Therein, or purchase your Pet^rs, And their Interests Cannot be keept Seperate by fenceing, because the Sea, in Storms, Beats down & destroys all Fences, That have, or Can be made, So That Your Pet^r is in danger of Looseing great part of his Interest in y^e Island aforesaid Unless Relieved by Your Excel^y & Hon^rs

Wherefore he humbly Prays That The Superiour Court of Judicature &c May be Impowered, Upon Application Made to them by Any One of y^e Propriators of y^e Island afores^d Setting forth That they Cannot Agree upon the Proportion of Cattle Each propriator Shall put or keep on y^e Island aforesaid To Feed, To Appoint a Comittee of Three or More persons, Under Oath to Settle y^e proportion & Determine the Number of Sheep Horses or Othere Cattle Each Propriator Shall put or keep on the Island afores^d To feed there, According to his Interest Therein, haveing regard to the Quality as well as y^e Quantity of land Each propriator Owns, and that the report of That Comittee, or y^e Major Part of them Accepted by y^e Court & Recorded There May be the Rule by which Each Propriator Shall be Obliged, Under Sufficient Penalties to govern himself, Until y^e Farther Order of that Court, Or that Your Excel^y & Hon^rs Would Otherwise releive Your Pet^r in y^e Premises, as in Your wisdom You Shall Judge best. Timothy Fuller of Middleton in Answer to the petition of John Turner of Salem Esq^r—

Humbly Sheweth

That he the respond^t is not a tenant in common of the said Island with the pet^r but his part thereof was long since set off & divided from the rest by meets & bounds—

That he doth not think that feeding is the most profitable improvem^t that can be made of his part thereof but thinks after long experience of it that it will be much more Advantageous for your respond^t to improve his own part thereof by mowing for the future notwithstanding the Supposed difficulty of upholding any fence there between his & the pet^rs land there; for your respond^t is fully perswaded that by making about twenty rods extraordinary of good Stone wall such a fence may be forever upheld between them at a very little expence insomuch that he has for Sometime past been fully resolved so to improve his part by himself unless prevented by your Excellency & honors and your respond^t has nothing to object against your pet^rs going on in his old way of feeding his land there as long as he pleases and only begs the same liberty to himself of trying another way of improving his own part being tired out with feeding it any longer and Therefore your respond^t prays he may not be hindred from so doing wherefore he prays the petition aforesaid may be dismissed—

"Sir, We have had under our consideration the Laws passed in the Province of Massachusets Bay, between February and April 1760 amongst which there are several providing for the temporary and inconsiderable services of Ferrys, Roads &c. by Lotterys, which is a mode of raising money, that in our opinion ought not to be countenanced and hardly to be admitted into practice, upon the most pressing exigency of the State, more especially in the Colonys, where the forms of Government may not admit of those regulations and checks which are necessary to prevent fraud and abuse in a matter so peculiarly liable to them.

We cannot therefore but disapprove these Laws upon their general Principles, but when we consider the very unguarded and loose manner in which they are in general framed, the Objections are so many and so strong that We should certainly have thought it our duty to have laid them before His Majesty for His Majesty's disapprobation, were we not restrained by the consideration that the purposes for which they were passed, having been carried into full execution and the Acts had their full operation and effect, some inconveniences might attend the disannulling them; but it is our duty to desire that you will not for the future give your Assent to any Laws of the like nature."—Lords of Trade to Gov. Bernard, April 21, 1761: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 83, p. 44, in Public-Record Office.

"Their lordships then passed to another affair, and Lord Sandys having in his hand four acts for lotteries, he inveigh'd against them as mischievous in their nature, destructive to labor & industry, and introductive of the spirit of gaming, ever attended with many ill consequences. In excuse for these acts, I observed that the distresses occasion'd by the heavy expence of the war, of which the province had taken so large a part, had probably brought these lotteries into use; and the whole board having concurr'd with his lordship in declaring their evil nature, I told their lordships I wou'd take the first opportunity of acquainting the general Court with their sentiments thereupon. It is needless to say that many of the most able statesmen as well as divines have always declared against the use of lotteries, and being fully persuaded that the continuance of them wou'd prejudice the province's desirable character in the minds of some of their best friends, as well as be disagreeable to others, I think it my duty to recomend a total disuse of them."—Agent Bollan to the Speaker, May 8, 1761: *Mass. From the Generals constant Attention to Oblige this Government and his strict observance of his Engagements You may be assured that he has not a thought of detaining our Men Contrary to such Engagements; the only difficulty is how to relieve them, and as he is distressed in that point, in the same manner as this Government is also distressed about it I would recommend it to your consideration, whether some Measures between both might not be thought of that may relieve the difficulty on both hands.

"May 5, 1760. His Excellency having laid before the Board two Letters from Major General Amherst of the 30th of April relative to the Measures taken by this Government for relieving our Troops at Louisbourg and Nova Scotia by which it appeared that General Amherst had made no Provision for the Transportation of the 500 Men granted by this Government for the Relief of said Troops, nor had given any Orders for their Relief in Case these 500 Men or any part of them should be sent down to relieve said Troops and that he desired to hear no more of said Relief And further that it would Answer no manner of purpose as by the time these New Levies can get there, the others will be coming back, Unanimously Advised that his Excellency acquaint the Commanding Officers of the Provincial Troops at the Several Ports at Louisbourg and Nova Scotia of the Several matters mentioned in the Generals said Letters, and that his Excellency give orders to Suspend the Inlisting of any more Men for the relieving the Troops at those Several Ports until he can hear from said officers what Number of the Men now there shall Inlist, or until the General shall make Provision for the Transportation of the New Levies and give the necessary Orders for the relief of the others.

"The late Court had made Provision for the raising exclusive of the other Levies, 500 men to relieve those of this Province Troops doing Duty at Cape Briton and Nova Scotia, as should not reinlist after the expiration of their Time of Service. I gave immediate Orders for raising said Men, but as the General acquainted me that these Troops at the Eastward would be coming away before the New raised Men could get down, and to save the Province a needless Expence of Men and Money declined said Relief. I by Unanimous Advice of Council suspended any Orders for that particular Levy. But as a great number of the People stationed at St Johns have since actually come off and as under the present Circumstances of things, the General will not be able to relieve those Garrisons in the manner he intended, I again continued my Orders for the raising those 500, Men. As the time limited for the giving the Bounty is elapsed, I must recommend it to you to continue the Provision to such Time as may be necessary, and to do every thing further necessary to carry this Service into Execution.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITULED "AN ACT FOR THE BETTER REGULATING THE CHOICE OF PETIT JURORS.

Whereas, in and by an act made and pass[e]'d in the present year of his majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for the better regulating the choice of petit jurors," it is provided that the selectmen of each town within this province should, some time before the tenth day of April then next, take a list of the persons liable by law, and which they should judge able and well qualified, to serve on the petit juries, and lay the same before the town, at a meeting in May then next, in order to the town's proceeding thereon according to the directions of the said act; and whereas, in many towns, it hath happened, either thro' inadvertence or otherwise, that no such list hath been taken by the selectmen within the time limited by the said act as aforesaid, by means of which neglect doubts and controversies may arise, unless prevented by the authority of this court, —

Preamble. 1759-60, chap. 29.

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That the time for taking such lists by the selectmen, and for their respective town's proceedings thereon, be extended to the last day of July next; and that in every town where the selectmen shall have taken such list, and the town shall have proceeded thereon according to the said act, either on or before the said last day of July next, the same proceedings shall be held valid and good to all intents and purposes whatsoever.

Selectmen to take lists of jurors in July.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for neglect.

[SECT. 2.] That in every town where no such list as is before mentioned hath been as yet taken by the selectmen, if they shall neglect to take such list and lay the same before the town 'till after the last day of July next, every selectman so neglecting his duty shall forfeit and pay the sum of three pounds, for the use of the county in which he dwells at the time of such neglect, to be recovered by action or information brought, by the treasurer of such county, before any of his majesty's courts of record within the same. CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT TO IMPOWER WILLIAM BOLLAN AND JOHN POWNALL, ESQUIRES, TO RECEIVE SUCH SUMS OF MONEY AS HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED TO THE PROVINCE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY, OUT OF THE GRANT MADE BY THE PARLIAMENT OF GREAT BRITAIN, FOR THE EXPENCES INCURRED BY THE RESPECTIVE PROVINCES IN NORTH AMERICA, IN THE LEVYING CLOATHING AND PAY OF THE TROOPS RAISED IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-EIGHT.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the Parliament of Great Britain did, in the thirty-second year of his majesty's reign, grant the sum of two hundred thousand pounds sterling, to enable his majesty to give a proper compensation to the respective provinces in North America for the expences incurred by them in the levying, cloathing, and pay, of the troops raised by the same, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, —

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governour, Council and House of Represenatives, William Bollan and John Pownall, Esqrs., empowered to receive parliamentary grant for 1758.

[SECT. 1.] That William Bollan, Esq., agent for said province, and John Pownall, Esq., and each or either of them in case the other shall refuse, or shall be prevented by death, sickness or otherwise, be and are hereby authorized and impowered to receive the whole and every part of the sum or sums which have been assigned by his most gracious majesty to the province of the Massachusetts Bay, as their proportion of the aforesaid sum of two hundred thousand pounds granted as aforesaid; and, on receipt thereof, to give proper discharges to the right honourable the lords commissioners of the treasury, therefor, or to any person or persons, whatsoever, in whose hands or possession the same may be; and that they pursue such instructions as the general court shall judge necessary with regard to the transportation of said monies to this province.

And be it further enacted,

Treasurer empowered to receive money on its arrival.

[SECT. 2.] That the treasurer of this province, for the time being, be and is hereby fully authorized and impowered to demand and receive the whole and every part of the monies aforesaid, from the commander or commanders of any vessel or vessels on board of which the same shall then have been ship'd, upon the arrival thereof in any port within this government. [Passed June 20; published June 23.

* Signed June 20, according to the record.

CHAPTER 4.

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE AND IMPOWER BENJAMIN PRATT, JOHN WORTHINGTON AND JOSEPH HAWLEY, ESQRS., TO TRANSACT CERTAIN AFFAIRS OF THIS PROVINCE, RESPECTING THE UNAPPROPRIATED LANDS IN THE WESTERN PART THEREOF.

Preamble.

Whereas sundry persons have presumed to purchase of the Stockbridge Indians, so called, divers tracts of lands in the western part of this province, contrary to a law of this province made in the thirteenth year of the reign of King William the Third, intituled "An Act to prevent and make void clandestine and illegal purchases of lands from the Indians," whereby great mischief may ensue, —

1701-02, chap. 11.

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Benjamin Pratt, Esq., &c., empowered to prosecute, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That Benjamin Pratt, John Worthington and Joseph Hawley, Esqrs., or either of them, be and they hereby are impowered, in the name of this government, to prosecute all or any person or persons, who have already made, or may make, any purchase of said Indians in the western part of this government contrary to the aforesaid law, for the penalties incurred by any breach of the said law; as also, in the name of this government, to demand and to take the possession of any lands which any person or persons now are, or may hereafter be, possessed of by virtue of such clandestine or illegal sale from said Indians; and also to demand, sue for, and take the possession of, any of the aforesaid lands that any person or persons may be in possession of otherwise than by virtue of an authority derived from this government; and that the said Benjamin Pratt, John Worthington and Joseph Hawley be further impowered and directed, by themselves, or some one of them, to enter, in the name and behalf of this province, into any or all of the unappropriated lands of the province, west of Connecticut River; and that the said Benjamin Pratt, John Worthington and Joseph Hawley be impowered to execute, to any person or persons they shall judge proper, any lease or leases of any of said lands, under such covenants as they shall think best for the interest of the province, determinable on notice from the said Benjamin Pratt, John Worthington and Joseph Hawley, or on the order of the general court.

And be it further enacted, to receive proposals and settle claims.

[Sect. 2.] That the said Benjamin Pratt, John Worthington and Joseph Hawley be further impowered to attempt, in such methods as they shall judge best for the province, a settlement of the claims of any Indians to any of the said lands, and to make and receive proposals for that purpose, to be laid before the general court for their determination thereon: all necessary charges that may be incurred by the committee, in the execution of the trust reposed in them by this act, to be paid out of the publick treasury.

[Sect. 3.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of five years, and no longer. [Passed June 20; published June 23.

CHAPTER 5.

AN ACT FOR REVIVING AND CONTINUING SUNDRY LAWS THAT ARE EXPIRED AND NEAR EXPIRING.

Sundry laws revived and continued.

WHEREAS the several acts hereinafter mentioned, which are now expired or near expiring, have been found useful and beneficial; namely, two acts made in the eighteenth year of his present majesty's reign,

1744-45, ch. 25. one, intituled "An Act to prevent mischief being done by unruly

1744-45, ch. 26. dogs," the other, intituled "An Act to prevent neat cattle and horses running at large and feeding on the beaches adjoining to eastern har-

1745-46, chap. 7. bour meadows, in the town of Truro"; and one other act made in the eighteenth and nineteenth year of said reign, intituled "An Act to prevent unnecessary cost being allowed to parties and witnesses in the 1748-49, chap. 13. several courts of justice within this province"; and one act made in the twenty-second year of said reign, intituled "An Act to prevent damage being done on the beach, and meadows in Plymouth adjoining to said beach, commonly known by the name of Plymouth Beach";

1749-50, ch. 22. three acts made in the twenty-third year of said reign, one intituled

1749-50, ch. 23. "An Act against diminishing or counterfeiting money," one other intituled "An Act in addition to and for rendering more effectual

1749-50, ch. 24. 'An Act for the restraining the taking excessive usury,'" the other intituled "An Act to prevent stage-plays and other theatrical enter-

1751-52, ch. 17. tainments"; an act made in the twenty-fourth year of said reign, intituled "An Act for the better regulation of the course of judicial

1749-50, chap. 3. proceedings"; "An Act to prevent the disturbance given the general court by the passing of coaches, chaises, carts, trucks and other car-

1756-57, chap. 5. riages by the province court-house"; also an act made and passed in the twenty-ninth year of his present majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for inlisting the inhabitants of Dorchester, Weymouth, and Charlestown into his majesty's service for the defence of Castle William, as occasion shall require," —

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Their continuance for ten years from the 1st of July, 1760.

That such of the before-mentioned acts as are expired, with all and every article, clause, matter and thing therein respectively contained, be and they hereby are revived; and such of said acts as are near expiring are continued; and all the said acts shall be in force from the first day of July next for the space of ten years, and to the end of the then next session of the general court, and no longer. [Passed June 20; published June 23.

CHAPTER 6.

AN ACT [TO] [FOR] SUPPLY[ING] THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF SEVENTY THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND FOURTEEN POUNDS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the great and general court or assembly of this province did, in their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-

1758-59, chap. 4, § 7. eight, levy a tax of one hundred thousand pounds; and also in their

1758-59, chap. 28, § 3. session in March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, did levy another tax of eighteen thousand pounds; and also in their session in 1758-59, chap. 32, § 5. April following, did levy another tax of fourteen thousand five hundred and sixty pounds; and did also, at their session in October following, levy a tax of sixty-four thousand pounds, but by a subsequent act of the province made and passed in January, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, upon this province receiving twenty-seven thousand five hundred and seventy-four pounds ten shillings, part of a parliamentary grant, they ordered and directed that, instead of a tax of sixty-four thousand pounds, there should be issued a tax but of thirty-five thousand pounds, — all which sums amount to one hundred and sixty-seven thousand five hundred and sixty pounds: and, by the acts aforesaid, provision was made that the general court at this present session might apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and places within this province, if they thought fit; and whereas it was expected by the general court that this province's proportion of the grant made by parliament, on account of the expences incurred by the several colonies in his majesty's service in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, would have arrived seasonably enough to have prevented so large a tax going forth; but the proportion of the grant aforesaid not being arrived, and it being represented to this court that divers persons appear willing to lend a considerable sum of money, to pay off such government securities for the payment of which the tax aforesaid was to issue; and the said court at their present session, in consequence of such representation, having apportioned a tax of ninety-seven thousand three hundred and forty-five pounds thirteen shillings, on the polls and estates within this province, there will be wanted the sum of seventy thousand two hundred and fourteen pounds seven shillings, to answer the purposes for which the tax aforesaid was to be lev[i][y]ed, —

1759–60, chap. 8, § 4.

1759–60, chap. 16.

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That the treasurer of this province be and hereby is directed and impowered to borrow, from such persons as shall be willing to lend as aforesaid, a sum not exceeding seventy thousand two hundred and fourteen pounds seven shillings, in Spanish mill'd dollars, at six shillings each, or in coined silver, sterling alloy, at six shillings and eightpence per ounce; and the sum so borrowed shall be applied by the treasurer for the discharge of those government securities which will become due in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one: and for the sum so borrowed the treasurer shall give a receipt and obligation in the form following: —

Treasurer empowered to borrow £70,214.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 1760. Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer, to repay the said or order, the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, with interest annually, at the rate of six per cent.

Witness my hand,

Form of treasurer's receipt.

And as a fund and security to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act, —

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of seventy-five thousand pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal, according to such rules and in such proportion on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places within the province, as shall be ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

Tax of £75,000 granted in 1761.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That in case the general court shall not, at their session

Rule for apportioning the tax in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, and before the twentieth day of June following, agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sum which by this act is engaged to be apportioned, assessed and levied, that then and in such case, such towns, districts, parishes or other places shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estate both real and personal, within their respective limits, the same proportion of the said sum as the said towns, districts, parishes or other places were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

Treasurer empowered and directed.

[SECT. 4.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district, parish or other place within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, for their respective parts and proportion of the sum before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the publick treasury by the twentieth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the then last preceeding tax act; and the assessors shall incur[r] the same penalty for not apportioning the sums laid upon their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, as though the same had been assessed upon them by an act of the general court.

And be it further enacted,

Treasurer further directed, in case.

[SECT. 5.] That if the treasurer shall not be able to borrow the whole of the sum aforesaid on or before the twentieth day of October next, then and in that case he shall issue forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors in each of the towns and districts within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective part[s] and proportion of whatever sum he shall not be able to borrow of the seventy thousand two hundred and fourteen pounds seven shillings aforesaid, to be paid into the publick treasury by the twenty-ninth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the then last preceeding tax act. CHAPTER 7.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING AND ESTABLISHING TWO NEW COUNTIES IN THE EASTERLY PART OF THE COUNTY OF YORK.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the great extent of the county of York makes it convenient that two new counties should be erected and established in the easterly part thereof, —

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governour, Council and House of Representatives, County of York, how bounded.

[SECT. 1.] That the county of York aforesaid shall be and it hereby is declared to be bounded on the east, by a line to run from the sea, north-westerly, upon the easterly line of the township of Biddeford, as far as Narragansett[t], Number One; from thence, north-easterly, on said Narragansett, to the eastermost corner thereof; from thence, north-westerly, on said Narragansett, to the northermost corner thereof; from thence, south-westerly, on said Narraganset[t], to Saco River; from thence, up said Saco River as far as Pearsontown extends thereon; and from thence, to run north, two degrees west, on a true course, as far as the utmost northern limits of this province: all the other boundary-lines of said county to remain the same as heretofore.

And be it further enacted,

New county of Cumberland, how bounded.

[Sect. 2.] That the westermost of the two new counties aforesaid shall be and it is hereby declared to be bounded on the west, by the easterly line of the county of York above described; on the north, by the utmost northern limits of this province; on the south-east, by the sea, or western ocean, and by Casco Bay,—from the easterly point of which bay; viz[t], from Small Point, the line shall run north-westerly upon said Casco Bay to New-Meadows creek or river, and up said creek or river as far as Stevens' carrying-place, at the head of said creek or river; thence, across said carrying-place, to Merry-Meeting Bay and Androscoggin River; from thence, it shall run up said Androscoggin River, thirty miles; and from thence, north, two degrees west, on a true course, to the utmost northern limits of this province, including all the islands in Casco Bay aforesaid and on the seacoast of the said new county: and all the towns, districts and lands within said bounds, together with the islands aforesaid, shall, from and after the first day of November, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, be and remain one entire and distinct county by the name of Cumberland, of which Falmouth shall be the shire or county town; and the inhabitants of said county of [Cumberland] shall have, use, exercise and enjoy all such powers, priviledges and immunities as by law the inhabitants of any other county within this province have, use, exercise and enjoy.

And be it further enacted,

Inferior courts to be held at Falmouth.

[Sect. 3.] That there shall be held and kept within the said county of [Cumberland], a court of general sessions of the peace, and an inferio[u]r court of common pleas, to sit at Falmouth aforesaid on the first Tuesdays of May and September, yearly, and in every year, until this court shall otherwise order; also that there shall be held and kept at Falmouth aforesaid, until this court shall otherwise order, a superio[u]r court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, to sit on the fourth Tuesday of June, yearly, and every year; and the justices of the said court of general sessions of the peace, inferio[u]r court of common pleas, superio[u]r court of judicature, court of assize, and general goal delivery, respectively, who are or shall be thereunto lawfully commissioned and appointed, shall have, hold, use, exercise and enjoy, all and singular, the powers which are by law already given and granted unto them within any other county of this province, where a court of general sessions of the peace, inferio[u]r court of common pleas, superio[u]r court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery are already established.

Superior court to be held at Falmouth.

And be it further enacted,

Justices of the court of sessions at their first meeting to appoint a register of deeds.

[Sect. 4.] That the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace, at their first meeting in the said county of [Cumberland], shall have full power and authority to appoint some fit person within the said county of [Cumberland], to be register of deeds and conveyances within the same, who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his trust in the said office, and shall continue to hold and exercise the same, according to the directions of the law, until some person be elected by the freeholders of the said county of [Cumberland], who are hereby impowered to ch[u][oo]se such person, at their first March meeting within their respective towns and districts, in the method already by law prescribed; which person, taking upon him that trust, shall be sworn to the faithful discharge thereof; and until such register shall be so appointed by the said justices, and sworn, all deeds and conveyances of land lying within any part of the said county of [Cumberland], being recorded in the register's office of the county of York aforesaid, shall be held good and valid to all intents and purposes, so far as relates to the record of them.

And be it further enacted,

Register and other officers to be afterwards chosen as in other counties.

[SECT. 5.] That the method and proceedings directed to by law, for the ch[u][oo]sing a register of deeds and conveyances, and a county treasurer (which last-mentioned officer shall be chosen and appointed, in manner as the law directs, at the next March meeting of the freeholders aforesaid), also for the bringing forward and trying any actions, causes, pleas or suits, both civil and criminal, in the several counties of this province, and courts of judicature within the same, and for ch[u][oo]sing of jurors to serve at the several courts of justice, shall be observed and put in practice within the said county of [Cumberland], and by the courts of justice within the same; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted,

New county of Lincoln.

[SECT. 6.] That the most eastern county shall be bounded in the following manner; that is to say, on the west, by the county of [Cumberland] aforesaid; on the east, by the province of Nova Scotia; on the south and south-east, by the sea, or western ocean; and on the north, by the utmost northern limits of this province, including all the islands to the eastward of the county of [Cumberland] aforesaid; and all the towns, districts and lands within said bounds, together with the islands aforesaid, shall, from and after the first day of November, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, be and remain one [i][e]ntire and distinct county by the name of Lincoln, of which Pownalborough shall be the shire, or county, town; and the inhabitants of the said county of [Lincoln] shall have, use, exercise and enjoy all such powers, priviledges and immunities as by law the inhabitants of any other county within this province have, use, exercise and enjoy.

And be it further enacted,

Inferior court to be held at Pownalborough

[SECT. 7.] That there shall be held and kept within the said county of [Lincoln], a court of general sessions of the peace, and an inferio[u]r court of common pleas, to sit at Pownalborough aforesaid on the second Tuesdays of May and September, yearly, and in every year, until this court shall otherwise order. And the justices of the said court of the general sessions of the peace, and of the said inferio[u]r court of common pleas, who are or shall be thereunto lawfully commissioned and appointed, shall have, hold, use, exercise and enjoy, all and singular, the powers which are by law already given and granted to such justices within any other county of this province, where a court of general sessions of the peace, and inferiour court of common pleas, are already established. And all appeals from any judgment or judgments given at any courts of general sessions, and at any inferiour court of common pleas, within the said county of [Lincoln], shall be heard and tried at the superio[u]r court of judicature, to be held yearly at Falmouth as aforesaid.

Superior court at Falmouth.

And be it further enacted,

Governor, with advice of council, to appoint a register of deeds during the term of five years.

[SECT. 8.] That the Governour, with the advice and consent of his majesty's council, shall be authorized to appoint, for and during the term of five years from February next, some fit person within the county of [Lincoln], to be register of deeds and conveyances within the same, who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his trust in said office, and shall continue therein to the end of the term aforesaid, and until some fit person be chosen and appointed, in his stead, by the freeholders and other inhabitants, of the several towns and districts within the said county, qualified according to law to act in town and county affairs; and the said register shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his office in the manner required by law, and shall act in his said office according to the directions of the law; and, until a register shall be appointed and sworn, all deeds and conveyances of land lying in any part of the said county of [Lincoln], being recorded in the register's office in the county of York aforesaid, shall be held good and valid, to all intents and purposes, so far as relates to the recording of the same.

And be it further enacted,

County treasurer, &c., as in other counties.

[Sect. 9.] That the method and proceedings directed to by law for choosing a county treasurer, also for the bringing forward and trying any actions, causes, pleas or suits, both civil and criminal, in the several counties of this province, and courts of judicature within the same, and for choosing of jurors to serve at the several courts of justice, shall be observed and put in practice within the said county of [Lincoln], and by the courts of justice within the same; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted,

Matters cognizable in the county of York.

[Sect. 10.] That all writs, suits, plaints, processes, appeals, reviews and recognizances, and any other matters or things which now are, or at any time before the aforesaid first day of November, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, shall be, depending in any court within the county of York, and all matters and things which now are, or at any time before the said first day of November aforesaid, shall be, depending before the judge of probate for the said county of York, shall be heard, tried, proceeded upon and determined at such time and place, and in such manner, as they would have been if this act had not been made.

And be it further enacted,

Deeds registered in the county of York, before a register is appointed, held good.

[Sect. 11.] That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to disannul, defeat, or make void, any deeds or conveyances of land lying in either of the new counties aforesaid, which are, or shall be, before the establishment of a register in each county, respectively, recorded in the register's office of the county of York aforesaid; but all such deeds and conveyances so recorded shall be held as good and valid as they would have been in case this act had not been made.

And be it further enacted,

County taxes held good.

[Sect. 12.] That the inhabitants of the several towns and districts within the counties aforesaid shall pay their proportion of all county rates or taxes already granted and made, in the same manner as they would have done if this act had not been made. [Passed June 21;* published June 23.

CHAPTER 8.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHT THOUSAND POUNDS, TO BE THENCE ISSUED FOR DISCHARGING THE PUBLICK DEBTS, AND DRAWING THE SAME INTO THE TREASURY AGAIN.

Preamble.

£150 for bayonets.

1757-58, chap. 18.

And in order to draw the money into the treasury again, and enable the treasurer effectually to discharge the receipts and obligations (with the interest that may be due thereon) by him given in pursuance of this act, —

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of one hundred and twenty thousand pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal within this province, in manner following; that is to say, the sum of twenty-four thousand pounds, part thereof, according to such rules, and in such proportions on the several towns and districts within the province, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court or assembly in their session in May, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and to be paid into the publick treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March then next after; and the further sum of ninety-six thousand pounds, according to such rules, and in such proportion on the several towns and districts aforesaid, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, and to be paid into the treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March next after.

Tax of £120,000 granted.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That if the general court, in their session in May, in the year seventeen hundred and sixty-three, and in their session in May, seventeen hundred and sixty-four, and some time before the twentieth day of June in each of said years, shall not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by this act are engaged to be, in each of said years, apportioned, assessed and levied, that then and in such case each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their limits, the same proportion of the said sums as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[Sect. 6.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, some time in the month of July in each of the years aforesaid, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportions of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the treasury at the aforementioned times; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the last preceding tax act.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That the treasurer is hereby directed and ordered to pay the sum of one hundred and eight thousand pounds out of such appropriations as shall be directed by warrant, and no other; and the secretary to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and accounts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they direct, such muster-rolls and accounts, after payment thereof.

Treasurer empowered and directed.

Provided, always,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 8.] That the remainder of the sum which shall be brought into the treasury by the taxes ordered by this act to be assessed and levied, over and above what shall be sufficient to discharge the notes and obligations aforesaid, shall be and remain as a stock in the treasury, to be applied as the general court of this province shall hereafter order, and to no other purpose whatsoever. CHAPTER 9.

AN ACT FOR THE BETTER REBUILDING THAT PART OF THE TOWN OF BOSTON WHICH WAS LAID WASTE BY THE LATE FIRE, AND FOR PREVENTING FIRE IN THAT TOWN FOR THE FUTURE.

Preamble. 1760–61, chap. 32. 130 Mass. 321.

WHEREAS great desolation hath been lately made by fire, in the town of Boston, which hath been principally occasioned by the narrowness of the streets, and the houses being built with wood and covered with shingles; and whereas a committee was appointed by the general court, in the last session, for regulating the streets in that part of the town which was so laid waste, and the committee hath accordingly proceeded to lay out the streets there, a plan whereof hath been laid before this court, and is now deposited in the secretary's office, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governour, Council and House of Representatives, Streets confirmed.

[SECT. 1.] That the said proceedings of the committee be and are hereby confirmed; and all actions that shall be brought for recovering possession of any land lying within any of the streets laid out as aforesaid, or for damages sustained or occasioned thereby, shall be utterly and forever barred.

And be it further enacted,

No buildings to encroach thereon.

[SECT. 2.] That no building whatsoever be so erected as to encroach upon any street by them laid out as aforesaid; and that every building so erected be deemed a nusance, and be accordingly demolished, by the order of any two justices of the peace for the county of Suffolk, the charges of such demolition to be paid out of the monies which shall be raised by the sale of the materials of such building, which, by the order of said justices, shall be sold for that purpose, unless the said charges shall be immediately paid by the owner.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for removing boundary marks.

[SECT. 3.] That if any person or persons whatsoever shall wittingly or willingly, without good authority, pluck up or remove any of the stakes or bound-marks which have been or shall be fixed or set up, by order of said committee, to distinguish and ascertain the streets aforesaid, and shall be thereof convicted before any two justices of the peace for the county of Suffolk, he or they shall for every such offence be imprisoned, by order of such justices, for the space of two months, unless he or they shall forthwith pay or cause to be paid to the treasurer of the town of Boston the sum of three pounds for the use of said town.

And whereas some persons may suffer damage by the laying-out of the streets according to the plan aforesaid, and others may receive benefit and advantage thereby, —

Be it further enacted,

Damages to be assessed by a jury.

[SECT. 4.] That Samuel Danforth, Samuel Watts and Joseph Williams, Esqrs., or any two of them, shall, on or before the tenth day of July next, summon a jury of twelve meet persons (none of which to be inhabitants of the town of Boston) to view the streets aforesaid, and the several tenements or lots of land abutting thereon, and to estimate the damages which any person or persons may sustain by means of any street's being laid out as aforesaid, and likewise the benefit or advantage that may accrue to any person or persons thereby; and whatever damages any shall sustain according to such estimation shall be made good to the party endamaged, either by such particular person or persons as shall be thereby benefited, or by the town of Boston, or by both, in such proportion as the said jury shall find reasonable; and every estate so bettered or advantaged, as well as the owner thereof, shall be subjected to make good the sum assessed on account of such advantage; the charge of the jury, as well as the charge of laying out the streets, to be born and paid, in the like proportion, by the town or person so benefited. 12 Allen, 238, 239.

And be it further enacted,

Certificate thereof to be returned to the assessors.

[Sect. 5.] That when the jury aforesaid shall have ascertained to the said justices the damages sustained by any person or persons by means of the laying-out any street or streets as aforesaid, together with the several sums to be paid by the town, or any particular persons, to make good such damages and defrey the charges of laying out the streets, of summoning the jury, and of the justices and jurors attending on the business assigned them respectively, the said justices shall, within six days after the jury's report, give a certificate thereof, under their hands, to the assessors of the town of Boston; and those assessors shall, within two months after the receipt of such certificate, make an assessment on the inhabitants of the town for such sum as by the jury's report ought to be paid by the town, — and, likewise, on particular persons, for such sum as by the jury's report ought to be paid by them respectively, — and issue their warrants to the collectors, requiring them to collect and pay the same, within two months, into the town treasury. And the treasurer of said town shall, within three months after the issuing of such warrants, pay to the person endamaged, as aforesaid, the respective sums assigned them by the jury's report, in satisfaction for the damages by them sustained.

And be it further enacted,

Pumps or wells falling within the streets, how to be maintained.

[Sect. 6.] That where any pump, or well of water, by the laying-out of any street as aforesaid, is taken into the street, the same shall be kept in good order at the expence of the persons dwelling near the same, or of the town, or both, as shall be agreed between such persons and the selectmen of the town; and in case they cannot agree before the sitting of the court of general sessions of the peace to be held within and for the county of Suffolk on the first Tuesday of October next, then the justices of the said court may and shall determine by whom, and in what proportion, the charge of maintaining any such pump or well, and keeping the same in good order, shall be borne, unless the town shall find it inconvenient for such pump or well to remain in the street, in which case the same shall be stop'd and filled up at the charge of the town.

And be it further enacted,

Buildings, of what materials to be erected.

[Sect. 7.] That no house or other building whatsoever, of more than seven feet in height, shall be erected in Boston, otherwise than of stone or brick and covered with slate or tiles; and that no house or other building already erected, of any greater dimensions than as aforesaid, shall be hereafter covered anew on the top, any otherwise than with slate or tiles, on penalty of fifty pounds, to be paid by the owner of the same for the use of the poor of the said town, to be recovered by an action brought for the same by the town treasurer.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty on non-observance.

[SECT. 8.] That every dwelling-house which shall be built otherwise than by this act is provided, shall be subjected to a yearly tax of twenty pounds; and every warehouse, shop, stable or barn, to a yearly tax of ten pounds; to be paid into the town treasury by the occupier thereof for the use of the town: and the assessors shall accordingly add such sum or sums to the town tax of every such occupant yearly, over and above the sum with which he would otherwise have been taxed, and shall particularly specify the same in the tax-bill.

Provided, always, —

Proviso.

[SECT. 9.] That it shall and may be lawful for any person to build of wood, any warehouse, shop or workhouse, upon any wharff where, in the opinion of the selectmen, no solid foundation can be had without great expence, on condition that the sides of such warehouse, shop or workhouse be covered with plaister or slate, and the roof covered with slate or tiles, any thing in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Preamble.

And whereas sundry persons have heretofore inconsiderately erected dwelling-houses or other buildings in a manner contrary to the provision of an act made and passed in the fourth year of the reign of their late majesties King William and Queen Mary, intituled "An Act for building with stone or brick in the town of Boston, and preventing fire," —

1692-93, chap. 13.

Be it enacted,

Former breaches of law, in what case excused.

[SECT. 10.] That every such person be indemnified and saved harmless from any prosecution for violating the act aforesaid: provided that the house or other building so erected by him shall be covered with slate, or with tiles, within ten years from the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty. [Passed June 20.

CHAPTER 10.

AN ACT IMPOWERING WILLIAM BOLLAN, ESQ., AND IN CASE HE IS PREVENTED BY SICKNESS OR DEATH, BARLOW TRECOTHICK, ESQ., TO RECEIVE THE SUM WHICH IS OR SHALL BE ASSIGNED TO THE PROVINCE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY, OUT OF THE SUM OF TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS STERLING, GRANTED BY THE PARLIAMENT OF GREAT BRITAIN FOR THE EXPENCE INCURRED BY THE RESPECTIVE PROVINCES IN NORTH AMERICA, IN THE LEVYING, CLOATHING AND PAY OF THE TROOPS RAISED BY THE SAME, IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-NINE.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the parliament of Great Britain, in their last session, granted the sum of two hundred thousand pounds sterling, to enable his majesty to give a proper compensation to the respective provinces in North America, for the expences incurred by them in the levying, cloathing and pay of the troops raised by the same, according to the active vigour and strenuous efforts of the respective provinces in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, —

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

William Bollan, Esq., empowered to receive parliamentary grant for 1759; and Barlow Trecothick,

[SECT. 1.] That William Bollan, Esq., agent for this province in Great Britain, and in case he is prevented by sickness or death, Barlow Trecothick, Esq., be and is hereby authorized and impowered to receive the whole and every part of the sum assigned, or that shall be assigned, by his majesty to the province of the Massachusetts Bay, out of the grant aforesaid, and upon receipt thereof to give a full discharge therefor to the right honourable, the lords commissioners of the treasury, or to any person or persons whatsoever who shall have the same or any part thereof in his or their hands or possession; and that the said William Bollan, or Barlow Trecothick, pursue such instructions as they shall respectively receive from the general court with regard to the transportation of the same to this province. Esq., in case, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the treasurer of the province for the time being be and is hereby fully authorized and impowered to demand and receive the whole and every part of said sum of money, from the commander of any vessel on board of which the same shall have been ship'd, on the arrival thereof within this government. [Passed June 20; published June 23. Treasurer to receive it on its arrival.

CHAPTER 11.

AN ACT FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING THE SUM OF NINETY-FOUR THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN POUNDS ELEVEN SHILLINGS; ALSO FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING A TAX OF SIXTY-NINE POUNDS, FOR FINES LAID UPON TOWNS THAT HAVE NOT SENT ANY PERSONS TO REPRESENT THEM IN THE GENERAL COURT THE PRESENT YEAR; ALSO FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING A TAX OF TWO THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-NINE POUNDS FOUR SHILLINGS, PAID THE REPRESENTATIVES FOR THEIR TRAVEL, SERVICE AND ATTENDANCE IN THE GENERAL COURT IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-NINE; ALSO FOR ASSESSING A TAX OF NINETEEN POUNDS EIGHTEEN SHILLINGS UPON THE TOWN OF FALMOUTH AND DISTRICT OF HARPSWELL, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK, TO BE LEVIED UPON THE PEOPLE CALLED QUAKERS, IN LIEU OF FURNISHING THEIR RESPECTIVE QUOTAS OF MEN FOR THE MILITARY SERVICE IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-EIGHT.

Whereas the great and general court or assembly of this province did, in their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, levy a tax of one hundred thousand pounds; and also, in their session in March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, did levy another tax of eighteen thousand pounds; and also, in their session in April following, did levy another tax of fourteen thousand five hundred and sixty pounds; and did also, in their session in October following, levy a tax of sixty-four thousand pounds, but by a subsequent act of the province, made and passed in January, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, — upon this province receiving twenty-seven thousand five hundred and seventy-four pounds ten shillings, part of the parliamentary grant, — they ordered and directed that, instead of a tax of sixty-four thousand pounds, there be issued but thirty-five thousand pounds: all which sums amount to one hundred and sixty-seven thousand five hundred and sixty pounds; and by said acts provision was made that the general court, at this present session, might apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and places within this province, if they thought fit; and whereas a number of persons, possessors of government securities that will become due in June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, to prevent so heavy a tax going forth, which otherwise must have been issued, and, at the same time, to support the faith of the government, have engaged to lend the government the sum of seventy thousand two hundred and fourteen pounds seven shillings, to be paid at a distant period, agreable to a supply bill passed the court this session: wherefore, for the ordering, directing and effectual drawing-in the said sum of ninety-seven thousand three hundred and forty-five pounds thirteen shillings, we, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the representatives in general court assembled, pray that it may be enacted, —

And be it accordingly enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

[SECT. 1.] That each town, district, parish or other place within this province, be assessed and pay, as such town, district, parish and place's proportion of the sum of ninety-seven thousand three hundred and forty-five pounds thirteen shillings, the several sums following; that is to say, —

And be it further enacted,

Rules for assessment.

[SECT. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district or parish or other place within this province that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district, parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, fifteen shillings and eightpence per poll, and proportionably in assessing the fines mentioned in this act, and the additional sum received out of the treasury for the payment of representatives (excepting the governor, lieutenant-governor and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well from being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands and under their actual management and improvement; as also the estate pertaining to Harvard College): and other persons, if such there be, who, through age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public charges, they may exempt their polls, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet.

[SECT. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county in proportion to their province rate; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade, faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money or commissions of profit in their improvement, according to their understanding or cunning, at one shilling per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for such town, district, parish or other place to pay; and in making their assessment, to estimate houses and lands at six years' yearly rent, whereat the same may be reasonably set or let for in the place where they lye: saving all contracts between landlord and tenant, and where no contract is, the landlord to reimburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands; and to estimate negro, Indian and mollatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment and discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of year old, at three shillings each: likewise requiring the said assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty; and if as guardians, or for any estate in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists, so perfected and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collectors, constable or constables of any such town, district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector, constable or constables, with the sum-total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the last day of October next.

[Sect. 4.] And the treasurer, for the time being, upon receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector, or constable or constables of such town, district, parish or place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and issue their accompts of the whole, at or before the thirty-first day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

And be it further enacted,

Inhabitants to bring in a true list of their polls, &c.

[Sect. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, respectively, in convenient time, before their making of the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town-meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or place, or notify the inhabitants, some other way, to give or bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, rateable estate, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid into the town, district, or parish treasurer, or selectmen, for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county, for relief, as in the case of being overrated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estates as aforesaid to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

[Sect. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he doth or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and before the next year's assessment are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, though, in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government,—

Be it further enacted,

Transient traders to be rated.

[SECT. 7.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, and trade, to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, though the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Merchants to be rated for carrying on trade in any other town beside where they dwell.

[SECT. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store, and traffick, or carry on any trade or business, in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business [shall be*] carried on as aforesaid, be and hereby are impowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandizes, for carrying on such trade and business, and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[SECT. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoined to levy and collect all such sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are residents in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same. [Passed June 20.

CHAPTER 12.

AN ACT TO CONTINUE THE LOAN OF THREE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS TO THE TOWN OF BOSTON.

Preamble. 1757–58, chap. 4, §§ 5 and 6.

WHEREAS, in and by an act intituled "An Act for supplying the treasury with the sum of three thousand five hundred pounds, and for lending the same to the town of Boston," it is enacted that the aforesaid sum of three thousand five hundred pounds, when the treasury shall be supplied therewith as by said act is directed, shall be lent and delivered to the selectmen of said town of Boston, to be applied to discharge the debts of the said town as the said town shall order; and, for securing the repayment of the same sum, with the interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, to the province treasurer for the time being, in case, according to the true intent of said act, said town ought to be held to pay the same, it is, among other things, by the same act, enacted that "the treasurer, some time in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, shall send forth his warrant, directed to the selectmen or assessors of the said town of Boston, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within the said town, for" the "sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, in their respective proportions, to be paid into the province treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March then next after," as by the same act more fully and at large appears: and whereas, pursuant to the same act, the treasurer hath lent to the said town of Boston the sum first mentioned; and whereas the general court have not agreed upon a general valuation through this province, and so it is at present uncertain whether the town of Boston have been overrated since the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six; and as the town of Boston have solicited this court to continue the loan of the sum first mentioned 'till such time as a general valuation shall be taken through this province; therefore,—

* Gone from the printed copy.

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Loan of £3,500 to the town of Boston.

[Sect. 1.] That the loan of the said sum of three thousand five hundred pounds be continued to the said town of Boston for the space of three years from the twentieth of June current, and that the treasurer be and he hereby is prohibited from issuing out his warrant to the selectmen or assessors of the town of Boston for assessing the polls, and estates real and personal, within the said town, for the sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, as in and by the same act he is directed.

And be it further enacted and ordered,

Treasurer directed how to proceed.

[Sect. 2.] That whenever the valuation shall be taken through this province, and each town and district's proportion thereby known and determined by the court, and be thereby ascertained that the town of Boston was not overrated for the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, or any other year after until the taking of the valuation and ascertaining as aforesaid,—provided said determination shall be before the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three,—and so not be intitled to any allowance, or no valuation taken or setled before said time, then the said town shall pay the whole sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds.

[Sect. 3.] The treasurer, some time in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, shall send forth his warrant, directed to the selectmen or assessors of said town of Boston, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within the said town, for said sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, together with the interest that shall further become due at the time the tax shall be ordered to be levied, in their respective proportions, to be paid into the province treasury on or before the thirty-first of March then next after; and the assessors and persons assessed shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall be given in the last preceeding tax act.

[Sect. 4.] But in case a valuation shall be taken and settled before the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and thereby it shall appear the town of Boston is overrated the whole of said sum between the years one thousand seven hundred and fifty-five and one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and the treasurer of the province be certified thereof by the general court, in their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, then and in such case the said treasurer is hereby forbid issuing his warrants to the selectmen or assessors of said town of Boston for the sum aforesaid.

[Sect. 5.] But if, upon a valuation being taken, and the proportions of the several towns being setled, before the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, it shall appear thereby that the said town of Boston have been overrated but only part of the aforesaid sum of four thousand one hundred and thirty pounds, with what may be further due for interest, then and in such case such part shall be remitted to them; and the treasurer shall issue his warrant for such remainder, agreeable to the direction of the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, requiring the selectmen or assessors of said town of Boston to assess the same in manner as aforesaid, with interest, to be paid into the treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March next after; and the assessors and persons assessed shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall be given in the last preceeding tax act. CHAPTER 13.

AN ACT FOR THE MORE EASY DIVISION AND DISTRIBUTION OF INTESTATE ESTATES.

Preamble. 1 Mass. 331. 7 Mass. 84. 9 Mass. 11.

WHEREAS it often happens that persons dying intestate leave their real estate, or some part of it, lying in common and undivided with the real estate of some other person, whereby the division or distribution of such estate, by the judge of probate, to and among the heirs, is impeded and delayed, to the great damage and unnecessary expence of such heirs,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Judges of probate power as to the division and distribution of intestate estates.

[SECT. 1.] That the respective judges of probate within this province be and hereby are directed and impowered, within their several counties, when they make out their warrants for the division of any real estate of any person dying intestate, to and among his heirs, or for setting off the widow's thirds, — where such estate or any part thereof lies in common or undivided with the real estate of any other person,— to direct the committee named in such warrant, first, to sever and divide the said intestate estate from the estate with which it lies in common as aforesaid: the said committee to be under oath for the faithful discharge of this trust, and the parties concerned on both sides to be timely notified to be present, if they see cause; and such division so made, and accepted by the judge, and duly recorded in the register's office for the same county, shall be binding on all persons concerned.

Provided,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 2.] That where any minors, or persons non compos, are interested in either of said estates, guardians shall be appointed over them before any such division is made. Provided, also, that before the order for such division issue, it be made appear to the respective judges of probate that the several persons interested in such estate, if living within the province, or the attorneys of such as are absent and have attorneys residing within this province, have been duly notified of such petition, and have had opportunity to make their exceptions to the same.

Limitation.

[SECT. 3.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of two years from the twentieth of July next, and no longer. [Passed June 20; published June 23.

CHAPTER 14.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING THE SUM OF THIRTEEN HUNDRED POUNDS, FOR THE SUPPORT OF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNOR.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the sum of thirteen hundred pounds be and hereby is granted unto his most excellent majesty, to be paid out of the public treasury to his excellency Francis Bernard, Esq., captain-general and governor-in-chief in and over his majesty's province of the Massachusetts Bay, to enable him to carry on the affairs of government. CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A FURTHER SUM OF MONEY, BY A LOTTERY OR LOTTERIES, FOR COMPLEATING THE PAVEMENT OF THE HIGHWAY, IN ROXBURY (FROM BOSTON LINE TO THE FOOT OF THE MEETING-HOUSE HILL), LEADING TOWARDS DEDHAM.

Preamble. 1758-59, chap. 39.

Whereas the great and general court, at their sessions in April, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, impowered Messieurs Joseph Williams, Samuel Heath, Ebenezer Newell, Jeremiah Richards and Joseph Mayo to raise, by a lottery or lotteries, the sum of one thousand six hundred and sixty-six pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, to be applied towards paving and repairing the highway aforesaid; and whereas said sum has been accordingly raised, and the same expended for the purposes for which it was raised, so far as it would extend, but it being insufficient to compleat and finish said pavement, repair and widening said highway: for raising a sum sufficient for finishing said highway, and paying the charges of said lotteries,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Messieurs. Joseph Williams, Samuel Heath, Ebenezer Newell, Jeremiah Richards, and Joseph Mayo, selectmen of Rox-

[Sect. 1.] That the said Joseph Williams, Samuel Heath, Ebenezer Newell, Jeremiah Richards and Joseph Mayo, or any three of them, be and they hereby are allowed and impowered to set up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting in the whole to such a sum as, by deducting ten per cent out of the same, or out of each prize- or benefit-ticket, may raise the sum of seven hundred and bury, allowed and empowered to carry on a lottery or lotteries for the purposes therein mentioned.

fifty pounds, and no more, to be applied towards finishing and completing the pavement of said highway, repairing and widening the same, and the necessary charges of managing and prosecuting the lotteries aforesaid.

[SECT. 2.] And the said Joseph Williams, Samuel Heath, Ebenezer Newell, Jeremiah Richards and Joseph Mayo, or any three of them, are hereby impowered to make all necessary rules and orders for the regular proceeding therein; and they shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the trust aforesaid, and shall be answerable to the purchasers and drawers of the tickets for any deficiency or misconduct; and the money thus raised shall be applied to the uses and purposes aforesaid. CHAPTER 16.

AN ACT FOR FINISHING SUCH COMMISSIONS AS HAVE BEEN BEGUN TO BE ACTED UPON, AND HAVE NOT BEEN FINISHED, DURING THE CONTINUANCE IN FORCE OF THE ACT PROVIDING REMEDY FOR BANKRUPTS AND THEIR CREDITORS.

Preamble. 1757-58, chap. 12.

Whereas, during the time that the act intituled "An Act providing remedy for bankrupts and their creditors" was in force, commissions of bankruptcy were issued, in pursuance thereof, against sundry persons who were declared bankrupts, and their estates and rights transferred to be distributed among their respective creditors, in manner as in said act is directed, and many further proceedings were had relative to such bankrupts, their estates and rights, pursuant to the said act, in the most of which cases, when the same act determined and ceased to be in force, a great part of such bankrupt's estates remained in the hands of the assignees, and many of the demands and debts due and belonging to such bankrupts were outstanding; and, by the determination of said act, all proceedings thereon are stopped for want of power in the commissioners and assignees to finish their business, and make an equitable distribution among the creditors, of the estates and rights transferred for that purpose; and many attachments have been and may hereafter be made of the bankrupt's effects and demands in the hands of the assignees or debtors of such bankrupts, whereby great injustice and inequal[l]ity will take place unless prevented; for remedy whereof,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Commissioners empowered to finish their trusts.

[Sect. 1.] That all commissioners and assignees that were appointed and constituted pursuant to said act, while the same was in force, be and hereby are authorized and directed to execute and finish their respective trusts and undertakings, aforesaid, in the same manner as they were impowered and directed in and by said act; and shall and may, in the same manner, prosecute any suits, and exercise the same powers touching the matters and things committed to them; and such assignees shall be, in [the] like manner, held to distribute the goods and estate of such bankrupts as in and by said act they were to distribute and pay the same. And such bankrupts, their trustees, debtors, creditors, persons to be examined, and all others concerned, shall be subjected to the same regulations and orders, and upon the same penalties and forfeitures, that in and by said act they were subjected to.

Bankrupts, &c., subjected as by the former act.

Proviso.

Provided,—

[Sect. 2.] That, as to such bankrupts as, at or before the time of their becoming bankrupts, were merchants or factors, or had traded in, or had consignments from, Great Britain, the respective assignees shall not make any further distribution until after the commissioners have again met to receive and examine any new claims that shall be offered, and have determined which of them shall be allowed; and the commissioners are hereby required to give publick notice, in manner as is directed in said act, of the time and place of their meeting; which time of meeting shall not be less than nine months, nor more than twelve months, after such notification.

And be it further enacted,

Attachments on estates transferred pursuant to former act, made void.

[SECT. 3.] That all attachments made of any estate of such bankrupts that hath been transferred pursuant to said act, whether upon suit against such bankrupts, or against such assignees, or any others, as factors, or agents, or trustees, of such bankrupts, shall be and hereby are declared void; and accordingly shall, upon the same being shewed to the court before whom they are or shall be depending, be dismissed.

Preamble.

And whereas it would be very severe and distressing to those bankrupts, who, instead of absconding, and defrauding their creditors of their estates by private trusts and concealments, have conformed to said act, and delivered up all they had, in expectation of the benefit of the same act, if their future acquisitions, and bodies, should still remain liable to such creditors; and as it is improbable that, under such confinements or discouragements, such bankrupts will ever acquire any estate wherewith to make any further payments to such creditors, or be useful to the publick,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Certificates rendered valid.

[SECT. 4.] That a like certificate with that mentioned in the act aforesaid, and so obtained, signed and allowed as is therein required, shall be as effectual, and in the same manner avail any bankrupt to whom it shall be given, as if the same had been obtained while said act was in force.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 5.] This act shall not be construed to extend to any case wherein the bankrupt did not surrender himself, and deliver up his effects, before the determination of said act. [Passed and published December 24.*

CHAPTER 17.

AN ACT FOR ALLOWING NECESSARY SUPPLIES TO THE EASTERN INDIANS, AND FOR REGULATING TRADE WITH THEM AND PREVENTING ABUSES THEREIN.

Preamble. 1752-53, chap. 14.

WHEREAS the Indians in the eastern parts of this province, have many years since recognized their subjection and obedience to the crown of Great Britain, and have their depend[e][a]nce upon this government for supplies of cloathing, provisions, and other necessar[y][ie]s: to the intent, therefore, that they may be furnished with the same at such easy rates as may engage them to a firm adherence to his majesty's interest.—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Indians to be supplied by persons chosen

[SECT. 1.] That provisions, cloathing and other suitable supp[y][ie]s for a trade with the Indians, be procured with the several sums that have been, now are, or shall hereafter be granted for that purpose by the general court, and appl[y][i]ed, from time to time, for supplying the said Indians as aforesaid, by such person or persons as shall be annually chosen by this court, who shall proceed according to the instructions they shall receive from this court, or from the commander-in-chief for the time being, by and with the advice of the council, on any emergency in the recess of this court: provided such instructions and directions be consist[a][e]nt with such instructions as are or may be given by the general court; and all supplies of cloathing, provisions and other necessaries shall be lodged at such places in the eastern parts of this province, and elsewhere, as the general court have or may hereafter order. by the court, agreeable to instructions.

* Signed January 31, according to the record.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That a suitable person be appointed by this court for each of the places where any of the goods aforesaid are lodged, as truck-masters for the management of the trade with the Indians; and to be paid for his service such sum or sums as this court shall judge reasonable for his allowance in said capacity; and in case of the death or removal of any one or more of said truck-masters by mismanag[e]ment of said trust, during the recess of the court, another shall be put in his room by the commander-in-chief, with the advice of the council; which truck-masters shall be under oath, and give sufficient security to the province treasurer for the faithful[l] discharge of their office, and shall observe the instructions which, from time to time, shall be given them, and shall not trade for themselves, only in the capacity of a truck-master, with the Indians, or any other person or persons; neither may any officer or soldier, residing at or within any of the truck-houses, or any other person in the pay of this government, either on account of themselves, or any other person or persons, presume to trade with the Indians, on board any ship or vessel[l] or transport, in those parts, for any of the aforementioned goods; nor shall it be lawful[l] for any other person or persons to sell, truck, barter or exchange with any Indian or Indians, any strong beer, cyder, wine, rum, brandy or any other strong liquor, cloathing, or any other thing whatsoever the Indians may want, on penalty of forty shillings, or six months' imprisonment for each and every offence above mentioned. To be paid as the court shall judge reasonable. Truck-masters to be under oath, and give security. Not to trade for themselves. No other persons to trade with the Indians.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That the said truck-masters shall sell the goods to the Indians at the prices set in the invoices sent them from time to time by the commissary, which shall be the same which he gave for the goods in the town of Boston, with a reasonable advance thereon, sufficient to pay the charge of transportation and all other charges arising thereon; and shall allow the Indians, for their fur[r]s and other peltry, as the market shall be at Boston, according to their several quali-t[y][ie]s, by the latest advices that they shall receive from the said officer, who shall send the prices to the several truck-masters at least twice in a year; viz[t]., every spring and fall: and the truck-masters may supply the Indians with rum in moderate quantities, as they shall, in prudence, judge convenient and necessary. Commissary to set prices at which goods are to be sold. Prices of furs regulated.

[Sect. 4.] And in case any of the truck-masters shall presume to sell any goods at higher rates than they are set at by the government, or shall charge to the government more for any fur[r]s or other goods than they allowed the indians therefor, such truck-masters, being convicted thereof, shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds, and shall thenceforth be altogether disabled to hold or exercise any office within this government; and the more effectually to prevent or detect any such pernicious practi[s][c]es, each and every truck-master, when and so often as he shall settle and adjust his account with the said officer appointed by this court for supplying the Indians, shall make oath before the said officer, who is hereby authorized and appointed to administer the same, in manner following; viz[t].,— Truck-master's oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the goods committed to you for the supply of the Indians, have been sold at no higher rates than they were set at by the government, and that you have charged for the fur[r]s and goods you have made returns of, no more than you have paid the Indians for them. So help you God.

And for the better discovery of such ill-disposed persons, who, thro['][ugh] greediness of filthy lucre, and regardless of the publick good, shall privat[e]ly sell or deliver any sort of strong drink to any Indian or Indians, of which it is difficult to obtain pos[s]itive evidence, other than the accusation of such Indian or Indians,—

Be it further enacted,

Method of conviction of persons selling to Indians contrary to this act.

[SECT. 5.] That the accusation and affirmation of any Indian or Indians, the accuser and accused being brought face to face at the time of trial, shall be accounted and held to be a legal conviction of the persons accused of giving, selling, or delivering wine, or any other strong drink or liquors to such Indian or Indians, unless the person accused shall acquit himself, upon oath, which the court, in all such cases, are hereby impow[e]red to administer in the form following; viz[t].,—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that neither yourself, nor any other by your order, general or particular assent, privity, knowledge or allowance, directly or indirectly, did give, sell or deliver any wine, cyder, rum or other strong liquors or drink, by what name or names soever called or known, unto the Indian by whom and whereof you are now accused. So help you God.

And be it further enacted,

Further method of conviction.

[SECT. 6.] That upon the complaint or information of any other person for the breach of this law, there being such circumstances as render it highly probable, in the judgment of the justice before whom the trial is, that the person complained of is guilty of the breach of the said act; then and in every such case, unless the defendant shall acquit himself upon oath, as aforesaid, to be administred to him by the justice before whom the trial shall be, the same shall be accounted a legal conviction of the defendant's giving, selling, or delivering of wine or other strong liquors, of which he or they shall be accused, and he or they shall pay and suffer the penalty already by this act provided; but in case the defendant shall acquit himself upon oath, to be administred to him as aforesaid, that then he shall recover against the complainant double his cost occasioned by such prosecution.

And be it further enacted,

Accusation of an Indian good, in case.

[SECT. 7.] That upon the accusation of an Indian, or complaint of any other person, to any of his majesty's justices of the peace within this province, against any person for selling, giving or delivering any wine, rum or other strong liquors, to any Indian, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, the justice may tender to the person accused or complained of, the aforesaid oath, unless there be such other circumstances concurring as render it highly probable, in the opinion of the justice, that the person accused is guilty, which, if he refuses to take, he shall bind him in a bond of recognizance, not exceeding one hundred pounds, with suret[y][ies], to answer the same at the court of general sessions of the peace next to be held in the county where the offence is committed; but if the person accused shall acquit himself upon oath, as aforesaid, the justice shall dismiss the person, and allow him double his cost, against the complainant, occasioned by such prosecution

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That, if any person or persons shall hereafter be convicted of false swearing in any case in this act mentioned, he or they shall be liable to the same pains and penalties as is already by law provided against wilful[l] perjury. False swearing punished as perjury.

[Sect. 9.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of three years from the publication thereof, and no longer. [Passed January 30;* published January 31, 1761.

CHAPTER 18.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL RATES AND DUTIES OF IMPOST AND TUNNAGE OF SHIPPING.

We, his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, being desirous of lessening the publick debts, have chearfully and unanimously given and granted, and do give and grant, to his most excellent majesty, for the service of this province, as they shall hereafter apply it, the several duties of impost upon all liquors, wares, goods and merchandize that shall be imported into this province, and tunnage of shipping, hereafter mentioned; and pray that it may be enacted,— Preamble.

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, to the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, there shall be paid by the importers of all wines, rum and other liquors, goods, wares and merchandize that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants thereof (except what is by this act hereafter exempted), the several duties of impost following; viz[t].,— Rates of impost.

For every pipe of wine of every sort, ten shillings.

For every hogshead of rum containing one hundred gallons, eight shillings.

For every hogshead of sugar, fourpence.

For every hogshead of molasses, fourpence.

For every hogshead of tobacco, ten shillings.

For every pound of tea that shall be imported from any of his majesty's plantations in America, one shilling.

— And so, proportionably, for a greater or less quantity.

And for all other commodities, goods or merchandize not mentioned or not excepted, fourpence for every twenty shillings value: excepting such goods as are the product or manufacture of Great Britain.

[Sect. 2.] And for any of the above-mentioned liquors, goods, wares and merchandize (excepting tea, which shall pay only one shilling), that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants of the other provinces or colonies on this continent, or of the English West-India Islands, in any ship or vessel to them belonging, on the proper account of any of the said inhabitants of the said provinces, colonies or islands, there shall be paid by the importers double the impost laid by this act: provided, always, that every thing which is the growth or produce of the provinces or colonies aforesaid (tobacco and bar-iron excepted), and all provisions, salt, cotton-wool, pig-iron, mahogony, brazilleto, black-walnut, lignum-vit[ee][æ], red-cedar, Double impost to be paid for goods imported by the inhabitants of other colonies. Proviso.

* Signed January 31, according to the record.

logwood, hemp, raw skins and hides, and also all prize goods brought into and condemned in this province, are and shall be exempted from every the rates and duties aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Drawback of the whole impost to the importer, in case.

[SECT. 3.] That all goods, wares and merchandize, the property of any of the inhabitants of any of the neighbouring provinces or colonies on this continent, that shall be imported into this province, and shall have paid, or on which there shall have been secured to be paid, the duty of impost by this act provided to be paid, and afterwards shall be exported and landed in any of the said provinces or colonies on this continent, then and in such case the exporter, producing a certificate from some officer of his majesty's customs, that the same has been landed in some of the provinces or colonies aforesaid, shall be allowed a drawback of the whole duty of impost by him paid, or secured to be paid, as by this act provided.

And be it further enacted,

Master of vessels to make report.

[SECT. 4.] That the master of every ship or vessel coming into this province from any other place, shall, within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port or harbour, and before bulk is broken, make report and deliver a manifest, in writing, under his hand, to the commissioner aforesaid, of the contents or loading of such ship or vessel, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantities of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in any such ship or vessel, with the marks and numbers thereof, and to whom the same are consigned; and make oath before the commissioner that the same manifest contains a just and true account of all the lading taken on board and imported in such ship or vessel, so far as he knows or believes; and that if he knows of any more wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize laden on board such ship or vessel, and imported therein, he will forthwith make report thereof to the commissioner aforesaid, and cause the same to be added to his manifest.

And be it further enacted,

To forfeit, in case of breaking bulk.

[SECT. 5.] That if the master of any ship or vessel shall break bulk, or suffer any of the wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessel to be unladen before report and entry thereof be made as aforesaid, he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds.

And be it further enacted,

Invoice to be produced.

[SECT. 6.] That all merchants and other persons being owners of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported into this province, for which any of the rates or duties aforesaid are payable, or having the same consigned to them, shall make an entry thereof with the commissioner aforesaid, and produce an invoice of all such goods as pay ad valorem, and make oath before him in the form following; viz[t].,—

Oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the entry of the goods and merchandize by you now made, exhibits the sterling value of said goods, and that, bonâ fide, according to your best skill and judgment, it is not less than that value. So help you God.

Duties to be paid before landing.

—which oath the commissioner or receiver appointed in consequence of this act is hereby impowered and directed to administer; and the owners aforesaid shall pay to the said commissioner, or give security to pay, the duty of impost by this act required, before such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize be landed or taken out of the vessel in which the same shall be imported.

[SECT. 7.] And no wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize that by this act are liable to pay impost or duty, shall be landed on any wharf, or in any warehouse or other place, but in the daytime only, and that after sunrise and before sunset, unless in the presence or with the consent of the commissioner or receiver, on pain of forfeiting all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, and the lighter, boat or vessel out of which the same shall be landed or put into any warehouse or other place.

[Sect. 8.] And if any person or persons shall not have and produce an invoice of the quantities of rum or other liquors to him or them consign[e]d, then the cask wherein the same are, shall be gauged at the charge of the importer, that the contents thereof may be known.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Commissioner allowed to give credit.

[Sect. 9.] That the said commissioner shall be and hereby is allowed to give credit to such person or persons whose duty of impost in one vessel shall not exceed six pounds; which credit shall be so limited as that he shall settle and ballance his accompts with every person, on or before the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, that the said acco[mp][un]ts may be produced to this court as soon as may be after; and for all entries where the impost to be paid doth not exceed three shillings, the said commissioner shall not demand any thing, and not more than sixpence for any other single entry, to what value soever.

And be it further enacted,

Importer by land-carriage or in small vessels, to make report.

[Sect. 10.] That the importer of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, by land-carriage, or in small vessels and boats, shall make report and deliver a manifest thereof to the commissioner aforesaid or his deputy, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantity of all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize so imported, with the marks and numbers thereof, when, how, and by whom brought; and shall make oath, before the said commissioner or his deputy, to the truth of such report and manifest, and shall also pay or secure to be paid the several duties aforesaid by this act charged and chargeable upon such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, before the same are landed, housed, or put into any store or place whatsoever.

And be it further enacted,

Allowance for leakage.

[Sect. 11.] That every merchant or other person importing any wines into this province, shall be allowed twelve per cent for leakage: provided such wines shall not have been filled up on board; and that every hogshead, butt or pipe of wine that hath two-thirds thereof leaked out, shall be accounted for outs, and the merchant or importer shall pay no duty for the same. And no master of any ship or vessel shall suffer any wines to be filled up on board without giving a certificate of the quantity so filled up, under his hand, before the landing thereof, to the commissioner or receiver of impost for such port, on pain of forfeiting the sum of one hundred pounds.

[Sect. 12.] And if it may be made to appear that any wine imported in any ship or vessel be decayed at the time of unloading thereof, or in twenty days afterwards, oath being made before the commissioner or receiver that the same hath not been landed above that time, the duties and impost paid for such wines shall be repayed unto the importer thereof.

And be it further enacted,

Master allowed to detain goods not entered, or the duty not paid.

[Sect. 13.] That the master of every ship or vessel importing any liquors, wines, goods, wares or merchandize, shall be liable to pay the impost for such and so much thereof, contained in his manifest, as shall not be duly entered, and the duty paid for the same by the person or persons to whom such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned. And it shall and may be lawful, to and for the master of every ship or other vessel, to secure and detain in his hands, at the owner's risque, all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in any ship or vessel, until he receives a certificate from the commissioner or receiver of impost that the duty for the same is paid, and until he be repaid his necessary charges in securing the same; or such master may deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize as are not entered, unto the commissioner or receiver of the impost in such port, or his order, who is hereby impowered and directed to receive and keep the same, at the owner's risque, until the impost thereof, with the charges, be paid, or secured to be paid; and then to deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize as such master shall direct.

And be it further enacted,

Master liable to be sued.

[SECT. 14.] That the commissioner or receiver of the impost in each port, shall be and hereby is impowered to sue the master of any ship or vessel for the impost or duty of so much of the lading of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported therein, according to the manifest to be by him given upon oath, as aforesaid, as shall remain not entered and the duty of impost therefor not paid or secured to be paid. And where any goods, wares or merchandize are such that the value thereof is not known, whereby the impost to be recovered of the master for the same cannot be ascertained, the owner or person to whom such goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned, shall be summoned to appear as an evidence at the court where such suit for the impost and the duty thereof shall be brought, and be there required to make oath to the value of such goods, wares or merchandize.

And be it further enacted,

Ships, &c., liable to be taken in execution.

[SECT. 15.] That the ship or vessel, with her tackle, apparel and furniture, the master of which shall make default in anything by this act required to be performed by him, shall be liable to answer and make good the sum or sums forfeited by such master, according to this act, for any such default, as also to make good the impost or duty for all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize not ent[e]red as aforesaid, or for which the duty of impost ha[th][re] not been paid; and, upon judgment recovered against such master, the said ship or vessel, with so much of the tackle or appurtenances thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy said judgment, may be taken by execution for the same; and the commissioner or receiver of the impost is hereby impowered to make seizure of the said ship or vessel, and detain the same under seizure until judgment be given in any suit to be commenced and prosecuted for any of the said forfeitures, or for the duty aforesaid; to the intent, that if judgment be rendered for the prosecutors or informer, such ship or vessel and appurtenances may be exposed to sale, for satisfaction thereof, as is before provided: unless the owners, or some on their behalf, for the releasing of such ship or vessel from under seizure or restraint, shall give sufficient security to the commissioner or receiver of impost that seized the same, to respond or satisfy the sum or value of the forfeitures and duties, with charges, that shall be recovered against the master thereof, upon such suit to be brought for the same as aforesaid; and the master occasioning such loss or damage unto the owners, through his default or neglect, shall be liable unto their action for the same.

And be it further enacted,

Naval officer not to clear

[SECT. 16.] That the naval officer within any of the ports of this province shall not clear or give passes to any master of any ship or vessel, outward bound, until he shall be certified, by the commissioner or receiver of impost, that the duty and impost for the goods last imported in such ship or vessel are paid or secured to be paid. vessels until impost be paid.

[Sect. 17.] And the commissioner or receiver of impost is hereby impowered to allow bills of store to the master of any ship or vessel importing any wines or liquors, for such private adventures as shall belong to the master or seamen of such ship or vessel, at the discretion of the commissioner or receiver, not exceeding three per cent of the lading; and the duties payable by this act for such wines or liquors, in such bills of stores mentioned and expressed, shall be abated. Bills of store to be allowed.

And for the more effectual preventing any wines, rum or other distilled spirits being brought into the province from the neighbouring governments by land, or in small boats or vessels, or any other way, and also to prevent wines, rum or other distilled spirits being first sent out of this province, and afterwards brought into the government again, to defraud the government of the duties of impost, —

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 18.] That the commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost shall, and he is hereby impowered and enjoined to appoint one suitable person or persons as his deputy or deputies, in all such places of this province where it is likely that wine, rum or other distilled spirits will be brought out of other governments into this; which officers shall have power to seize the same, unless the owner shall make it appear that the duty of impost has been paid therefor since their being brought into or relanded in this government; and such officer or officers are also impowered to search, in all suspected places, for such wines, rum or other distilled spirits or tea brought or relanded in this government, where the duty is not paid as aforesaid, and to seize or secure the same for the ends and uses as in this act is hereafter provided. Commissioner to appoint officers in places where wines, rum, &c., may be brought out of other governments.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 19.] That the commissioner or his deputies shall have full power to administer the several oaths aforesaid, and search in all suspected places for all such wines, rum, liquors, tea, goods, wares and merchandize as are brought into this province, and landed contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, and to seize the same for the uses hereinafter mentioned. Commissioner or deputy empowered to administer the oath, &c.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 20.] That if the said commissioner, or his deputy, shall have information of any wines, rum or other distilled spirits, or tea, being brought into and landed in any place in this province, for which the duties aforesaid shall not have been paid after their being brought into or relanded in this government, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place; and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said commissioner or his deputy's making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid; and having such warrant[s], and being attended by such officer, the said commissioner or his deputy may, in the daytime, between sunrise and sun-setting, demand admittance of the person owning or occupying such place, and, upon refusal, shall have right to break open such place; and, finding such liquors or tea, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is impowered to command assistance, and impress carriages necessary to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and any persons refusing assistance, or preventing any of the said officers from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to the said commissioner; and he or his deputy shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance aforesaid, and carriages made use of, to The commissioner or deputy, upon information of any liquors being brought into this province, and the duty not paid, to apply to a justice for a warrant to search, &c.

secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and the commissioner or his deputy shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferiour court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made, which court shall summon the owner of such liquor[s] or tea, or the occupier of such shop, house or warehouse, or distil[l]-house where the same were seized, to appear and shew cause, if any he has, why such liquors or tea so seized shall not be adjudged forfeited; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause as aforesaid, or shall make default, the said liquors or tea shall be adjudged forfeited, and the said court shall order them to be sold at public[k] vendue; and the nett produce of such sale shall be paid, one half to the province treasurer for the use of this province, and the other half to the said commissioner.

And be it further enacted,

Tonnage of shipping.

[SECT. 21.] That there shall be paid by the master of every ship or other vessel, coming into any port or ports of this province, to trade or traffick, whereof all the owners are not belonging to this province (excepting such vessels as belong to Great Britain, the provinces or colonies of Pennsylvania, West and East Jers[e]y, Connecticut, New York, New Hampshire and Rhode Island), every voyage such ship or vessel doth make, one pound of good pistol-powder for every ton such ship or vessel is in burthen: saving for that part which is owned in Great Britain, this province, or any of the aforesaid governments, which are hereby exempted; to be paid unto the commissioner or receiver of the duties of impost, and to be employed for the uses and ends aforesaid.

Vessels to be measured, if suspected.

[SECT. 22.] And the said commissioner is hereby impowered to appoint a meet and suitable person, to repair unto and on board any ship or vessel, to take the exact measure and tunnage thereof, in case he shall suspect the register of such ship or vessel doth not express and set forth the full burthen of the same; the charge thereof to be paid by the owner or master of such ship or vessel, before she shall be cleared, in case she shall appear to be of a greater burthen: otherwise, to be paid by the commissioner out of the money received by him for impost, and shall be allowed him, accordingly, by the treasurer in his accompts. And the naval officer shall not clear any vessel until he be certified, also, by the commissioner, that the duty of tunnage for the same is paid, or that it is such a vessel for which none is payable according to this act.

And be it further enacted,

Drawback for wine, rum and tea allowed, in case.

[SECT. 23.] That when and so often as any wine, rum or tea imported into this province, the aforesaid duty of impost upon which shall have been paid agre[e]able to this act, shall be re-shipped and exported from this government to any other part of the world, that then and in every such case, the exporter of such wine or rum or tea shall make oath at the time of shipping, before the receiver of impost or his deputy, that the whole of the wine or rum or tea so shipped has, bonâ fide, had the duty of impost aforesaid paid on the same, and shall afterwards produce a certificate from some officer of the customs, that the same has been landed out of this government, — or otherwise, in case such rum or wines or tea shall be exported to any place where there is no officer of the customs, or to any foreign port, the master of the vessel in which the same shall be exported shall make oath that the same has been landed out of the government, — and the exporter shall, upon producing such certificate, or upon such oath of the master, make oath that he verily believes no part of said wines, rum or tea has been relanded in this province, — such exporter shall be allowed a drawback from the receiver of impost as follows; viz[l].,—

For every pipe of wine, nine shillings.

For every hogshead of rum, seven shillings and sixpence.

And for every pound of tea, one shilling.

Provided, always,—

Proviso.

[Sect. 24.] That if, after the shipping of such wines or rum or tea to be exported as aforesaid, and giving security as aforesaid, in order to obtain the drawback aforesaid, the wine or rum or tea so shipped to be exported, or any part thereof, shall be relanded in this province, or brought into the same from any other province or colony, that then all such wine, rum and tea so relanded and brought again into this province shall be forfeited, and may be seized by the commissioner aforesaid or his deputy.

And be it further enacted,

Appointment and duty of the commissioner.

[Sect. 25.] That there be one fit person, and no more, nominated and appointed by this court, as a commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost and tunnage of shipping, and for the inspection, care and management of the said office, and whatsoever relates thereto, to receive commission from the governo[u]r or commander-in-chief for the time being, with authority to substitute and appoint a deputy-receiver in each port, or other places besides that in which he resides, and to grant warrants to such deputy-receivers for the said place, and to collect and receive the impost and tunnage of shipping as aforesaid that shall become due within such port, and to render the account thereof, and to pay in the same, to the said commissioner and receiver: which said commissioner and receiver shall keep fair books of all entries and duties arising by virtue of this act; also a particular account of every vessel, so that the duties of impost and tunnage arising on said vessel may appear; and the same to lie open, at all seasonable times, to the view and perusal of the treasurer or receiver-general of this province (or any other person or persons whom this court shall appoint), with whom he shall account for all collections and payments, and pay all such monies as shall be in his hands, as the treasurer or receiver-general shall demand it. And the said commissioner or receiver and his deputy or deputies, before their entering upon the execution of their said office, shall be sworn to deal truly and faithfully therein, and shall attend in said office from ten of the clock in the forenoon until one in the afternoon.

[Sect. 26.] And the said commissioner or receiver, for his labour, care and expences in the said office, shall have and receive, out of the province treasury, at the rate of sixty pounds per annum; and his deputy or deputies shall receive for their service such sums as the commissioner of impost, together with the province treasurer, shall judge necessary for whatever sums they shall receive and pay; and the treasurer is hereby ordered, in passing and receiving the said commissioner's accounts, accordingly, to allow the payment of such salary or salaries, as aforesaid, to himself and his deputies.

And be it further enacted,

Disposition of forfeitures.

[Sect. 27.] That all penalties, fines and forfeitures accruing or arising in consequence of any breach of this act, shall be one half to his majesty for the use of this province, and the other half to him or them that shall seize, inform and sue for the same, by action, bill, plaint or information, in any of his majesty's courts of record, wherein no essoign, protection or wager of law shall be allowed; the whole charge of the prosecution to be taken out of the half belonging to the informer.

And be it further enacted,

Charges of prosecution, how to be paid, in case.

[Sect. 28.] That from and after the commencement of this act, in all causes wherein any claimer shall appear, and shall not make good the claim, the charges of prosecution shall be borne and paid by the said claimer, and not by the informer. [Passed and published January 31, 1761.

CHAPTER 19.

AN ACT TO PREVENT DAMAGE BEING DONE ON THE MEADOWS AND BEACHES LYING IN AND ADJOINING ON THE NORTH SIDE OF THE TOWN OF HARWICH, BETWEEN SKEKET HARBOUR, ON THE EAST, AND QUIVET HARBOUR, ON THE WEST.

Preamble. 1749–50, chap. 26.

WHEREAS many persons frequently drive numbers of neat cattle, horses, sheep and swine to feed upon the beaches, meadows and shores adjoining to the north side of Harwich, lying between Skeket harbour, on the east, and Quivet harbour, on the west, whereby the ground is much broken and damnified and the sand blown on said adjoining meadows and upland, to the great damage not only of sundry private persons in their property, but also to the inhabitants of said town in general,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Penalty for turning creatures on the beaches, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the publication of this act, no person or persons shall presume to turn any neat cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine, to or upon any of the beaches, meadows or shores that lie on the north side of the town of Harwich, between Skeket harbour, on the east, and Quivet harbour, on the west, at any time between the first day of April and the last day of October yearly, during the continuance of this act, on penalty of paying for each offence five shillings a head for neat cattle, horses or mares of one year old or upwards, and one shilling a head for each sheep or swine, that shall be turned or found on said beaches, meadows or shores, within the limits aforesaid; which penalty shall be recovered by the selectmen or treasurer of the said town of Harwich, or any other person that shall inform of and sue for the same: the one half of said forfeiture to him or them that shall inform of and sue for the same, the other half to be to and for the use of the poor of said town.

And be it further enacted,

Creatures to be impounded.

[SECT. 2.] That if any neat cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine, shall, at any time hereafter, be found feeding on the said beaches, meadows or shores that lie between said Skeket harbour and said Quivet harbour, in said Harwich, it shall and may be lawful[l] for any person to impound the same, immediat[e]ly giving notice thereof to the owners, if known, otherwise, to give publick notice thereof by posting the same up in some publick place in said town, and the two next adjoining towns; and the impounder shall relieve the said creatures with suitable meat and water while impounded; and if the owner thereof appear to redeem his impounded creatures, he shall pay one shilling and sixpence to the impounder, for each neat beast and horse-kind, and sixpence for each sheep and swine, and the reasonable cost[s] of relieving, besides the poundkeeper's fees as by law appointed for such creatures.

To be sold if not redeemed.

And if no owner appear within the space of six days to redeem the said cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine so impounded, and to pay the cost and damage occasioned by impounding the same, then and in every such case the person impounding such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, shall cause the same to be sold at publick vendue, and pay the cost and charges arising about the same (publick notice of the time and place of such sale, to be given in the said town of Harwich and in the towns of Eastham and Yarmouth, forty-eight hours beforehand), and the overplus, if any there be, arising by such sale, to be returned to the owner of such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, at any time within twelve months next after, upon his demanding the same; but if no owner appear within the said twelve months, then the said overplus shall be one half to the party impounding such cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine, and the other half to the use of the poor of the said town of Harwich.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That the said town of Harwich, at a meeting of said town called for that purpose, or at their meeting in March, annually, for the choice of town-officers, be authorized and impowered to chuse one or more meet person or persons whose duty it shall be to see to the due observance of this act, and to prosecute the breakers thereof, and who shall be sworn to the faithful[l] discharge of their office; and in case any person so chosen shall refuse to be sworn, he shall forfeit and pay ten shillings for the use of the poor of said town of Harwich; and upon such refusal, said town, from time to time, to proceed to a new choice of such officer or officers, until one or more person or persons will serve therein. Persons to be chosen to see to the due observance of this act.

Provided,—

[Sect. 4.] That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the owner or owners of such beach or meadows, or any improving under them, from turning on their horses they ride, or cattle they improve in their teams, to feed on said beach or meadows while they are cutting or carting their hay off said beach or meadows adjoining. Proviso.

[Sect. 5.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of ten years from the publication thereof, and no longer. [Passed and published January 31, 1761. Limitation.

CHAPTER 20.

AN ACT FOR REPEALING THE SEVERAL LAWS NOW IN FORCE, WHICH RELATE TO THE OBSERVATION OF THE LORD'S DAY, AND FOR MAKING MORE EFFECTUAL PROVISION FOR THE DUE OBSERVATION THEREOF.

Whereas, by reason of different constructions of the several laws now in force relating to the observation of the Lord's Day, or Christian sabbath, the said laws have not been duly executed, and, notwithstanding the pious intention of the legislators, the Lord's Day hath been greatly and frequently prophaned; therefore,— Preamble. 1692–93, ch. 22. 1693, ch 9. 1693–94, ch. 20, § 5. 1698, ch. 10, § 4. 1711–12, ch. 6. 1716–17, ch. 13. 1727–28, ch. 5. 1741–42, ch. 7.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the several laws, and the several paragraphs and clauses of all and every the laws of this province, enforcing, or any ways relating to, the due observation of the Lord's Day, so far as they relate thereto, be and hereby are repealed, and declared null and void. Acts and clauses of acts relating to the sabbath, repealed.

And whereas it is the duty of all persons, upon the Lord's Day, carefully to apply themselves, publickly and privately, to religion and piety, the prophanation of the Lord's Day is highly offensive to Almighty God, of evil example, and tends to the grief and disturbance of all pious and religiously disposed persons; therefore, that the prophanation of the said day may be fully prevented,— Preamble.

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That no person whatsoever shall keep open their shops, warehouses or workhouses, nor shall, upon the land or water, do, or exercise, any labour, business, or work, of their ordinary calling, nor any sport, game, play or recreation, on the Lord's Day, or any part thereof (works of necessity and charity only excepted), upon pain that every Business and diversions prohibited on the Lord's Day. 9 Allen, 119 person so offending shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings, nor less than ten shillings.

And be it further enacted,

Travelling prohibited. 14 Allen, 480, 481, 484.

[SECT. 3.] That no travel[l]er, drover, horse-coarser, waggoner, butcher, higler, or any of their servants, shall travel on the Lord's Day, or any part thereof — except, by some adversity, they shall have been belated, and forced to lodge in the woods, wilderness, or highways, the night before (and in such case it shall be lawful to travel no further, on the Lord's Day, than to the next inn or house for entertainment of travellers), upon the penalty of a sum not exceeding twenty shillings, nor less than ten shillings.

And be it further enacted,

Entertainment in public houses prohibited.

[SECT. 4.] That no vintner, retailer of strong liquors, innholder, or other person keeping a house of publick entertainment, shall entertain or suffer any of the inhabitants of the respective towns where they dwell, or others not being travellers, strangers, or lodgers in such houses, to abide or remain in their houses, yards, orchards, or fields, drinking, or spending their time either idly, at play, or doing any secular business, on the Lord's Day, or any part thereof, on penalty of ten shillings, payable by such vintner, innholder, or person keeping such house of entertainment, for each person so entertained or suffered; and every person so drinking or abiding, except as aforesaid, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten shillings, nor less than five shillings; and every such licenced person, upon every conviction after the first, shall forfeit twenty shillings, and, having been three times convicted, shall be debarred renewing such his licence ever after.

And be it further enacted,

Unnecessary walking, &c., prohibited.

[SECT. 5.] That if any person or persons shall be recreating, disporting, or unnecessarily walking, or loitering, or if any persons shall unnecessarily assemble themselves, in any of the streets, lanes, wharves, highways, commons, fields, pastures, or orchards, of any town or place within this province, upon the Lord's Day, or any part thereof, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay the sum of five shillings, and, upon every conviction after the first, shall be bound to their good behaviour.

And be it further enacted,

Absence from public worship.

[SECT. 6.] That if any person, being able of body, and not otherwise necessarily prevented, shall, for the space of one month together, absent themselves from the publick worship of God, on the Lord's Day, they shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings.

Provided, always, —

[SECT. 7.] That if, upon trial, it shall appear that any person so charged had good and sufficient excuse for their absence, such person shall be dismissed without costs.

And be it further enacted,

Funerals regulated.

[SECT. 8.] That no sexton, grave-digger, porter, or bearer, shall be assisting at the funeral of any person on the Lord's Day, or any part thereof, and no person shall toll any bell for such funeral, unless licence be given by a justice of peace (and when in any town or district where no justice of the peace dwells, such licence be granted by one or more of the selectmen of the town or district), on penalty of twenty shillings, to be paid by each and every person so offending; and no justice or selectmen shall grant any licence, except in cases of necessity, only, and, being in the town of Boston, with this express proviso: that such person so buried be not carried to the grave until one hour after sunset.

Preamble.

And whereas many persons are of the opinion that the sabbath, or time of religious rest, begins on Saturday evening; therefore, to prevent all unnecessary disturbance of persons of such opinion, as well as to encourage in all others a due and seasonable preparation for the religious duties of the Lord's Day,—

Be it further enacted,

Business and diversion on Saturday evening.

[Sect. 9.] That no person shall keep open any shop, warehouse, or workhouse, or hawk, or sell, any provisions, or wares, in the streets or lanes of any town or district, or be present at any concert of musick, dancing, or other publick diversion, on the evening next preceeding the Lord's Day, on pain of forfeiting ten shillings for each offence; and no retailer, innholder, or person licenced to keep a publick house, shall entertain, or suffer to remain, or be, in their houses, or yards, or other places appurtenant, any person or persons (travellers, strangers or lodgers excepted), drinking, or spending their time, on the said evening, on penalty of ten shillings for each offence.

And, in order to the more effectual carrying this act into execution, —

Be it further enacted,

Wardens to be appointed.

[Sect. 10.] That each town and district within this province shall, at the time of chusing town and district officers, annually, and every year, chuse certain persons, being of good substance and of sober life and conversation, to be wardens of such town or district; of which officers the town of Boston shall chuse twelve; viz[t]., one for each ward in said town: and every other town or district shall chuse any number, not less than two and not exceeding six; and all such wardens shall be under oath faithfully to do the duty of their office as required by law; and if any person or persons shall refuse or neglect to take such oath, and to serve in such office, every such person, in the town of Boston, shall be liable to the penalty of ten pounds, and, in any other town or district, to the penalty of five pounds; and every town or district shall, forthwith, proceed to the choice of other or others in the room of any person or persons so refusing or neglecting, and so, toties quoties.

Penalty for not serving.

[Sect. 11.] And if any person or persons so refusing or neglecting shall not pay to the treasurer of such town or district the fine or penalty aforesaid, he shall, as soon as may be, be convened before the court of sessions for the county, and, upon certificate, under the hand of the town clerk, that such person was legally chosen to the office of warden, unless some just cause shall be made to appear to the said court of sessions to excuse the person so chose from serving, the justices shall order a warrant, to be signed by the clerk of the peace, directed to any constable or constables of such town or district, to levy the said fine, by distress and sale of such offender's goods, returning the overplus, if any there be; and the fine or penalty so levied or paid shall be delivered to the overseers of the poor, or selectmen, for the use of the poor of such town.

Penalty on towns for not choosing.

[Sect. 12.] And if the town of Boston shall neglect the due observance of this act, and shall not chuse, in manner as required, such officers, the said town shall incur the penalty of one hundred pounds; and any other town or district, so neglecting, shall incur the penalty of fifty pounds, upon every conviction of such neglect, before the court of sessions for the county wherein such town or district shall be; to be levied by warrant from the said court, in proportion, upon the inhabitants, as publick charges are levied, and to be paid into the county treasury.

And be it further enacted,

Wardens' duty.

[Sect. 13.] That the persons so chosen, and serving, as wardens, shall be held and obliged to enquire into, observe, and inform of, all offences against this act; and every such warden is hereby authorized and impowered to enter into any of the rooms and other parts of any inn, or publick house of entertainment, on the Lord's Day and the evening preceeding; and if such entrance shall be refused to any warden, the landlord, or [the] licenced person, shall forfeit the sum of forty shillings for each and every offence. And the said wardens are hereby further authorized and impowered, within their respective towns or districts, to examine all persons suspected as unnecessarily travelling on the Lord's Day, and to demand of all such persons the cause thereof, together with their names and places of abode; and if such persons shall refuse to make answer to such demands, or shall not give satisfaction, to such warden or wardens, that they are then employed in travelling upon his majesty's service, or in the immediate service of this government, or shall not give such other reason for their travelling upon the Lord's Day as shall satisfy such wardens of the necessity thereof, such wardens shall return the names of all such persons as they shall know, or can obtain the names of, to one of his majesty's justices of the peace, and such justice shall proceed to tr[y][i]al of the offence, if the offender shall be within the county; or, otherwise, such warden shall return the names of such persons, and the offence, to the grand jury, for their consideration and proceeding thereon. And if any person shall wilfully give false answer to any such demands of any warden, every person so offending shall forfeit five pounds, for each and every offence; and any two justices of the peace, quorum unus, for any county where such person shall be found, shall have full power and authority to enquire into, try and determine such offence.

And be it further enacted,

Duty of wardens in Boston.

[SECT. 14.] That the wardens of the town of Boston shall, upon every Lord's Day (except in times of rain, snow, tempestuous wind or extreme cold), and in such part and parts of the day as they shall judge most proper to prevent the prophanation thereof, go through, or inspect, the streets, lanes, wharves, and other parts, of their respective wards; and any one of said wardens may likewise, as occasion may require, inspect the ward of any other warden; and they are hereby authorized and impowered to demand the names and places of abode of any persons whom they shall suppose or suspect to be unnecessarily abroad, and the cause or reason thereof; and if such person or persons shall not give a satisfactory answer, such warden or wardens shall require them, or either of them, forthwith, to repair to their places of abode or lodging; and if any person shall refuse to give such answer, or shall answer falsely, or shall refuse or neglect, forthwith, to repair, when required, to such their places of abode or lodging, and that by the usual [or] [and] most direct streets or ways, the warden shall, upon the next day, or as soon after as may be, make information of such offenders to one of his majesty's justices of the peace for the county; and such justice shall cause such persons to be convened before him, and shall try and determine such offence.

And be it further enacted,

Warden's oath sufficient evidence.

[SECT. 15.] That the oath of any warden shall be deemed full and sufficient evidence, in any trial for any offence against this act, unless, in the judgment of the court or justice, the same shall be invalidated by other evidence that may be produced.

And be it further enacted,

Privilege of wardens.

[SECT. 16.] That no person exempt from serving as a grand-juryman shall be liable to any penalty for not serving as warden, any thing in this act to the contrary notwithstanding; and no person shall be held and obliged to serve in the said office of warden more than once in five years; and no warden, during the year of service, shall be liable to any military duties, except in case of an alarm or invasion, nor shall be liable to serve, during such time, as juror, or in any other office of burthen. And every warden, when in the execution of his office, shall carry with him a white wand, not less than seven feet in length, as a badge of his office, and may command assistance, when he shall judge it necessary; and any person refusing or neglecting to be so aiding and assisting shall forfeit and pay the sum of forty shillings.

And be it further enacted,

Parents and guardians liable for fine.

[Sect. 17.] That the parents of any children, under age, and the guardians of any minors, and the masters of servants who shall have no parents nor guardians, shall be, respectively, liable for the fines of their children, wards, or servants, who shall be convicted of any offence against this act.

And be it further enacted,

Persons not paying fines subject to imprisonment.

[Sect. 18.] That in case any person that shall be convicted of prophaning the Lord's Day, or Christian sabbath, in any of the instances mentioned in this act, shall not immediately pay the sum or sums by him forfeited, as aforesaid, he shall be punished by being committed to the common goal of the county, there to remain not exceeding ten days, nor less than five days.

And be it further enacted,

Other civil officers to take notice of breaches of this act.

[Sect. 19.] That, notwithstanding the special provision made by this act for preventing the breaches thereof, any justice of peace may, upon inspection, convict any person; and such special provision shall not be construed or understood to exempt any sheriffs, grand-jurors, tithingmen, constables, or other officers, or persons, whatsoever, from any obligation or duty to cause this act to be put in execution; but they shall be held to take due notice of, and prosecute, all breaches thereof, such special provision notwithstanding.

Act to be read at March meeting, annually.

[Sect. 20.] And this act shall be read in every town and district, by the town or district clerk, at the March meeting, every year, and immediately before the choice of wardens; and any town or district clerk neglecting to read the same shall forfeit the sum of twenty shillings. [Passed and published January 31, 1761.*

CHAPTER 22.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A FURTHER SUM OF MONEY, BY A LOTTERY OR LOTTERIES, TO COMPLEAT THE REPAIRING THE CAUSEWAY ON THE WESTERLY SIDE OF SUDBURY RIVER, AND FOR BUILDING A BRIDGE OVER SAID RIVER.

Preamble. 1759–60, ch. 10.

WHEREAS the great and general court, at their sessions in October, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, impowered Messieurs John Noyes, Josiah Brown, Joseph Curtis, William Baldwin, Augustus Moore, Reynolds Seager and Capt[ain] Elijah Smith, of Sudbury aforesaid, to raise, by a lottery or lotteries, the sum of eight hundred and twenty-seven pounds, to be applied towards raising said causeway, digging a new canal to King's Pond, across said cause[se]y, with three other sluices, and also for raising two other short causeways, on Lancaster road, leading to and near the said long causeway; and whereas the greater part of said sum has been accordingly raised, and the same expended for the purposes for which it was raised, so far as it would extend, but, it being insufficient to compleat and finish the same; wherefore, for raising a sum sufficient for finishing the said causeway, digging a new canal to King's Pond, across said causeway, with three other sluices, and also for raising two other short causeways, on Lancaster road, leading to and near the long causeway, —

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the said John Noyes, Josiah Brown, Joseph Curtis, William Baldwin, Augustus Moore, Reynolds Seager and Captain Elijah Smith, or any four of them, be and they are hereby allowed to set up and carry on one or more lottery or lotteries, amounting, in the whole, to such a sum as, by deducting ten per cent out of the same, or out of each pri[z][c]e- or benefit-ticket, may raise the sum of four hundred pounds, and no more, to be applied towards finishing and compleating the raising of said causeway, digging a new canal to King's Pond, across said causey, with three other sluices, and also for raising two other short causeways, on Lancaster road, leading to or near the said long causeway, and the necessary charges of managing and prosecuting the lotteries aforesaid; and the said John Noyes, Josiah Brown, Joseph Curtis, William Baldwin, Augustus Moore, Reynold[s] Seager and Captain Elijah Smith, or any four of them, are hereby impow[e]red to make all necessary rules and orders for the regular proceedings therein; and they shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the trust aforesaid, and shall be answerable to the purchasers and drawers of the tickets for any deficiency or misconduct: and the money thus raised shall be applied to the uses and purposes aforesaid.

Managers appointed.

£400 to be raised, and how to be applied.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the directors or managers aforesaid shall keep a particular account of the days of their attendance upon the service aforesaid, and, for each day's attendance, shall be allowed the sum of four shillings: provided that no more than four of the managers aforesaid shall be intitled to such allowance for one and the same day. [Passed and pub'ished January 31, 1761.

Managers' allowance.

CHAPTER 23.

AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF THIRTY THOUSAND POUNDS.

Whereas the provision made by this court, at their session in May last, to defrey the expence of an expedition for the total reduction of Canada, is insufficient for that purpose; and whereas this province's proportion of the parliamentary grant to recompence them for their services in the year 1758, is laden on board his majesty's ship Fowey, which is daily expected,—

Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the sum of thirty thousand pounds, part of said monies, be applied by the treasurer and receiver-general, and he is accordingly hereby impowered and directed to apply said sum of thirty thousand pounds, when received into the treasury, for the payment of such dra[f][ugh]ts as shall be made on him by the governor, with [the] advice of the council, for the payment of the troops of this province, employed in the late expedition, under the command of General Amherst. CHAPTER 24.

AN ACT FOR ENQUIRING INTO THE RATEABLE ESTATES OF THIS PROVINCE.

Preamble. 1756–57, chap. 40.

WHEREAS the rateable estates of the several towns and districts in this province are much altered since the last valuation,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Assessors for 1760 to lodge in the secretary's office a list of polls and rateable estates by first of June, 1761.

[SECT. 1.] That the assessors of each town and district within this province, chosen for the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, shall, on oath, take and lodge in the secretary's office, by the first day of June next, a true and perfect list, according to their best skill and understanding, agre[e]able to a list settled by the general court and recorded in the secretary's office (a printed copy of which list shall be, by the treasurer of the province, sent to the clerk of each town and d[e][i]strict therein), containing an account of all male pol[l][e]s of sixteen years old and upwards, whether at home or abroad, distinguishing such as are exempt from rates; and of all rateable estate, both real and personal, lying within or adjacent to their respective towns and districts, and by whom occup[y][i]ed, and what each person's real estate may rent for by the year, taking one year with another; particularly mentioning dwelling-houses and land, stil[l]-houses, warehouses, wharves, grist-mills, fulling-mills, saw-mills, iron-works and furnaces; and what each of said estates may rent for by the year, in the judgment of said assessors, without consideration of repairs; and of all Indian, negro or molatto servants for life, from fourteen to forty-five years of age; and the number of tons of vessel[l]s of every kind, upwards of ten tons' burthen (to be given in, in carpenters tonnage), whether at home or abroad; and each person's whole stock in trade, including all goods, wares and merchandize, by them, of their own property, also including those in their hands by factorage; and money at interest which any person has more than he pays interest for; and also of all horses, oxen, cows, goats, sheep and swine, at the respective ages set in said list; and said assessors, in taking said valuation, shall distinguish the different improvements of land, and return their list in the following manner: the number of acres of pasture, the number of acres of tillage-land, the number of acres of orchard, the number of acres of salt mar[i]sh, and the number of acres of fresh, and English mowing-land; and also what stock each pasture is ordinarily capable of feeding, and what quantity of produce the said tillage, mowing, and orchard, land yearly affords, taking one year with another: excepting that the governor, lieut[enant]-governor, president, fellows, professors, tutors and students of Harvard College, settled ministers, and gramm[e][a]r-school masters, with their families, for their polls, and for their estates in their own actual improvement, shall be exempted out of this act; and said assessors, before they enter on this work, shall take the following oath; viz[1].,—

Assessor's oath.

You, A. B., being chosen an assessor for the town of B., for the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, do swear that you will faithfully and impartially, according to your best skill and judgment, do and perform the whole duty of an assessor, as directed and enjoined by an act of this province made in the present year, intit[u]led "An Act for enquiring into the rateable estates of the province," without favo[u]r or prejudice. So help you God.

By whom to be administered.

—which oath, in such towns or districts where no justice of the peace dwells, shall be administred by the town or district clerk, who is hereby impow[e]red and directed to administer the same, on penalty of ten pounds; and every assessor who shall have been chosen by any town or district, in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, and accepted such choice, that shall refuse to take such oath, shall forfeit and pay the sum of forty pounds; or, taking the same, shall neglect or refuse to do the duty required by this act, or shall anyways act deceitfully therein, shall, for each of these offences, forfeit and pay a fine of fifty pounds.

Penalty for neglect.

[Sect. 2.] And every person not necessarily out of the province; viz[t]., on and from the twentieth day of April next, to the first day of June next (in which cases they shall be doomed by the assessors as is hereafter expressed), refusing or neglecting to give such assessor or assessors, in writing, and on oath (which the assessors respectively are impow[e]red and required to administer), a true account of his rateable estate, improvements and rents, agre[e]able to the true intent of this act, shall be doomed by the assessors according to their best skill and judgment; and shall, for each offence, forfeit and pay the sum of fifty pounds: which oath shall be in the following form; viz[t].,—

Persons to give in lists to the assessors on oath.

You, C. D., do swear that the account now exhibited by you is, to the best of your knowledge and judgment, a full account of all your rateables, agre[e]able to the list now exhibited to you. So help you God.

Form of the oath.

—and every assessor shall be allowed, out of the treasury of his respective town or district, the sum of four shillings for every day he shall be necessarily employed in doing the duty enjo[y][i]ned by this act.

Allowance to the assessors.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That the assessors of each town and district in this province, for the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, shall, by the abovesaid first day of June next, transmit to the secretary's office a true and perfect copy, on oath, of the list and valuation of estates by which they made the taxes in their particular towns and districts for that year, and also a true copy of the province tax made by such list and valuation; on penalty that each assessor neglecting his duty therein shall forfeit and pay twenty pounds.

Assessors to transmit lists by which they made their rates in 1760.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That if, in any of the towns and districts aforesaid, it so happens that any of the assessors, for the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, be dead or removed, in that case the remaining part of said assessors shall, and are hereby impow[e]red to, act in all cases touching the valuation aforesaid, as fully as if there had been no such death or removal.

In cases where any of the assessors for 1760 are dead or removed, the remainder to act.

[Sect. 5.] And all fines and forfeitures arising by this act may be recovered by action or information, in any of his majesty's courts within this province proper to try the same; and shall be applied, one third, to him or them that shall inform or sue for the same, and the other two thirds, to his majesty to and for the use of this government.

Fines, how to be recovered and applied.

And whereas it may happen that some rateable estate, by shifting hands, may be liable to be given in twice to the assessors, or not given in at all,—

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That every person in each town and district within this province, in giving in to the assessors a list of his rateables, shall estimate such rateable estate, agre[e]able to this act, as he is possessed of on the twentieth day of April next. [Passed and published January 31, 1761.

Ratable estate to be estimated as on the 20th of April, 1761.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE TWENTY-FIFTH DAY OF MARCH, A. D. 1761.

CHAPTER 25.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED IN THE THIRTY-THIRD YEAR OF HIS LATE MAJESTY KING GEORGE THE SECOND, INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT FOR ERECTING AND ESTABLISHING TWO NEW COUNTIES IN THE EASTERLY PART OF THE COUNTY OF YORK."

Preamble. 1760-61, chap. 7, § 7.

WHEREAS, in and by an act made and passed in the thirty-third year of the reign of his late majesty King George the Second, intit[u]led "An Act for erecting and establishing two new counties in the easterly part of the county of York," it is, among other things, enacted and provided as follows; viz[t]., that "all appeals from any judgment or judgments given at any court of general sessions, and at any inferior court of common pleas, within the said county of Lincoln, shall be heard and tried at the superior court of judicature to be held, yearly, at Falmouth, as aforesaid;" and whereas the said provision is insufficient to give jurisdiction to the said superior court, held at Falmouth, in other matter[s] and things necessary to be tried and determined by said court,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Superior court at Falmouth to have jurisdiction in certain cases.

[SECT. 1.] That the superior court of judicature, court of assize, and general goal delivery, to be held at Falmouth in and for the county of Cumberland, shall have, from time to time, and at all times hereafter, the same jurisdiction, power and authority for the trial of all actions, civil or criminal, the cause whereof has arisen, or shall arise, within the body of the county of Lincoln, as also to hear and determine all other matters and things arisen, or which shall arise, within the body of the said county of Lincoln, as the said superior court, by law, would have if the cause of such actions, and such matters and things, had arisen within the body of the said county of Cumberland.

And be it further enacted,

Jurors to be summoned.

[SECT. 2.] That the grand jurors and petit jurors serving at the superior court of judicature, court of assize, and general goal delivery, to be holden at Falmouth, shall, from time to time, be chosen and summoned, in such manner as the law directs for the choice and summons of grand and petit jurors, out of the several towns within the said counties of Cumberland and Lincoln.

Preamble.

And whereas the selectmen of several towns within the said counties of Cumberland and Lincoln may have neglected, or omitted, preparing a list of persons liable to serve on the petit jury, before the tenth day of April, 1760, in manner as the law directs,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Selectmen to

[SECT. 3.] That the selectmen of every town and district, within the said counties of Cumberland and Lincoln, so neglecting or omitting, shall, some time in the month of April this present year, take a list of such persons as are qualified and liable, by law, within such towns and districts, respectively, to serve on petit juries, to be laid before such respective towns and districts sometime before the first Tuesday of May next following, at a publick town-meeting; and such towns and districts shall proceed to determine upon said lists in like manner as such towns or districts might and would have done, by law, if such list[s] had been prepared and presented before the said tenth day of April, 1760; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. take lists.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That the justices of the courts of general sessions of the peace for the aforesaid counties of Cumberland and Lincoln, shall be and they hereby are impowered to grant licences to, and to take recognizances from, innholders and retailers of strong drink, within the respective counties, at the next courts of general sessions to be holden for such count[y][ie]s, respectively; suc[c]h licen[s][c]es to continue until the first courts of general sessions which shall be held and kept in course, for such count[y][ie]s, respectively, next after the twenty-ninth day of June, which shall be in the year 1762; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed April 14; published April 21, 1761. Justices, &c., to grant licenses.

CHAPTER 26.

AN ACT FOR RAISING A SUM OF MONEY BY LOTTERY, FOR REPAIRING FAN[EU][UE]IL HALL IN BOSTON.

WHEREAS the town of Boston, by a petition presented by their selectmen, have represented to this court that, in the providence of God, Faneuil Hall having been consumed by fire, the inhabitants of said town labour under great inconveniency in want of a suitable place for transacting the publick business of said town, and find it necessary to rebuild and repair the said hall not only to accommodate themselves, as soon as may be, but also that they may not lose the benefit of the walls yet standing; and do, by said selectmen, humbly move that this court would enable some suitable persons to raise a sufficient sum by way of lottery, for that purpose,— Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That Samuel Sewall, Samuel Phillips Savage and Ezekiel Lewis, or any two of them, be and hereby are allowed and impowered to set up and carry on a lottery or lotteries, amounting to such a sum, as, by drawing ten per cent out of each prize, or out of the whole, may raise a sum of two thousand pounds, and no more; and that the said sum be applied by them, or the major part of them, to the rebuilding the said Faneuil Hall and the market under the same: saving so much of said sum as shall be sufficient to defrey the necessary charges of the lottery or lotteries aforesaid. Managers appointed for Faneuil-Hall lottery.

[SECT. 2.] And the said Samuel Sewall, Samuel Phillips Savage and Ezekiel Lewis, or any two of them, are hereby appointed managers and directors of the said lottery or lotteries, and shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their trust; and they are hereby impowered to make all necessary rules, and use all necessary methods, to manage and direct the same, until the whole shall be compleated and finished; and the managers, or any two of them, shall cause publick notifications to be given of the time and place of drawing each lottery or lotteries, that all adventurers may be present thereat: provided, nevertheless, no lottery shall be set up in consequence of this act 'till after eighteen months are expired from the first day of May next.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

Town empowered to take tickets.

[SECT. 3.] That, if the whole number of tickets in any lottery shall not be sold in six months after the publication of the scheme, it shall be lawful for the town of Boston, by vote, to take the tickets remaining unsold, to their own account: provided they raise, by tax, a sum of money sufficient to pay for the said tickets remaining unsold, as aforesaid, in two months from such vote; and if the said town shall vote not to purchase the said remaining tickets, or the said sum is not raised, and the tickets cannot otherwise be sold, the said managers shall return to the adventurers the money paid for the tickets, and the charges arisen shall be borne by the said town of Boston.

And be it further enacted,

Allowance to the managers.

[SECT. 4.] That the managers aforesaid shall be allowed the sum of six shillings per day, and no more, for each day they are employed in the service aforesaid; and they are hereby directed to present the account of such their charges before the said town, at some publick meeting, and the same, being by them allowed, to be paid out of the money to be raised by this act.

[SECT. 5.] And the said managers are hereby appointed judges in any dispute touching the property of any benefit-tickets; and the said managers shall give publick notice, as soon as may be, of the prizes, and shall pay off such prizes in twenty days after such notice.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Benefit-tickets not claimed in a year, to be added to the stock.

[SECT. 6.] No benefit-tickets not claimed in twelve months after the drawing of any lottery, and publick notice of the prizes drawn being given, shall be thereafter paid, unless the owner of such ticket was beyond sea at the time of such notice, and had no lawful attorney in this province: such owners shall be allowed eighteen months after drawing, to claim in; and all the prizes finally not claimed as aforesaid, shall sink into the said stock, and be applied to the same purposes as the surplusage is, hereinafter appropriated.

Penalty for forging tickets.

[SECT. 7.] And if any person shall forge or alter any of the tickets in any lottery to be raised and formed by virtue of this act, and be thereof convicted, they shall be punished by fine, imprisonment, or by setting in the pillory, or whipping, according to the aggravation of the said offence.

And be it further enacted,

Surplusage, how to be applied.

[SECT. 8.] That if the sum raised by this act shall be more than sufficient to rebuild the said Faneuil Hall, and the market under the same, and pay the charges aforesaid, the said surplusage shall be applied for further keeping the said building in repair. [Passed April 18; published April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 27.

AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF FORTY THOUSAND AND FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the great and general court, at their present session, have voted that there be raised, within this government, three thousand men, to be put under the command of General Amherst, to supply such part of the regular forces, in North America, as shall be drawn out of the several forts and garrisons to be employed in some important enterprize; and whereas the additional provision made by this court, at their last session, to defrey the charges incurred by the expedition in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, is insufficient to pay off the officers and soldiers employed in said service; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer to pay out £40,500, part of the parliamentary grant.

That the treasurer be and he hereby is directed and impowered to pay the sum of forty thousand and five hundred pounds, out of the publick treasury, being part of the parliamentary grant received by his majesty's ship the Fowey, to recompence this province for their services in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight; the monies to be drawn for by warrant from the governor, with advice of his majesty's council, agreeable to the following appropriations; that is to say, the sum of twelve thousand pounds, part of the sum of forty thousand and five hundred pounds, to be drawn upon the appropriation for the invasion in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, to pay off the officers and soldiers, sick and wounded; the sum of two thousand pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of forty thousand and five hundred pounds, to be drawn upon the appropriation for carrying on the truck trade with the Indians, according to the votes that have been, or shall hereafter be, passed by this court; the sum of seven hundred pounds, part of the aforesaid sum of forty thousand and five hundred pounds, to be drawn upon the appropriation for the payment of the allowance to the officers, for inlisting of men, and to the colonels of the militia, and to such other persons as may be employed by the governor, in paying the bounty; and the sum of twenty-five thousand and eight hundred pounds, the remaining part of the aforesaid sum of forty thousand and five hundred pounds, to be drawn upon the appropriation for bounty for three thousand men: and the secretary to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and accounts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they direct, such muster-rolls and accounts after payment thereof. [Passed April 18; published April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 28.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED THIS PRESENT YEAR, INTITULED "AN ACT TO PREVENT DAMAGE BEING DONE ON THE MEADOWS AND BEACHES LYING IN AND ADJOINING TO THE NORTH SIDE OF THE TOWN OF HARWICH, BETWEEN SKEKET HARBOUR, ON THE EAST, AND QUIVET HARBOUR, ON THE WEST."

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Eastham and Harwich directed to keep

[SECT. 1.] That the town of Eastham, in conjunction with the proprietors of the meadows and sedgeground lying to the eastward of up fence or watch. 1760-61, chap. 19.

the westernmost point of rocks in said Harwich, shall make and keep up a two-rail fence, during the continuance of this act, on or near the place, as usual, on the east side of Great Skeket harbour — beginning at the land lately of Nathanael Freeman, Esq., deceased, and thence, extending, northerly, on the flatts or sedgeground, near half a mile, — or keep a watch, as the proprietors of each town shall agree.

Provided,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 2.] That if, at any time, any neat cattle, horses, sheep or swine, shall be found on any of the said meadows or beaches within the town of Harwich, which went through that part of the fence alotted to the town of Harwich to erect and maintain, or at the time when the said town of Harwich should keep a watch, that in such case it shall not be lawful to impound any of the creatures belonging to the said town of Eastham.

Continuance.

[SECT. 3.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of three years from the first day of May, this present year, and no longer. [Passed April 18; published April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 29.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO, AND FOR AMENDING SOME CLAUSES IN, AN ACT MADE AND PASSED IN THE LAST SESSION OF THIS COURT, INTITULED "AN ACT FOR REPEALING THE SEVERAL LAWS IN FORCE, WHICH RELATE TO THE OBSERVATION OF THE LORD'S DAY, AND FOR MAKING MORE EFFECTUAL PROVISION FOR THE OBSERVATION THEREOF."

Preamble. 1760-61, chap. 20, § 13. 13 Mass. 333.

WHEREAS, in and by the said act, the wardens thereby directed to be chosen are authorized and impowered, within their respective towns and districts, to examine all persons they shall suspect as unnecessarily travelling on the Lord's Day, and to demand of all such persons the cause thereof, together with their names and places of abode; but no power is, in said act, specially given to those wardens to stop such travelling persons, in order for such examination; whereby the good intent of that act may be easily evaded, and such examination rendered impracticable: wherefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Wardens empowered.

[SECT. 1.] That it shall be in the power of each and every warden and wardens that have already been chosen, or that may hereafter be chosen, in consequence of said act, either by himself, or with such assistance as he shall judge needful to take or call to his aid, forceably to stop, and detain, any person or persons he shall suspect of unnecessarily travelling as aforesaid, for and during such space of time as shall be necessary for demanding the cause or reason of such person's travelling, his name, and place of abode, and receiving the answers to such demands; and every person examined by any warden or wardens, in consequence of this or the foregoing act, that shall refuse or neglect to give direct answers, shall, on conviction of such his refusal or neglect, forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds, and may be prosecuted and tr[y][i]ed in the same manner as is already provided in said act for giving a false answer. And every person who shall be required to assist and give aid to any warden, that shall refuse or neglect so to do, shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay the sum of forty shillings: unless such person or persons so refusing or neglecting shall make reasonable excuses, to the acceptance of the court or justice before whom they shall be tried.

Penalty on offenders.

And be it further enacted,

Justices to try, in certain cases.

[SECT. 2.] That all offences against this or the before-mentioned act, may be heard and determined before any of his majesty's justices of the peace, in their respective counties, where the fine does not exceed the sum of forty shillings.

Disposal of fines.

[SECT. 3.] All fines and forfeitures arising by this or by the before-mentioned act, and not therein otherwise disposed of, shall be appl[y][i]ed towards the support of the poor in the town or district where the offence shall be committed. [Passed April 18; published April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 30.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED IN THE LAST SESSION OF THIS COURT, INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT FOR ENQUIRING INTO THE RATEABLE ESTATES OF THIS PROVINCE."

Preamble. 1760-61, chap. 24.

WHEREAS, in and by the said act, the time set for giving in to the assessors an account of the rateable estates, improvements, and rents, any person is possessed of, as in and by said act is provided, is the first day of June next, and no person can, by said act, be doomed by the assessors, who shall neglect or refuse to give in such account until that date is expired, which may introduce great difficulty, and unnecessary loss of time, in compleating this affair; for remedy of which,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Time for giving in to the assessors an account of ratable estates, &c., limited to the twentieth day of May next.

[SECT. 1.] That the time for giving in to the assessors such an account of the rateable estates, improvements, and rents, as in the aforesaid act is provided, shall be and hereby is limited to the twentieth day of May next; and every person required, by said act, to give in such account, that shall refuse or neglect to do it at or before the said twentieth day of May, may be immediately doomed by the assessors, and shall, also, be liable to the same fines and forfeitures, for such refusal or neglect, as is provided, by the said act, for not giving in such account by the first day of June; any thing in said act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Preamble.

And whereas it is provided, by said act, that all persons shall give in to the assessors an account of the rents of such their estates as are not under their actual improvement, and are rented out, but no column is provided, in the printed lists referred to in said act, for entering such rents,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Column to be added to the printed lists.

[SECT. 2.] That it shall be in the power of the assessors, in the respective towns within this province, who are, by law, to take the account of such rents, and they are hereby directed, to add to the said printed lists a column wherein to enter such rents, before the oath is administred to any person giving in their account as abovesaid.

Preamble.

And whereas there may be persons in one town or county, owning and improving real or personal estate in another town or county, for whom it will be very inconvenient to exhibit their lists of such estate to the assessors of the town or district wherein such estate lies,—

Be it enacted,

Persons not obliged to appear before

[SECT. 3.] That the persons aforesaid shall not be obliged to appear before such assessors, but shall be and hereby are allowed to assessors, provided. transmit their lists to said assessors: provided that such lists shall be sworn to before some justice of the peace, and shall be delivered to such assessors on or before the aforesaid twentieth day of May next.

Preamble. And whereas it is further provided, in said act, that each person's whole stock in trade shall be given in to the assessors, and some doubt hath arisen whether book-debts, and money not at interest, is intended thereby; for the resolving of which doubt,—

Be it enacted,

Doubt resolved. [SECT. 4.] That book-debts, and money not at interest, are not intended by the words "trading stock," in said act. [Passed April 18; published April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 31.

AN ACT TO PREVENT THE DESTRUCTION OF SHEEP, BY HUNTING WITH UNRULY DOGS, IN THE TOWNS OF PLYMOUTH AND SANDWICH.

Preamble. WHEREAS great numbers of sheep and lambs have, of late years, been worried, wounded and destroyed in the towns of Plymouth and Sandwich, in the counties of Plymouth and Barnstable, to the great loss and damage of the owners, supposed to be occasioned principally by hunting, there practiced, with blood-hounds, and other mischievous dogs, at that season of the year wherein sheep do usually feed in the woods; and whereas application has been made to this court for remedy against the aforesaid mischiefs and inconveniencies,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Hunting with dogs, in Plymouth and Sandwich, prohibited. [SECT. 1.] That, from and after the first day of May next, during the continuance of this act, no person, whosoever, may presume to use or exercise hunting with any dog or dogs, hound or hounds, within the limits of the said towns of Plymouth and Sandwich, at any time of the year; and each and every person who shall be convicted of any violation of this act, before any justice of the peace in the same counties, shall, for the first offence, forfeit and pay the sum of twenty shillings,

Penalty. and for the second, and every after, offence, the sum of forty shillings, —one moiety thereof to be to the informer, and the other moiety to the use of the poor of the town where such offence shall be committed, —and shall be further liable to pay reasonable damages to the person or persons whose sheep or lambs may be torn or destroyed thereby.

[SECT. 2.] And in case such offence be committed by any apprentice, or person under age, not having of their own to satisfy the law, and their parents or masters refuse or neglect to pay the fine imposed, the justice before whom the conviction shall be, may commit such offender to the common goal, of the county where the offence was committed and the cause was heard and tried, there to remain until the same shall be paid; and the party injured shall have his remedy, at law, to recover his damages of the parent or master of such child or apprentice, upon action brought for the same.

Continuance of the act. [SECT. 3.] This act to continue and be in force from the first day of May next, to the first day of May, anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and from thence to the end of the then next session of the general court, and no longer. [Passed and published April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 32.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED IN THE THIRTY-THIRD YEAR OF THE REIGN OF HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE THE SECOND, INTITULED "AN ACT FOR THE BETTER REGULATING THAT PART OF THE TOWN OF BOSTON WHICH WAS LAID WASTE BY THE LATE FIRE, AND FOR PREVENTING FIRE IN THAT TOWN FOR THE FUTURE."

Preamble. 1760-61, chap. 9, § 1. 130 Mass. 321.

Whereas in and by an act intituled "An Act for the better rebuilding that part of the town of Boston which was laid waste by the late fire, and for preventing fire in that town for the future," it is, among other things, enacted that the proceedings of the committee, appointed by this court, for the regulating the streets in that part of the town which was so laid waste, should be confirmed; but inasmuch as it is judged more convenient, and less expensive to the town of Boston, that Leverett's Street and Purchase Street should be alter'd and laid out in manner as hereafter is described,—

Be it therefore enacted by his Excellency the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Leverett Street.

[Sect. 1.] That the street that has been determined to be laid out between Water Street and Milk Street, in the direction of Leverett Street, shall begin on the west side, at a point, on the southerly side of Water Street, ranging with the northerly end of Capt. James Dalton's house, at the distance of fifty-two feet from the north-east corner of said house, toward the east, and, from said point, to run to Milk Street, on a strait line, so as that said line, being continued across Milk Street, shall strike the north-east corner of Mr. Wheelwright's brick house, now in the occupation of Benjamin Faneuil, junr.; which last-mentioned house is bounded northerly, on Milk Street, and easterly, on Atkinson Street: the east side of said new street to be parallel with the line before described, and to be, in all parts, thirty-five feet distant therefrom. And as to Purchase Street; viz., the northerly end thereof, which opens into Batterymarch Street, it shall run as follows; viz., the westerly side of said Purchase Street to begin on the southerly side of Batterymarch Street, at a point seventy feet and three inches distant from the north-easterly corner of the distill-house of Jacob Wendell, Esq., towards the east, and, from said point, to run southerly, on a strait line, to the north-easterly corner of Alexander Hunt's dwelling-house; which is as far as the late great fire extended in that quarter: and the easterly side of said Purchase Street to be parallel with the westerly side, at thirty feet distance: any thing in the aforesaid act, made in the thirty-third year of his late majesty, to the contrary notwithstanding. And the damages and advantages that may accrue to any person or persons, by laying said streets as aforesaid, shall be estimated by the jury impannalled, for that purpose, agreeable to the directions of the act last mentioned.

Purchase Street.

Preamble.

And whereas some of the jury lately summoned for the purposes in said act mentioned, may be unavoidably absent, and it may be doubted whether the commissioners named in said act are, by virture of that act, authorized to fill up the said jury; now, to remedy that inconvenience, and prevent any further delay,—

Be it further enacted,

Commissioners to fill up the jury.

[Sect. 2.] That when and so often as a jury shall be summoned by Samuel Danforth, Samuel Watts and Joseph Williams, Esqrs., the commissioners aforementioned, for the purposes in said act mentioned, and one or more of the said jury shall be detained by sickness, or otherwise unavoidably hindered attending upon the business for which they were summoned, it shall be lawful for the said commissioners, or any two of them, to fill up and compleat the said jury with other persons, not being inhabitants of the town of Boston. [Passed April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 33.

AN ACT FOR DIVIDING THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, AND FOR ERECTING AND ESTABLISHING A NEW COUNTY IN THE WESTERLY PART OF THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, TO BE CALLED THE COUNTY OF BERKSHIRE, AND FOR ESTABLISHING COURTS OF JUSTICE WITHIN THE SAME.

Preamble. 9 Gray, 512.

WHEREAS the great extent of the county of Hampshire makes it convenient, and necessary, that there should be a new county erected and established in the westerly part thereof,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Lands comprised in the county of Berkshire.

[SECT. 1.] That the towns and plantations hereinafter mentioned; that is to say, Sheffield, Stockbridge, Egremont, New Marlborough, Poontoosuck, New Framingham, West Hoosuck, Number One, Number Three, and Number Four, and all other lands included in the following limits; viz[t]., beginning at the western line of Granvill, where it touches Connecticut line, to run, northerly, as far as said west line of Granvill runs; thence, easterly, to the south-west corner of Blan[d]ford, and to run, by the west line of the same town, to the north-west corner thereof; from thence, northerly, in a direct line, to the south-east corner of Number Four, and so run[n]ing by the easterly line of said Number Four, to the north-east corner thereof; and thence, in a direct course, to the south-west corner of Charlemont; and so, northerly, in the course of the west line of the same town, 'till it comes to the north bound of the province; and northerly, on the line between this province and the province of New Hampshire, southerly, on Connecticut line, and on the west, by the utmost limits of this province, — shall, from and after the thirtieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, be and remain one intire and distinct county, by the name of Berkshire, of which Sheffield for the present to be the county or shire town; and the said county to have, use, and enjoy, all such powers, priviledges and immunities as, by law, other counties in this province have and do enjoy.

And be it further enacted,

Inferior courts, &c., where and when to be held.

[SECT. 2.] That there shall be held and kept within the said county of Berkshire, yearly, and in every year, at the times and places in this act hereafter expressed, a court of general sessions of the peace, and an inferiour court of common pleas; viz[t]., at the north parish in Sheffield, on the last Tuesday of April, and first Tuesday of September, and at Poontoosuck, on the first Tuesday of December, and the first Tuesday of March, yearly, and in every year, until this court shall otherwise order. And the justices of the said court of general sessions of the peace, and inferiour court of common pleas, respectively, who are or shall be thereunto lawfully commissioned and appointed, shall have, hold, use, exercise, and enjoy, all and singular, the powers which are, by law, already given and granted unto them within any other counties of the province where a court of general sessions of the peace, and inferiour court of common pleas, are already established; and the inhabitants of said county of Berkshire shall have, use, exercise, and enjoy, all such powers, priviledges and immunities as, by law, the inhabitants of any other county within this province have, use, exercise and enjoy.

Saving, only,—

Saving.

[Sect. 3.] That all appeals from any judgment or judgments given at any court of general sessions of the peace, and at any inferiour court of common pleas, within the said county of Berkshire, shall be heard and tried at the superiour court of judicature, to be held yearly in the county of Hampshire.

And be it further enacted,

Superior court to be held in Hampshire.

[Sect. 4.] That the superiour court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, to be held in and for the county of Hampshire, shall have, from time to time, and at all times hereafter, until the further order of this court, the same jurisdiction, power and authority for the trial of all actions, civil or criminal, the cause whereof has arisen, or shall arise, within the body of the county of Berkshire, as also to hear and determine all other matters and things arisen, or which shall arise, within the body of the said county of Berkshire, as the said superiour court, by law, would have if the cause of such actions, and such matters and things, had arisen within the body of the county of Hampshire.

And be it further enacted,

Jurors, whence to be taken.

[Sect. 5.] That the grand jurors, and petit jurors, serving at the superiour court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, to be holden within and for the county of Hampshire, shall, from time to time, be chosen and summoned, in such manner as the law directs for the choice and summons of grand and petit jurors, out of the several towns within the said counties of Hampshire and Berkshire.

Provided,—

Proviso.

[Sect. 6.] That all writs, suits, plaints, processes, appeals, reviews, recognizances or any other matters and things which now are, or at any time before the said thirtieth day of June shall be, depending in the law, within any part of the said county of Berkshire, and also all matters and things which now are, or at any time before said thirtieth day of June shall be, depending before the judge of probate within any part of the said county of Berkshire, shall be heard, tried, proceeded upon and determined upon in the county of Hampshire, where the same are or shall be returnable, or depending, or shall have day, or days.

Provided, also,—

Proviso.

[Sect. 7.] That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to disannul, defeat, or make void, any deeds or conveyances of lands lying in the said county of Berkshire, where the same are, or shall be, before the said thirtieth day of June, recorded in the register's office for the county of Hampshire, but that all such deeds or conveyances, so recorded, shall be held good and valid as they would have been had not this act been made.

And be it further enacted,

Register of deeds to be appointed.

[Sect. 8.] That the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace, at their first meeting in the said county of Berkshire, shall have full power and authority to appoint some meet person, within the said county of Berkshire, to be register of deeds and conveyances within the same, who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his trust in the said office, and shall continue to hold and exercise the same, according to the directions of the law, until some person be elected by the freeholders of the said county of Berkshire, who are hereby impowered to chuse such person, at their first March meeting within their respective towns and districts, in the method already, by law, prescribed; which person, taking upon him that trust, shall be sworn to the faithful discharge thereof. And the office of register of deeds shall be kept in the north parish of Sheffield, aforesaid; and until such register shall be appointed by the said justices, and sworn, all deeds and conveyances of lands lying within any part of said county of Berkshire, being recorded in the register's office in the county of Hampshire aforesaid, shall be held good and valid, to all intents and purposes, so far as relates to the record of them.

And be it further enacted,

Rules for proceedings as in other cases.

[SECT. 9.] That the method and proceedings directed to by law for chusing a register of deeds and conveyances, and the county treasurer (which last-mentioned officer shall be chosen and appointed, in manner as the law direct[s], at the next March meeting of the freeholders aforesaid), also for the bringing forward and trying any actions, causes, pleas or suits, both civil and criminal, in the several counties of this province, and courts of judicature within the same, and for chusing jurors to serve at the several courts of justice, shall be observed and put in practice, within the said county of Berkshire, and by the courts of justice within the same.

Provided, always,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 10.] That the inhabitants of the several towns and places hereinbefore enumerated and set off a distinct county, shall pay their proportion to any county rates or taxes already made and granted, in the same manner as they would have done had not this act been made. [Passed and published April 21, 1761.

CHAPTER 34.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE NEW PLANTATION CALLED PONTOOSUCK, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF PITTSFIELD.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it hath been represented to this court that the erecting the plantation called Pontoosuck, into a township, will greatly contribute to the growth thereof, and remedy many inconveniencies to which the inhabitants and proprietors may be otherwise subjected,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Bounds of the town.

[SECT. 1.] That the plantation aforesaid, bounded as follows; viz[t]., north, on New Framingham, so called; east, partly on Ashuelot equivalent, and partly on unappropriated lands; south and west, on unappropriated lands; — be and hereby is erected into a town by the name of Pittsfield; and that the inhabitants thereof be and hereby are invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities which the inhabitants of the towns within this province do enjoy.

Saving,—

[SECT. 2.] That the said town shall not have liberty to send a representative to the general court, until the general election in May, 1763.

And be it further enacted,

Town meeting to be warned.

[SECT. 3.] That William Williams, Esq[r]., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant in said town, to notify and warn the inhabitants in said town, qualified by law to vote in town affairs, to meet, at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to chuse all such officers as are or shall be required, by law, to manage the affairs of said town.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 4.] That no inhabitant of said town, or proprietor in the same, excepting the original sixty settling proprietors, or those who hold under them, shall be obliged to pay any part or proportion of the charge towards building a meeting-house, settling the first minister, and the other charges within said town, which the said original proprietors were obliged to perform, either according to the tenor of their grant, or to any agreements already made by or among themselves.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 5.] That all assessments of rates and taxes agreed upon by said original proprietors shall be in full force, and may be levied and collected, in like manner as if this act had not been made. [Passed April 21; published April 22, 1761. Assessments to be in full force.

CHAPTER 35.

AN ACT FOR PREVENTING THE STEALING AND CLANDESTINELY CONVEYING SHEEP AWAY FROM THE ISLAND OF MARTHA'S VINEYARD IN DUKES COUNTY.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That in every town on the island of Martha's Vineyard, in Dukes County, there shall be some meet person, some time in May next, chosen to inspect all such sheep as shall be there purchased to be transported off from said island, which person shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of said office; and no person or persons, whatsoever, who shall, after the tenth day of June next, purchase any sheep on the said island of Martha's Vineyard in order to transport them from thence to any other place, shall presume to carry them off in any vessel or boat, whatsoever, before he or they shall have presented them to, and caused them to be viewed by, the inspector for the town from whence they are to be transported, and shall have shewn to such inspector a certificate, under the hand of each and every person of whom they shall have purchased said sheep, declaring the number and particular mark or marks of all sheep by them sold to such person or persons transporting them as aforesaid. Inspectors of sheep to be chosen in Martha's Vineyard.

[SECT. 2.] And such inspector is hereby authorized to make a fair entry, in a book to be kept for that purpose, of the said number and marks of such sheep, with the Christian and sirname, occupation and dwelling-place, as well of the person or persons of whom the same were last bought, as of the present owners or shippers, and also of the master of the vessel or boat in which they are designed to be transported; and shall deliver a certificate, under his hand, of such entry by him made, unto the shipper, directed to the master of such vessel or boat, by name: for which entry and certificate the said inspector shall demand and receive of the purchaser the sum of one shilling for every score of sheep therein mentioned, and so in proportion for a greater or less number. Inspector's duty.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That if any person or persons shall, after the publication of this act, presume to ship or transport, from the aforesaid island, any sheep which have not been first viewed and ent[e]red as aforesaid, or if the master or commander of any vessel or boat shall receive, take, or suffer to be received or taken, any sheep, on board the vessel or boat under his command, in order to transport them from off said island, without such certificate as aforesaid, or any other sheep than what agree with the description therein given, every shipper or master so Penalty for taking off sheep without inspection.

offending shall forfeit and pay, for each and every sheep by him so received or taken on board his said vessel or boat, the sum of twenty shillings; one moiety thereof to be to the use of the poor of the town where the offence is committed, and the other moiety to him or them who shall inform and sue for the same, by action, bill, plaint, information, or presentment of the grand jurors, in any of his majesty's courts, within this province, before whom the same may be cognizable; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Inspectors to inform of breaches of this act.

[SECT. 4.] And the inspector in each town on the aforesaid island is hereby required to take care that this act be duly observed, and to inform of all transgressions thereof.

Continuance.

[SECT. 5.] This act to be in force for the space of one year from the tenth day of June next, and no longer. [Passed and published April 21, 1761.

NOTES.—There were four sessions of the General Court this year, at all of which acts were passed. Of the engrossments of these acts the following chapters are missing; viz., 1, 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 31 and 32: all, however, were printed; chapters 11 and 18 separately.

Governor Pownall having been recalled, the government devolved on Lieutenant-Governor Hutchinson from June 3, to August 2,—the date of Governor Bernard's arrival. Tidings of a demise of the crown reached Boston, December 27, during the third session of the Assembly. Although the news was unofficially communicated, it was followed, on the 30th, by proclamation of George III., as king, and the Legislature continued its session without prorogation.

The following is the title of the only private act passed this year. It was included with the printed public acts, but there seems no reason for distinguishing it from other private acts which are reserved for the Appendix:—

"An Act to enable the Executors of the last Will and Testament of Sir William Pepperrell, Baronet, deceased, and the other Proprietors of certain Tracts of Land in the Townships of Biddeford and Scarborough to sue for any Trespasses committed upon said Tracts of Land within five years preceeding the present Session of this Court in the present County of York."—[Passed April 18; published April 21, 1761.

The acts of the first session were duly certified for transmission, July 4, 1760, and those of the second session, August 30, 1760. The date of their delivery to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, does not appear; but, on the 25th of November, they were referred to the committee on plantation affairs, by whom they were, in turn, referred to the Board of Trade two days later. On the 9th of December, the Board, considering that all these acts, except chapters 2, 4, 7, 9 and 13, had expired by their own limitation, ordered these five, only, to be referred to Sir Matthew Lamb, "for his opinion thereupon in point of Law." Sir Matthew Lamb having reported, May 19, 1761, that he had no objection, &c., to these acts, they were again considered by the Board, on the 22d, and "ordered to lye by probationary, until the further effect & operation of them sh[d] be known." No record of further action on these chapters has been discovered.

The acts of the third session were duly certified for transmission, February 28, 1761, and, on the 30th of May, they were delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting. They were referred to the committee on plantation affairs, June 25th, and, four days later, referred to the Board of Trade, to examine and report, &c. The Board of Trade referred them to Sir Matthew Lamb, "for his opinion thereupon in point of Law," November 11, 1761. Sir Matthew Lamb reported, January 22, 1762, that he had no objection, &c. This report was received by the Board, on the 26th; and, on the second of February, the Board ordered that such of these acts "as are not expired should lye by probationary untill the further effect and operation of them should be known." Chapters 16, and 18, were specially considered, as will be seen in the notes to those acts respectively, but no record of further action on the remaining acts of this session has been discovered.

The acts of the fourth session, including the private act above described, were duly certified for transmission, June 18, 1761, but were not delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, until the 19th of September following. On the 24th, they were referred to the committee on plantation affairs, and, the next day, referred to the Board of Trade, where they were considered, January 13, 1762, and ordered to be sent to Sir Matthew Lamb, for his opinion, &c. Sir Matthew's report, dated May 22, 1762, was read and considered by the Board, June 9, 1762, but, although he submitted the objections hereafter given, in notes to chapters 25, 33 and 34, the Board passed an order that all the acts of this session "should lye by probationary, until the further operation and effect of them should be known," which is the last action upon them that has been discovered in the Public-Record Office.

Chap. 3. In the campaign of 1757, as has been shown (note to 1757-58, chap. 30, and 1759-60, chap. 16, ante), the Crown furnished, through contractors, the subsistence of the provincial forces; and this being all that was promised by Mr. Secretary Fox, and by his successor, Mr. Pitt, in his letter of February, 1757, no claim was made by the province for reimbursement of the expenses incurred in levying, paying, arming and clothing the men enlisted for that campaign in the Massachusetts quota. For the campaign of 1758, however, Mr. Pitt, as an additional inducement for the raising the large contingent expected of this province, promised not only to furnish a train of artillery, and all necessary arms and transportation, but that strong recommendations would be made to parliament to grant a proper compensation for such other expenses as the province had borne, exclusively, in previous years. The recommendations made to parliament in accordance with this promise resulted in a grant of £200,000, to be distributed among all the North-American provinces engaged in the war, "as their active vigor and strenuous efforts shall be thought by His Majesty to merit." (See Journals of the House of Commons, April 30, 1759.)

The subject of soliciting and receiving the province's proportion of this grant, led to unhappy differences in the Legislature, and between the Agent and his constituents. The dissatisfaction with Mr. Bollan's proceedings in procuring and forwarding the provision-money for 1756, seems to have been shared by the Governor (Pownall); and he, having received an address from the Assembly at their June session, entreating him to represent to the King the distressed state of the province, prepared a most earnest letter, in their behalf, to Mr. Pitt, which, however, he did not forward until after tidings of the grant had been received from Mr. Bollan.

At the beginning of the October session, a vote of thanks from the Assembly was tendered to the Governor, for his urgent representation to Mr. Pitt; and, on the strength of this approval, the Governor took occasion, in the following vacation, to write again to the Secretary of State that the receipt or delay of the provision money "would greatly promote or might greatly obstruct" measures for raising troops for the campaign of 1759, and to propose to him that the money be sent through the government contractors, consigned to the province Treasurer, in the same manner in which the grant for the expenses of the year 1755 had been forwarded. He also wrote to the contractors informing them of his letter to Pitt, and suggesting the propriety of thus transmitting not only this money but, also, the expected grant for reimbursing the expenses of the province, in 1758. Of his letter to Mr. Pitt the Governor forwarded a copy to Mr. Bollan.

This interference by the Governor, though evidently prompted by a sincere regard for the welfare of the province—which he deemed in peril, from the disagreement of the Council and Representatives on the subject of authorizing some party to receive the grant, and the failure of Mr. Bollan to devise some short way out of the difficulty—was, with good reason, resented by the latter.

In the act authorizing the receipt and transmission of the Cape-Breton money (1748-49, chap. 15), Admiral Warren and Eliakim Palmer were joined with the agent for that purpose; and this precedent was now availed of to join Mr. John Pownall, brother of the Governor, and, at this time, Secretary of the Lords of Trade, who was well informed on all matters relating to the province, and warmly interested in its welfare.

The Council having voted, in the December session, that Mr. Bollan be directed to solicit the compensation for the campaign of the same year (1758), and the House having refused to concur in this vote, the Governor, on the 17th of February, 1759, feeling that Mr. Bollan's authority was virtually suspended, wrote to his brother, urgently entreating him to second the efforts he himself had been making with Mr. Pitt and the contractors, to have the money forwarded.

At the opening of the February session this action of the Governor was communicated by him to the Assembly, and thus Mr. John Pownall was brought prominently forward as a person proper to be associated with the Agent in this affair. Accordingly, on the 28th of March, he was chosen to that place by both branches, of which fact prompt notice was sent to him by the Secretary. A mere copy of this vote, without any formal power of attorney, being the sole credential received by Mr. Pownall from the province, Mr. Bollan felt obliged to object to the sufficiency of his authority, both in duty to the officers of the treasury, and to prevent the recoupments, delays and obstructions, which, upon the discovery of such an irregularity, must, inevitably, have ensued in negotiating future payments. Mr. Pownall lost no time in notifying Secretary Oliver of Mr. Bollan's objection, whereupon a regular power of attorney, in conformity to the precedent of 1748, was prepared by order of the General Court, and transmitted to Mr. Pownall, by the Secretary, October 15, 1759. A joint letter of instructions was also sent to Messrs. Bollan and Pownall.

While the letters just described were preparing, Mr. Bollan was writing to Secretary Oliver, fully stating his objections to Mr. Pownall's appointment, and setting forth the difficulties that he encountered through the repeated interference of other persons claiming to act in behalf of the province. Notwithstanding the inharmonious and wavering conduct of the Assembly, Mr. Bollan continued to labor assiduously to procure for the province a liberal apportionment of the grant; but, in the midst of these labors, the General Court voted to dismiss him from the agency. This vote was passed February 12, 1760; but the next General Court reinstated him on the 6th of June following, and, on the 20th of the same month, the present chapter, joining Mr. Pownall in the business of receiving and transmitting the compensation money was passed.

Before notice of this last appointment had been received by him, Mr. Pownall wrote to the Secretary, enclosing a copy of his letter, of the same date, to Mr. Bollan, expressing a desire to "wave any claim" under the letter of attorney of October 1759, and expressing his conviction that this business could not be in better hands than Mr. Bollan's, who was "much better acquainted," than he, "with transactions of this kind." Mr. Bollan also wrote that he hoped that Mr.

Pownall's letter would "prevent all future difficulties touching the receipt of the money payable at the treasury for the use of the Province." The matter here rested, with the exception of the business of forwarding accounts and vouchers from the province, until August 8, 1760, when Mr. Bollan wrote to Secretary Oliver that he had received the province's share of the grant.

On the 8th of October following, the money was shipped on the Fowey, man-of-war, Capt. Tonyn. It arrived at Boston, March 14, 1761, and, on the sixth of May, Mr. Treasurer Gray entered a credit to Mr. Bollan for 28,528 johannes, and 3,000 moidores (fourths and eighths), which had arrived by the Fowey and which—the former being reckoned at 48 shillings, and the latter at 36 shillings—amounted to £73,860, 13s. 6d. province money.

"June 20th, 1760, Sir, The General Court having appointed you Agent of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay, at the Court of Great Britain, as Appears by their Vote of the 6th Instant, and his Honour the Lieutenant Governor, at the Request of the two Houses, having Commissioned you for that purpose,

Your Instructions are.

1st That upon the Receipt of the Provinces Proportion of the Parliamentary Grant of £200,000 Sterling, you cause it to be shiped on Board one of his Majesty's Ships of War, bound to Boston, New York or Nova Scotia, and if to either of the last mentioned Places, endeavour to obtain leave for such Ships proceeding to Boston with the Money but you are to Ship it, thô you should not obtain that leave as the Province Frigate can bring it from either of said Places, and you are to cause the said Money to be fully insurred, Consigning it to the Treasurer of the Province, for the time being, or his order—

* * * * * *

2dly With regard to the Provinces Proportion of the Parliamentary Grant to the Colonies, for their Military Services in 1758, An Act has passed (the former power being judged insufficient) impowering you, in Conjunction with John Pownall Esqr to receive it—You are to follow the Instructions that will be given you in Conjunction with Mr Pownall, upon this Head."—Extracts from the instructions to Agent Bollan, Council Records, vol. XXIII., p. 481.

"Boston June 20: 1760.

Gentlemen, Some doubt having arisen with regard to the Validity of the Power sent you to receive this Provinces Proportion of the Grant made by Parliament to the Colonies for their Military Services, in the Year 1758, The General Court have passed an Act Impowering you jointly, or in certain Cases Severally, to receive said Proportion for the use of the Province, concerning which it is the desire of the General Court, that as soon as may be after the Receipt of the Money, you cause it to be shiped on Board one of his Majesty's Ships of War, bound to Boston, New York or Nova Scotia, and if to either of the last mentioned Places that you would endeavour to obtain Leave for such Ships proceeding with it to Boston; but thô you should not obtain that leave, you are to Ship it notwithstanding, as the Province Frigate can bring it from either of those places, and you are also desired to cause the same to be fully Insurred, and to Consign it to the Treasurer of the Province, for the time being or his Order.

In Council Voted that the Secretary be directed to prepare a fair Copy of the foregoing Letter to Mr Agent Bollan, and John Pownall Esquires and sign the same, in the name of the General Court, and transmit it as soon as may be.

Chap. 10. It will be observed that this chapter was enacted on the same day with the act joining Mr. Pownall in the business of receiving and transmitting the province's share of the grant for reimbursing a portion of the expenses incurred in the campaign of 1758 (ante, chap. 3), and that, in the present chapter, Mr. Trecothick was to act only in case of the sickness or death of the Agent.

Governor Pownall had been nominated to the post of governor of South Carolina; and news of his recall had come to him in the latter part of February, although he did not sail for England until the third of June, up to which time he continued to act in his office. His brother's resignation of his joint commission with the Agent, followed on the 20th of July, which, though a month later than the date of this act, was some time before he could have received tidings of its passage.

Mr. Bollan's new commission as agent and a copy of the present act, reached him in August. Fresh instructions had been prepared for him; and a detailed statement of expenditures by the province for the campaign of 1759, in which Massachusetts was credited with a contingent of 6,500 men, was promised. Instructions were also prepared for Mr. Trecothick. Parliament had already granted £200,000, for reimbursing part of the expenses of all the colonies for that year (see Journals of House of Commons, March 31, 1760), and Mr. Bollan renewed his applications to the Lords of the Treasury for such an apportionment of that sum to Massachusetts, as would be equitable. In the mean time he applied for leave to return to the province during the next summer, in order to look after his private affairs, explain, in person, the difficulties that had attended his former negotiations, and collect evidence to defend the right of the province against the claims of the Earl of Stirling, and others, to a portion of her eastern territory.

When, in October, he wrote that the 1758-money was shipped on the Fowey, Mr. Bollan had not received the promised statement of expenses for 1759, and he took occasion to mention that fact in his letter. The accounts had been sent, but, as was supposed, had miscarried, and, on January 9, 1761, duplicate copies were forwarded. It appears, however, that the accounts, and a triplicate copy, reached Mr. Bollan on the sixth of February. In the mean time, he had procured an order from the Lords of the Treasury, for delay until their arrival. On examining the copies sent him they were found incomplete.

The demise of the Crown occurring in October, and rendering necessary the renewal of commissions, gave Mr. Bollan an opportunity to suggest to the General Court the proper way to appoint an agent; and, in a previous letter, he had already asked for express orders concerning the transmission of money, so as to avoid, for the future, the difficulties that had attended former shipments.

Further statements of accounts were forwarded to the Agent on the 6th and 17th of June; but the grant had been already apportioned (April 28), and £30,634 allotted to Massachusetts. Four days before the second of these letters was dispatched to him, Mr. Bollan wrote to the Secretary that, after the warrants for payment of the grant had been made and signed by the King, a mistake was discovered, which made it necessary to cancel them; and, thereupon, new warrants were prepared, which were not delivered until the fourteenth of May, and then without the letter from the Secretary of the Treasury upon which, alone, the warrants could be paid.

These warrants were drawn upon the Paymaster-General; and, upon presenting the warrant for this province, to have it examined preparatory to payment, Mr. Bollan was informed that payment would not be made immediately, and not wholly in money, but that a moiety would be in Exchequer tallies. Having arranged that one letter from the Secretary should answer for all the colonies, and having adjusted minor details, including the settlement of fees, &c. he called for the letter, at the time appointed, and was then informed that payment was stopped, by order of the Lords of the Treasury, upon application of the Earl of Kinnoul, late Paymaster-

General, whose accounts were unliquidated, owing to an irregularity in the repayment of the loan from Gov. Shirley, in 1756.

The vote of the General Court granting Mr. Bollan's request for leave of absence reached him before the middle of April, but he did not feel at liberty to avail himself of this privilege until all matters relating to reimbursement for the expenses of 1759 were so far settled as that the money could be obtained by the province without further application to the government. He succeeded in removing the difficulty with Kinnoul's accounts, and procured a discharge of the order for retaining any portion of the grant to meet that contingency, so that, by the 26th of May, the cash part of the province's share was in his hands, which he promptly took measures for forwarding.

Owing to a scarcity of coin, considerable time was consumed in converting the money into gold, according to instructions, preparatory to shipment. A new difficulty now arose. While proceeding to have the gold put on board the Alcide, man-of-war, which was ready to sail, and in which, with the consent of the Lords of the Admiralty, he had arranged to ship the gold, he received intimations that the Assembly were about to pass, or had passed, an act authorizing bills of exchange to be drawn upon him. Ten days before, he had written to Secretary Oliver of his intention to ship the gold, but, as the drawing of bills would save the province seven per cent, or more, and would obviate difficulties and delay attendant upon the transmission of money, Mr. Bollan concluded to retain the gold, to meet such draughts as might be presented, and immediately notified the General Court of this conclusion, giving his reasons for it at length and expressing the hope that his conduct would meet their approval.

On the first of August the Agent wrote again to the Secretary, for instructions concerning the drawing of bills upon him, he having seen, besides the private letters (mentioned in his former dispatches) giving information upon the subject, a copy of the Boston Post, of June 22, containing an advertisement for subscriptions, to the Treasurer, for bills of exchange on the Agent, for £60,000. (See 1761–62 chap. 3 post.) But no official information of the passage of the act had reached him, nor, on the other hand, had the Exchequer tallies been cashed.

Mr. Bollan appears to have remained at his post, notwithstanding his permission to return, until after Mr. Mauduit had entered upon his duties, as his successor. (See chapter 48 post.)

"Boston June 20th 1760.—

Sir The General Court of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay, have appointed you (in Case of the Death, or other Incapacity of William Bollan Esqr) to receive the Provinces Proportion of a Grant of £200,000 Sterling, made by the Parliament to the Colonies, as a Compensation for their Military Services, in the Year 1759, In Case you should receive it, it is the desire of the General Court, that as soon as may be, after the Receipt thereof you would cause it to be Shiped, on board one of his Majesty's Ships of War bound to Boston, New York or Nova Scotia, and if to either of the two last mentioned Places, that you would endeavour to obtain leave for such Ships proceeding with the money to Boston, but thō you should not obtain that leave, you are to Ship it Notwithstanding, as the Province Ship can bring it from either of those Places and you are directed to cause the same to be fully insured,

In Case Mr Bollan should receive the said Money, and should receive it, before an Oppertunity offers to Ship it, he will be desired to lodge it in some Publick Bank under such Circumstances, as that (in Case of his Death, or other Incapacity) you may be able to demand, and receive it for the use of the Province, and in that Case you will be pleased to ship, and insure as abovementioned, Consigning it to the Treasurer of the Province, for the time being, or his Order.

In Council Ordered that the Secretary prepare a fair draft of the foregoing Instructions to Barlow Trecothick Esqr and sign, and transmit the same as soon as may be.

"Sept. 9, 1762. Upon the Petition of Daniel Witham and Others Selectmen of Gloucester. The following Order passed the Court Viz[t]

In the House of Representatives; Whereas the Selectmen of the Town of Gloucester have represented to this House That William Somes was chosen one of their Constables in the Year 1760, and that there was committed to him agreeable to Law a list of Province and Town Taxes to the amount of three hundred and forty nine pounds eight shillings, part of which sum being about Eighty three pounds was collected by said Somes; upon which he failed in his business, all his Estate was Attached by his Creditors, and he committed to Goal being thus rendered incapable of compleating the Collection, he Constituted and impowered Samuel Allen of said Gloucester by his Power of Attorney to collect the remainder, part of which he said Allen has collected; but inasmuch as it is doubted by many of the Inhabitants whether they are obliged to pay said Allen, and it is also doubted by said Allen whether he be obliged to account for the same.

Therefore Resolved That Samuel Allen be empowered and he is hereby fully Authorized and empowered to collect all such Sums in said Lists which he received from William Somes as are not collected, and that he be obliged to account for the same together with what he has already collected in the same manner as if he had been legally chosen and sworn for that purpose—In Council Read and Concurred Consented to by the Governor."—Ibid., p. 460.

1713-14, ch. 14.
1717-18, ch. 3.

Laws printed by order of your Lordships in England I find that upon the determining of a former Act of Bankruptcy in this Province there was Enacted and allowed in the year 1717 an Act entitled an Act to enable the Commissioners for Bankrupts Estates to finish the business of their Commission, which had its effect. This Precedent was sufficient for me to recommend the Case of the Debtors circumstanced as above. As I acquainted the Members of the House that I should pass no Bill whose effect was not suspended till His Majesty's pleasure could be known and as a Suspending Clause is a matter which they will never come into, We agreed upon the following Method That a Bill shou'd be brought in & accepted but upon reading be referr'd over from Sessions to Sessions till His Majᵗʸ's pleasure might be known And that in the mean while that there might be no fraudulent secreting, embezzling or unequal application of effects of the Debtors then in the hands of the Assignees And that the Creditors thus stripp'd of all their effects might be enabled by labour or otherwise to support themselves. An Order of Court shou'd pass upon the special Petition of the Bankrupts staying all proceedings as to said persons and their Effects in the hands of the Assignees from time to time as said Bill was referr'd. I humbly beg leave to referr this matter to Your Lordship's consideration that I may receive directions therein, as the channel into which I have been so happy to conduct this business has the full effect of a suspending Clause."—*Gov. "We have received your Letters to us dated the 22nd and 23rd of November last, and having referred the Draught of the Bill for enabling Bankrupts to finish their Accounts &c. to our Counsel at Law, for his opinion upon it, We shall, as soon as he has made his Report take it into our consideration and lay it before His Majesty for his directions upon it.

The dutiful regard you have shown to His Majesty's Instructions, in the manner in which this Affair has been conducted, cannot fail of meeting His Majesty's approbation, and the Order made by the General Court for the stay of proceedings in the several Cases of Bankrupts brought before that Court by Petition, appears to us to have been just and proper.

This Observation leads us to take notice of what you say in your letter of the 22nd of Novr concerning the unwillingness of the House of Representatives to admit of suspending Clauses being inserted in their Acts, which appears to us to proceed from a total misapprehension of His Majesty's Instructions, which are not directory to the House of Representatives in the manner of the framing their Bills, but to you only as to the manner in which you are to apply that Assent or Negative, which by the frame and principles of the Constitution, is vested in you; and therefore these Instructions are so far from being an Infringement of the rights of the House of Representatives in framing their Bills, that it is a gracious condescension on the part of His Majesty by which Your Negative is suspended, and you are permitted to assent to such Acts as you must otherwise, according to your Instructions, or agreeable to your own judgment and discretion, have rejected, in order that they may be reserved for His Majesty's personal consideration.

The Instructions therefore are in favour of the people, as the Bills, to which those Instructions refer, passed by their Representatives, could not otherwise have their existence as Acts, and consequently could not have been laid before His Majesty in so short and so easy a manner.

This therefore appearing to us to be the true sense and meaning of His Majesty's Instructions, We have thought proper thus fully to write our sentiments to you upon it; and at the same time to transmit to you the inclosed Resolutions of the House of Commons upon consideration of certain votes of the Assembly of Jamaica in 1753, the third of which Resolutions has reference to the case of the suspending Clauses; hoping they will serve to clear up all doubts upon this matter and convince the House of Representatives of Massachusetts Bay of their misapprehension of it; But if, notwithstanding this reasoning and great authority, they shall still persist to misapprehend and misrepresent it, It will be for His Majesty's consideration, what method it may be proper to take to prevent His Majesty's subjects from being any longer imposed upon by such Misrepresentations."—*Lords of Trade to Gov. I have considered the Draught of the said Act and find that an Act concerning Bankrupts and for the relief of their Creditors which was passed in this Province expired in the Year 1716 and that in the following year 1717 an Act was passed to enable the Commissioners for Bankrupts Estates to finish the business of their Commissions. The Act now proposed to be passed is of the like nature of the last mentioned Act of 1717 and seems to be as necessary for the purposes mentioned in the said Act and I have no objection thereto in point of law."—*Report of Sir Mat. We have had under our consideration the Draught of a Bill prepared by the Council and Assembly of the Province of the Massachusets Bay in Novr last enti tuled, An Act for finishing such Commissions as have been begun to be acted upon & have not been finished, during the continuance in force of an Act providing Remedy for Bankrupts & their Creditors.

In Order to explain the nature and object of this Bill, and the intention of the Legislature in framing it, Thomas Pownall Esquire your Majesty's Governor of the said Province has represented to us, that Your Majesty's Royal Disallowance of the Act providing Remedy for Bankrupts, having, upon its arrival in June last, put an entire stop to all further proceedings under that Act, those Debtors, who had delivered up their persons and effects into the hands of Assignees, remain'd under cruel circumstances and their Creditors without equitable remedy: That many Debtors and Creditors having applied to him for relief and the Council and Assembly being averse to the passing of any Act with a Clause of Suspension, he had proposed and they agreed to this method of preparing the Draught of a Bill to be laid before Your Majesty for your Royal approbation.

We have referr'd this Bill to the consideration of Sir Mathew Lamb, one of Your Majesty's Counsel at Law, who has reported to us that 'he finds that an Act 'concerning Bankrupts and for the relief of their Creditors, formerly pass'd in this 'Province expired in the year 1716; and that in the following year 1717 an Act was 'passed to enable the Commissioners for Bankrupts Estates to finish the business 'of their Commissions. That the Act now proposed to be passed is of the like 'nature of the last mentioned Act of 1717 and seems to be as necessary for the 'purposes mention'd in the said Act; and that he has no objection thereto in point 'of Law.'

As therefore the object of this Bill appears to us to be equitable and necessary, and as the method which the Legislature has adopted for the attainment of the end proposed, is regular and conformable to your Majesty's Instructions, We beg leave humbly to lay the said Bill before Your Majesty, together with the annexed Copy of Governor Pownall's Letter to us concerning it, to the end that he may receive Your Majesty's Directions to give his Assent to the passing of the said Bill into a Law."—Report of Lords of Trade, Mar. 12, 1760: "*Mass. "It is necessary however we should observe to you, that as the Act for the better observation of the Lords Day does repeal other Acts passed for the same purpose in 1692, 1716 and 1727, all of which appear'd to have been confirm'd by the Crown, it was your duty in obedience to His Majesty's Instructions, not to have assented to an Act for rescinding the former Laws, without having first transmitted a Draught of it, for His Majesty's approbation, or without a Clause being inserted therein, suspending its execution, until His Majesty's pleasure could have been known.

We are not without approbation,* that the very few instances there are, in the administration of your Predecessors, of a due observance of that Instruction, to which this case refers, may have produced the like inattention in you; But as it appears to us that this Instruction is founded upon just constitutional principles of Government it ought never to be departed from, but in cases of real exigency, not admitting of the loss of so much time as would necessarily intervene between the passing of the Act and the notification of the Crown's assent to it.

This Act however does not come within that description and therefore you ought not to have assented to it, under the circumstances we have stated before the Crown's assent could have been known."—*Lords of Trade to Gov. "I have just received Your Lordships letter dated Feb^ry^ 4^th^ and in regard to Your Lordships Observations on the Act for the better observation of the Lords Day, would lose no time in informing Your Lordships of what occurred to me in passing that Act.

I did not consider it to be a repealing Act, but rather a consolidating one: tho' when many Acts are reduced into one, it is expedient to repeal the others, yet if the substance of them is preserved in the New Act, the old ones are not virtually tho' formally repealed. If I had thought it to be within the spirit of the instruction and therefore to have required a suspending Clause, I must have negatived the Act, for such is the present prejudice against suspending Clauses, that they would give up an useful Act, which I take this to be, rather than agree to a suspending Clause and perhaps this may have been the reason why my predecessors have not strictly observed that instruction.

But tho' I think this an useful Act as it appears to me to be a quieting one, I am not so well satisfied with the Act additional to it which passed the next Session. And yet I could not negative it, because I could not avow the reasons of my disapprobation of it, which were founded on a suspicion that the Powers thereby granted to the Wardens was too great to be committed to officious and injudicious people, into whose hands it must sometimes fall, especially as an extraordinary show of zeal would often direct the choice."—Gov. "My Lords, Your Lordships will observe among the Acts of Assembly passed here in April last one for erecting part of the County of Hampshire into a new County called Berkshire and another for erecting a Plantation called Pontoosuck into a Town by the name of Pitsfield. Together with the Bill for the new County were sent up for my consent five other bills constituting New Townships 4 whereof are within the County of Berkshire. As these bills were wholly silent about these Towns sending Members, I by a Message informed the House of my instruction on that subject and desired they would alter the Bills so that I might be able to pass them (See Votes 354) This produced some popular harangues which ended in an Answer to my Message as in the Votes 360. The Towns themselves were willing to waive their right of sending Representatives, but some gentlemen in the House opposed the allowing them to waive their priviledge, the result of which was I rejected four of the Bills but in regard to Pontoosuck, the circumstances were so distinguishing that I could not so easily get rid of that. This Town was appointed immediately one of the two County Towns and from its situation and other advantages will probably be the only County Town. In favor of this Town's sending a Representative it was averred that it was not intended by that Instruction to prevent new settled Counties being represented but only to put a stop to multiplying Representatives in the old Counties; And that this has been understood in regard to Pownalborough the chief Town in the new County of Lincoln, which it was expected would soon be allowed to send a Member I could not either admit or contradict this and therefore I took a middle way I passed the bill upon their adding a Clause suspending the Election in 1763. By these means if Your Lordships should disapprove it's sending a Representative there will be time enough for the condemning the Bill before the right takes place. But I flatter myself that your Lordships will not disapprove of this Town's sending a Representative. With this one included the County will have but 3 Representatives, and as it promises to fill very fast will probably soon have occasion to petition for more. I hope however, if I should be wrong, the caution with which I have proceeded will in part excuse me. 1759–60, chap. 23, and note.

It seems plain to me that the prohibiting instruction had its rise from a practice which had prevailed of dividing Towns and thereby increasing the Members in the Old Counties and was chiefly intended against that. It is also obvious that the new Settled Counties have a right to be represented. But yet there is such danger to be apprehended from the house of Representatives continually increasing that it is time to put a stop to it by some means, tho' it were to be wished that it could be done without denying new Settlers the natural and constitutional right of being represented. The increase of the number of Representatives seems to endanger the Constitution itself. By the Charter the Council and by usage many other Officers are elected by the Council and Representatives voting promiscuously. In the year 1718 there were but 91 Writs issued, in 1692 when the Charter was opened probably not above 84, Now there is near 170 And yet the Council keeps its old Number of 28, So that the Assembly were to the Council at the time of their first Meeting as 3 to 1 now they are 6 to 1 and consequently the Councils share in Elections is diminished by half. It is also known by experience, that a large number of people do not dispatch the public business so well as a more confined number would do, And yet I fear it will be found very difficult to persuade the Assembly to reduce their number to purpose, although it would be very agreeable to many Towns to be discharged from the expense of sending a Member, or what would be more proper, several Towns might be united into one borough, as in Scotland. Something of this kind should be done, before any considerable addition of Members should be made from the New Counties.

The Assembly has since got over the difficulty of suspending the right of sending Representatives in the bills for erecting Townships. In the bills of the last Session may be seen several instances of that clause being inserted, but they are not in a new County, excepting one which is taken out of an old Town."—*Gov. "Sir, We have received your Letters to us dated the 3^rd 6^th and 27^th of August last, and the Papers transmitted with them.

The subject matter of the first of these Letters is of so great importance, and so many Doubts and Questions have occurred to us upon a consideration of those parts of the Charter and of the Act of 1692, which relate to the Constitution of the House of Representatives that We do not care hastily to pass a Judgment upon it; We are convinced however that the directions contained in the 40^th Article of his late Majesty's Instructions to you, were by no means a proper Remedy to the Evil complained of, and have therefore omitted it in the Draught approved and signed by his present Majesty, intending when the Act for establishing the Township of Pittsfield shall come before us, to take that opportunity of laying before his Majesty our Sentiments at large upon this matter; In the mean time We cannot but be of opinion that those Acts for erecting Townships which are totally silent as to the right of choosing a Representative, are most consistent with the Constitution as settled by the Act of 1692 by which the Circumstances under which each Township shall elect one or more Representatives are fixed and ascertained."—*Lords of Trade to Gov. Gentlemen of the House of Representatives

In the last Session of the last General Court, I laid before the House an Instruction concerning passing Bills for erecting Townships, whereby I was disallowed from passing any Bill of that kind without a clause to suspend the right of sending a Representative: But as it seemed to me that this instruction was rather calculated to prevent the multiplying Representatives in the old Counties, than intended to hinder the new Counties from being represented at all: I submitted this matter to the Lords of Trade in such a manner that they have been pleased to recommend the omission of that instruction in the Sett I have received from his present Majesty, and I am accordingly discharged from it. Lamb's report, May* 22, 1762: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 78, L. l., 31, in Public-Record Office.

"Sir, His Majesty's Counsel at Law, appointed for the service of this Board, having made his Report to us upon the Acts of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay passed in April, June and July 1761, We have had them under our consideration and as they do, for the most part, relate to the internal Police* and more private œconomical concerns of the Province, nothing material has occurred to us upon any of them, except the Acts which are for incorporating and establishing new Counties and Towns, more particularly those for incorporating the County of Berks and Town of Pittsfield, mentioned in your letter to us of the 3^rd of August 1761.

We entirely agree with you in Opinion that the great increase of the House of Representatives, whilst the number of the Council remains fixed and unalterable, must, from the nature and form of the Constitution as established by the Charter, have very pernicious consequences, and destroy that Balance which we presume was originally intended to be kept up between the Upper and Lower House of Assembly.

It appears however to us to be an evil resulting from the original frame of the Constitution in what regards the right of the people to choose Representatives, laid down in the Charter itself and in the Act of the 4^th of W^m and Mary Cap. 19 which was founded upon the Charter and has been confirmed by the Crown, and therefore We much doubt the Propriety of any measures on the part of Government which might have the effect to restrain the operation of those fundamental Principles of the Constitution.

In this view and consideration of the Question, it seems to us, that the Remedy to the Evil must lye in the discretion of the Constituent Parts of the Government, and which we observe with pleasure have, in many cases where Townships have been divided in the old Settlements given the part set off all the Privileges of Incorporation, except that of choosing a Representative. All therefore that we can do upon this occasion is to recommend to you to take care that in every future division of a Township by Act of Legislature you do use your best endeavours either that the Part set off be so formed as that it will have all the benefit of incorporation without being entitled under the Charter or the Act of 1692 to choose a Representative or that if its circumstances be such as that it is absolutely necessary to be incorporated as a Township, there be the like Clauses of Exceptions as those We have just mentioned or that the Inhabitants be directed to join in the choice of a Representative with those of the Township from which they have been set off.

As to those Settlements in the Eastern Parts of the Province, which from an increase of inhabitants are become entitled to incorporation, they have, in our opinion, a clear indisputable right to be represented in Assembly, not only in virtue of the Charter and the Act of 1692, but of those Principles of reason and justice, which require that they should have some share in the formation of those Laws, by which they are to be bound and governed, and therefore We cannot disapprove of the Act for erecting the Town of Pittsfield, commending however the caution and prudence with which you acted in taking care that the right of choosing a Representative should not take place till His Majesty's pleasure might be known upon the Act."—*Lords of Trade to Gov. ACTS,

PASSED 1761–62.

ACTS

Passed at the Session begun and held at Boston, on the Twenty-seventh day of May, A.D. 1761.

CHAPTER 1.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING THE SUM OF THIRTEEN HUNDRED POUNDS, FOR THE SUPPORT OF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNOR.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the sum of thirteen hundred pounds be and hereby is granted unto his most excellent majesty, to be paid out of the public treasury to his excellency, Francis Bernard, Esquire, captain-general and governor-in-chief in and over his majesty's province of the Massachusetts Bay, to enable him to carry on the affairs of government. [Passed June 5 ;* published July 11.

Grant of £1,300, for the support of his majesty's governor.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT TO PREVENT SOLDIERS AND SEAMEN IN HIS MAJESTY'S SERVICE FROM BEING ARRESTED FOR DEBT.

For the more speedy and effectual levying of soldiers, and to prevent their being arrested for debt, or their defrauding the government of the bounty they may receive,—

Preamble. 1759-60, chap. 18.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That no person who is or shall be engaged in his majesty's service, and in the pay of this province, either as a non-commission officer, private soldier, or seaman, shall, during his continuance therein, be liable to be taken out of his majesty's service, by any process or execution (unless for some criminal matter), for any sum under the value of ten pounds sterling; nor for any greater sum, until oath shall be made, by the plaintiff or plaintiffs, before one of the justices of the court out of which the execution or process shall issue, or before two justices of the peace, quorum unus, in the county where the plaintiff or plaintiffs may happen to be, that, to his or their knowledge, there is, bonâ fide, due from such person as the process or execution is desired to issue against, the sum of ten pounds sterling, at least, and was due on the fourth day of April last; nor, in either of the cases aforesaid, shall the soldier or soldiers be taken out of said service (in causes criminal only excepted), unless the plaintiff or plaintiffs, or the person in

Soldiers and seamen in his majesty's service not liable to be arrested.

* Signed July 11, according to the record.

whose favour the execution issued, shall pay the bounty money the said soldier received, unto the justice or justices who shall administer the oath aforesaid; in which case said justice or justices shall forthwith transmit the same to the treasurer of the province, particularly mentioning for whom said bounty money was paid; said sum to be recovered, in the case aforesaid, of the soldier, by action of debt brought therefor by the person that paid the same: and every non-commission officer, private soldier, or seaman, whose body, contrary to the true intent of this act, shall be arrested, by mean process or execution, after his being inlisted into said service, may and shall be set at liberty, by any two justices of the peace, quorum unus, or by one of the justices of the court where such process issued, upon application made by him or his superiour officer, and proof of his being entred into the service aforesaid.

[SECT. 2.] And when it shall so happen that any non-commission officer, private soldier, or seaman, shall be actually committed to goal on any execution, and shall be liberated as aforesaid, after his being dismissed from said service the clerk of the court from whence the execution issued may and hereby is enjoined to give an alias execution, upon the creditor's application therefor.

Provided, nevertheless, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 3.] That no such non-commission officer, private soldier, or seaman, as aforesaid, shall have his person exempted from arrests for any sum or sums due for the publick tax for the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT TO IMPOWER THE PROVINCE TREASURER TO DRAW BILLS OF EXCHANGE UPON THE AGENT OF THE PROVINCE, IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the parliament of Great Britain has made a grant of two hundred thousand pounds sterling, to enable his majesty to recompence his northern colonies in America, for their military services in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, a proportion of which grant, it is humbly expected, will be assigned this province,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Province treasurer empowered to draw bills of exchange, on the agent, for a sum not exceeding £60,000, on certain conditions.

[SECT. 1.] That the province treasurer be and he hereby is impowered and directed to draw bills of exchange on William Bollan, Esq., agent for said province in Great Britain, or, in case of his death or absence, on Barlow Trecothick, Esq., for a sum not exceeding sixty thousand pounds sterling; and the said bills shall be drawn on the following conditions; viz., that for every hundred pounds sterling for which such bills shall be drawn, one hundred and thirty-six pounds lawful money of this province shall be paid into the province treasury; that such bills shall be drawn, payable to the persons purchasing the same, or to their order, at thirty days' sight; but if the province agent, or, in case of his death or absence, Barlow Trecothick, Esq., at the expiration of the thirty days, shall not have received the province's proportion of the grant aforesaid, then interest shall be allowed, from the expiration of said thirty days, at the rate of six per cent per annum until paid: and such bills shall not be protested until twelve months shall be expired from their respective dates; and in case of their being returned protested, after the expiration of said twelve months, the province treasurer shall repay the sums received into the treasury for such bills, with lawful interest from their respective dates, but shall not be liable to pay any cost or damages on account of the protesting such bills: said bills to be of the form following; viz.:—

Form of the bill of exchange.

Exchange for £ sterling. (No.), Boston, , 1761.

Sir,

At thirty days' sight of this my first per exchange (second, third and fourth, of the same tenor and date, unpaid), pay unto , or order, pounds sterling, for value received, and charge it to the province of the Massachusetts Bay; but if it is not paid at said thirty days' sight, then pay interest on that sum, from the expiration of said thirty days until paid, at the rate of six pounds per cent per annum; and if this bill and interest is not paid in one year from the date hereof, I hereby oblige myself, and successors in the office of treasurer of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, to pay said bill, with interest from the date of it, at the above rate, until paid, when it shall be returned with a protest into the office aforesaid, but no other charges or damages: provided, that, if payment shall not be demanded within six month after the date of said protest, the interest shall, from that time, determine and cease.

H. G., Province Treasurer.

To William Bollan, Esq., agent for the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in London, or, in case of his death or absence, to Barlow Trecothick, Esq.

And be it further enacted,

Treasurer to prepare a roll for receiving subscriptions, &c.

[Sect. 2.] That the province treasurer shall and he hereby is directed to prepare, forthwith, a roll for receiving subscriptions for the bills aforesaid, of which he shall give public notice, that all persons inclining may become subscribers. And the said subscription-roll shall lie open to be subscribed, until the first day of July, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one; at which time, if a greater sum than sixty thousand pounds, aforesaid, shall be subscribed, each subscriber shall be intitled to such a part of said proportion, in bills, as his particular subscription shall bear to the whole sum subscribed.

Provided, always,—

No person to subscribe for more than £1,000, or less than £100.

[Sect. 3.] That no person shall be permitted to subscribe for more than one thousand pounds, or less than one hundred pounds, sterling; nor shall any persons be admitted to subscribe, but such as are inhabitants of this province, until the said first day of July next, when, if the sum subscribed shall appear to be less than the sixty thousand pounds sterling, any persons whatsoever shall be allowed to become subscribers for the remainder, and in such sums as they may think proper, preference being given to the inhabitants of this province.

And be it further enacted,

If the sum subscribed for be not paid into the treasury in ten days after notice given, other subscribers may be admitted.

[Sect. 4.] That if the sums subscribed, as aforesaid, shall not be paid into the province treasury within ten days after public notice, given by the treasurer in the Boston Monday's newspapers, that he is ready to draw the bills as aforesaid, then he shall allow any person or persons whatsoever to become subscribers, in room of those who shall neglect to pay their subscriptions until the expiration of the ten days aforesaid; and such new subscribers shall be intitled to such bills upon their paying for them at the rate aforesaid. [Passed June 17; * published July 11.

* Signed July 11, according to the record.

£4,000 for armed vessels.

£10,000 for an additional bounty.

£500 for contingent charges.

And in order to draw said money into the treasury again, and enable the treasurer effectually to discharge the receipts and obligations (with the interest that may be due thereon), by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Preamble.

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That there be and hereby is granted unto his most excellent majesty a tax of fifty-five thousand pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal within this province, according to such rules, and in such proportions on the several towns and districts within this province, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court or assembly at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and to be paid into the public treasury on or before the last day of March then next after.

Tax of £55,000 granted.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That if the general court, at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and some time before the tenth day of June in said year, shall not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by this act are engaged to be, in said year, apportioned, assessed and levied, then and in such case each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their limits, the same proportion of the said sum as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[Sect. 5.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowred and directed, some time in said month of June, in the same year, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the assessors or selectmen of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportions of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the treasury on the aforementioned time; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the last preceeding tax act.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That the treasurer pay the sum of forty-nine thousand one hundred pounds out of such appropriations as shall be directed by warrant, and no other; and the secretary to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and accounts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they direct, such muster-rolls and accounts, after payment thereof.

Treasurer to conform to the appropriations, &c.

Provided, always,—

[Sect. 7.] That the remainder of the sum which shall be brought into the treasury by the taxes ordered by this act to be assessed and levied, over and above what shall be sufficient to discharge the notes and obligations aforesaid, shall be and remain as a stock in the treasury, to be applied as the general court of this province shall hereafter order, and to no other purpose whatsoever. [Passed June 22; * published July 11.

CHAPTER 5.

AN ACT ESTABLISHING A WATCH FOR THE SAFETY AND BETTER SECURING THE GOOD ORDER OF THE TOWN OF BOSTON.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the town of Boston have petitioned this court for their aid, by some act, to enable said town by a watch to secure themselves, by night, against disorders and damage from evil-minded persons or otherwise; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Selectmen to appoint watchmen, their number not to exceed thirty.

[SECT. 1.] That the selectmen of the town of Boston, for the time being, be impowered, and they are hereby authorized and impowered, to appoint such a number of their inhabitants to be watchmen, by night, in the town of Boston, as they shall judge convenient, not exceeding thirty; the town of Boston agreeing to defrey the charge. And the selectmen shall appoint one, of each division of the watch, to be head or constable of that part of the watch; which head is hereby required to keep an account of their doings, and how they find the state of the town, and report to the selectmen once every week, and oftner if required; which watchmen shall have the same power, and be obliged to the same service and duty, as given and required to and from the watchmen of the several towns of this province, in general, by the acts of the general court, of 11th of King William, Chap[r][7th][VII.], and of the 11th of Queen Anne, Chap[r][6th][VI.].

Said watchmen to be accountable for their doings, to the selectmen.

1699-1700, chap. 10.

1712-13, chap. 4.

And, to render the care and labour of the said watch more effectually conducive to the peace, safety and good order of said town of Boston,—

Be it further enacted,

Penalty for opposing or resisting the watch.

[SECT. 2.] That all and every person or persons who shall oppose or resist the said watchmen in the discharge of their service and duty, or strike, abuse or wound them, or any of them, shall severally forfeit and pay for the use of the said town, to be appl[y][i]ed towards discharging the wages of the watch, a sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than forty shillings, besides being liable to an action for all damages to the person or persons abused or wounded; and any two justices of the peace in the county of Suffolk, quorum unus, are hereby authorized to hear and determine the same.

And, forasmuch as considerable numbers of dissolute persons have sometimes riotously met and opposed the watch,—

It is further declared and enacted,

Watchmen empowered to demand aid, &c., and penalty for refusing.

[SECT. 3.] That the said watchmen shall be authorized and impowered, and they hereby are authorized and impowered, to demand aid and assistance; and all and every person or persons refusing to assist him or them of the watch demanding help, shall forfeit and pay a fine of forty shillings, to and for the use of the said town of Boston, to be applied for the payment of the watch as aforesaid: the several forfeitures to be recovered by plaint or information.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of three years from and after the first day of July [next][current †], and no longer. [Passed June 30; * published July 11.

CHAPTER 6.

AN ACT TO INVEST THE COMMITTEE OF THE SECOND PRECINCT IN REHOBOTH WITH CORPORATE POWERS FOR CERTAIN PURPOSES THEREIN MENTIONED.

Preamble.

Whereas the second precinct in Rehoboth, whereof the Reverend Mr. Robert Rogerson is the present pastor, have humbly supplicated this court, setting forth that, by the sale of certain lands they were by this court impowered to sell, they have now the sum of six hundred pounds, and that, by a voluntary subscription among themselves, they can raise the sum of four hundred pounds more; which sums, making together one thousand pounds, they pray may be placed at interest, and the annual interest forever appropriated to the support of a Congregational or Presbyterian minister within said precinct,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Committee declared a body corporate.

[Sect. 1.] That Thomas Carpenter, Stephen Moulton, Ephraim Hunt, Daniel Bliss and Nathan[i][a]el Bliss, the present committee of the said precinct, and those which shall be annually hereafter, forever, chosen by the said precinct to the same office, shall be and are hereby declared a body corporate, by the name of the trustees of the second parish of Rehoboth; and they are hereby incorporated to this special purpose; to wit, when the said sum of one thousand pounds shall be compleatly raised, to receive the same, and to let the same to interest, on good security, real or personal, as they, or the major part of them, shall judge fit; and all bonds, mortgages, or other lawful[l] securities, made to the said Thomas Carpenter, Stephen Moulton, Ephraim Hunt, Daniel Bliss and Nathanael Bliss, or their successors aforesaid, shall be understood to be valid; and they or their successors, or the major part of either of them, by the incorporate name aforesaid, may appear and plead, sue and defend, in any court within this province, in all matters touching such securities.

Trustees empowered to sue and defend.

And be it further enacted,

Interest money appropriated.

[Sect. 2.] That the interest annually arising from the said principal sum shall be paid to a minister of a Congregational church, resident and officiating in the work of the ministry within the precinct, forever; and if it shall ever hereafter happen that there shall be no minister of a Congregational church, settled within the said precinct, for the space of one year, in every such case the interest arising shall be put out to interest on new security; and all such increased capital shall be ordered and managed according to the directions hereinbefore given respecting the said principal sum. And the said Thomas Carpenter, Stephen Moulton, Ephraim Hunt, Daniel Bliss and Nathanael Bliss, and their successors aforesaid, are hereby incorporated, impowered and directed, with respect to the said increased capital, as they are, hereinbefore, with respect to the said sum of one thousand pounds.

And be it further enacted,

Precinct committee confirmed, in case.

[Sect. 3.] That if, at any time, the said precinct shall, at the annual season of the year, neglect to ch[oo][u]se a precinct committee, the committee then last before chosen shall continue vested with all the powers and priviledges aforesaid until[l] new ones be chosen.

And be it further enacted,

To be accountable to the precinct.

[Sect. 4.] That the said committee and their successors shall be accountable to the said precinct, and may, by them, for any misdemeanor in their office aforesaid, be removed from their said trust, and new ones appointed in their stead. [Passed June 30; * published July 11.

* Signed July 11, according to the record.

CHAPTER 7.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE PLANTATION CALLED COLD SPRING, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF BELCHER'S TOWN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of the plantation of Cold Spring, lying in the county of Hampshire, labour under many difficulties and inconveniencies by means of their not being a town; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

The plantation called Cold Spring erected into a town by the name of Belcher's Town.

[SECT. 1.] That the said plantation, commonly called and known by the name of Cold Spring, bounding, easterly, on Swift River; south, on Swift River, partly, and partly on Palmer; westerly, partly on Springfield, and partly on Hadley; and north, on Pelham; be and hereby is erected into a town by the name of Belcher's Town; and that the said town be and hereby is invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities that any of the towns of this province do or may, by law, enjoy, that of chusing and sending a representative to the general court only excepted.

And be it further enacted,

Eleazer Porter, Esq., empowered to issue his warrant for the choice of town officers.

[SECT. 2.] That Eleazer Porter, Esq[r]., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant to some principal inhabitant of the said plantation, requiring him, in his majesty's name, to warn and notify the said inhabitants, qual[l]ified to vote in town affairs, that they meet together, at such time and place, in said plantation, as, by said warrant, shall be appointed, to chuse such officers as may be necessary to manage the affairs of said town; and the inhabitants, being so met, shall be and hereby are impowered to chuse such officers accordingly. [Passed June 30; * published July 11.

CHAPTER 8.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE PLANTATION CALLED ROADTOWN, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF SHUTESBURY, AND CAUSING THE DELINQUENT SET[T]LERS TO FULFIL THE CONDITIONS OF THEIR GRANT.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

The plantation called Roadtown, made a town by the name of Shutesbury.

[SECT. 1.] That the said plantation be and hereby is erected into a town, by the same limits which are now the boundaries of the said plantation, by the name of Shutesbury; and that the said town be invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities that towns in this province do or may, by law, enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted.

And be it further enacted,

Eleazer Porter, Esq., empowered to issue his warrant for calling a meeting for the choice of town officers.

[SECT. 2.] That Eleazer Porter, Esq[r]., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant in said town of Shutesbury, requiring him to notify and warn the inhabitants of the same town, qualified, by law, to vote in town meetings, to meet at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to ch[oo][u]se all town officers which, by law, towns in this province are impowered and enjo[y][i]ned to ch[oo][u]se.

* Signed July 11, according to the record.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That those persons, to whom any grant of lands in the above-named plantation of Roadtown were made, on conditions of settlement, who have hitherto neglected to fulfil[l] the conditions of said grants, shall be allowed three years more, to be reckoned from the first of July next, to perform the conditions of their grants, before the said grants shall be forfeited for non-performance of the conditions thereof. [Passed June 30;* published July 11.

Time allowed for fulfilling the condition of grants.

CHAPTER 9.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE NORTH PARISH, OR PRECINCT, IN THE TOWN OF SHEFFIELD, INTO A SEPARATE TOWN BY [BY] THE NAME OF GREAT BARRINGTON.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the said north parish, or precinct, be and hereby is erected into a separate and distinct town, by the same limits and boundaries which are now the boundaries of the said parish, by the name of Great Barrington; and that the said town be invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities that towns in this province do or may, by law, enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted; and that the said town shall have full liberty and right, from time to time, to join with the town of Sheffield in ch[oo][u]sing a representative to represent them at the general assembly, who may be chosen, indifferently, out of either of the said towns; and that the said town of Great Barrington shall, from time to time, be at their proportionable part of the expence of such representative: and the freeholders and other inhabitants of Great Barrington shall be notified of the time and place of election, with the inhabitants of the town of Sheffield, by a warrant, from the selectmen of Sheffield, directed to the constable of Great Barrington, requiring him to warn them, for that purpose, at the time and place by them assigned; which warrant[s] shall be duly served and seasonably returned by said constable of Great Barrington.

The North Parish of Sheffield erected into a separate town by the name of Great Barrington. 1733-34, chap. 1.

Their powers and privileges.

Provided, nevertheless,—

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the said town of Great Barrington shall pay their proportion of all town, county and province taxes, already set[t] on or granted to be raised by said town of Sheffield, as if this act had not been made.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That Joseph Dwight, Esquire, be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant in said town of Great Barrington, requiring him to notify and warn the inhabitants of the same town, qualified, by law, to vote in town meetings, to meet at such time and place as shall be therein set[t] forth, to ch[oo][u]se all town officers which, by law, towns in this province are impowered or enjo[y][i]n[']d to ch[oo][u]se.

Joseph Dwight, Esq., empowered to issue his warrant for calling a meeting for the choice of town officers.

And whereas, in and by an act made and pass[e]'d in the first year of his present majesty's reign, erecting and establishing a new county in the westerly part of the county of Hampshire, by the name of Berkshire, it is amongst other things enacted, "that Sheffield, for the present, be the shire town of said county of Berkshire, and that the office of register of deeds be kept in the north parish in said Sheffield, and also, that yearly, and in every year, there shall be held and kept a court of general sessions of the peace, and an inferio[u]r court of common pleas, at the north parish in Sheffield, on the last Tuesday of April, and first Tuesday of September;" now, to prevent any difficulties that may arise,—

Be it enacted,

Great Barrington to be the shire town, &c.

[SECT. 4.] That the town of Great Barrington, for the present, shall be the shire town of said county of Berkshire, and the register's office be there kept; and that the courts of general sessions of the peace and inferiour court of common pleas, appointed to be held and kept at the north parish in Sheffield, aforesaid, be held and kept in the town of Great Barrington, on the last Tuesday of April, and first Tuesday of September, annually; anything in the before recited and mentioned act to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed June 30;* published July 11.

CHAPTER 10.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE PLANTATION CALLED COLRAIN, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF COLRAIN.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the new plantation of Colrain, lying in the county of Hampshire, is competently filled with inhabitants, and labour under great difficulties and inconveniencies by means of their not being a town; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Plantation called Colrain, erected into a town by the name of Colrain.

[SECT. 1.] That the said new plantation, commonly called and known by the name of Colrain, lying on the north-west of Deerfield, in the county of Hampshire, according to the bounds by which it was established by the general court, be and hereby is erected into a town by the name of Colrain; and that the said town be and hereby is invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities that any of the towns of this province do or may, by law, enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general court only excepted.

Provided,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 2.] That nothing in this act shall be understood, or so construed, as in any manner to supersede or make void any order or orders of this court, now in force, respecting the method of making assessments within said plantation in time past, but that the same shall remain and be as effectual as if this act had not been made.

And be it further enacted,

Elijah Williams, Esq., empowered to issue his warrant for calling a meeting for the choice of town officers.

[SECT. 3.] That Elijah Williams, Esq[r]., be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant to some principal inhabitant of the said plantation, requiring him, in his majest[ie][y']s name, to warn and notify the said inhabitants, qual[l]ified to vote in town affairs, that they meet together, at such time and place, in said plantation, as, by said warrant, shall be appointed, to chuse such officers as may be necessary to manage the affairs of said town; and the inhabitants, being so met, shall be and hereby are impowered to chuse such officers accordingly. CHAPTER 11.

AN ACT TO PREVENT THE UNNECESSARY DESTRUCTION OF THE FISH CALLED ALEWIVES, IN THE TOWN OF HINGHAM, IN THE COUNTY OF SUFFOLK, AND TO ENABLE THE SAID TOWN TO REGULATE AND ORDER THE TAKING AND DISPOSING THE SAME.

Preamble. 1735–36, ch. 21. 1741–42, ch. 16. 1754–55, ch. 31. 1757–58, ch. 37.

Whereas the said town of Hingham has been at great expence in purchasing and opening a water-passage, for the fish called alewives, from the sea, into the pond called Accord Pond, being wholly within the bounds of the said town, and it appears just that the sole ordering, taking, and disposing the fish, when taken, should be vested in the said town; to which purpose,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

The town of Hingham empowered to order the manner, time and place of taking of alewives in said town, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That from and after the first day of August next, and during the continuance of this act, it shall and may be lawful[l] for the inhabitants of the said town of Hingham, at a meeting regularly assembled for that purpose, from time to time, to order and determine how and in what manner, by whom, and at what place or places, time or times, the fish may be taken within the river aforesaid, and how they shall be disposed of; and shall cause a copy of said order, attested by the town clerk, to be posted up in four public[k] places in said town; whereto all persons shall conform themselves, on penalty of twenty shillings for each offence, to be paid by the offender or offenders, and, upon his or their refusal, the offender to be committed to the common goal of the said county, there to remain not exceeding five days: and all fines and forfeitures arising by this act, to be recovered by action, bill, plaint or information, before any authority proper to try[e] the same; and the fines so recovered to be apply'd, one moiety to the use of the poor of said town of Hingham, the other half to him or them that shall sue for the same.

Preamble.

And whereas the river aforesaid is of great extent, and considerable part of the banks thereof covered with thick wood, and so obscured as that persons may frequently offend against this act without being discovered, and so the good designs of it defeated, unless special provision be made therefor,—

Be it therefore enacted,

Rules and methods of conviction.

[Sect. 2.] That the manner, rules and methods of conviction of the offenders against this act, be the same as are directed and provided in and by an act, made in the twelfth year of the reign of King George the First, intituled "An Act in addition to, and for rendering more effectual, an act made in the tenth year of the reign of King William the Third, intituled 'An Act for preventing trespass.'"

1726–27, chap. 3

Limitation.

[Sect. 3.] This act to be in force for the space of three years from the first day of August next, and from thence to the end of the next session of the general court, and no longer. [Passed July 3; * published July 11.

* Signed July 11, according to the record.

CHAPTER 12.

AN ACT FOR THE BETTER REGULATING DISTRICTS WITHIN THIS PROVINCE.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it has been found expedient to erect districts within this province, invested with the powers, priviledges and immunities of towns (the priviledge of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted), and it being necessary that all such districts should be subjected to all the duties which towns, by law, are subjected to, and liable to all such penalties, for neglect thereof, as towns, by law, are liable to,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Districts subjected to the duties which towns, by law, are subjected to.

That each and every the districts within this province shall be and hereby are subjected to all the duties which towns, by law, are subjected to, and made liable to all the penalties, for neglect or failure therein, which towns, by law, are liable to, and shall, to all intents and purposes, be considered as towns, the priviledge and duty of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted. CHAPTER 13.

AN ACT MAKING SPECIAL PROVISION FOR THE SETTLEMENT AND SUPPORT OF THE GOSPEL MINISTRY IN THE TOWN OF SUDBURY.

Preamble.

WHEREAS there are two distinct societies for religious worship, of the profession of the churches in general of this province, in the town of Sudbury, and each of the said societies being desirous of being authorized and impowered to contract with and proceed to the settlement of a gospel minister, when and so often as it shall be necessary, as fully as, by law, they might do if they were distinct parishes,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Inhabitants of the town of Sudbury incorporated into distinct societies, as to the call and settlement of a gospel minister for each society, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That such of the inhabitants of the town of Sudbury as usually attend the public[k] worship on the east side of the river, in said town, and also such of the inhabitants of said town as usually attend the public[k] worship on the west side of [the] said river, qualified to vote in parish affairs, be and hereby are so far incorporated into distinct and seperate societies as to be enabled, from time to time, in concurrence with the act of the church in such societies, respectively, to call, contract with, and settle a gospel minister, or ministers, for each society, respectively, in manner and form as the ministers of the churches of this province are called, contracted with, and settled; and such calls, contracts and settlements shall be as valid and effectual, to all intents and purposes, as if such societies had been erected into distinct and seperate parishes.

And be it further enacted,

Provision when either church is destitute of a gospel minister.

[SECT. 2.] That when and so often as the East Church and congregation, or the West Church and congregation, shall be destitute of a gospel minister, the deacons of the church so destitute may and shall notify the inhabitants qualified, by law, to vote in parish affairs where such destitute church shall be, to meet on some certain day, and at some certain place; and said inhabitants, so notified and convened, are hereby authorized and impowered to choose a moderator and clerk, to act and to do all such matters and things as parishes, by law, may do towards settling a minister as aforesaid, and, by adjournments, to continue such meetings from time to time, and so long as shall be necessary for the purpose aforesaid; and the assessors, collectors, and other town officers, of the town of Sudbury, whom it may concern, are hereby impowered to assess, levy and collect all rates and taxes, for the support and maintenance of such ministers, from the inhabitants of said town of Sudbury, in manner as if such ministers had been chosen and contracted with by the said town. [Passed July 9; * published July 11.

Assessors, &c., empowered to assess, levy and collect taxes for the support of ministers.

CHAPTER 14.

AN ACT FURTHER IMPOWERING THE COURTS OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE, IN THIS PROVINCE, TO GRANT LICENCES IN CERTAIN CASES, AND THEREBY TO PREVENT UNNECESSARY PETITIONS TO THE GENERAL COURT.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That when it shall so happen that any licenced innholder or retailer shall die before the year be expired for which licence shall have been granted, and the widow of the deceased, if such there be, or children, or other representative, shall desire to exercise the said employment in such licenced house the remainder of the year; and where any licenced innholder or retailer shall remove from a licenced house, and the purchaser or occupier of such house shall petition to be licenced to be an innholder or retailer in the same house for the remainder of the year; in every such case it shall be lawful, and the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace are hereby impowered, at any of the terms appointed by law for holding the same in such county, to grant licence to such person or petitioner applying therefor, the remainder of the year: provided such person be suitably qualified therefor, and recommended in manner as the law directs.

Justices of the court of general sessions empowered to grant licenses, in case. 1755-56, ch. 39. 1759-60, ch. 13.

[Sect. 2.] This act to continue in force from the tenth day of July current, to the tenth day of July which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-five, and no longer. [Passed July 9; * published July 11.

Limitation.

CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF THIRTY-NINE THOUSAND POUNDS.

Whereas this court have ordered a tax of thirty-two thousand nine hundred and seventy-four pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, short of what, by several acts of government, was to have been assessed and apportioned on the present year, and a further sum is necessary for the service of the present campaign; therefore, to support the faith and credit of the government,—

Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the treasurer be and he hereby is directed to borrow, of such persons as shall appear ready to lend, a sum not exceeding thirty-nine thousand pounds; and for every sum so borrowed the treasurer shall give his receipt in the form following:—

Form of the receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , 1761. Received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or order, the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, the aforesaid sum of , in coined silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, with interest, annually, at the rate of six per cent.

Witness my hand.

And be it further enacted,

£32,974 13*s*. 4*d*. for payment of government securities.

[SECT. 2.] That the aforesaid sum of thirty-nine thousand pounds, when received into the treasury, shall be applied by the treasurer in the manner following; that is to say, the sum of thirty-two thousand nine hundred and seventy-four pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, part of the aforesaid sum of thirty-nine thousand pounds, shall be applied for the payment of government securities that will become due in June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and the remaining sum of six thousand twenty-five pounds six shillings and eightpence, part of the aforesaid sum of thirty-nine thousand pounds, shall be applied towards defreying the charges of the present campaign: to be drawn out of the treasury by warrant from the governor, with advice of council.

£6,025 6*s*. 8*d*. for the present campaign.

Preamble.

And as a fund and security to enable the treasurer to discharge the obligations by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

Tax of £41,000, in 1762.

[SECT. 3.] That there be and hereby is granted to his most excellent majesty a tax of forty one thousand pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal, according to such rules, and in such proportion on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places within this province, as shall be ordered by the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[SECT. 4.] That, in case the general court shall not, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and before the twentieth day of June following, agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sum which by this act is engaged to be apportioned, assessed and levied, that then and in such case such towns, districts, parishes, or other places, shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their respective limits, the same proportion of the said sum as the said towns, districts, parishes, or other places were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

[SECT. 5.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully impowered and directed, in the month of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district, parish or other place within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their respective towns, districts, parishes, or other places, for their respective parts and proportions of the sum before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the public treasury by the first day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the then last preceeding tax act; and the assessors shall incur the same penalty, for not apportioning the sums laid upon their respective towns, districts, parishes, or other places, as though the same had been assessed upon them by an act of the general court.

And be it further enacted,

Tax to be levied for any deficient sum in 1762.

[Sect. 6.] That if the treasurer shall not be able to borrow the sum of thirty-two thousand nine hundred and seventy-four pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, aforesaid, on or before the thirty-first day of December next, then and in that case he shall issue forth his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors in each of the towns and districts within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective part and proportion of whatever sum he shall not be able to borrow of the sum of thirty-two thousand nine hundred and seventy-four pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, aforesaid, to be paid into the public treasury by the first day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the then last preceeding tax act. [Passed and published July 11.

CHAPTER 16.

AN ACT PROVIDING FOR THE LEVYING AND COLLECTING OF TAXES IN PLANTATIONS THAT ARE NOT INCORPORATED.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Province, or county, treasurer to issue a precept for calling a meeting of the inhabitants of plantations, &c., in case.

[Sect. 1.] That when any part or proportion of any province or county tax shall be laid by the great and general court, or by any court of general sessions of the peace within this province, on any plantation not incorporated, the treasurer of the province, or of such county, respectively, shall issue his precept to some justice of the peace dwelling near to such plantation, requiring him forthwith to grant his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant of such plantation, requiring him to notify and warn the inhabitants of such plantation, being freeholders, to meet at such time and place, within the same, as in such warrant shall be specified, in order to choose needful officers for the purposes hereafter mentioned; and such principal inhabitant is hereby obliged to observe and obey the warrant that he shall receive from said justice, on the penalty of forfeiting and paying the whole sum that shall be ordered to be levied on such plantation by either of the respective treasurers' warrants aforesaid; to be recovered by action of debt, by said respective treasurers, in any of his majesty's courts of record, within this province, proper to try the same.

Inhabitants of said plantations to choose certain officers, &c.

[Sect. 2.] And such of the said inhabitants as shall then assemble shall have power, and they are hereby required, to choose a moderator and clerk, as also assessors and collectors for assessing and collecting such plantation's proportion of such province and county tax (to be duly paid, when collected, by such collectors to the province or county treasurer, respectively); and such clerk, assessors and collectors shall be under oath (to be administred by the moderator of such meeting) for the faithful discharge of their respective trust, and shall have the same allowance from such incorporate plantations as such officers are intituled unto, by law, in towns corporate; and in case any assessor or collector, so chosen, shall, after notice of such choice given him by the moderator, refuse or neglect to appear and take such oath, he shall be liable to the same penalty which assessors and collectors in towns corporate are liable to in case of such refusal or neglect.

And be it further enacted,

Assessors to take a valuation, &c.

[SECT. 3.] That the assessors so chosen and sworn shall, thereupon, take a list of the rateable polls, and a valuation of the estates and faculties of the inhabitants of such plantation, for a rule by which to make such assessment, and by which to judge of the qualification of voters, in meetings of the said inhabitants thereafter to be holden, until other valuation shall be made.

And be it further enacted,

Justices of the court of general sessions to appoint assessors and collectors, in case.

[SECT. 4.] That, in case the inhabitants of any such plantation shall neglect to assemble, or, being assembled, shall neglect to choose all such officers as hereinbefore are required, it shall be in the power of the court of general sessions of the peace, in the county where such plantation is, and the justices of such court are required, to appoint some meet persons, inhabitants of such plantation, to be assessors and collectors of such taxes, as aforesaid, who shall be duly sworn to the faithful discharge of their respective trust, and shall conform to the directions and proceed by the rules which assessors and collectors in towns corporate are obliged to observe.

And be it further enacted,

Assessors to issue their warrants for calling a meeting in March, annually, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That the assessors, which* shall, from time to time, be chosen or appointed for such plantation, shall have power and they are required to issue their warrants for calling meetings of the inhabitants there, in the month of March, annually, for choosing such officers as aforesaid, who shall be sworn as aforesaid, and shall have the same power, and be subject to the same penalties, as assessors and collectors in towns and parishes have, and are, by law, liable to.

Continuance.

[SECT. 6.] This act to continue in force during the term of seven years from the first day of August next, and no longer. [Passed and published July 11.

CHAPTER 17.

AN ACT FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING THE SUM OF SEVENTY-FIVE THOUSAND POUNDS; ALSO FOR APPORTIONING AND ASSESSING A TAX OF TWO THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FIVE POUNDS TWO SHILLINGS, PAID THE REPRESENTATIVES FOR THEIR SERVICE, TRAVEL AND ATTENDANCE IN THE GENERAL COURT, IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY; ALSO FOR ASSESSING THE TOWN OF RUTLAND FOR THE SUM OF THIRTY-ONE POUNDS ONE SHILLING AND SEVENPENCE, BEING SO MUCH ORDERED BY THE GENERAL COURT, IN THEIR SESSIONS IN JANUARY LAST, TO BE ADDED TO THE TAX OF THE TOWN OF RUTLAND, THE PRESENT YEAR, OVER AND ABOVE THEIR PROPORTION OF WHAT IS LAID ON SAID YEAR.

WHEREAS the great and general court or assembly of this province did, in their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight, levy a tax of seventy thousand eight hundred and nine pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence; and also, in their session in March, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine, did levy another tax of forty-six thousand pounds; and did also, in their session in June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty, levy a further tax of seventy-five thousand pounds: all which sums amount to one hundred and ninety-one thousand eight hundred and nine pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence; and by the aforesaid acts provision was made that the general court, at this present session, might apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and places within this province, if they thought fit; and whereas, by an act of the great and general court, made and passed this present session, the treasurer is [e][i]mpowered and directed to draw upon Mr. Agent Bollan for the sum of sixty thousand pounds sterling, at the rate of one hundred and thirty-six pounds, lawful money, for every hundred pounds sterling; which will amount to eighty-one thousand and six hundred pounds: which money is applied by this act for the redemption of government securities that will become due in June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and whereas a number of persons, possessors of government securities, that will become due in June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, to the amount of thirty-two thousand nine hundred and seventy-four pounds thirteen shillings and fourpence, appear willing to lend the same to the government, to be redeemed at a distant period; and this court having made and passed an act, this session, to enable the treasurer to borrow the same; wherefore, for the ordering, directing and effectual drawing in the said sum of seventy-seven thousand two hundred and sixty-six pounds three shilling[s] and sevenpence, we, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the representatives in general court assembled, pray that it may be enacted,— 1761–62, chap. 3.

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

[Sect. 1.] That each town, district, parish, or other place within this province be assessed and pay, as such town, district, parish and place's proportion of the sum of seventy-seven thousand two hundred and sixty-six pounds three shilling[s] and sevenpence, the several sums following; that is to say,—

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district or parish, or other place within this province, that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district or parish, or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, at ten shillings per poll, and proportionably in assessing the additional sum received out of the treasury for the payment of representatives (except[ing] the governo[u]r, lieutenant-governo[u]r, and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and gramm[e][a]r-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well from being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands, and under their actual management and improvement; as also the estate pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who, thro'[ugh] age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public[k] charges, they may exempt their polls, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet. Rules for assessment.

[Sect. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county, in proportion to their province rate; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found; and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade, faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money, or commissions of profit, in their improvement, according to their understanding or cunning, at twelvepence per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for each town, district, parish or other place to pay; and, in making their assessment, to estimate houses and lands at six years yearly rent whereat the same may be reasonably set or let for in the place where they lye: saving all contracts between landlord and tenant, and where no contract is, the landlord to reimburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands; and to estimate negro, Indian and molatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment and discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; and every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; and every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; and every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old, at three shillings each: likewise requiring the said assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how much he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty; and if as guardians, or for any estate in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists so perfected, and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collector, constable or constables of any such town, district, parish or place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector, constable or constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, sometime before the last day of November next.

[SECT. 4.] And the treasurer, for the time being, upon receipt of such certificate, is hereby [e][i]mpowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector, or constable or constables of such town, district, parish or place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and issue their accompts of the whole, at or before the thirty-first day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two.

And be it further enacted,

Inhabitants to bring in a true list of their polls, estate, &c.

[SECT. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, respectively, in convenient time, before their making of the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town-meeting or by posting [up] notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or place, or notify the inhabitants some other way, to give or bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, rateable estate, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors, on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are [e][i]mpowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid into the town, district or parish treasurer, for the use aforesaid: saving, to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county, for relief as in the case of being overrated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estates as aforesaid to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions, for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

[SECT. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he does or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and, before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, though, in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government,—

Be it further enacted,

Transient traders to be rated.

[SECT. 7.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, and trade to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby [e][i]mpowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, though the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Merchants to be rated for carrying on trade in any other town besides where they dwell.

[Sect. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store, and traffick or carry on any trade or business, in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid, be and hereby are [e][i]mpowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandizes, for carrying on such trade and business and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons, as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[Sect. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoined to levy and collect all such sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are residents in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same.

And be [it] further enacted,

[Sect. 10.] That the sum of eighty-one thousand six hundred pounds, being the amount of sixty thousand pounds sterling, which the treasurer, by an act made and passed this session, is impowered and directed to draw for, be by him applied, when received into the treasury, for the redemption of government securities that will become due in June, 1762, and for no other purpose whatsoever. [Passed and published July 11.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE TWELFTH DAY OF NOVEMBER, A.D. 1761.

CHAPTER 18.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING WARE-RIVER PARISH, SO CALLED, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF WARE.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of Ware-River Parish, so called, in the county of Hampshire, have represented to this court the great difficulties and inconveniencies they labour under, in their present situation, and have earnestly requested that they may be incorporated into a district,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

District of Ware incorporated.

[SECT. 1.] That the said Ware-River Parish, so called, bounded as follows; viz[q]., southerly, upon Palmer, including that tract of land in said Palmer which is the property of the heirs of Isaac Magoon, deceased; easterly, upon Western and Brookfield; northerly, upon Hardwick and Greenwich; and westerly, upon Swift River, be and is hereby incorporated into a district by the name of Ware; and that the said district be and hereby is invested with all the priviledges, powers and immunities that towns in this province, by law, do or may enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted.

And be it further enacted,

Inhabitants to be warned, and by whom.

[SECT. 2.] That Eleazer Porter, Esq[r]., be and hereby is directed and impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant within said district, requiring him to warn the inhabitants of said district, qualified to vote in town affairs, to assemble at some suitable time and place in said district, to chuse such officers as are necessary to manage the affairs of said district.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 3.] The inhabitants of said district of Ware shall pay their proportionable part of all such town, county and province charges as are already assessed, in like manner as thô this act had not been made; and that part of the province tax which is the proportion of the said Magoon's farm, shall hereafter be abated the district of Palmer, and be borne and paid by the said district of Ware. [Passed November 25; * published November 28.

* Signed November 28, according to the record.

CHAPTER 19.

AN ACT FOR EXCHANGING OF MEADOW AND MEADOWISH GROUND BELONGING TO THE FIRST PRECINCT IN MARSHFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF PLYMOUTH, WITH NATHAN[I][A]EL RAY THOMAS, OF SAID MARSHFIELD, GENTLEMAN, FOR SALT MEADOW.

Preamble.

Whereas the said precinct is seized and possessed of a certain tract of land or meadowish land, containing ninety acres, more or less, s[c]ituate in Marshfield, aforesaid, on the south side of Green's-Harbour River, so called, bounded easterly by the meadow formerly granted by the town of Marshfield to Mr. William Thomas; north-westerly by Green's-Harbour River, as it runs and extends up stream, 'till it comes to the upper end of the great fresh marsh called Green's-Harbour-River Marsh, where the river comes to the upland at the head of said marsh; and is bounded, southerly, by the land granted by the court of New Plymouth to Mr. William Thomas, to be holden as a perpetual p[a][e]rsonage; and whereas the said Nathan[i][a]el Ray Thomas is seized and possessed of a large quantity of salt meadow, as an estate in tail, thirty acres whereof is bounded as follows; viz[t]., beginning below Hoockan[u][te]m Point, so called, by a stake standing on the south-east side of Green's-Harbour River; and from thence, south, seventy degrees east, ninety-one rod and an half, to a stake standing by a ditch; and from thence, north, thirty-five degrees east, by said ditch, twenty-six rods and three-quarters, to said river; and from thence, by said river, up stream, 'till it comes to the bounds first mentioned; exclusive of a little sedge-island in said river, on the easterly side of the premis[s]es, as the same was laid out by Mr. John Wadsworth, surveyor, on oath; and whereas the said parish, as well as the Reverend Mr. Thomas Brown, the present minister, on the one part, and the said Nathan[i][a]el Ray Thomas, on the other, for their mutual advantage and benefit, have agreed to an exchange of the above-recited premisses; that is to say, that the said precinct, by its present minister, and so, in succession, to them, and all future ministers, forever, shall have, hold, possess and enjoy the said thirty acres of salt meadow above described and bounded, and for the same uses and purposes as they heretofore held and enjoyed the aforesaid ninety acres; and that they, in perpetual succession, shall forever be excluded from any preten[s][t]ions to the said ninety acres; and that the said Nathan[i][a]el Ray Thomas shall have, hold, possess and enjoy the said ninety acres of meadow and meadowish lands, aforesaid described and bounded, as an estate in tail, to him and his heirs, in the same manner, to all intents and purposes, as he heretofore held and enjoyed the aforesaid thirty acres; and that he, and his heirs in tail, shall forever be excluded from any preten[s][t]ion or claim, whatever, to the said thirty acres of salt meadow,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

Agreement of the parties, confirmed.

That the afore-recited agreement, between the said first parish in Marshfield, and the said Nathan[i][a]el Ray Thomas, be and hereby is confirmed; and that the said parish, by its present minister, and so to them in future, and to all succeeding ministers, forever, shall have, hold, possess and enjoy the said thirty acres of salt meadow, in as ample a manner, and to the same use, as they heretofore possessed the said ninety acres; and they and every of them from any pretensions to the said ninety acres shall forever be excluded and debarred; and that the said Nathan[i][a]el Ray Thomas, and his heirs in tail, shall, forever hereafter, in as ample a manner, have, hold, possess and enjoy the said ninety acres in the same way and manner as he heretofore held and possessed the said thirty acres of salt meadow; and he, and his heirs in tail, shall forever be excluded from any right or preten-[s][t]ion to said thirty acres of salt meadow aforementioned. [Passed and published November 28.

CHAPTER 20.

AN ACT TO ANNUL[L] A DIVISION HERETOFORE MADE BY THE PROPRIETORS OF COMMON AND UNDIVIDED LANDS IN A PLACE, CALLED PHILLIPSTOWN, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the proprietors of the common and undivided lands in a place, called Phil[l]ipstown, in the county of York, have petitioned this court, setting forth that, in order to an effectual settlement of the said lands, it is needful[l] that a division be made thereof, that so each proprietor may know and settle his part in severalty; and that it appears by the records of said proprietors that, in the year 1730, a division was made of two thousand acres, part of the said land, into forty lots of fifty acres each, and that the proprietors drew their several lots in the said division; but that it no way appears where and in what manner the said lot[t]s were laid and bounded, nor any plan of the division being to be found, the petitioners did thereupon pray that the said ancient division may, by the authority of this court, be annulled and vacated, to the end they may proceed regularly in a new division:—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Division in 1730 declared void.

[SECT. 1.] That the said division, made in the said year 1730, be and hereby is annulled and made void; and that the said proprietors be and hereby are enabled to proceed to a division of the whole, or any part of the lands by them held in common, as aforesaid, as they might have done if the division aforesaid, in the year 1730, had never been made.

Provided, always,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 2.] That nothing in this act shall be understood, or construed, to affect the right or title of any person actually settled upon lands, in any part of Phil[l]ipstown, assigned or allotted to him before the making of the division aforementioned; but such right and title shall be and remain as if this act had never been passed. [Passed November 28.

CHAPTER 21.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT, MADE AND PASS[E]'D IN THE TENTH YEAR OF QUEEN ANNE, INTIT[U]LED "AN ACT FOR SUPPRESSING ROBBERIES AND ASSAULTS."

Preamble. 1711-12, chap. 2, § 2.

WHEREAS the act intit[u]led "An Act for suppressing robberies and assaults," made and pass[e]'d in the tenth year of Queen Anne, is insufficient to restrain ill-minded and wicked ruffians from assaulting and robbing his majesty's liege people as they are travelling the common roads, highways or streets,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That every person or persons that shall, after the first day of December next, assault, rob and take away from the person of another, in or upon any highway, street, passage, field or open place, any money, goods, cloathing or other thing, whatsoever, and shall be thereof convict, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, and suffer the pains of death accordingly, without benefit of clergy. Persons convicted guilty of felony.

And whereas, by the act aforesaid, it is enacted that whoever "shall be convicted of assaulting or offering any violence or insolence to any woman or womankind in the fields, streets or lanes in any town, or of despoiling them, damnifying or defacing any of their attire or ornaments, or attempting the same, shall be punished by being publickly whipped, not exceeding ten stripes, or by being committed to the house of correction, to receive the discipline of the house, and continue there by the space of thirty days, and kept according to the rules and orders of the house, and also find sureties for the good behaviour, before he be discharged; and any two justices of the peace, quorum unus, in the vacancy of the court of general sessions of the peace, are impowered to hear and determine this offence,"— Preamble.

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That, instead of the above-mentioned offence being tried by two justices of the peace, quorum unus, it shall be tried by the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace, who are hereby [e][i]mpowered and directed to try the same; and the person or persons convicted shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding ten pounds, at the discretion of the justices, according to the nature of his or their offence, or to be publickly whipped, not exceeding ten stripes; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed and published November 28. Justices of the court of the sessions, to try.

ACTS

PASSED AT THE SESSION BEGUN AND HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF JANUARY, A.D. 1762.

CHAPTER 22.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT, INTITULED "AN ACT FOR SUPPLYING THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF FORTY-NINE THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED POUNDS, TO BE THENCE ISSUED FOR THE DISCHARGING THE PUBLICK DEBTS, AND DRAWING THE SAME INTO THE TREASURY AGAIN," AND TO ONE OTHER ACT, INTITULED "AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF THIRTY-NINE THOUSAND POUNDS."

Preamble. 1761-62, chap. 4.

WHEREAS, in and by an act of the great and general court, made and passed at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, the treasurer was impowered and directed to borrow a sum, not exceeding forty-nine thousand and one hundred pounds, and by one other act, made and passed at the same session, the treasurer was impowered and directed to borrow a further sum, not exceeding thirty-nine thousand pounds, both which sums amount to eighty-eight thousand one hundred pounds; for which sums, by the acts aforesaid, the treasurer was to give his receipts, or obligations, to repay the same upon the twentieth of June, one thousand seven hundred sixty-three; and it appearing to this court that the treasurer has not borrowed the aforesaid sum of eighty-eight thousand one hundred pounds, nor any part thereof; and whereas the parliamentary grants for several years past have been remitted, and received into the treasury of this province, in gold coin, and paid out to the several province creditors to whom it was due, and gold is now become by far the greatest part of the medium of trade in this province; and it may be greatly to the disadvantage of the people of this province to be obliged to pay their taxes, for the money which is yet to be borrowed by the treasurer, in any other species than in such money as has been received as aforesaid,—

1761-62, chap. 15.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Treasurer to issue notes of a new form.

[SECT. 1.] That the treasurer, instead of giving his receipts or obligations in the manner and form agreed on by the acts aforesaid, shall give his receipts or obligations in the form following; viz.,—

Form of treasurer's receipt.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , A.D. . Borrowed and received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay the said or to his order, the day of , A.D. , the aforesaid sum of , in Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in the several species of coined silver and gold enumerated in an act made and passed in the twenty-third year of his late majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act for ascertaining the rates at which coined silver and gold, English halfpence and farthings, may pass within this government," and according to the rates therein mentioned, with interest, annually, at six per cent.

1749-50, chap. 19.

Witness my hand. H. G., Treasurer.

A. B.,
C. D., } Committee.
E. F.,

—which form, except as is hereafter provided, shall be printed upon the most suitable paper that can be provided by the treasurer, and a suitable border round the same,—with the words "Province of the Massachusetts Bay," the word "Committee," and the words "Witness my hand,"—shall be struck off from a copper-plate, which the treasurer likewise is hereby directed and impowered to procure: and each blank, before it be filled up, shall be stamped, in some convenient part of it, with a stamp of a new form, to be procured by the treasurer for that purpose. To be stamped.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That a committee of three shall be appointed by the general court, who shall sign all the blanks, at the left hand, as in the form aforesaid is prescribed, before the treasurer fills them up; and the said treasurer and said committee are also impowered and directed to dispose of the custody of said copper-plate, and stamp, in such manner as in their discretion shall appear most likely to prevent any frauds or counterfeits; and the said committee, and all persons to be employed in the printing, engraving or stamping of said blanks, shall be under oath to the faithful discharge of their respective trusts. [Passed January 31; * published February 15, 1762. Committee to sign with the treasurer.

CHAPTER 23.

AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND POUNDS.

Whereas there is no provision made by this court to pay off the forces employed by this government for their services in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, under the command of General Amherst,— Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the treasurer be and he hereby is directed and [e][i]mpow[e]red to borrow, from such person or persons as shall be willing to lend the same, a sum not exceeding twenty-five thousand pounds, in mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in coined silver and gold at the rate mentioned in an act of this province made and passed in the twenty-third year of his late majesty George the Second, inti-t[u]led "An Act for ascertaining the rates at which coined silver and gold, and English halfpence and farthings, may pass within this government." Treasurer empowered to borrow £25,000. 1749-50, chap 19.

And for the sum so borrowed, the treasurer shall give his receipts or obligations in the form following; viz[t].,—

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , A.D. .
Borrowed and received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and, in behalf of said Form of treasurer's receipt.

* Signed March 6, according to the record.

province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay to the said or to his order, on the twentieth day of June, A.D. one thousand seven hundred and sixty-five, the aforesaid sum of , in Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in the several species of coin'd silver and gold enumerated in an act, made and passed in the twenty-third year of his late majesty King George the Second, intit[u]led "An Act for ascertaining the rates at which coined silver and gold, English halfpence and farthings, may pass within this government," and according to the rates therein mentioned, with interest, annually, at six per cent.

Witness my hand. H. G., Treasurer.

A. B.,
C. D., } Committee.
E. F.,

To be stamped.

—and no receipt shall be given for less than six pounds; which form, excepting as is hereafter provided, shall be printed upon the most suitable paper that can be procured by the treasurer; and a suitable border round the same, also the words "Province of the Massachusetts Bay," the word "Committee," and the words "Witness my hand," shall be struck off from a copper-plate, which the treasurer likewise is empowered to procure: and each blank, before it is filled up, shall be stampt with a stamp, of a new form, to be procured by the treasurer for that purpose.

And be it further enacted,

Committee to sign with the treasurer.

[SECT. 2.] That a committee of three shall be appointed by the general court, who shall sign all the blanks, at the left hand, as in the form aforesaid is prescribed, before the treasurer fill them up; and the said treasurer and said committee are also [e][i]mpowered and directed to dispose of the custody of said copper-plate, and stamp, in such manner as in their discretion shall appear most likely to prevent any frauds or counterfeits; and the said committee, and all persons to be employed in the printing, engraving or stamping of[f] said blanks, shall be under oath to the faithful discharge of their respective trusts.

Be it further enacted,

Money borrowed, how to be applied.

[SECT. 3.] That the monies borrowed by the treasurer, by virtue of this act, shall be appl[i][y]ed for the payment of the forces employed by this government in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one, and drawn out of the public[k] treasury, by warrant from the governo[u]r, with advice of council, upon the appropriation for the campaign in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one.

And in order to draw said money into the treasury again, and enable the treasurer effectually to discharge the receipts and obligations (with the interest that may be due thereon) by him given in pursuance of this act,—

Be it enacted,

Tax of £30,000, granted in 1764.

[SECT. 4.] That there be and hereby is granted unto his most excellent majesty a tax of thirty thousand pounds, to be levied on [the] polls, and estate both real and personal, within this province, according to such rules and in such proportions on the several towns and districts within this province, as shall be agreed on and ordered by the general court or assembly at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, and to be paid into the publick treasury on or before the last day of March then next after.

And be it further enacted,

Rule for apportioning the tax, in case no tax act shall be agreed on.

[SECT. 5.] That if the general court, at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, and sometime before the twentieth day of June in said year, shall not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which, by this act, are engaged to be in said year apportioned, assessed and levied, then and in such case, each town and district within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their limits, the same proportion of the said sum as the said towns and districts were taxed by the general court in the tax act then last preceeding.

[Sect. 6.] And the province treasurer is hereby fully [e][i]mpowered and directed, sometime in said month of June, in the same year, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, to issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the assessors or selectmen of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportions of the sums before directed and engaged to be assessed, to be paid into the treasury on the aforementioned time; and the assessors, as also persons assessed, shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the last preceeding tax act; and the secretary to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and accounts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they direct, such muster-rolls and accounts, after payment thereof.

Provided, always,—

[Sect. 7.] That the remainder of the sum which shall be brought into the treasury by the taxes ordered by this act to be assessed and levied, over and above what shall be sufficient to discharge the notes and obligations aforesaid, shall be and remain as a stock in the treasury, to be applied as the general court of this province shall hereafter order, and to no other purpose whatsoever. [Passed January 29;* published February 15, 1762. Proviso.

CHAPTER 24.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY AN EXCISE UPON SPIRITS DISTILLED, AND WINE, AND UPON LIMES, LEMMONS AND ORANGES.

We, his majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in general court assembled, being desirous of lessening the present debt of the province, have chearfully and unanimously granted, and do hereby give and grant unto his most excellent majesty, for the end and use above mentioned, and for no other use, an excise upon all rum, and other spirits distilled, and upon all wines whatsoever, and upon lemmons, limes and oranges, to be raised, levied and collected, and paid in manner and form following:— Preamble.

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-five, every person already licen[s][c]ed, or that shall be hereafter licen[s][c]ed, to retail rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall pay the duties following:— Time of this act's continuance.

For every gallon of rum and spirits distilled, eightpence.

For every gallon of wine, of every sort, twelvepence.

For every hundred of lemmons or oranges used and consumed in making punch, or otherwise for sale by taverners and innholders only, eight shillings.

For every hundred of limes used and consumed in making punch, or Accounts to be taken.

* Signed March 6, 1762, according to the record.

otherwise for sale by taverners and innholders only, three shillings. —And so proportionably for any quantity or number.

And be [it] further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That every retailer of rum, wine or spirits distilled, taverner, innholder and common victualler, shall, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, take a just and true account, in writing, of all wine, rum and spirits distilled, then by him or her, or in his or her possession; and that every person who shall be hereafter licen[s][c]ed to be a taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer of wine, rum or spirits distilled, shall take a like account of all wine, rum and other spirits distilled, by him or her, or in his or her possession, at the time of such licen[s][c]e granted; and every taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer of rum or other spirits distilled, or wine, shall make a fair entry, in a book by them respectively to be kept for that purpose, of all such rum, or other spirits distilled, or wine, as he or she, or any person or persons for him or her, shall buy, distill, take in or receive, after such first account taken, and when and of whom the same was bought and taken in; and at the expiration of every half-year shall take a just and true account how much thereof then remains by them; and shall, in writing, under their hands, render to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid the whole of those several accounts, and shall also make oath, in the form following, before such collector or collectors, who are hereby impowered to administer the same:—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the account by you now rendered, is, to the best of your knowle[d]ge, a just and true account of all wines, rum and distilled spirits you had by you, or in your possession, on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and also of all the wine, rum and other distilled spirits bought, distilled, taken in or received by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by or with your knowledge, allowance, consent or connivance, and that there still remains thereof in your possession, unsold, so much as is in this account said to remain by you unsold; and that you do not know or believe that there has been by you, or by any other person or persons for or under you, or by your or their order, allowance, consent or connivance, either directly or indirectly, sold, used or consumed any wine, or any liquor for, or as, wine, any rum or distilled spirits, or liquor for, or as, rum or distilled spirits; or that there has been any limes, lemmons or oranges by you, or by any person or persons for or under you, or by your order, consent, allowance or connivance, used in making punch, or otherwise for sale, since the said twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, besides what is contained in the account by you now rendered. So help you God.

Penalty for collector's receiving accounts without oath.

—and every collector of the excise who shall receive any account from any person, in consequence of this act, without their making oath to the same, as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for the use of the government the sum of twenty pounds.

[SECT. 3.] And for every person that was not licen[s][c]ed on the same twenty-fifth day of March, the form of the oath shall be so varied as that instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last accounts shall be inserted and used; and for every person rendering an account after the first, the oath shall be so varied, as that, instead of expressing the day aforesaid, the time of taking and rendering their last accounts shall be inserted and used.

Oath to be varied.

Duties to the collector.

[SECT. 4.] And every such taverner, innholder, retailer and common victualler shall pay the duties aforesaid to him or them that shall collect the same, on the whole of the several articles mentioned in such account rendered, saving only for such part thereof as remains in their hands unsold: provided, nevertheless, that for leakage, &c[a]., ten per cent shall be allowed them on all liquors in such account mentioned, besides what remains in their hands unsold. allowed for leakage.

Ten per cent

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That every person hereafter licen[s][c]ed to be a taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer of any wine, rum or spirits distilled shall, within thirty days after such licen[s][c]e granted, and before he or she shall sell by virtue of the same, not only become bound to keep good rule and order, as by law is already required, but shall also become bound, with sufficient sureties, by way of recognizance, to his majesty, for the use of this government, in a sufficient sum, to be ordered by the court that grants the licen[s][c]e, which sum shall not exceed three hundred pounds nor be less than fifty pounds, conditioned that they shall keep and render the accounts aforesaid, and pay the duties aforesaid, as in and by this act is required. Taverners, &c., to give bond.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That every such taverner, innholder, common victualler and retailer, who shall neglect or refuse to take, keep and render such accounts as by this act are required, or that shall neglect or refuse to take the oath aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay, to him or them that shall collect the duties aforesaid, double the sum which the court of general sessions of the peace in that county shall adjudge that the duties of excise upon the liquors, limes, lemmons and oranges, by such taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer, or by any for, by or under him or them, sold, used or consumed would have amounted to; and no person[s] shall be licen[s][c]ed by the justices of the general sessions of the peace, who have not accounted with the collector, and paid him the excise aforesaid, due from such person at the time of his or her taking or renewing his licence. Forfeiture for neglect in keeping and rendering accounts.

And whereas, notwithstanding the laws made against selling strong drink without licence, many persons, not regarding the penalties of said acts, do receive and entertain persons in their houses, and sell great quantities of spirits and other strong drink, without licence, by reason whereof great debaucheries are committed and kept secret, and such as take licences and pay the duties of excise therefor are greatly wronged, and the government thereby defrauded,— Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That if any distiller, importer, or any other person whatsoever, after the said twenty-fifth day of March, shall presume, directly or indirectly, to sell any rum or other distilled spirits, or wine, in less quantity than twenty-five gallons, or any beer, ale, cyder, perry or other strong drink, in any quantity less than ten gallons, without licence first had and obtained from the court of general sessions of the peace in that county, and recognizing in manner as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of four pounds and costs of prosecution, two thirds for the use of the government, and the other third for the prosecutor; and all such as shall neglect or refuse to pay the fine aforesaid, shall stand closely committed in the common goal of the county, and not have the liberty of the goaler's house or yard, until said sum of four pounds is paid, with costs; and any goaler giving liberty contrary to this act, shall forfeit and pay the said sum of four pounds, to be disposed of in manner aforesaid, and costs of prosecution. Forfeiture for selling without license.

And whereas some doubts have arisen whether the lending or delivering rum, brandy or other spirits distilled, or wine, to others, for their use, upon agreement or confidence of having the like liquors returned again, be a sale thereof; wherefore, for removing all such doubts,— Preamble.

Be it enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That all rum, brandy and other spirituous liquors, and Liquors lent or delivered on certain consideration, to be deemed a sale.

wine, lent or delivered to others for their use, upon such like consideration, is and shall be deemed and taken to be an absolute sale thereof; and that every person not licenced as aforesaid, that shall order, allow, permit or connive at the selling any rum, brandy or other distilled spirits, or wine, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, by his or their child or children, servant or servants, or any other person or persons in or belonging to his or her house or family, shall be deemed and taken to be the seller of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against such offenders, and shall be recovered in like manner: provided, that if it shall be made to appear that the liquors lent or delivered as aforesaid shall have had the duties paid upon them, or were purchased of any person or persons having licence or permit, the person lending or delivering the same, as aforesaid, shall not be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties.

Proviso.

Preamble.

And whereas divers other persons than those licen[s][c]ed to sell rum and other distilled spirits by retail, have heretofore supplied persons employed by them in the fishery, building vessels, and in other business, without paying any excise therefor, and thereby have defrauded the government of the duties of excise, and have not been subject to the penalty provided by law against selling drink without licence, and the same practice will probably be continued unless effectual care be taken to prevent the same,—

Be it therefore further enacted,

Persons not licensed supplying those employed by them in the fishery, &c., with spirituous liquors, to be deemed sellers.

[SECT. 9.] That all persons not licenced as aforesaid, who hereafter shall, by themselves, or by any other person or persons under them, or by their orders, allowance or connivance, supply any person or persons [i][e]mployed by them in the fishery, building of vessels, or any other business or employ, with rum or any other distilled spirits, or wine, shall be deemed and taken to be sellers of such liquors, and be subject to the aforesaid pains and penalties provided against persons selling any of the liquors aforesaid without licence, and shall be recovered in like manner, unless they make it appear that such wine, rum or other distilled spirits was purchased of a taverner, innholder or retailer, or other person or persons that had licence or permit to sell the same.

And be it further enacted,

One witness sufficient for conviction.

[SECT. 10.] That when any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence, one witness produced to the satisfaction of the court or justice before whom the trial is, shall be deemed sufficient for conviction. And when and so often as it shall be observed that there is a resort of persons to houses suspected of selling strong drink without licence, any justice of the peace in the same county, shall have full power to convene such persons before him, to examine them, upon oath, concerning the persons suspected of selling or retailing strong drink in such houses, outhouses or other dependencies thereof; and if, upon examining such witnesses, and hearing the defence of such suspected person, it shall appear to the justice there is sufficient proof of the violation of this act by selling strong drink without licence, judgment may thereupon be made up against such person, and he shall forfeit in like manner as if process had been commenced by action or information before the said justice; or otherwise the said justice may bind over the person suspected, and the witnesses, to the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where such person shall dwell.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for selling strong drink to negroes, mulattoes, &c.

[SECT. 11.] That when and so often as any person shall be charged with selling strong drink without licence to any negro, Indian or molatto slave, or to any child or other person under the age of discretion, and other circumstances concurring, it shall appear to be highly probable, in the judgment of the court or justice before whom the trial shall be, that the person complained of is guilty, then and in every such case, unless the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath (to be administred to him or her by the court or justice that shall try the cause), such defendant shall forfeit and pay four pounds, one third to the informer, the other two thirds to the collector of excise for the use of the government, and costs of prosecution; but if the defendant shall acquit him- or herself upon oath, as aforesaid, the court or justice may and shall enter up judgment for the defendant to recover costs.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty on persons refusing to give evidence.

[Sect. 12.] That if any person or persons shall be summoned to appear before a justice of the peace, or the grand jury, to give evidence relating to any person's selling strong drink without licence, or to appear before the court of general sessions of the peace, or other court proper to try the same, to give evidence on the trial of any person informed against, presented or indicted for selling strong drink without licence, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence in that behalf, every person so offending shall forfeit the sum of twenty pounds and cost of prosecution; the one half of the penalty aforesaid to be to his majesty for the use of the province, and the other half to and for the use of him or them who shall sue for the same as aforesaid. And when it shall so happen that witnesses are bound to sea before the sitting of the court where any person or persons informed against, for selling strong drink without licence, is or are to be prosecuted for the same, in every such case, the deposition of any witness or witnesses, in writing, taken before any two of his majesty's justices of the peace, quorum unus, and sealed up and delivered into court, the adverse party having first had notice, in writing, sent to him or her, of the time and place of caption, shall be esteemed as sufficient evidence, in the law, to convict any person or persons offending against this act, as if such witness or witnesses had been present at the time of trial, and given his, her or their deposition vi[v]a voce; and every person or persons who shall be summoned to give evidence before two justices of the peace, in manner as aforesaid, and shall neglect or refuse to appear, or to give evidence relating to the facts he or she shall be enquired of, shall be liable and subject to the same penalty as he or she would have been, by virtue of this act, for not appearing, or neglecting or refusing to give his or her evidence before the grand jury or court aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

How fines, &c., are to be recovered.

[Sect. 13.] That all fines, penalties and forfeitures arising by this act shall and may be recovered by action or information before any court of record proper to try the same, and, where the sum forfeited doth not exceed four pounds, by action or information before any one of his majesty's justices of the peace in the respective counties where such offence shall be committed: which said justice is hereby [e][i]mpowered to try and determine the same. And said justice shall make a fair entry or record of all such proceedings: saving, always, to any person or persons who shall think him- her- or themselves aggrieved by the determination of said justice, liberty of appeal therefrom to the next court of general sessions of the peace to be holden for and within said county, at which court such offence shall be finally determined: provided, that in the same appeal the same rules be observed as are already required by law, in appeals from justices to the court of general sessions of the peace, saving, only, that the recognizance for prosecuting the appeal shall be eight pounds.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to set-

[Sect. 14.] That every collector shall settle all accounts relating tle accounts.

to said excise in the several towns of the county where he is collector, first giving seasonable and publick notice of the time and place or places where said business shall be transacted.

And be it further enacted,

Collectors of the excise to be appointed by the general court.

[SECT. 15.] That there be one or more collectors in each county appointed by the general court,—or courts of general sessions of the peace, where it shall happen that such collector refuse to accept said office, or be removed by death or for mismanagement,—to take charge of this duty of excise, who shall have full power to inspect the houses of all such as are licenced, and of such as are suspected to sell without licence, which collector shall be upon oath to take care of the execution of this law, and to prosecute the breakers of it.

[SECT. 16.] And every collector of the excise in any county may substitute and appoint one or more deputy or deputies under him, upon oath, to collect and receive the excise aforesaid, which shall become due in said county, and pay in the same to such collector, which deputy and deputies shall have, use and exercise all such powers and authorities as in and by this act are given or committed to the collector for the better collecting the duties aforesaid, or prosecuting offenders against this act; for the doings of such deputies the collectors respectively shall be accountable.

[SECT. 17.] And the said collectors shall carefully examine the accounts of every licenced person in their respective counties, and demand, sue for, and receive the several sums due from them, by this act, and shall give in the name of every licenced and permitted person, and an account, under their hands, of the particular sums they receive, and of whom received, unto the treasurer, upon oath; which oath the treasurer is hereby [e][i]mpowered and directed to administer in the words following; viz[t].,—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that this is a just and true account of the excise upon all wines, rum and distilled spirits, limes, lemmons and oranges by you received or secured to be paid in the county of ; and that the persons by whom such excise was paid or secured to be paid to you, were sworn in manner and form as by law is prescribed. So help you God.

Collectors to give two receipts for every sum received.

[SECT. 18.] And at the time of receiving any money, the said collector shall give two receipts, of the same tenor and date, mentioning what sum or sums they have received from any taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer; one of which receipts to be by the said taverner, innholder, common victualler or retailer, returned to the court of general sessions of the peace, within their respective counties, at the next session of such court, and the clerks of said court shall, within thirty days after receipt thereof, transmit the same to the treasurer or receiver-general.

[SECT. 19.] And such collectors shall pay in to the public[k] treasury of this province all such sums as they shall receive, within six months from the date of their commission, and so, from time to time, within the space of the six months, as long as they shall continue in such office, on pain of forfeiting the reward given such collectors by this act, who shall be allowed, in the count[y][ie]s of Suffolk, Essex and Middlesex, two per cent, in the counties of Plymouth, Bristol, Hampshire and Worcester, two and an-half per cent, and in the other counties, three per cent, on all money by them collected and paid into the Bond to be given to the treasurer, for treble the sum that the excise is farmed for.

Collectors' fees.

treasury as aforesaid, each collector, before he enters into the said office, to give bond for treble the sum that it was farmed for in the respective counties, in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, to the treasurer of this province for the time being, and his successors in said office; which bond shall be executed before the next court of general sessions of the peace, in the respective counties, after such appointment, where the said collectors live, or before two of his majesty's justices of the peace, in the respective counties, one to be of the quorum: one of the said justices to return the certificate to the clerk of the sessions within thirty days, as aforesaid, and be transmitted to the treasurer of the province by the clerk of the peace within such county, within three months after the bond is executed; and the said treasurer shall put in suit the bonds of all such collectors who shall neglect to make due payment within fifty days after either of the times of payment.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for collectors or deputies offending.

[Sect. 20.] That in case any collector of the excise as aforesaid, or his deputy, shall, at any time during their continuance in that office, wittingly and willingly connive at, or allow any person or persons in their respective divisions, not licenced by the court of general sessions of the peace, their selling any wine, rum or other liquors by this act forbidden, such collector or deputy, for every such offence, shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds, and costs of prosecution; one half of the penalty aforesaid to be to his majesty for the use of this province, the other half to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, and shall be thenceforward forever disabled from serving in said office: saving that said collector may give a permit to any person to sell rum, or other spirits distilled, or wine, in quantity from twenty-five gallons and upwards, agreeable to this act.

Provided, always, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act,—

Proviso.

[Sect. 21.] That if any taverner or retailer shall sell to any other taverner or retailer any quantity of whatever distilled liquors and wine, such taverner or retailer, selling as aforesaid, shall not be held to pay such duty, but the taverner or retailer who is the purchaser shall pay the same; and the seller as aforesaid, shall, and hereby is required to, deliver to the collector of this duty a true account of such liquors sold as aforesaid, and to whom sold.

And to the end that the revenue arising from the excise upon spirituous liquors may be increased, and raised with more equality,—

Be it enacted,

Duties to be paid upon all liquors imported or manufactured.

[Sect. 22.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, to the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-five, upon all rum and other distilled spirits, and all wine imported and manufactured, and sold for consumption within this province, there be laid and [is] hereby [is] laid the duties of excise following; viz[t].,—

For every gallon of rum and spirits distilled, eightpence.

For every gallon of wine of every sort, one shilling.

—To be paid to the collector of excise, or his deputy, by every person having permit to sell the said liquors in each county, respectively.

And be it further enacted,

Liquors not to be sold by the importer, &c., without a permit.

[Sect. 23.] That every person that shall import any of the liquors aforesaid, or to whom any of them shall or may be consigned, shall be and hereby is prohibited from selling the same, or any part thereof, without having a permit so to do from the collector of excise, or his deputy. And every person distilling or manufacturing any of the said liquors, and every person owning or possessing any of them, excepting such as are or may be licenced by the court of general sessions of the peace, as aforesaid, shall be and hereby are prohibited from selling the same, or any part thereof, without having a permit so to do from the collector of excise, or his deputy, on forfeiture of fifty pounds and of the value of the liquors so sold; and the said permit shall express the particular county where the said liquors shall be permitted to be sold; and if any person who shall have such permit shall sell and deliver, or cause to be sold and delivered, any of the liquors aforesaid from any other county not mentioned in such permit, he shall forfeit four pounds, to be paid, one third to the prosecutor, and the other two thirds to the collector for the use of this government.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 24.] That the impost officer and his deputy shall be and hereby are respectively [e][i]mpowered to grant a permit for selling the liquors aforesaid, or any of them, to any person applying for the same, until a collector be appointed in each county, respectively, to whom the duty of excise shall be paid as aforesaid, and until the collector shall give public[k] notice of his appointment as aforesaid. And the said impost officer and deputy, shall transmit, to the collector of each county, an account of the permits by each of them, respectively, granted to persons living in such county.

And be it further enacted,

Collector applying to a justice for a warrant may search for liquors supposed to be concealed.

[SECT. 25.] That if the collector aforesaid or his deputy shall have information of any place where any of the liquors aforesaid shall have been sold by any person not having permit, as aforesaid, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place; and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said collector or deput[ie][u]s making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid, and that he hath just cause to suspect the liquors aforesaid, or some of them, have been sold at such place informed of as aforesaid; and having such warrant, and being attended by such officer, the said collector, or his deputy, may, in the day-time, between sun-rising and sun-setting, demand admittance of the person owning or occupying such place, and upon refusal shall have right to break open said place, and finding such liquors, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is [e][i]mpowered to command assistance and impress carriages necessary to secure the liquors seized as aforesaid; and persons refusing assistance, or preventing said officers from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to his majesty for the use of the province, and the said collector or his deputy shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance afforded and carriages made use of to secure the liquors seized as aforesaid; and the collector, or his deputy, shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferio[u]r court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made: which court shall summon the owner of such liquors, or the occupier of the shop, house, warehouse or distil-house where the same were seized, to appear and shew cause, if any he hath, why the said liquors so seized should not be adjudged forfeited; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause as aforesaid, or make default, the said liquors shall be adjudged forfeited, and the said court shall order them to be sold at public[k] vendue, and the neat produce of such sale shall be paid, one third to the prosecutor, the other two thirds to the collector for the use of this government.

Provided,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 26.] That if the liquors seized as aforesaid be less in quantity than one hundred gallons, the collector, or his deputy, shall file an information thereof with one of the justices of the peace within the county where the seizure shall be made, who shall summon the owner or occupier aforesaid in manner as aforesaid; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause, or make default as aforesaid, he shall adjudge such liquors forfeited, and shall order them to be sold as aforesaid, and the neat produce of such sale to be disposed of as aforesaid: saving to the person convicted liberty of appeal, entring into recognizance to the king, for the use of the province, in the sum of fifty pounds.

And be it further enacted,

Persons having permit, as aforesaid, to render an account to the collector, at the end of every half-year, saving, &c.

[Sect. 27.] That every person having permit, as aforesaid, shall, at the end of each half-year respectively, from the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, be ready to render to the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, an account, on oath, of all the liquors aforesaid by him or her, or any person or persons in his or her behalf, sold; and also of all the aforesaid liquors by him or her imported, distilled or manufactured, or which have come into his or her possession since the twenty-fifth day of March aforesaid, except the same were bought of a licenced person in a quantity less than twenty-five gallons, which in his or her family have been consumed or expended within each half-year, respectively; which account shall express the number of gallons of each kind of the liquors so sold and consumed; and shall pay therefor to the said collector or his deputy the duty aforesaid, excepting for so much as shall have been sold to taverners, innholders or retailers having licence from the sessions as aforesaid, or to any other persons having permit as aforesaid, and so much as shall have been exported out of this province; and if any of said liquors shall have been sold to persons licenced by the sessions, or to persons having permit, said account shall exhibit the names of such licenced persons who purchased, and persons having permit, and time when they purchased the same; and the persons accounting shall exhibit a certificate under the hand of the licenced or permitted person purchasing, which shall express the number of gallons, and the kind of the liquors purchased, and the time when the same was purchased, and the name of the town and county wherein such licenced or permitted person lives, and shall lodge the said certificate with the said collector, or his deputy; and for the quantity of the said liquors mentioned in such certificate, the said collector or his deputy shall not demand any duty, but shall deliver said certificate to the collector of the county wherein such licenced or permitted persons, signing the same, lives; which last-mentioned collector or his deputy shall settle with such licenced or permitted person for the duty aforesaid which may be due from him or her.

Persons having permit, as aforesaid, to give an account of liquors by them sent out of the province.

[Sect. 28.] And if any person having a permit or licence, as aforesaid, shall ship or export any of the liquors aforesaid out of this province in a quantity not less than thirty gallons, and shall make an entry thereof with the collector aforesaid, or his deputy, and shall produce to such collector, or his deputy, when he comes to settle his account of excise, one of the receipts or bills of lading given therefor by the master of the vessel on board which such liquors shall be shipped (or if it shall be carried out of the province by land, or in small boats, then of the person who is master of the land-carriage or boat), expressing the quantity thereof and the time of their being shipped, and shall lodge such receipt or bill of lading with the collector or his deputy aforesaid, and at the same time shall swear that such liquors are bonâ fide sent, or intended to be sent, out of the province, he or she shall not be held to pay the duty thereon aforesaid.

Persons not having permit to render an account, &c.

[Sect. 29.] And if any person not having permit or licence shall purchase, for exportation out of this province, any of said liquors, in a quantity not less than thirty gallons, of a person having permit or licence, the purchaser shall make entry with the collector or his deputy, and at the same time swear that such liquors are bonâ fide sent, or intended to be sent, out of this province, and shall, within ten days after shipping the same, deliver one of the receipts or bills of lading given for such liquors, as aforesaid, to the person of whom he purchased the same, or be subject to pay the amount of the duty thereon to the person of whom he purchased the same as aforesaid, who shall pay such duty to the collector or his deputy; but if the purchaser aforesaid shall deliver such receipt or bill of lading as aforesaid, and it be lodged with the collector or his deputy, then, for the quantity of said liquors mentioned therein, the collector or his deputy shall not demand any duty.

Penalty for masters or others giving certificate without receiving the liquors.

[SECT. 30.] And if the master of any vessel, or any other person, shall give such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, without receiving the liquors mentioned therein, or if any person shall procure such certificate, receipt or bill of lading, with design to defraud the government, and shall be thereof convicted, they and each of them shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds, two thirds for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor. And if any such certificate, receipt or bill of lading shall be forged, counterfeited or altered, the person forging, counterfeiting or altering shall incur the penalty of one hundred pounds.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 31.] That the person having permit as aforesaid shall not sell any of the liquors aforesaid in a quantity less than twenty-five gallons (to be sold and delivered to one person at one time), unless he or she has licence from the court of general sessions of the peace, as aforesaid, on pain of incurring the several fines and penalties in the former part of this act, laid upon those persons who sell the liquors aforesaid without licence.

Be it further enacted,

Collector to give certificate, on penalty.

[SECT. 32.] That the collector aforesaid or his deputy, when the exporter shall make an entry with him as aforesaid, or shall make an entry with him and swear as aforesaid, shall give to said exporter a certificate of such entry, or a certificate of such entry and oath, on penalty of one hundred pounds, for the use of the exporter.

And be it further enacted,

Persons applying for a permit, to give bond.

[SECT. 33.] That every person applying to the collector or his deputy, or to the impost officer or his deputy, for a permit, shall give bond, for the use of this province, with or without sureties, in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds nor less than twenty pounds, at the discretion of the collector or impost officer, conditioned for the payment of the excise that shall become due according to the account to be exhibited by such person taking such permit; and no person shall have such permit of the collector or impost officer until he hath given such bond.

Preamble.

And whereas the importer of any of the liquors aforesaid, or the person to whom they shall be consigned, may intend the same either for sale or for his or her own private consumption, in which case such importer or consignee is not sufficiently held by any preceeding part of this act to pay the duty or excise aforesaid; wherefore, in order to lay said duty or excise in as equal manner as may be,—

Be it enacted,

Persons importing liquors for private consumption, &c., to render account thereof to the collector.

[SECT. 34.] That every person that shall bring or import into this province, either by land or water carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid, either for sale or private consumption, shall, within twenty-four hours, pay or secure to the collector the duties or excise due thereon; but in case such importer or consignee be licenced or permitted, then he shall be held only to report the same to the collector of excise, and at the end of each half-year, respectively, shall make out an account expressing the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid, imported or consigned as aforesaid; and when the account is rendered to the collector or his deputy, it shall be upon oath, and such importer or consignee shall pay to the said collector or his deputy, on the liquor or liquors mentioned in said account, the duty of excise aforesaid, deducting ten per cent for leakage; and in case of failure herein, the offender shall pay a fine of four pounds, and treble duty or excise on the quantity so imported or brought in, one third of which shall be for the use of the province, the other two thirds for him or her that shall inform and sue for the same. .

Collector may apply to two justices, for a citation, where he may suspect persons giving a false account, &c.

[Sect. 35.] And if said collector or his deputy, shall have reason to suspect any person of bringing or importing into this province, either by land or water carriage, any of the liquors aforesaid, without having entered the same and secured the duties or excise aforesaid, the said collector may apply to two of the next justices of the peace to such suspected person, and within the county where he lives, and on making oath that he so suspects such person, said justices shall issue a process under their hands and seals, directed to the sheriff or his deputy, or constable, requiring him to summon such suspected person, and oblige him to give security to the amount of one hundred pounds, to appear and answer and respond the judgment that shall be given on the premis[s]es, and in case such person shall not give such security, to bring him before such justices at the time that said justices in such process shall appoint; and when the parties shall be before them, the said justices shall examine into the cause of complaint; and if it shall appear, either by confession of the party, or by the evidence of one credible witness, that he or she, or any one on his or her behalf, has imported or has had any of the liquors aforesaid consigned to him or her without having entered the same and secured or pay the duty or excise as aforesaid, such suspected person shall then render a full account, on oath, of the kinds and quality of the liquors imported or consigned as aforesaid, and shall pay on such liquors, or give security to pay, the aforesaid fine of four pounds, and treble duty or excise as aforesaid, one third for the use of this government, the other two thirds for the informer and prosecutor, and costs.

[Sect. 36.] And said justices are hereby [e][i]mpowered to make up judgment and award execution accordingly: provided the said fine and treble damage exceed not six pounds;* then said justices shall bind the offender to answer his offence at the next court of general sessions of the peace for the county where the offence was committed, and such offender shall enter into recognizance, with two sufficient sureties, to answer for his offence, in the sum of fifty pounds; and any person or persons upon refusing to render such account and paying as aforesaid, shall forfeit fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, in lieu of such fine and treble duty, to be recovered as is hereafter provided in this act.

[Sect. 37.] And if no confession be made by such suspected person, and no evidence produced as aforesaid, and it shall appear to the justices before whom the same is tried that there is sufficient ground of suspicion, the suspected person may then clear him- or herself from the complaint aforesaid, by taking an oath in the form following:—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that you have not, directly or indirectly, either by yourself, or any person in your behalf, imported into this province any rum, spirits distilled, or wine, and that you have not had any of said liquors directly or indirectly consigned to you, but what you have paid, or secured to be paid, the duty or excise agreeable to an act of this province made in the second year of his majesty's reign, intit[u]led "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." So help you God.

—which oath the said justices are hereby impowered and required to administer.

* The words "but if such duty exceed six pounds" omitted: see foot-note on p. 315, ante.

Penalty for refusing to take the oath.

[SECT. 38.] And if such suspected person shall refuse to take said oath, and shall neglect to appear upon the citation aforesaid, he or she shall pay the cost of citations, and shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government, and costs of prosecution; but if such suspected person shall take the said oath, the costs of citation or warrant shall be paid by the collector or his deputy, respectively, who applied for such citation or warrant; who shall also pay to the person cited or apprehended, and, taking said oath, the sum of twenty shillings; and in case any person shall be served with the process aforesaid, in manner aforesaid, and shall not appear according to the tenor thereof, said justices shall make a record thereof, and the security taken by the sheriff or his deputy, or constable, as aforesaid, shall be deemed forfeited, and the same by said collector may and shall be put in suit in any court proper to try the same, and the sum recovered shall be divided, one third to his majesty for the use of this province, and the other two thirds to such collector.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to grant a permit, on penalty.

[SECT. 39.] That the collector, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is obliged to grant a permit, under his hand, to every person applying for the same, on penalty of two hundred pounds, to and for the use of the person making application; which permit shall be in the form following; viz[t].,—

Form of the permit.

You, A. B., of C., in the county of D., are hereby permitted to sell rum and other distilled spirits, and wine, or any of said liquors, within the county of , until the day of , one thousand seven hundred and , pursuant to an act of this province, made in the second year of his majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for granting unto his majesty an excise upon spirits distilled, and wine, and upon limes, lemmons and oranges." Dated at C., this day of , 176 .

A. B., Collector (or deputy-collector) of excise for the county aforesaid.

Fee for a permit.

And for such permit the said collector or deputy shall be [i][e]nti-t[u]led to receive twopence, and no more; and the like sum for an entry made with him, and the like sum for a certificate given by him.

And be it further enacted,

Collector to keep an office in each seaport town, &c.

[SECT. 40.] That the collector of excise, either by himself or his deputy, shall keep an office in each seaport town within his county, where he or his deputy shall give his attendance on every Thursday, from nine of the clock in the morning to twelve at noon, to grant permits, to receive entries, give certificates, &c.

Provided,—

[SECT. 41.] That in the town of Boston such an office shall be kept and attendance given on every day, Lord's Day only excepted, within the hours aforesaid of each of said days respectively.

Provided, also,—

[SECT. 42.] That the said collector, or his deputy, on application made, shall at any other time grant permits, receive entries and give certificates aforesaid.

Preamble.

And whereas persons not belonging to this province may import the liquors aforesaid, and take permit to dispose of the same, and may go out of the province before the time comes about when persons selling said liquors are held to account with the collector, and by that means may avoid paying the duty upon what has been so disposed of; for preventing whereof,—

Be it enacted,

Persons importing liquors, as aforesaid, to give bond.

[SECT. 43.] That every person importing the liquors aforesaid, and applying to the collector or his deputy for a permit to sell the same, shall give bond to said collector in a sum not exceeding two hundred pounds, nor less than twenty pounds, with or without sureties, at the discretion of the collector, that he will render to said collector or his deputy an account, on oath, of the kind and full quantity of the liquors aforesaid sold by him, or by any person or persons on his behalf, and that * he will pay thereon the duty or excise aforesaid before he leaves the province; and if such person shall refuse to give such bond, the said collector or his deputy shall not be obliged to grant him a permit, any thing in this act to the contrary notwithstanding; and if such person shall sell any of the liquors aforesaid without permit, he shall be subject to all the penalties that other persons selling without permit are subject to; or if such person shall give bond as aforesaid, and shall leave the province before such bond be discharged, the collector may bring his action on such bond against the surety or sureties, for the recovery of the sum in such bond mentioned, which shall be, one third for the use of the prosecutor, the other two thirds for the use of this government.

Be it further enacted,

Deputy-collectors liable to military duties.

[Sect. 44.] That no person shall be exempted from any military duty by means or on account of his being appointed a deputy-collector of the duties of excise of spirituous liquors, but shall, to all intents and purposes, be liable to train, be impressed and perform every other military duty, as if such person had not been appointed a deputy-collector as aforesaid.

Be it further enacted,

All persons who had permits or license to sell liquors, and shall not renew the same, to account for the duties thereof.

[Sect. 45.] That all persons who took out permits in the preceeding years, and do not renew the same, shall, at the end of each half-year from and after the twenty-sixth day of March next, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-five, render to the collector or his deputy that shall or may be appointed in the respective counties by vertue of this act, an account, on oath, of all liquors remaining in their hands and consumed in his, her or their families during the continuance of this act, and pay the duties herein imposed, deducting ten per cent for leakage, upon penalty of fifteen pounds, one half to the informer, the other half to and for the use of this province.

Be it further enacted,

Collector of the duties of excise to account for all wine, &c., sold or consumed by them.

[Sect. 46.] That every person that hath been or may be appointed collector of the duties aforesaid, who shall import into this province, or shall have, by consignment or otherwise, or shall sell or dispose of any wine, rum or spirits distilled, limes, lemmons or oranges, or shall use or consume the same, such collector shall take, keep and render a like account thereof, upon oath, to the province treasurer (who is hereby impowered to administer the same in the form by this act prescribed), and pay to him the like duties thereon as such person so appointed collector would otherwise have been held and obliged to have taken, kept, rendered and paid to the collector of the duties aforesaid; and that the same be done in like manner and time, and under the like pains and penalties, as by this act in such cases is provided.

Be it further enacted,

How fines, &c., arising by this act, to be disposed of.

[Sect. 47.] That all fines, penalties and forfeitures arising or accruing by any breach of this act, and not otherwise appropriated, shall be two thirds to his majesty, for the use of this government, and the other third for the use of the prosecutor, to be recovered by action or information in any of his majesty's courts of record. CHAPTER 25.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL RATES AND DUTIES OF IMPOST AND TUNNAGE OF SHIPPING.

Preamble.

WE, his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, being desirous of lessening the publick debts, have chearfully and unanimously given and granted, and do give and grant, to his most excellent majesty, for the service of this province, as they shall hereafter apply it, the several duties of impost upon all liquors, wares, goods and merchandize that shall be imported into this province, and tunnage of shipping hereafter mentioned; and pray that it may be enacted,—

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Rates of impost.

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, to the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, there shall be paid by the importers of all wines, rum and other liquors, goods, wares and merchandize that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants thereof (except what is by this act hereafter exempted), the several duties of impost following; viz.,—

For every pipe of wine of every sort, ten shillings.

For every hogshead of rum containing one hundred gallons, eight shillings.

For every hogshead of sugar, fourpence.

For every hogshead of molasses, fourpence.

For every hogshead of tobacco, ten shillings.

For every pound of tea that shall be imported from any of his majesty's plantations in America, fourpence.

— And so, proportionably, for a greater, or less quantity.

And for all other commodities, goods or merchandize not mentioned or not excepted, fourpence for every twenty shillings' value, excepting such goods as are the product or manufacture of Great Britain.

Double impost to be paid for goods imported by the inhabitants of other colonies, &c.

[SECT. 2.] And for any of the above-mentioned liquors, goods, wares and merchandize (excepting tea, which shall only pay fourpence) that shall be imported into this province by any of the inhabitants of the other provinces or colonies on this continent, or of the English West-India Islands, in any ship or vessel to them belonging, on the proper account of any of the said inhabitants of the said provinces, colonies or islands, there shall be paid by the importers double the impost laid by this act: provided always, that every thing which is the growth or produce of the provinces or colonies aforesaid (tobacco and bar-iron excepted), and all provisions, salt, cotton-wool, pig-iron, mahogony, brazilleto, black-walnut, lignum-vitæ, red-cedar, log-wood, hemp, raw skins and hides, and also all prize goods brought into and condemned in this province, are and shall be exempted from every the rates and duties aforesaid.

Proviso.

And be it further enacted,

Drawback of the whole impost to the exporter, in case.

[SECT. 3.] That all goods, wares and merchandize, the property of any of the inhabitants of any of the neighbouring provinces or colonies on this continent, that shall be imported into this province, and shall have paid, or on which there shall have been secured to be paid, the duty of impost, by this act provided to be paid, and afterwards shall be exported and landed in any of the said provinces or colonies on this continent, then and in such case the exporter, producing a certificate from some officer of his majesty's customs, that the same has been landed in some of the provinces or colonies aforesaid, shall be allowed a drawback of the whole duty of impost by him paid, or secured to be paid, as by this act provided.

And be it further enacted,

Masters of vessels to make report.

[Sect. 4.] That the master of every ship or vessel coming into this province from any other place, shall, within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port or harbour, and before bulk is broken, make report and deliver a manifest, in writing, under his hand, to the commissioner aforesaid, of the contents or loading of such ship or vessel, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantities of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in any such ship or vessel, with the marks and numbers thereof, and to whom the same are consigned; and make oath before the commissioner that the same manifest contains a just and true account of all the lading taken on board and imported in such ship or vessel, so far as he knows or believes; and that, if he knows of any more wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize laden on board such ship or vessel, and imported therein, he will forthwith make report thereof to the commissioner aforesaid, and cause the same to be added to his manifest.

And be it further enacted,

To forfeit, in case of breaking bulk.

[Sect. 5.] That if the master of any ship or vessel shall break bulk, or suffer any of the wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in such ship or vessel to be unladen before report and entry thereof be made as aforesaid, he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds.

And be it further enacted,

Invoice to be produced.

[Sect. 6.] That all merchants and other persons, being owners of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported into this province, for which any of the rates or duties aforesaid are payable, or having the same consigned to them, shall make an entry thereof with the commissioner aforesaid, and produce an invoice of all such goods as pay ad valorem, and make oath before him in the form following; viz.,—

Oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the entry of the goods and merchandize, by you now made, exhibits the sterling value of said goods, and that, bonâ fide, according to your best skill and judgment, it is not less than that value. So help you God.

Duties to be paid before landing.

— which oath the commissioner or receiver, appointed in consequence of this act, is hereby impowered and directed to administer; and the owners aforesaid shall pay to the said commissioner, or give security to pay, the duty of impost by this act required, before such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize be landed or taken out of the vessel in which the same shall be imported.

[Sect. 7.] And no wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize that by this act are liable to pay impost or duty, shall be landed on any wharf, or in any warehouse or other place, but in the day-time only, and that after sunrise and before sunset, unless in the presence or with the consent of the commissioner or receiver, on pain of forfeiting all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, and the lighter, boat or vessel out of which the same shall be landed or put into any warehouse or other place.

[Sect. 8.] And if any person or persons shall not have and produce an invoice of the quantities of rum or other liquors to him or them consign'd, then the cask wherein the same are, shall be gauged at the charge of the importer, that the contents thereof may be known.

Provided, nevertheless,—

Commissioner

[Sect. 9.] That the said commissioner shall be and hereby is al-allowed to give credit.

lowed to give credit to such person or persons whose duty of impost in one vessel shall not exceed six pounds: which credit shall be so limited as that he shall settle and ballance his accompts with every person, on or before the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, that the said accounts may be produced to this court as soon as may be after; and for all entries where the impost to be paid doth not exceed three shillings, the said commissioner shall not demand anything, and not more than sixpence for any other single entry, to what value soever.

And be it further enacted,

Importer by land-carriage or in small vessels to make report.

[SECT. 10.] That the importer of all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, from and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, and until the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, by land-carriage, or in small vessels and boats, shall make report and deliver a manifest thereof to the commissioner aforesaid or his deputy, therein particularly expressing the species, kind and quantity of all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize so imported, with the marks and numbers thereof, when, how and by whom brought; and shall make oath, before the said commissioner or his deputy, to the truth of such report and manifest, and shall also pay, or secure to be paid, the several duties aforesaid by this act charged and chargeable upon such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize, before the same are landed, housed or put into any store or place whatsoever.

And be it further enacted,

Allowance for leakage.

[SECT. 11.] That every merchant or other person importing any wines into this province shall be allowed twelve per cent for leakage: provided, such wines shall not have been filled up on board; and that every hogshead, butt or pipe of wine that hath two-thirds thereof leaked out, shall be accounted for outs, and the merchant or importer shall pay no duty for the same. And no master of any ship or vessel shall suffer any wines to be filled up on board without giving a certificate of the quantity so filled up, under his hand, before the landing thereof, to the commissioner or receiver of impost for such port, on pain of forfeiting the sum of one hundred pounds.

[SECT. 12.] And if it may be made to appear that any wine imported in any ship or vessel be decayed at the time of unloading thereof, or in twenty days afterwards, oath being made before the commissioner or receiver that the same hath not been landed above that time, the duties and impost paid for such wines shall be repayed unto the importer thereof.

And be it further enacted,

Master allowed to detain goods not entered or the duty not paid.

[SECT. 13.] That the master of every ship or vessel importing any liquors, wines, goods, wares or merchandize, shall be liable to pay the impost for such and so much thereof, contained in his manifest, as shall not be duly entered, and the duty paid for the same by the person or persons to whom such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned. And it shall and may be lawful, to and for the master of every ship or other vessel, to secure and detain in his hands, at the owner's risque, all such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize imported in any ship or vessel, until he receives a certificate, from the commissioner or receiver of impost, that the duty for the same is paid, and until he be repaid his necessary charges in securing the same; or such master may deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize as are not entered, unto the commissioner or receiver of the impost in such port, or his order, who is hereby impowered and directed to receive and keep the same, at the owner's risque, until the impost thereof, with the charges, be paid or secured to be paid; and then to deliver such wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize as such master shall direct.

And be it further enacted,

Master liable to be sued.

[Sect. 14.] That the commissioner or receiver of the impost in each port, shall be and hereby is impowered to sue the master of any ship or vessel, for the impost or duty of so much of the lading of any wines, liquors, goods, wares or merchandize imported therein, according to the manifest to be by him given upon oath, as aforesaid, as shall remain not entered and the duty of impost therefor not paid or secured to be paid. And where any goods, wares or merchandize are such that the value thereof is not known, whereby the impost to be recovered of the master, for the same, cannot be ascertained, the owner or person to whom such goods, wares or merchandize are or shall be consigned, shall be summoned to appear as an evidence at the court where such suit for the impost and the duty thereof shall be brought, and be there required to make oath to the value of such goods, wares or merchandize.

And be it further enacted,

Ships, &c., liable to be taken in execution.

[Sect. 15.] That the ship or vessel, with her tackle, apparel and furniture, the master of which shall make default in anything by this act required to be performed by him, shall be liable to answer and make good the sum or sums forfeited by such master, according to this act, for any such default, as also to make good the impost or duty for all wines, liquors, goods, wares and merchandize not entered as aforesaid, or for which the duty of impost have not been paid; and upon judgment recovered against such master, the said ship or vessel, with so much of the tackle or appurtenances thereof as shall be sufficient to satisfy said judgment, may be taken by execution for the same; and the commissioner or receiver of the impost is hereby impowered to make seizure of the said ship or vessel, and detain the same under seizure until judgment be given in any suit to be commenced and prosecuted for any of the said forfeitures, or for the duty aforesaid; to the intent, that if judgment be rendered for the prosecutors or informer, such ship or vessel and appurtenances may be exposed to sale, for satisfaction thereof, as is before provided: unless the owners, or some on their behalf, for the releasing of such ship or vessel from under seizure or restraint, shall give sufficient security to the commissioner or receiver of impost that seized the same, to respond or satisfy the sum or value of the forfeitures and duties, with the charges, that shall be recovered against the master thereof, upon such suit to be brought for the same, as aforesaid; and the master occasioning such loss or damage unto the owners, through his default or neglect, shall be liable unto their action for the same.

And be it further enacted,

Naval officer not to clear vessels till impost be paid.

[Sect. 16.] That the naval officer within any of the ports of this province shall not clear or give passes to any master of any ship or vessel outward bound, until he shall be certified, by the commissioner or receiver of impost, that the duty and impost for the goods last imported in such ship or vessel are paid or secured to be paid.

Bills of store to be allowed.

[Sect. 17.] And the commissioner or receiver of impost is hereby impowered to allow bills of store to the master of any ship or vessel importing any wines or liquors, for such private adventures as shall belong to the master or seamen of such ship or vessel, at the discretion of the commissioner or receiver, not exceeding three per cent of the lading; and the duties payable by this act, for such wines or liquors, in such bills of stores mentioned and expressed, shall be abated.

And for the more effectual preventing any wines, rum or other distilled spirits being brought into the province from the neighbouring governments, by land, or in small boats or vessels, or any other way, and also to prevent wines, rum or other distilled spirits being first sent out of this province, and afterwards brought into the government again, to defraud the government of the duties of impost, —

Be it enacted,

Commissioner to appoint officers in places where wines, rum, &c., may be brought out of other governments.

[SECT. 18.] That the commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost shall, and he is hereby impowered and enjoined to, appoint one or more suitable person or persons as his deputy or deputies, in all such places of this province where it is likely that wine, rum or other distilled spirits will be brought out of other governments into this; which officers shall have power to seize the same, unless the owner shall make it appear that the duty of impost has been paid therefor since their being brought into or relanded in this government; and such officer or officers are also impowered to search, in all suspected places, for such wines, rum or other distilled spirits, or tea, brought or relanded in this government, where the duty is not paid as aforesaid, and to seize or secure the same for the ends and uses as in this act is hereafter provided.

And be it further enacted,

Commissioner or deputy empowered to administer the oaths, &c.

[SECT. 19.] That the commissioner or his deputies shall have full power to administer the several oaths aforesaid, and search in all suspected places for all such wines, rum, liquors, tea, goods, wares and merchandize as are brought into this province, and landed contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, and to seize the same for the uses hereinafter mentioned.

And be it further enacted,

The commissioner or deputy, upon information of any liquors being brought into this province, and the duty not paid, to apply to a justice for a warrant to search, &c.

[SECT. 20.] That if the said commissioner, or his deputy, shall have information of any wines, rum or other distilled spirits, or tea being brought into and landed in any place in this province, for which the duties aforesaid shall not have been paid after their being brought into or relanded in this government, he may apply to any justice of the peace within the county, for a warrant to search such place; and said justice shall grant such warrant, directed to some proper officer, upon said commissioner or his deputy's making oath that he hath had information as aforesaid; and having such warrant, and being attended by such officer, the said commissioner or his deputy may, in the day-time, between sunrise and sun-setting, demand admittance, of the person owning or occupying such place, and, upon refusal, shall have right to break open such place; and, finding such liquors or tea, may seize and take the same into his own custody; and the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy, shall be and hereby is impowered to command assistance, and impress carriages necessary to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and any person refusing assistance, or preventing any of the officers aforesaid from executing their office, shall forfeit five pounds to the said commissioner; and he or his deputy shall make reasonable satisfaction for the assistance afforded and carriages made use of, to secure the liquors or tea seized as aforesaid; and the commissioner or his deputy shall then file an information of such seizure in the inferiour court of common pleas for the county wherein such seizure shall be made, which court shall summon the owner of such liquors or tea, or the occupier of such shop, house or warehouse, or distill-house, where the same were seized, to appear and shew cause, if any he has, why such liquors or tea so seized shall not be adjudged forfeited; and if such owner or occupier shall not shew cause as aforesaid, or shall make default, the said liquors or tea shall be adjudged forfeited, and the said court shall order them to be sold at publick vendue; and the nett produce of such sale shall be paid, one half to the province treasurer for the use of this province, and the other half to the said commissioner.

And be it further enacted,

Tonnage of shipping.

[Sect. 21.] That there shall be paid, by the master of every ship or other vessel, coming into any port or ports of this province, to trade or traffick, whereof all the owners are not belonging to this province (excepting such vessels as belong to Great Britain, the provinces or colonies of Pennsylvania, West and East Jersey, Connecticut, New York, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Nova Scotia), every voyage such ship or vessel doth make, one pound of good pistol-powder for every ton such ship or vessel is in burthen: saving for that part which is owned in Great Britain, this province, or any of the aforesaid governments, which are hereby exempted; to be paid unto the commissioner or receiver of the duties of impost, and to be employed for the uses and ends aforesaid.

Vessels to be measured, if suspected.

[Sect. 22.] And the said commissioner is hereby impowered to appoint a meet and suitable person, to repair unto and on board any ship or vessel, to take the exact measure and tunnage thereof, in case he shall suspect the register of such ship or vessel doth not express and set forth the full burthen of the same; the charge thereof to be paid by the owner or master of such ship or vessel, before she shall be cleared, in case she shall appear to be of greater burthen: otherwise, to be paid by the commissioner out of the money received by him for impost, and shall be allowed him, accordingly, by the treasurer in his accompts. And the naval officer shall not clear any vessel, until he be certified, also, by the commissioner, that the duty of tunnage for the same is paid, or that it is such a vessel for which none is payable according to this act.

And be it further enacted,

Drawback for wine, rum, and tea allowed, in case.

[Sect. 23.] That when and so often as any wine, rum or tea imported into this province, the aforesaid duty of impost upon which shall have been paid agreeable to this act, shall be reshipped and exported from this government to any other part of the world, that then and in every such case, the exporter of such wine or rum or tea shall make oath, at the time of shipping, before the receiver of impost, or his deputy, that the whole of the wine or rum or tea so shipped has, bonâ fide, had the duty of impost aforesaid paid on the same, and shall afterwards produce a certificate, from some officer of the customs, that the same has been landed out of this government, — or otherwise, in case such rum or wines or tea shall be exported to any place where there is no officer of the customs, or to any foreign port, the master of the vessel in which the same shall be exported shall make oath that the same has been landed out of the government, and the exporter shall, upon producing such certificate, or upon such oath of the master, make oath that he verily believes no part of said wines, rum or tea has been relanded in this province, — such exporter shall be allowed a drawback from the receiver of impost as follows; viz.,—

For every pipe of wine, nine shillings.

For every hogshead of rum, seven shillings and sixpence.

And for every pound of tea, fourpence.

Provided, always,—

Proviso.

[Sect. 24.] That if, after the shipping of such wines or rum or tea, to be exported as aforesaid, and giving security as aforesaid, in order to obtain the drawback aforesaid, the wines or rum or tea, so shipped to be exported, or any part thereof, shall be relanded in this province, or brought into the same from any other province or colony, that then all such wine, rum and tea so relanded and brought again into this province, shall be forfeited and may be seized by the commissioner aforesaid, or his deputy.

And be it further enacted,

Appointment and duty of the commissioner.

[SECT. 25.] That there be one fit person, and no more, nominated and appointed by this court as a commissioner and receiver of the aforesaid duties of impost and tunnage of shipping, and for the inspection, care and management of the said office, and whatsoever relates thereto, to receive commission from the governor or commander-in-chief for the time being, with authority to substitute and appoint a deputy-receiver in each port, or other places besides that in which he resides, and to grant warrants to such deputy-receivers for the said place, and to collect and receive the impost and tunnage of shipping as aforesaid that shall become due within such port, and to render the account thereof, and to pay in the same, to the said commissioner and receiver: which said commissioner and receiver shall keep fair books of all entries and duties arising by virtue of this act; also, a particular account of every vessel, so that the duties of impost and tunnage arising on said vessel may appear; and the same to lie open, at all seasonable times, to the view and perusal of the treasurer or receiver-general of this province (or any other person or persons whom this court shall appoint), with whom he shall account for all collections and payments, and pay all such monies as shall be in his hands, as the treasurer or receiver-general shall demand it. And the said commissioner or receiver, and his deputy or deputies, before their entering upon the execution of their said office, shall be sworn to deal truly and faithfully therein, and shall attend in said office from ten of the clock in the forenoon, until one in the afternoon.

[SECT. 26.] And the said commissioner or receiver, for his labour, care and expences in the said office, shall have and receive, out of the province treasury, at the rate of sixty pounds per annum; and his deputy or deputies shall receive for their service such sums as the commissioner of impost, together with the province treasurer, shall judge necessary for whatever sums they shall receive and pay; and the treasurer is hereby ordered, in passing and receiving the said commissioner's accounts, accordingly, to allow the payment of such salary or salaries as aforesaid to himself and his deputies.

And be it further enacted,

Charges of prosecution, how to be paid, in case.

[SECT. 27.] That all penalties, fines and forfeitures, accruing or arising in consequence of any breach of this act, shall be one half to his majesty for the use of this province, and the other half to him or them that shall seize, inform and sue for the same, by action, bill, plaint or information, in any of his majesty's courts of record, wherein no essoign, protection or wager of law shall be allowed: the whole charge of the prosecution to be taken out of the half belonging to the informer.

And be it further enacted,

Disposition of forfeitures.

[SECT. 28.] That from and after the commencement of this act, in all causes wherein any claimer shall appear, and shall not make good the claim, the charges of prosecution shall be borne and paid by the said claimer, and not by the informer. [Passed January 30;* published February 15, 1762.

CHAPTER 26.

AN ACT TO PREVENT DAMAGE BY FIRE IN THE TOWNS OF SALEM, MARBLEHEAD, AND OTHER MARITIME TOWNS IN THE PROVINCE.

Whereas great damage has many times arisen from fires, which have began in sailmakers' and riggers' lofts, and spread to the buildings adjacent,— Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That from and after the tenth day of June next, it shall not be lawful for any person to occupy or improve any tenement or building whatsoever, in any part of the towns of Salem, Marblehead, or any other maritime town in the province, for the business or employment of a sailmaker, or rigger, save only in such parts of the town as the selectmen of the said towns, respectively, or the major part of them, shall determine convenient; such determination to be certified under the hand of the town clerk. Selectmen to determine on suitable places for sail lofts.

[Sect. 2.] And if any person shall offend against this act, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of twenty pounds for every six months, and so in proportion for a greater or less [er]time, he shall so occupy or improve any tenement or building that shall not be licenced or allowed as aforesaid; one half thereof to and for the use of the poor of the town[s] of Salem, Marblehead, or other maritime town, respectively, the other half to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same; to be recovered before the court of general sessions of the peace for the county where the offence shall be committed. Penalty for transgressing.

[Sect. 3.] This act to continue and be in force until the twenty-ninth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and seventy. [Passed January 30; * published February 15, 1762. Limitation.

CHAPTER 27.

AN ACT FOR THE EFFECTUAL PREVENTING THE CURRENCY OF THE BILLS OF CREDIT OF CONNECTICUT, NEW HAMPSHIRE AND RHODE ISLAND, WITHIN THIS PROVINCE.

Whereas bills of credit still continue current within the governments of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, and it is of great importance to the interest of the inhabitants of this province, and to the interest of such of his majesty's subjects, in Great Britain and elsewhere, as have trade and commerce here, that the currency of said bills should be effectually prevented throughout this government,— Preamble. 1756-57, chap. 34.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That every person within this province be and hereby is strictly forbidden to account, receive, take or pay any bill or bills of credit, of either of the governments of Connecticut, New Hampshire or Rhode Island, in discharge of any contract or bargain, or for any valuable consideration whatsoever; and that every person who shall so account, receive, take or pay any of said bills within this province, shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds for every offence; one moiety thereof to his majesty, his heirs and successors, to and for the use of this govern- Penalty for receiving bills of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

ment, the other moiety to him or them that shall sue for the same, to be recovered with full cost[s] of suit by action, of debt in any of his majesty's courts of record within [the] [this] province, or by presentment of the grand jury.

And be it further enacted,

Officers to take an oath.

[SECT. 2.] That from and after the thirtieth day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, every person who shall be chose to serve in any office in any of the towns or districts or precincts of this province, shall, before his entrance upon such office, take the following oath, to be administred by a justice of the peace, or, where no justice of the peace shall be present, by the town, district, or precinct clerk, who is hereby [e][i]mpowered to administer the same; viz[t].,—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do, in the presence of God, solemnly declare that you have not, since the thirtieth day of March [one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two] [1762], wittingly and willingly, directly or indirectly, either by yourself or any for or under you, been concerned in receiving or paying, within this government, any bill or bills of credit of either of the governments of Connecticut, New Hampshire or Rhode Island. So help you God.

[SECT. 3.] And where any person, chosen as aforesaid, shall refuse or neglect to take the oath aforesaid, on tendering the same, the town, district or precinct shall proceed to the choice of another person in his room; and where any person shall be elected by any town, district or precinct into any office, to the non-acceptance or refusal whereof a penalty is by law annexed, such person, neglecting or refusing to take the oath aforesaid shall be liable to the same penalty as is by law provided for the non-acceptance or refusal of such office.

And be it further enacted,

Representatives to take the oath.

[SECT. 4.] That when any person shall be chosen to represent any town within this province, in the general court or assembly, such person so chosen shall take the oath aforesaid; and return shall be made by the selectmen, upon the back of the precept, that the person so chosen hath taken the oath required in the act, made and passed in the second year of his majesty King George the [Third] [Second], in-tit[u]led "An Act for the effectual preventing the currency of the bills of credit of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, within this province;" and if any person so chosen shall refuse or neglect to take the oath aforesaid, such refusal or neglect shall be deemed a refusal to serve as a representative; and the town shall proceed to the choice of another person in his room.

And be it further enacted,

Councillors, and all civil and military officers, to take the oath.

[SECT. 5.] That the oath aforesaid shall be administred to each of the members of his majesty's council, every year, at the same time when the usual oaths required to be taken by the said members of his majesty's council shall be administred; and all officers, civil and military, within this government, who shall be nominated or appointed, shall, before they receive their respective commissions, take the oath aforesaid, and their respective commissions shall be otherwise void; and all persons elected into any office by the general assembly shall be deemed not qualified to enter upon the execution of their respective offices until they have taken the oath aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Persons taking out executions, to take the oath.

[SECT. 6.] That no execution shall be issued from the office of any clerk of any of the inferiour courts of common pleas, or of the superiour court[s] of judicature, for any sum whatsoever, unless the plaintiff or plaintiffs, suing in his or their own right, and dwelling within this province, shall first take the oath aforesaid, to be administred by a justice of the peace, or by the clerk of the court from which such execution shall issue; and certificate thereof shall be made on such execution; and if any execution shall issue or go forth without such certificate, the same shall be and hereby is declared to be void; and no licence shall be granted to, nor any recognizance taken from, any taverner, innholder or retailer, by the justices of any of the courts of session[s] within this province, until such taverner, innholder or retailer shall have taken said oath in presence of the court, or certificate of his having so done, from a justice of the peace, shall be presented to the court.

And be it further enacted,

Clerk's fees for administering the oath.

[Sect. 7.] That for every oath administred as aforesaid by the clerk of any court, he shall be allowed threepence, and for every certificate by him signed as aforesaid, threepence, and no more; and the cost and charge of such oath and certificate shall be added to the sum in the execution required to be levied accordingly.

Preamble.

And whereas it frequently happens that persons who are intitled to take out writs of execution upon judgments by them obtained, are absent out of this province, or employed in his majesty's service in such parts of it as are very remote from the places where such judgments are entred, and so cannot take the oath by law appointed to be taken before executions are issued; wherefore, for remedy of these inconvenienc[i]es,—

Be it enacted,

Proviso for persons out of the province.

[Sect. 8.] That when any person or persons shall be absent from this province, or employed in his majesty's service in such parts thereof as are very remote from the courts or places where they recover judgments, in all such cases it shall be lawful for the clerks of the superiour court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, and of the inferiour courts of common pleas, or other courts of law, to issue writs of execution, when applied for, upon judgments recovered by such person or persons as are before mentioned, notwithstanding he or they have not taken the oath appointed by this act to be taken: provided, nevertheless, that before executions are issued, as aforesaid, a certificate in writing, under the hand of any justice of the peace for any county in the province, shall be delivered to the clerk who issues the execution, setting forth that, at the date of said certificate, the person or persons on whose behalf execution is applied for, is then out of the province, or employed in his majesty's service as aforesaid.

Their absence to be certified.

[Sect. 9.] This act to continue and be in force until the last day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty-seven. [Passed January 30;* published February 15, 1762.

CHAPTER 28.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED IN THE TWENTY-THIRD YEAR OF HIS LATE MAJESTY GEORGE THE SECOND, INTITULED "AN ACT FOR ASCERTAINING THE RATES AT WHICH COINED SILVER AND GOLD, AND ENGLISH HALFPENCE AND FARTHINGS, MAY PASS WITHIN THIS GOVERNMENT."

Preamble. 1749-50, chap. 19.

Whereas divers doubts have arisen and a question been made, whether the gold coins mentioned in an act, made and passed in the twenty-third year of his late majesty George the Second, intituled "An Act for ascertaining the rates at which coined silver and gold, and

* Signed March 6, 1762, according to the record.

English halfpence and farthings, may pass within this government," are a legal tender,—

Be it therefore enacted and declared by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Gold and silver coin made a tender.

That the several gold and silver coins, in the said act specified, at the rates in the said act mentioned, are and shall be lawful money of this province, and a legal tender in all payments, publick and private; and all judgments shall be entered up in lawful money, without any abatement, rebatement or allowance by reason of the varying prices of gold or silver bullion: provided, that a johannes, or gold coin of Portugal, mentioned in the said act, shall not weigh less than eighteen pennyweight ten grains; an half-johannes, not less than nine pennyweight and five grains; a moidore, not less than six pennyweight twenty-two grains and one-quarter of a grain; and a guinea, not less than five pennyweight nine grains; and that such of the said coins which shall fall short of the respective weights aforesaid shall, nevertheless, be accounted a tender, with an allowance for such deficiency at the rate of gold at twopence halfpenny per grain. [Passed February 8,* 1762.

CHAPTER 29.

AN ACT FOR THE BETTER SECURING THE POSSESSORS OF THE PROVINCE TREASURER'S NOTES, BY ENABLING THE PROVINCE TREASURER TO GIVE NEW RECEIPTS OR OBLIGATIONS IN LIEU OF SUCH NOTES AS ARE NOW EXTANT.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the treasurer of this province hath been impowered and directed, by several acts, to borrow large sums of money for the use of the province, and to give his receipts or obligations for the payment of the same, many of which receipts and obligations are now outstanding and unpaid; and divers frauds and deceits have been put upon several persons, by forging and counterfeiting said receipts and obligations, tendering in payment, uttering and exchanging, such forged and counterfeit receipts and obligations, to the prejudice of the publick credit,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

[SECT. 1.] That all receipts, notes, or obligations, hereafter to be given by the treasurer of this province, by virtue of this or any other act now in force, for money borrowed, or to be borrowed, for the use of the province, shall be in the form following; viz.,—

Form of the new notes.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay, the day of , A.D. . Borrowed and received of the sum of , for the use and service of the province of the Massachusetts Bay; and, in behalf of said province, I do hereby promise and oblige myself and successors in the office of treasurer to repay to the said or to his order, the day of , A.D. , the aforesaid sum of , in Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each, or in the several species of coined silver and gold enumerated 1749-50, chap. 19. in an act made and passed in the twenty-third year of his late majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act for ascertaining the rates at which coined silver and gold, English halfpence and farthings, may pass within the government," — and according to the rates therein mentioned, with interest annually, at six per cent.

E. F.,

* Signed March 6, according to the record.

—which form, except as is hereafter provided, shall be printed upon the most suitable paper that can, from time to time, be provided by the treasurer; and a suitable border round the same, and also the words "Province of the Massachusetts Bay," the word "Committee," and the words "Witness my hand," shall be struck off from a copper-plate, which the treasurer likewise is impowered and directed to procure: and each blank, before it is filled up, shall be stamped, in some convenient part of it, with a stamp, of a new form, to be procured by the treasurer for that purpose.

And be it further enacted,

Committee to sign the new notes.

[Sect. 2.] That a committee of three shall, from time to time, be appointed by the general court, who shall sign all the blanks, at the left hand, as in the form aforesaid is prescribed, before the treasurer fill them up; and the said treasurer and the said committee are also impowered and directed to dispose of the custody of said copper-plate, and stamp, in such manner as in their discretion shall appear most likely to prevent any frauds or counterfeits; and the said committee, and all persons to be employed in the printing, engraving or stamping of said blanks, shall be under oath to the faithful discharge of their respective trusts.

And be it further enacted,

Old notes to be exchanged.

[Sect. 3.] That the treasurer be and he is hereby impowered and directed, upon the request of the possessor or possessors of any of his receipts or obligations, for money borrowed for the use of the province, which are now outstanding, and not payable at the time of such requests, to take such receipts and obligations up, and to give the possessor or possessors, in lieu thereof, new receipts or obligations for such sum or sums as are contained in the receipts or obligations so taken up; or shall give one new receipt for any such number of old ones as the possessor shall request to have in one new receipt or obligation, taking care to pay the interest up to the time of exchanging such old receipts or obligations; which new receipts or obligations shall be made payable at the same periods with those taken up: provided none of said new receipts be for less than six pounds; and all the funds established or appropriated, by any act or acts of this province, for the redemption and payment of any such old receipts or obligations, are hereby confirmed, and shall remain established and appropriated to the redemption and payment of the new receipts and obligations to be given in the form prescribed by this act; and such new receipts and obligations shall, to all intents and purposes, avail the possessor as if he were possessed of the receipts or obligations so to be given up.

Records confirmed.

And be it further enacted,

No further interest to be allowed on notes payable after the last of June [Sect. 4.] That no possessor or possessors of any of the treasurer's notes, receipts, or obligations, now payable, or that may become payable before the last day of June next, shall receive any interest upon such receipt or obligation for any longer term than until the last day of July next.

Provided, always,—

Notes now outstanding to be paid in silver, if not exchanged.

[Sect. 5.] That all the treasurer's notes which are now outstanding and unpaid, and which the possessors will not exchange for notes of the above-mentioned form, shall, at the several periods of payment, be paid according to the face of such outstanding notes; and all such as promise silver shall be paid in silver at six shillings and eightpence per ounce, or Spanish mill'd dollars at six shillings each; and the treasurer is hereby directed to pay the same accordingly.

And be it further enacted,

Such notes to

[Sect. 6.] That all the possessors of the treasurer's notes, who do be brought, in to be stamped.

not chuse to have them exchanged for notes of the new form, shall, some time before the last day of June next, bring such notes to the treasurer's office and have them stamped, and an account taken of them by the treasurer and a committee to be appointed by the general court; and no interest shall be paid upon any such treasurer's notes, receipts or obligations, not brought in as aforesaid, for any longer time than until the last day of July next; which notes, so stamped, shall be returned to the possessors, and the account so taken shall be signed by said committee, and by them transmitted to the general court. [Passed February 10, 1762.*

CHAPTER 30.

AN ACT TO INVEST THE COMMITTEE OF THE FIRST PRECINCT IN REHOBOTH, WITH CORPORATE POWERS FOR CERTAIN PURPOSES THEREIN MENTIONED.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the first precinct in Rehoboth, whereof the Reverend Mr. John Carnes is the present pastor, have humbly supplicated this court, setting forth that, by the sale of certain lands they were by this court enabled to sell, they are now possessed of the sum of six hundred pounds, which sum, with some interest gained thereto, they pray may be placed at interest, and the interest accruing thereby to be placed at interest, until[l] the sum of twelve hundred pounds be thereby raised on the whole; and that the same sum may be placed at interest, and the income thereof be forever appropriated to the support of a Congregational minister within the said precinct, and that this court would invest the committee of the said precinct with the powers needful for those purposes,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Precinct committee incorporated into a body politic.

[SECT. 1.] That Daniel Carpenter, Thomas Allyn, John Hunt, John Cooper and Ebenezer Walker, the present committee of the said precinct, and those which shall be, annually, hereafter, forever, chosen by the said precinct to the same office, shall be and are hereby declared a body corporate, by the name of the Trustees of the first Parish of Rehoboth, and they are hereby incorporated to this special purpose; [to wit] [viz.], to receive the said sum of six hundred pounds, with the addition it hath already gained, and to let the same to interest, on good security, real or personal, as they, or the major part of them, shall judge best, and the interest received to put out to interest again, until[l], by this increase, or by voluntary subscription in the said precinct, or other lawful means, there be raised a capital of twelve hundred pounds lawful money of this province; and all bonds, mortgages, or other lawful securities, made to the said Daniel Carpenter, Thomas Allyn, John Hunt, John Cooper and Ebenezer Walker, or their successors aforesaid, by the corporate name aforesaid, shall be and are hereby declared valid; and they and their successors, or the major part of them, by the said name, may appear and plead, sue and defend, in any court within this province, in all matters touching such securities.

And be it further enacted,

Money raised to be put to interest.

[SECT. 2.] That the said sum of twelve hundred pounds, when raised, shall be by the said trustees put to interest on good securities,

* Signed March 6, according to the record.

and the interest annually arising from the same shall be paid to a minister of a Congregational church, resident, and officiating in the work of the ministry, within the said precinct, forever. And if it shall ever, after the said sum of twelve hundred pounds is raised, happen that there [shall] be no minister of a Congregational church settled within the said precinct for the space of one year, in every such case the interest arising shall be put out to interest on new security, and all such increased capital shall be ordered and managed according to the directions hereinbefore given, respecting the said principal sum of twelve hundred pounds. And the said Daniel Carpenter, Thomas Allyn, John Hunt, John Cooper, Ebenezer Walker, and their successors aforesaid, are, with respect to the said sum of twelve hundred pounds, and all such increased capital, fully incorporated, impowered and directed in manner aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Proviso in case of neglect.

[Sect. 3.] That if, at any time, the said precinct shall, at their annual meeting in March, neglect to ch[oo][u]se a precinct committee, the committee then last before chosen shall continue vested with all the powers and priviledges aforesaid, until new ones be chosen.

And be it further enacted,

Committee to be accountable, &c.

[Sect. 4.] That the said committee and their successors shall be accountable to the said precinct, and may, by them, for any misdemeanor in their office aforesaid, be removed from their said trust, and new ones appointed in their stead. [Passed February 11,* 1762.

CHAPTER 31.

AN ACT TO PREVENT DAMAGE BEING DONE ON THE MEADOWS AND BEACHES LYING IN AND ADJOINING ON THE NORTH-EAST PART OF THE TOWN OF YARMOUTH, BETWEEN QUIV[E][I] T HARBOUR, ON THE EAST, AND SESUIT HARBOUR, ON THE WEST.

Preamble. 1749-50, chap. 15.

Whereas many persons frequently drive numbers of neat cattle, horses, sheep and swine, to feed upon the beaches, meadows and shores adjoining to the north-east of Yarmouth, lying between Quivet harbour, on the east, and Sesuit harbour, on the west, whereby the ground and beach is much broken and damnified, and the sand blown on said adjoining meadows and upland, to the great damage, not only of sundry private persons, but to the whole propriety in general,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Creatures not to be turned out on the beaches, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That from and after the publication of this act, no person or persons shall presume to turn any neat cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine, to or upon any of the beaches, meadows or shores that l[y][ie] on the north-east part of the town of Yarmouth, between Quivet harbour, on the east, and Sesu[e][i]t harbour, on the west, at any time between the first day of April, and the last day of October, yearly, during the continuance of this act, on penalty of paying for each offence five shillings a head for neat cattle, horses or mares, of one year old or upward, and one shilling a head for each sheep or swine that shall be turned or found on said beaches, meadows or shores, within the limits aforesaid; which penalty shall be recovered by any person that shall inform of and sue for the same: the one half of said forfeiture to him or them that shall inform and sue for the same, the other half to be to and for the use of the poor of said town.

Penalty.

* Signed March 6, according to the record.

And be it further enacted,

Creatures to be impounded.

[SECT. 2.] That if any neat cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine shall, at any time hereafter, be found feeding on the said beaches, meadows or shores that l[y][i]e between said Quivet harbour and said Sesu[c][i]t harbour in said Yarmouth, it shall and may be lawful[l] for any person to impound the same, immediately giving notice thereof to the owners [thereof], if known, otherwise to give publick notice thereof by posting the same up in some publick place in said town and the two next adjoining towns; and the impounder shall relieve the said creatures with suitable meat and water while impounded; and if the owner thereof appear to redeem his impounded creatures, he shall pay one shilling and sixpence to the impounder, for each neat beast and horse-kind, and sixpence for each sheep and swine, and the reasonable cost of relieving, besides the poundkeeper's fees as by law appointed for such creatures. And if no owner appear within the space of six days to redeem the said cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine so impounded, and pay the cost and damage occasioned by impounding the same, then and in every such case the person impounding such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, shall cause the same to be sold at publick vendue, and pay the cost and charges arising about the same (publick notice of the time and place of such sale, to be given in the said town of Yarmouth, and in the towns of Barnstable and Harwich, forty-eight hours beforehand), and the overplus, if any there be, arising by such sale, to be returned to the owner of such cattle or horse-kind, sheep or swine, at any time within twelve months next after, upon his demanding the same; but if no owner appear within the said twelve months, then the said overplus shall be one half to the party impounding such cattle, horse-kind, sheep or swine, and the other half to the use of the poor of the said town of Yarmouth.

Fees and costs of impounding.

Provided,—

Proviso.

[SECT. 3.] That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the owner or owners of such beach or meadows, or any improving under them, from turning on their horses they ride, or cattle they improve in their teams, to feed on said beach or meadows while they are cutting or carting their salt hay off said beach or meadows.

Provided, also,—

[SECT. 4.] That the owners of the meadows shall keep up and maintain their fences pursuant to former agreements.

[SECT. 5.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of ten years from the first day of March next, and no longer. [Passed February 11; published February 15, 1762.

CHAPTER 32.

AN ACT TO INCORPORATE CERTAIN PERSONS BY THE NAME OF THE SOCIETY FOR PROPAGATING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE AMONG THE INDIANS OF NORTH AMERICA.

Disallowed by the privy council, May 20, 1763.

Preamble.

THE signal success with which it has pleased Almighty God to crown his majesty's arms, calls upon us to express our grateful acknowledg[e]ments to the Author of it, and to demonstrate our gratitude, by endeavouring to spread the knowledge of his religion; a favourable opportunity of doing this among the Indians of America seems now to present itself, as the French of Canada, being subjected to his majesty's dominion, have it less in their power to obstruct so good a work; for [the] promoting of which, divers worthy persons have petitioned this court for an act of incorporation, whereby they may be enabled, with the assistance of the charitably disposed, to proceed in it with vigour, and carry it more effectually into execution; wherefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That Andrew Oliver, Isaac Royall, John Erving, William Brattle, Robert Hooper, James Bowdoin, Thomas Hancock, Thomas Hubbard, Nathan[i][a]el Sparhawk[e], Harrison Gray and Thomas Flucker, Esqrs.; the Reverend Edward Holyoke, president of Harvard Colle[d]ge; the Reverend Joseph Sewall, Charles Chauncy and Jonathan Mayhew, Doctors of Divinity; John Phillips, Ezekiel Goldthwait, John Ruddock, Francis Borland, Joshua Henshaw, Zachariah Johonnot, Joseph Green, Isaac Winslow, James Pitts, Samuel Grant, Joseph Jackson, James Otis, junr., Royall Tyler, Thomas Cushing, John Scollay, Benjamin Austin, Joseph Sherburn, William Blair Townsend, William Phillips, Thomas Fayerweather, William Story, John Barrett, Samuel Dexter, John Symmes and Benjamin Hallowell, junr., Esqrs.; the Reverend Thomas Foxcroft, Nathan[i][a]el Appleton, Ebenezer Pemberton, Hull Abbot, Thomas Prentice, Samuel Mather, Andrew Eliot, Samuel Cooper, Samuel Checkley, junr., Amos Adams and Alexander Cumming, ministers of the gospel; Messieurs Middlecot Cook[e], John Tudor, Jonathan Cushing, William Hickling, William Hyslop, Stephen Hall, John Sim[p]son, Oxenbridge Thacher, Samuel Phillips Savage, Samuel Deming, Benjamin Church, Isaac Walker, Samuel Hill, Nathan[i][a]el Holmes, John Dennie, Benjamin Hammatt, Fortesque Vernon, Henderson Inches, William Homes, Edward Langdon, Richard Martyn, Henry Newman, Thomas Marshall, Benjamin Dolbear, Thomas Gray, Henry Bromfield, Jonathan Williams, William Whitwell, John Greenleaf, Timothy Newell, Isaac Smith, William Greenleaf, Onesiphorus Tilestone, William White, Ebenezer Storer, William Gray, Moses Gill, Jonathan Mason, Daniel Waldo, Alexander Hill, John White, Moses Peck, Thomas Handisyde Peck, John Melvill, Samuel Adams, Benjamin Clarke, Samuel Abbot, Peter Boyer, Benjamin Gray, Christopher Clarke, John Scot, Thomas Fletcher and Samuel Minot, together with such others as they shall elect, be and they are hereby incorporated and made a body politic[k], for the purpose aforesaid, by the name of the Society for Propagating Christian Knowledge among the Indians of North America; and the society aforesaid shall have perpetual succession, and may have a common seal, which it shall be lawful for them to change, break, alter, and make new at pleasure, and may purchase and hold in succession lands, tenements, and real estate of any kind, the annual income and profits whereof not exceeding the value of two thousand pounds sterling.

Persons' names hereby incorporated.

Purpose of incorporation.

[Sect. 2.] And the said society is hereby enabled to take subscriptions of their own members, or other charitably disposed persons, and may take any personal estate in succession; and all donations to the society, either by subscription, legacy or otherwise (excepting such as may be differently appropriated by the donors), shall make a part of or be put into the capital stock of the society, which shall be put out on interest on good security, or otherwise improved to the best advantage, and the income or profits applied to the use and benefit of such tribes of Indians as they shall think proper, by causing them to be instructed in the principles and duties of the Christian Protestant religion: and the said society is hereby [e][i]mpowered to give such instructions, orders and encouragements to their officers, and those they shall employ, as they shall judge necessary; and the persons employed as teachers, in any capacity, shall be men of reputed piety, loyalty, prudence, gravity, competent knowledge and literature, and of other Christian and necessary qualifications suited to their respective stations.

And be it further enacted,

First meeting.

[SECT. 3.] That the society aforesaid shall meet at some convenient place, in the town of Boston in this province, on the fourth day of March next, and then chuse a president, vice-president, treasurer and secretary, and such other officers as they shall judge proper; and may then, also, elect new members, and may make bye-laws and orders for the regulation of the said society: provided such bye-laws be not repugnant to the laws of England, or the laws of this province; and act upon all matters which they apprehend needful to promote the end of their institution; and the officers aforesaid shall continue in their office until the first Thursday of May next following the time of their appointment aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Quarterly meeting.

[SECT. 4.] That there shall be a general meeting of the members of the said society, quarterly, at Boston aforesaid, or in any other place within this province, unless some extraordinary occurrence prevent the same, on the first Thursdays of February, May, August and November, yearly, forever, at three of the clock in the afternoon, and oftner if needful, when and where the said society shall think fit; and any nine of the members (the president, vice-president, treasurer or secretary always to be one), being convened at the said times and places, are hereby declared to be a quorum of the said general meeting.

Officers to be chosen.

[SECT. 5.] And the said society, at their general meeting in May, in every year (and in case of any extraordinary occurrence preventing their meeting then, at the next quarterly meeting after), shall, out of their own body by a majority of the members present, elect a president, vice-president, treasurer and secretary, and such other officers as they shall find needful, to continue in office until the May meeting next following their appointment, or until others be chosen to succeed them; and all the officers aforesaid, before they shall be qualified to act, shall be under oath for the faithful performance of their respective trusts; and the said society, at any of their quarterly meetings, and at no other, may elect into their body such persons, being contribut[e][o]rs and protestants, as they shall judge qualified, to assist them in their good design; and may appoint a committee or committees to prosecute the orders of any general meeting, audit the treasurer's accounts, and prepare matters for the society to act upon; and the committee or committees shall exhibit an account of their proceedings at the general meetings of the society, quarterly.

And be it further enacted,

Power to prosecute, and to convey lands, in certain cases.

[SECT. 6.] That the society aforesaid, by the name aforesaid, shall be and is hereby declared to be capable to prosecute, pursue and defend, in all courts and places, and before all proper judges whatsoever, all actions, causes, processes and pleas of what kind or nature soever, in the fullest and amplest manner. And if it shall happen that the said society shall become seized of lands or tenements, by mortgage, as security for payment of any debt, or by levying execution on lands for discharge of debts, due to said society, it shall be lawful for the said society, by deed under their seal, to sell and convey the lands acquired in either of the two mentioned ways: provided, that no such sale shall be made or concluded on but at some general quarterly meeting.

And be it further enacted,

Power to make by-laws, and to fill up vacancies.

[SECT. 7.] That the society aforesaid shall have, and there is hereby granted to them, full power, at their quarterly meetings, and at no other meetings, to make such rules, laws and ordinances as aforesaid, and to alter the same as they shall see most convenient and needful for the better government of the said society and managing the affairs thereof, and for the more effectual promoting the aforesaid design. And the said society is hereby [e][i]mpowered, upon the death of their president, vice-president, treasurer, secretary or other officers, or upon their acting unfaithfully, or not attending their respective stations, and their removal upon these or any other just and necessary accounts (the society being hereby [e][i]mpowered to make such removal), to chuse others at any other quarterly meeting to succeed: provided, always, that no member shall be removed, or officer displaced, unless at a quarterly meeting as aforesaid. Proviso.

And to the end that the members of the said society, and all contributors to the said design, may know the state of the society's stock, and the dispositions of the profits thereof, and of all donations made to the said society,—

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That a particular account of such stock and disposition shall be exhibited by the treasurer, at every quarterly meeting, which account the secretary or a committee of the said society, having examined the same, shall certify to be true; and fair entries shall be made, in proper books provided for that purpose, of all donations made to the said society, and of all the estate, both real and personal, belonging to the society, and of the incomes thereof, and also of all transactions, either by themselves or by their officers or committees, for or on account of the society; and the said books shall be brought to the quarterly meetings of the said society, and be there open for the perusal and examination of the members. [Passed February 11,* 1762. Accounts to be exhibited.

"We are humbly of opinion that this Act is liable to several Objections for in the first place the operation of the Act, tho' the Society itself would consist only of the Inhabitants of the Massachusetts erected by an Act of that Province, would extend beyond the limits of the Province itself and in the second so extensive a power given to one Colony may hereafter interfere with any general Plan Your Majesty may think it advisable to pursue for the management of Indian Affairs in N° America.

We are authorized in this apprehension by the late experience, We have had of like inconveniences from the conduct of the Committee of Assembly of Pennsylvania the consequence of which proceedings are set forth in the Papers annexed to the Representation of the said Board to Your Majesty dated the 14th of Jan^ry last.

We beg leave to add that the Society is by the Act subject to no control Audit or Examination tho' they are made capable of receiving any Grants of Land and of disbursing Sums for services to a very great extent.

For these Reasons We humbly propose that this Act should receive Your Majesty's disallowance."—Representation of the Lords of Trade, 18 March, 1763: "Mass. Bay, B. T." vol. 86, p. 157.

CHAPTER 33.

AN ACT FOR ALTERING THE PLACE FOR HOLDING THE COURTS OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE AND INFERIO[U]R COURT OF COMMON PLEAS HERETOFORE BY LAW HELD AT EDGARTOWN [IN] DUKES COUNTY IN OCTOBER ANNUALLY.

For the better accommodation of the inhabitants of Dukes County,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the court of general sessions of the peace and inferio[u]r court of common pleas for the county of Dukes County, appointed by law to be holden on the last Tuesday of October, annually, shall, instead Courts altered in Dukes County.

* Signed March 6, according to the record.

of being holden at Edgartown, be henceforth holden at Tisbury, in the same county, on the last Tuesday of October, annually; and all officers and other persons concerned are required to conform themselves accordingly. [Passed February 18,* 1762.

CHAPTER 34.

AN ACT FOR ALTERING THE TIME FOR HOLDING THE COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE AND INFERIO[U]R COURT OF COMMON PLEAS IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, FROM THE THIRD TO THE FIRST TUESDAY IN MAY.

Preamble.

WHEREAS one of the times appointed by law for holding the court of general sessions of the peace and inferio[u]r court of common pleas, in the county of Hampshire, is on the third Tuesday of May, which time is found inconvenient in some respects, and, it is apprehended, may be altered with advantage to the publick,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Time for holding the courts, altered.

[SECT. 1.] That, for the future, the time for holding the court of general sessions of the peace and inferio[u]r court of common pleas within and for the county of Hampshire, shall be the first Tuesday in May, annually, instead of the third Tuesday of the same month.

Be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That all writs and other processes already issued, or that may issue before the last day of March next, returnable to said courts at the day heretofore appointed for holding the same, in the county aforesaid, shall be returned, and all matters depending at said courts shall be proceeded on, at the day appointed by this act for holding the same; and all officers and other persons concerned are required to conform themselves accordingly. [Passed February 23,* 1762.

CHAPTER 35.

AN ACT, IN ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL ACTS OR LAWS OF THIS PROVINCE RELATING TO COMMON FIELDS, TO EXTEND ONLY TO THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE.

Preamble.
1692-93, ch. 28.
1698, ch. 12.
1712-13, ch. 9.
1718-19, ch. 3.
1727-28, ch. 13.
1753-54, ch. 29.

WHEREAS the minor part of the owners or proprietors of common fields in the county of Hampshire, in some instances, have been and may be desirous of a partition of such field into two or more distinct fields, from a perswasion that their shares or lots might, if seperated and fenced off from the rest, be improved much more to their advantage, in some manner different from that agreed on by the majority; to the end, therefore, that such of the owners as are or may be so minded may not be unreasonably restrained, by the rest, from having such partition,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

In what cases the sessions may cause par-

[SECT. 1.] That when any three or more of the owners or proprietors of lots in any common or general field, in said county, shall make application, in writing, under their hands, to the proprietors of such field, at any meeting legally warned for that purpose, to have a part in such general field, by one common fence, divided and seperated from the rest, to be improved as a distinct and seperate field; in such case, if the proprietors who have the greater part of the interest of those who are present at such meeting shall withold their assent to such division or partition, or to a reasonable establishment of the proportion of the divisional fence between said fields, to be made and maintained by the proprietors of each, respectively, it shall be in the power of the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace, in that county, upon application to them made for that purpose, after due enquiry had, touching the expediency of such partition, to cause the same to be made, and to assign to each field the part and proportion of the divisional fence that shall be erected and maintained by the proprietors of such fields respectively; such partition and assignment to be made by a committee of five discreet and disinterested persons, under oath, or the major part of them, to be appointed by said court. titions to be made.

Provided,—

[Sect. 2.] That no order for partition be made, or committee appointed, until the rest of the proprietors have been duly notified of such application, and opportunity given them to make their objections thereunto; which notice shall be given by serving the clerk of such proprietors with a copy of such written application thirty days, at least, before such order or appointment be made: and every committee that shall be appointed and employed, as aforesaid, shall make return of their doings, in writing, under their hands, unto said court, as soon after as may be, for acceptance and confirmation; and the proprietors whose interest shall be so set off, as well as the remaining proprietors, shall have and enjoy all the powers and priviledges which the proprietors of general fields are, by law, vested withal. Proviso.

[Sect. 3.] This act to continue in force until the first day of July, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty-five, and no longer. [Passed February 23,* 1762.

CHAPTER 36.

AN ACT FOR HOLDING THE COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE AND THE INFERIO[U]R COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, AT BIDDEFORD, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the court of general sessions of the peace, which formerly, by law, was held in Falmouth, in the county of York, on the first Tuesday of October, annually, henceforward shall be held, yearly, and every year, at Biddeford, in the county of York, on the first Tuesday of October, by the justices of the peace for the same county, or so many of them as are or shall be limit[t]ed in the commission of the peace; who are hereby impowered to hear and determine all matters relating to the conservation of the peace, and punishment of offenders, and whatsoever is by them cognizable according to law, and to give judgment and award execution thereon. Courts altered in the county of York.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the inferio[u]r court of common pleas, which, by law, was held at Falmouth in the county of York, on the first Tuesday of October, shall be held and kept in Biddeford in the county of York, on the first Tuesday of October, yearly and every year, by four substantial persons that are or may be appointed and commissionated as justices of the same court, any three of them to be a quorum for the holding of the said court; who shall have cognizance of all civil actions arising or happening within such county, triable at the common law, of what nature, kind or quality soever, and are hereby impowered to give judgment therein and award execution thereupon. [Passed February 23,* 1762.

*Signed March 6, according to the record.

CHAPTER 37.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT FOR ALTERING THE TIME FOR HOLDING THE COURTS OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE AND INFERIO[U]R COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, WITHIN THE COUNTY OF BARNSTABLE.

Preamble. 1753–54, chap. 33.

WHEREAS the time by law appointed for holding the courts of general sessions of the peace and inferio[u]r court of common pleas, at Barnstable, for the county of Barnstable, on the second Tuesday in May, yearly, is found to be inconvenient, by reason of the altering of the superio[u]r court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, within the counties of Barnstable and Dukes County,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Time for holding the courts, altered.

That the court of general sessions of the peace, and inferio[u]r court of common pleas, for and within the county of Barnstable, appointed by law to be on the second Tuesday in May, annually, be henceforth held and kept on the last Tuesday in June, yearly. [Passed February 23,* 1762.

CHAPTER 38.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE SOCIETY AND PARISH OF NATICK INTO A SEPARATE DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF NATICK.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the society and parish of Natick, so called, within the county of Middlesex, labour under many and great difficulties by reason of their not [being †] erected into a distinct and separate district; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Natick a district.

[SECT. 1.] That the society and parish of Natick be and hereby is erected into a district by the name of Natick, according to the boundaries of the said parish; and that the inhabitants of the said society and parish be and hereby are invested with all the priviledges, powers and immunities that districts are invested with, agreeable to an act made and passed in the first year of his majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for the better regulating districts within this province:" provided that the present meeting-house shall not be [remo †]ved, nor any new meeting-house erected within the same, without the special licen[s][c]e of this court.

1761–62, chap. 12.

* Signed March 6, according to the record. † Parchment mutilated.

[*An]d be it further enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 2.] That the votes of the said parish of Natick, on the eighteenth day [*of Ja]nuary last, be and hereby are ratified and confirmed. [Passed February 23,† 1762. Votes confirmed.

CHAPTER 39.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING SEVERAL BOUNTIES UPON WHEAT AND FLOUR.

Whereas the raising of wheat within this province, and manufacturing the same into flour, will be of great utility,— Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That there shall be paid out of the public[k] treasury of the province, for every bushel of good, sound, well-saved and winnowed wheat, of the growth and produce of this province, in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and so, every year during the continuance of this act, eightpence per bushel, except what is intended to be consumed by the person or persons who shall raise or produce it, and their respective families; the quantity and quality of wheat to be certified to the treasurer of the province, under the hand of such skil[l]ful surveyor or surveyors as each town, district or plantation shall ch[oo][u]se, at their annual meeting in March, yearly, for that purpose, who shall be paid by the owner of such wheat, eightpence for every twenty bushels he shall survey, and so in proportion for a lesser quantity; which surveyor shall be sworn, as other town officers are, to the faithful discharge of his office, in the words following; viz[1].,— Bounty upon wheat certified by the surveyor.

You, A. B., being chosen a surveyor of wheat and flour, within the town of C., for one year and until another be chosen and sworn in your stead, do swear that you will well and faithfully execute your said office, after your best skill and cunning, with all fidelity, and without any partiality, favour or affection; and that you will not pass your certificate for any wheat or flour but such as, in your judgment, you shall judge to be good and merchantable, as the law directs. So help you God. Form of the oath.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That no wheat shall be accounted merchantable within the intent of this act, nor intitled to any bounty, but such as shall be bright, well cleansed, and seperated from the straw and chaff, and fit for use, and that shall weigh, at least, fifty-six pounds per bushel; and no person shall be intit[u]led to any premium for wheat, until he hath made oath, before such surveyor, who is hereby impowered to administer the same, in the form following; viz[1].,— Quality of the wheat, ascertained.

You, A. B., of , swear that the bushels of wheat, by you now offered for a survey and premium, is, bonâ fide, the produce and growth of this province, and of lands under your improvement, and raised since the first day of September, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and is bonâ fide designed for sale, and is over and above the quantity of wheat (whether of your own growth and produce, or otherwise) which you intend or expect to use in your family; and that neither you, nor any other person, have received the premium for the same, or any part thereof. So help you God. Form of the oath.

— which oath shall be reduced to writing before it is administred;

* Parchment mutilated. † Signed March 6, according to the record.

and the person taking the same shall subscribe his name thereto: after which the surveyor shall endorse or subscribe his certificate in the form following; viz[t].,—

Form of certificate.

ss., the day of , A.D. .
Surveyed the quantity of wheat within (or above) mentioned, and found it of the weight of fifty-six pounds per bushel, and merchantable, within the meaning of the law of this province, intituled "An Act for granting several bounties upon wheat and flour."

—and the person receiving the premium shall give the province treasurer a receipt therefor.

And be it further enacted,

Premium on flour.

[SECT. 3.] That for every gross hundred of fine, merchantable flour, manufactured in this province after the last day of August, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and made of wheat of the growth and produce of this province (other than for the private consumption of the manufacturer and his family), there shall be paid, out of the public[k] treasury of the province, the sum of eightpence per hundred; the quantity and quality of the flour to be certified to the province treasurer, under the hand of the surveyor, who shall be paid, for every hundred of flour by him surveyed, one penny per hundred, by the owner of the flour: and no person shall be intitled to any premium for flour, until he hath made oath, before such surveyor, who is hereby empowered to administer the same, in the words following; viz[t].,—

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do swear that the hundred of flour, by you now offered for a survey, is, bonâ fide, designed and intended for sale, and not to secure a bounty upon your family consumption; and that the same was manufactured within this province, and made out of wheat raised within the same, since the first day of September, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and that neither you, nor any other person, have heretofore offered the same for a survey, or received a premium for the same, or any part thereof. So help you God.

—which oath shall also be reduced to writing before it is administred; and the person taking the same shall subscribe his name thereto: after which, the surveyor shall endorse or subscribe his certificate in the form following; viz[t].,—

Form of certificate.

ss., the day of , A.D. .
Surveyed the quantity of flour within mentioned, and find it merchantable, within the meaning of the law of this province, intituled "An Act for granting several bounties upon wheat and flour." J. D., Surveyor.

—and the person receiving the premium shall produce such oath and certificate to the province treasurer, and give his receipt upon the same.

Limitation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to be in force for the term of five years from the first day of July, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, and no longer. [Passed March 6; published March 8,* 1762.

CHAPTER 40.

AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH TWENTY THOUSAND POUNDS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the great and general court, at their present session, have voted that there be raised, within this government, two thousand men—

* Published February 15, according to the printed acts.

to be put under the command of General Amherst, in addition to the men already under his command belonging to this government — to supply such part of the regular forces in America as shall be drawn out of the several forts and garrisons, to be employed in some important enterprize; and whereas the treasurer has represented to this court that, when the taxes for the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one are paid into the treasury, and the government securities that will become due on or before the twentieth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, are redeemed, there will be a considerable surplusage in the treasury; therefore,—

Be it enacted by the Governo[u]r, Council and House of Representatives,

That the treasurer be and he hereby is directed to apply twenty thousand pounds of the aforesaid surplusage, for the payment of the bounty, &c., the allowance to the officers for inlisting of men, and to the colonels of the militia, and to such other persons as may be employed, by the governo[u]r, in paying the bounty, and for billet[t]ing the troops, and to enable the commissary-general to make necessary supplies, agreable to the orders of court; to be drawn out of the treasury by warrant from the governo[u]r, with advice of council, upon the appropriation for the campaign in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two; and the secretary to whom it belongs to keep the muster-rolls and acco[mp][un]ts of charge, shall lay before the house of representatives, when they direct, such muster-rolls and acco[mp][un]ts, after payment thereof. [Passed March 6, 1762.* Moneys, how appropriated.

CHAPTER 42.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THE NEW PLANTATION CALLED FALLTOWN, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF BERNARDSTON.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it hath been represented to this court that the erecting the plantation called Falltown, into a town, will greatly contribute to the growth thereof, and remedy many inconveniencies to which the inhabitants and proprietors may be otherwise subject,—

* "Providing" omitted in the title.
† According to the printed acts, this act was published February 15, 1762.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the plantation aforesaid, bounded as follows; viz[t]., north, on the province line; south, partly on Deerfield, and partly on Greenfield; east, upon Northfield; and west, on Colrain; be and hereby is erected into a town by the name of Bernardston; and that the inhabitants thereof be and hereby are invested with all the powers, priviledges and immunities which the inhabitants of the towns within this province do enjoy. Bounds of the town.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That Elijah Williams, Esquire, be and hereby is impowered to issue his warrant, directed to some principal inhabitant in said town, requiring him to warn the inhabitants of the said town, qualified by law to vote in town affairs, to meet at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to choose all such officers as are or shall be required by law to manage the affairs of said town. CHAPTER 44.

AN ACT TO SUBJECT THE UNIMPROVED LANDS WITHIN THIS PROVINCE TO BE SOLD FOR PAYMENT OF TAXES ASSESSED ON THEM BY ORDER OF THE GREAT AND GENERAL COURT, AND VOTES AND AGREEMENTS OF THE PROPRIETORS THEREOF, AND TO ENABLE PROPRIETORS OF NEW PLANTATIONS TO LEVY PROVINCE AND COUNTY TAXES LAID UPON THEM.

Preamble. 1745–46, chap. 9.

WHEREAS it frequently happens that the proprietors of unimproved lands within the several towns, precincts, districts, new plantations and proprieties within this province, neglect or delay to pay their proportions of the sums from time to time assessed on such lands by order of the great and general court, and according to their own agreements, towards defreying the public[k] charges arising within such towns, precincts, districts, new plantations and proprieties,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Lands to be sold in case of non-payment of taxes.

[SECT. 1.] That if the assessors of any of the towns, precincts, districts, new plantations or proprieties within this province, have, or at any time to come shall, pursuant to the direction or orders of the general court, levy or assess a tax upon the lands of the proprietors situate in any of the towns, precincts, districts or new plantations within this province, for defreying the publick charges arising in the said towns, precincts, districts, new plantations or proprieties; or if the assessors chosen by the proprietors of the common and undivided land in any of the towns, precincts, districts, new plantations or proprieties within this province, pursuant to the votes and agreements of such propriety, have or shall levy or assess a tax, upon such proprietors, by them thought necessary to carry on and prosecute any actions or suits that may be brought by or against them, or for the carrying on and managing of any other public[k] affair relating to such proprietors, or performance of the conditions of their grant, respectively; and such proprietors shall neglect or delay to pay to the collector or collectors the sums from time to time levied or assessed upon their lands, as aforesaid, for sixty days after such assessment is made, and published by posting up the same in the town, precinct, district or new plantation where such land lies, and in the shire town of the county, — that then and in such case it shall and may be lawful for such assessors, respectively, to post up, in some public[k] place or places in the town, precinct, district or new plantation where the lands lie, notifications of the intended sale of so much, and no more, of such delinquent proprietors' lands or common rights, as they shall judge necessary to pay and satisfy such rates and taxes and other necessary and intervening charges, three months before the same be sold; and also the assessors shall be obliged, for the notification of the non-resident proprietors, to advertise, in all the several Boston newspapers, three several weeks, the intended sale, at least three months before the land be sold; and if any delinquent proprietors do not, by that time, pay such rates, or assessments, and charges, then and in that case it shall and may be lawful for the assessors, at a public[k] vendue, to sell and execute absolute deeds, in the law, for the conveyance of such lands of the proprietors to the person or persons who shall give most for the same; which deed shall be good and valid to all intents and purposes, in the law, for conveying such estates to the grantees, their heirs and assign[e]s forever: and if the said lands be sold for more, than * the Notification of sale, to be posted up,
